4 Wounded In 8-Hour 'Small War'

LINCOLNTON, N. C. (UPI)—A berserk tenant farmer who shot to death three women, including his wife, and wounded four others in a bloody eight-hour rampage was killed early Friday night in a hail of police bullets.

Leroy Cook, 28, ex-convict tenant farmer with a "mean" reputation, fell behind a huge oak tree as bullets ripped into his body from all sides — but only after wounding two more men, one of them Lincolnton County Sheriff Frank Heavener.

Deputies cornered Cook near a lumber plant about 11 miles west of here and had him cornered for about an hour and a half before they moved in.

SINGLE SHOT

Cook, who earlier in the day had listed his wife and sister-in-law among his victims, got off a single shot from his deadly shotgun—some of the pellets striking Heavener's head, chest and legs, and others striking special deputy J. D. Williams in the hand and shoulder.

Then, according to deputy Grady Fisk, "he died in a blaze of gunfire. It looked like a small war. No, I could never say which shot hit him first—there were a lot of them."

Cook collapsed behind the tree, his shotgun falling beside him. He was rushed to a hospital in Lincolnton but was dead on arrival. "His body was just riddled with bullets," one official said.

Heavener, Williams and Cleveland County guard Joe Godley, wounded earlier, were not believed to be seriously injured.

Godley tried to end the gory rampage when he cornered Cook earlier in the afternoon. Instead, a blast from Cook's shotgun hit him in the side, and the killer continued his flight.

Earlier in the day, police thought they had Cook cornered in his own house. They spent many minutes trying to flush him out, only to find he was not there. Then they pressed onward with

15 HOMES DAMAGED

Jet Crashes Into Group Of Houses, Explodes; 6 Dead

DETROIT (UPI)—A four-jet British Royal Air Force bomber, carrying six men and a goodwill message from the mayor of Lincoln, England, hurtled into a group of frame homes and exploded near the Detroit River Friday.

There was no report of survivors. Police and Coast Guardsmen recovered bits of what apparently was the body of one victim.

Three homes were leveled and two others gutted with only remnants of walls standing. At least 15 additional homes in a two-block area were damaged by fire and debris, but only one occupant of the buildings was injured.

DITCH

"The pilot must have tried to ditch the plane in the river," homicide detective Paul Montgomery said. "He probably went down with the plane becase we found parts of a body scattered as far as 500 feet from where it hit."

"There's a big mess there and we can't be sure about other bodies," Montgomery said.

The Air National Guard reported it learned that military flight service of Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, Ohio, picked up a "may day" emergency distress call about the time the Delta-wing craft crashed (3:55 p.m., e.s.t.).

Officials in London said the plane left Waddington Air Base, Lincolnshire, England, Thursday carrying a goodwill message from the mayor of Lincoln, England to the mayor of Lincoln, Neb. Selfridge AFB, Mount Clemens, Mich., said the plane left Goose Bay, Labrador, Friday en route to Lincoln AFB, Neb.

A Detroit police boat fouled its propeller on a parachute, and a few moments later Coast Guardsmen began extensive dragging operations in the numerous canals and boat wells in the river area.

A spokesman at Selfridge said the plane carried six men when it took off from Labrador, and that was its normal crew. He said it might have landed for refueling, but it was more likely to have been refueled in flight if at all. He said it apparently was a special flight under such conditions planes generally are refueled in flight when necessary.

The plane struck one house and exploded, spewing flames over other houses in a wide area. The home that was struck was owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Kay, who were not at home.

The injured woman, Mrs. Ewald, lived next door. Her home also was totally destroyed.

Her husband, Otto Ewald, 72, was watching televison with her when the crash occurred. "It was just like one big boom," he said.

Super Bridge Height Boost Accord Seen

Order Expected Soon On Project Across Ouachita

Highway officials have "informally" reached a "compromise agreement" to increase the height of the proposed federal super highway bridge across the Ouachita River here by 4½-feet, District Engineer Wayne Huckaby said yesterday.

Huckaby said final orders are expected to be handed down by the federal Bureau of Roads to increase the height of the bridge from 35 to 39.5 feet.

He explained that the term "height of the bridge" means the number of feet from the maximum water level to the bridge.

The Ouachita River Valley Association, an organization aimed toward improving the Ouachita for shipping purposes, several months ago requested that the bridge be constructed 50 feet over the maximum water level.

ENDORSED

But the Monroe Chamber of Commerce endorsed the original plans of the highway officials for a 35-foot height, Jim Williams, executive secretary, explained.

Huckaby said the "informal agreement" to raise the level of the bridge was a "compromise" in view of the associations request.

He said the "agreement" was reached between the Louisiana Department of Highways navigation interests and U.S. engineers.

Planned by Pavlo and Associates, the federal highway will be elevated across the Twin Cities. The highway will be stationery — unlike the present bridges that swing open for river traffic.

Weeks Quits, Strauss To Assume Post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks resigned Friday for business and family reasons. President Eisenhower immediately named former Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission to succeed him.

Weeks, 65, stepped down with "great reluctance." His resignation is effective not later than Nov. 10. He said it was imperative that he return to his Boston business interests. The President accepted the resignation with "keen regret" but full understanding.

RETIRED

Strauss, one-time secretary to former President Herbert Hoover, was one of the nation's leading investment bankers prior to World War II service in the Navy and his first appointment to the AEC in 1947. A Republican, he retired only last June 30 after a five-year term as AEC chairman.

Strauss' nomination may draw some fire in Congress. He bowed out of the AEC after prolonged wrangling with such Democrats as Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-N.M.). The Democrats accused him of not pushing development of atomic power fast enough.

Strauss, who has been serving as the President's special assistant on atoms-for-peace matters, will take over the commerce post on an interim appointment until his nomination is considered by the Senate Commerce Committee, now headed by Sen. Warren Magnuson (D-Wash.).

42 Americans Evacuated In Northeast Cuba

The aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt patrolled the coast just outside the Nicaro harbor to insure the safety of the evacuation.

U. S. Ambassador Earl E. T. Smith said he received word from the American naval base at Guantanamo that the evacuation had gotten underway at 5:55 p. m. E.D.T.

The transport was anchored in the Bay of Levisa. The Americans were moved aboard by launches from the transport.

The American women and children were all dependents of American supervisory personnel in the 100-million dollar nickel plant owned and operated by the U. S. government.

The American Embassy here announced that the carrier was ordered to Nicaro from the vicinity of the big U.S. naval base at Guantanamo where it had been engaged in naval maneuvers. The carrier was to "provide helicopter airlift if needed" during the evacuation and prevent any interference by insurgent guerrillas.

Decision to withdraw the American women and children was taken after Cuban government troops were recalled from the area, leaving it open to occupation by the rebels led by Fidel Castro.

Battle To Rescue Men In Disaster

SPRINGHILL, N. S. (UPI) — Rescuers battled mounds of rock and deadly fumes Friday to try to reach 89 miners trapped by an earth shock more than two miles from the entrance of North America's deepest coal mine.

"There is practically no hope, but rescue operations will continue until the last man is accounted for," said mine official Harold Gordon.

Of 174 men who were in the mine when disaster struck, 79 were rescued, 15 of them with injuries.

Officials said six bodies had been found, leaving 89 men missing.

Ironically, the missing included six supervisors who went into the mine Thursday to search for the cause of several smaller shocks—or "bumps"—that jolted the mine earlier this year.

WIDE AREA

The bump shook the Cumberland Coal & Railway Co.'s No. 2 pit at 7:10 p.m. Thursday. The shock was felt over a 14-mile area of this jinxed Nova Scotia coal mining region and caused rockfalls that cut off escape routes for miners toiling at the deepest levels.

The No. 2 pit of the mine, owned by the Dominion Steel & Coal Corp., of which Cumberland is a subsidiary, extends 14,300 feet, or 2.7 miles underground, with a vertical drop of 4,400 feet from the surface. Dominion said this makes it the deepest coal mine in North America.

The trapped men were believed to be at the 13,400 and 13,800 foot levels.

The disaster struck this hard-luck community of 8,000 persons just a few days short of two years after an explosion in the mine killed 39 men and trapped 88 others for periods ranging up to three days. The blasted shaft, two miles from Thursday night, has been closed since the explosion.

A total of 125 men died in an explosion at the mine in 1891.

OUACHITA CHANNEL

Outlook Is Bright For River Work

VICKSBURG, Miss. (Special) — Confidence was expressed yesterday that the proposed nine-foot channel in the Ouachita river will be realized in the not too distant future provided parties interested in the project continue to push for it.

The optimism was heard during an inspection tour of Mississippi River bank protection projects conducted by the United States Engineers of the Vicksburg district.

The delegation on the tour, headed by Congressman Otto Passman, included businessmen, police jury members and flood control authorities, of the Fifth Congressional district.

On the Ouachita river nine-foot channel project, Col. M. Barschdorf, district engineer in charge of the Vicksburg district, disclosed that his office had submitted a new plan for the channel. He said the proposal was now in the office of engineers for the Rivers and Harbors Board.

NEW PLAN

Briefly, the new plan calls for raising of the water level in the river three feet to produce the nine-foot channel. This would be accomplished by adding three more feet to existing walls in the six locks and dams on the 351 miles of the river between Camden, Ark., and the mouth of Black river.

Under the first proposal, the nine - foot channel would have been developed by dredging and the lowering of the bottom portions of the locks and dams. This would have cost an estimated $20,000,000 and would have closed the river to navigation until the overall project had been completed.

The new proposal calls for an expenditure of $17,000,000 and would allow navigation to con-

U.S. Missiles Ring Taipei In Far East

TAIPEI, Formosa, Saturday (UPI)—The U.S. Army has ringed Taipei with deadly Nike and Hercules anti - aircraft missile batteries primed for instant retaliation to Communist attack, it was disclosed Saturday.

Maj. Gen. Leader I. Doan said the U.S. 2nd Missile Battalion which arrived in Formosa less than three weeks ago was in position and "personnel of the battalion are on the alert around the clock."

The top U.S. military spokesman here said the ground-to-air missiles were "in a 'hot' status and can be launched in immediate response to an attack."

PROGRAM

The completion of the "crash" defense program for the Nationalist Chinese capital came after the Communists shattered a temporary lull in the Formosa Strait with a day-long shelling of the Nationalist held offshore islands Friday.

The Communist shore artillery, silent for 23 hours after a three-day bombardment during the U.S.-Nationalist Chinese talks, opened up again at 11 a.m. (11 p.m. EDT Thursday) and continued intermittent bombardment till dusk.

The Nationalist Defense Ministry said the Communist guns hit Big and Little Quemoy islands with 901 explosive and fragmentation shells during the initial two hour bombardment, and then directed sporadic fire at all the islands of the Quemoy complex throughout the afternoon. Just before dusk, 30 shells were lobbed at Kaoteng Island in the Matsu group to the north, the ministry said.

Resumption of fire ended Nationalist ceasefire hopes arous- when the Communists stopped shelling at noon Thursday.

Cohen Miffed At Publishing Co., Writer

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) —Mickey Cohen of Los Angeles demanded one million dollar balm from the Curtis Publishing Co. and writer Dean Jennings Friday for articles which allegedly destroyed his "right to establish and maintain a good reputation as a law-abiding citizen."

The pudgy, 45-year-old Cohen maintained from the outset of his Common Pleas Court suit that the very title of a series of four articles appearing in recent issues of the Saturday Evening Post was libelous. They were entitled, "Mickey Cohen: The Private Life of a Hood."

Cohen charged in the suit filed by former Dist. Atty. Samuel Dash that the articles written by Jennings contained 10 specific statements falsely accusing him of murder, assault, conspiracy, fraud and "all manner of crimes and illegal actions."

The suit sought general damages of $250,000, punitive damages of $500,000 and special damages of $250,000 because of an alleged loss sustained in connection with a publishing firm's plans to publish a book concerning his life.

Threat Made To Mother Of Ariz. Senator

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater Friday refused to "take seriously" a threat of physical violence phoned to his mother, but his campaign advisors outwardly expressed fear of harm to the Arizona Republican, or his family.

The senator is running for reelection against Gov. Ernest McFarland, former Democratic majority leader, who lost to Goldwater in 1952.

Goldwater's campaign managers said Friday they feared "an out of state labor hoodlum may be out to cause him physical harm. If one of those hoodlums got him, the hoodlum could retire for life on the payoff."

Their statements came in the wake of threatening telephone calls to Goldwater's mother Thursday night. She received the calls shortly after Goldwater, in a statewide television address on Thursday night, gave a verbal scorching to "corrupt union bosses."

Of the threats, Goldwater said in a statement handled by his office:

"I am sure that no responsible labor leader in Arizona would have any part of such activity. I am confident labor people here would condemn it, as I condemn it.

Yule Plans

Not to be caught napping, the West Monroe Chamber of Commerce has just met to formulate plans for the Christmas program. There will be a fireworks display and parade staged on December 12.

The parade is planned with possibly as many as 20 floats and of course a Santa Claus. He will stage a Christmas program the same night in West Monroe High school.

The usual home lighting program will also be again a feature of the coming holidays in the city across the river.

Northeast State Alumni association plan a big dinner party on the night of November 1 in the college center. At this affair, the classes of 1951, 1952, 1953, 1954, 1955 and 1958 will be honored. Upholds Law To Finance Private Schools In Ark.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—Arkansas Attorney General Bruce Bennett Friday upheld a state law under which Gov. Orval E. Faubus hoped to finance private, segregated Little Rock high schools.

Bennett said that state funds may be withheld from the Little Rock school district and given to public schools or to private schools to educate Little Rock students who have been out of classes for the past eight weeks.

Education department officials announced they would begin immediately to send state aid in the form of tuition to accredited public and private schools that have enrolled the Little Rock students.

Wiley Branton of Pine Bluff, chief attorney in Arkansas for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was not immediately available for comment. Mrs. L. C. Bates of Little Rock, state president of the Negro organization, said, however, she was sure the NAACP attorneys would "look into" the possibility of blocking the payments.

Education Commissioner Arch Ford pointed out state aid would not go to the school set up by

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS

District's Farmers Have Stake In Issue

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third in a series of stories on the November 4 election of 30 constitutional amendments. Today's article explains amendments No. 7, No. 8 and No. 9.)

By SAM HANNA
Staff Writer

Northeast Louisiana farmers will have a stake in the November 4 referendum when 30 constitutional amendments come before the public for approval.

The passage of amendment No. 8 could save the farmer some money annually.

Under amendment No. 8, machinery and equipment "consistent with present day mechanized farm operations" and used exclusively for agricultural purposes would be exempt from state and local property taxes.

Farm buildings would not be, however. But the exemption would be permanent, with no time limit as is the case now.

The list of constitutional amendments also includes a proposal presented in the past session of the legislature by Sen. James Sparks of Monroe.

Sparks' bill, which met widespread approval, would give adopted persons equal inheritance rights in their adoptive families as legitimate children born into those same families.

This proposal will be presented to the public for approval in the form of amendment No. 7. As it stands now, adopted persons can not share equal inheritance rights in matters of their adopted parents' relatives.

Another amendment, this one

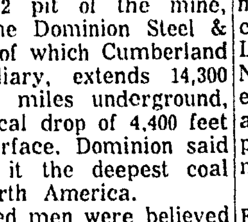
Cloudy And Mild Seen For Today

Clear to partly cloudy skies are in store for today, with mild Indian summer weather in the Twin Cities' area.



In Arkansas, the forecast is clear to partly cloudy, with no important temperature changes. Highest temperature today will range from 65 to 75.

Temperatures rose from a low of 78 Thursday to the 82 mark yesterday. Low Friday was 51, while Thursday it was 52.

Pollen count yesterday was a low 21 grains per cubic yard of air.

Cypriot Bombs Kill 1; 7 Hurt

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI)—Cypriot extremists shot and killed one Briton Friday and wounded seven others with bombs and a land mine.

The victim of the shooting was Frederick Sharman, 63, a retired Navy officer scheduled to join his wife in England within a few days. He operated import agencies for several British engineering firms.

A gunman shot down Sharman on a busy Nicosia street. British military police fired at the assailant, but he escaped in the crowds of a bustling square.

In the coastal city of Limassol, extremists lobbed a bomb into the crowded lobby of the Metropole Hotel, a center of British social life. Two servicemen, two civilian men and a woman were injured by the blast, none seriously. The explosion left a hail of fire from security forces.

Outside Limassol, a British soldier was injured when a bomb exploded in front of his car. Another soldier was hurt when a mine blew up under his car in the northeast part of the island.

Smear Charges Made In Campaign

WASHINGTON (UPI) — New charges of "smear" and "immoral" campaign spending popped up in the congressional election fight Friday despite an uneasy truce between two old battlers — Richard M. Nixon and Harry S. Truman.

Nixon described the former President as a "gallant warrior," although a Democratic. It was a follow-up to a speech by the vice president Thursday night in which he said there was no "war party" in this country and that the only "party of treason" was the Communist Party.

Truman, who has accused Nixon of calling him a "traitor," said Nixon's latest description was "very nice." He took the position that Nixon had "apologized" for past remarks. Lest relations get too good, he added that maybe Nixon was only playing "good politics."

BALANCED

Balanced against this seeming sweetness was a series of charges by Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler and allegations by Vincent J. Celeste, Republican opponent of Democratic Sen. John F. Kennedy in Massachusetts.

Butler charged that Sen. William F. Knowland, GOP gubernatorial candidate in California, had been "sucked into" smears and an anti-Semitic campaign. He said Knowland, in a recent attack on a Democratic committeeman, had singled out five individuals, all Jewish.

The Democratic chairman protested in a letter to chairman Charles P. Taft of the non-parti-

He said Strauss was "a splendid gentleman who is most knowledgeable" in the atomic field, but "I am a little at a loss to understand how he fits into the secretary of commerce position, inasmuch as that job has primarily to do with business conditions and transportation matters."

Sen. A. Willis Robertson (D-Va.), a member of the Senate Banking Committee, said Strauss, a fellow Virginian, was "a fine man and has always been a good friend of mine and I am glad to see him honored."

Weeks, a conservative, only last Saturday called for a national manufacturers sales tax as a means of reducing income taxes and helping meet the government deficit. Congressmen of both parties and Treasury officials promptly came out against the idea.

Local Policeman Directing Traffic Suffers Injuries

A Monroe City Policeman was hit by a car while directing traffic at the old traffic bridge yesterday, but apparently escaped serious injury.

Barnes arrested the driver, Lisso Jones, Jr., 18-year-old Negro of 212 S. 8th St. Jones was charged with reckless driving and negligent injury.

He was held in city jail on a $500 bond.

Barnes filed a report saying he had given Jones a stop signal, but the Negro continued east on DeSiard St. Barnes said he was hit on the left knee, and pushed about three feet before Jones stopped.

Special Weeks

The present week is crowded with events that were celebrated in one way or another. Here they are:

National Thrift Week, National Flower Week, United Nations Week; Cleaner Air Week; National Bible Week; National Donut Week; and lastly, National Macaroni Week. Have any others been overlooked?

Vacation

They went 4,600 or more miles by train, bus and in private cars at times. It was all during a three-week vacation.

They took a train to the great northwest and visited Seattle and vicinity. Then they took in all possible sights on the way home and this took them to the Atlantic coast and vicinity. Towns such as Williamsburg in Virginia were visited and other places of historic fame in that state and nearby states.

Now back at work, Oscar likes to recall all the places of interest that he visited. He will always recall a wonderful vacation.

River Work View Bright

tinue on the river while the work is in progress.

The original plan was discarded at the time because the expenditures would not justify the benefits, it was said. However, the lower cost of the new plans and the sharp increase in tonnage now moving on the Ouachita would justify the project, it was said.

Engineers disclosed that they expected 360,000 tons to be moved on the Ouachita this year. This compares to 260,000 tons last year and 50,000 tons approximately 10 years ago.

DISCLOSED

Colonel Barschdorf also disclosed that it now costs $200,000 a year for dredging of the present six-foot channel in the Ouachita. He said the nine-foot channel as proposed would cut that cost by $100,000 a year.

Some river authorities said they believed the nine-foot channel plan would be approved and that the project would be under way in the "not too distant future."

Persons on the tour viewed four projects of revetment construction, which is the principal means employed to stabilize the banks of the Mississippi.

Engineers pointed out that active revetment in place in the Vicksburg District at present is approximately 117 miles. Expenditures for revetments along both sides of the river in the district under the present project have been approximately $92,000,000.

The current year's program includes the construction of about 13 miles of revetment costing approximately $10,000,000.

It was pointed out that the purpose of the bank stabilization program is to improve and stabilize the channel of the river for both navigation and flood control. This is accomplished by preventing bank erosion by the scouring action of the river; and protecting existing levees and other fixed installations.

The revetment program was a fascinating process to members of the party.

Engineers in a pre-tour briefing also stressed the progress of the Boeuf and Tensas River and Bayou Macon flood control projects.

Colonel Barschdorf said the project consisted of approximately 530 miles of channel clearing, snagging, straightening and enlarging on the Boeuf River, Bayou Lafourche, Big and Colewa Creeks, Bayou Macon and the Tensas river. Of this amount, he said, 288 miles have been completed at a cost of $9,800,000. Work remaining consists of the improvement of Bayou Macon throughout its entire length and improvement of the lower 32 miles of Boeuf river and the lower 60 miles of Tensas river at an estimated cost of $2,100,000.

Engineers said funds were made available in fiscal 1959 for initiation of work on Bayou Macon and for right-of-way acquisition on Boeuf River. It is now anticipated, engineers said, that contract for first item of work on the Bayou Macon extending from the mouth to about 40 miles will be advertised for late in the fiscal year.

The entire project is expected to be completed from three to five years, and will protect the basin from internal floodings from three to five-year cycle storms.

DISCLOSED

It was also disclosed that engineers will make a restudy of the feasibility of completing the seawall along the Ouachita river in Monroe. Some 1800 feet along South Grand was not completed at the time the original levee was constructed because of the high cost of right-of-way, Colonel Barschdorf said. The restudy was asked in a Congressional resolution.

Water from the Ouachita flowed through the gap during the record high flood this spring. It was pointed out that no attempt will be made to finish the gap until right-of-way has been guaranteed. This would have to be obtained by Monroe.

Passman said the inspection tour was very revealing and that he was happy with the progress that was being made on the various projects.

Yesterday's tour covered the stretch of the Mississippi from near Eudora, Ark., to Vicksburg, Miss. It was made aboard the Engineers Patrol Boat "Lipscomb."

Those making the tour and their affiliations were: Dalton Bryson, Penn Hotel; J. B. Filhiol, Jr., Ouachita Parish Farm Bureau; Richard Hale, Edmund Brown and Jack Gates, News-Star—World; Paul Goldman, Edd Routt, Roger Kelly and Ray Boyd, KNOE TV-Radio; all of Monroe.

Seventy-four of the sentences were handed down on minor traffic and civil cases.

Willie Coleman, 50, of 802 Ouachita Ave., drew a $400 or seven month sentence on a drunk driving charge; and Otis Kelly, drew an identical sentence on a like charge. Kelly lives at Rt. 1, Box 279 B, Monroe.

George Cambrit, 1307 DeSiard, was fined $115 on charges of speeding and driving after his license had been revoked.

4 Wounded In 8-Hour 'Small War'

the grim search.

Cook, described by his parents as having had "mental trouble," began his trail of blood just outside the barn at his tenant farm home just off U. S. highway 27. There, he blasted down his 22-year-old wife, Rachel, with two blasts from the .12-guage shotgun. For some reason, he removed his shirt and dropped it beside the body.

Police said Cook turned and headed to the house, where he met his brother's wife, Mrs. Jeanette Cook. The woman was felled by a knife wound.

She got up and ran into the house, only to be cornered in a bedroom, police said. Three more shots from the shotgun, and Cook claimed his second victim in a matter of minutes.

The shirtless, 180-pound farmer then started across a cornfield. He encountered Mr. and Mrs. George Smith and their 16-year-old daughter, Marjorie. Mrs. Smith died instantly when a shotgun blast tore into her body. The daughter was wounded but rushed to a hospital where her condition was listed as serious.

Smith, the stunned husband, watched, but said he was unable to do anything to help. Cook continued his flight into the woods and fields.

Upholds Law To Finance Private Schools In Ark.

the Little Rock Private School Corporation because it is not accredited. Nor would it include the new Baptist high school, which opens classes at three grade levels next Monday for 500 students.

Officials of the Baptist high school said recently they would not seek state aid for the support of their school.

The state Board of Education had requested Bennett's opinion.

The attorney general said a restraining order issued by the Eighth U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals does not apply to the transfer of state aid for education. Instead, he said it was directed at the Little Rock school board's transfer of four high schools to the Little Rock Private School Corporation.

A special session of the Arkansas Legislature authorized the governor to close Little Rock's four high schools rather than open them on an integrated basis. The Legislature also authorized the state to divert money from districts whose schools had been closed to other public or to private schools.

ALUMNI ATTRACTION — Certain to catch the eye of thousands of Louisiana State University alumni who return to the campus this week for LSU's annual Homecoming celebration is the new LSU Library. Two years in building at a cost of 3.5 million dollars, the modern center of learning can seat 2,500 persons at one time. It is being used for the first time this semester. The new building contains the University's 600,000 volumes but was built to accommodate a million volumes.

LSU To Host Large Number Of Alumni

BATON ROUGE (Special) — Saturday is Homecoming Day for some 95,00. Louisiana State University alumni and former students, and probably more alumni will be returning to the Ole War Skule this year than ever before in its history.

The third ranked Tiger football team puts its unblemished record on the line in a crucial contest with the University of Florida n Tiger Stadium at 8 p.m., in an exciting climax to a full day of activity.

Members of the Alumni Federation will elect officers at the recently - acquired Alumni House, center of activities for returning alumni, between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. Candidates for president are Enoch T. Nix of Bissier City, class of '42, and E. T. "Mike" Monso of Shreveport, class of '29.

Starting at 10 a.m. is the traditional military review on the Parade Grounds, featuring the LSU Pershing Rifles and the University of Florida Gator Guards in an exhibition of precision drill movements. At 11 a.m. colleges, schools, and departments will have open house and alumni business meetings.

MEETING

The Alumni Federation business meeting will follow immediately, the major item of business being revision of the federation constitution. Other officers will be elected during the day. Candidates are Thomas J. Jenny of New Orleans and Lloyd F. Love of Ferriday, first vice president; and I. J. Becnel of New Orleans and W. D. Cotton, Rayville, second vice president.

Candidates for councilmen-at-large from Louisiana are Mrs. Frank A. Rickey and Mrs. Frank Middleton, Baton Rouge; A. A. Domingue, Lafayette; and Jesse M. Kees, Alexandria; from the board of supervisors, Ella V. Schwing, Plaquemine and Sterling Gladden, Baton Rouge.

Out - of - state candidates for council-at-large are Andrew Aycock, Laurel, Miss.; James G. Cajoleas, Jackson, Miss.; R. V. Miles, Jr., Tuscaloosa, Ala.; and Charles L. Zapp, Pasadena, Tex. From Mississippi are Thomas H. Bowen, Jr., Jackson, and Edward F. Glusman, Pass Christian; Texas candidates are Fred W. Poerschke, Houston; Preston McGraw, Dallas; and Guy W. Miller, Beaumont. There will be a write-in vote from Arkansas.

At 3:30 p.m. there will be a university-wide open house in the Alumni House, with President and Mrs. Troy H. Middleton, Mr and Mrs. Theo Cangelosi, Dr. and Mrs. F. P. Bordelon, Dean and Mrs. Daniel Borth, Dean and Mrs Charles E. Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. Edsel Thrash receiving guests. Serving will be wives of the deans of the colleges.

During the day fraternities, dormitories, and student centers will have open house, and the campus will be gaily decorated with exhibits by campus organizations. The gates of the campus will be decorated by the University Veterans Club, and members of Mortar Board and Omicron Delta Kappa will man information centers. The astronomy observatory will be open from 9 a.m. to 12 noon for observation of sun spots.

Plan Building For A Mortuary In West Monroe

Construction work on a new building to house Kilpatrick's Funeral Home is expected to begin shortly in West Monroe.

Tex Kilpatrick, president of the funeral home, said that Jesse F. Heard and Sons will construct the building at a cost of $74,000 at North Seventh and Drago Streets in West Monroe.

The cost of the two-acre site, building and equipment is expected to bring the cost up to about $125,000, Kilpatrick said.

Northside Home Is Hit Heavily By Fire Damage

A six-room frame house at 1908 N. 4th St., was heavily damaged by fire that apparentlly caught from a bedroom heater about 8 last night.

No one was injured.

The house was occupied by Mrs. Betty Dye, her three small children, and her mother, a Mrs. Jones.

Firemen said the blaze started near a bedroom heater but said it was not definitely determined if the heater was burning. They planned a closer check.

The Dye family was not at home when the fire began.

Three rooms in the house were extensively damaged and the other rooms were damaged by heat and smoke.

The house is owned by Joe Kern.

Names 'Mixup' Plagues Kin Of Winn Principal

A report that a former Sikes High School principal was injured and his wife killed near Baton Rouge yesterday was an apparent mixup in names.

A two-car collision at Gonzales, 20 miles south of Baton Rouge, claimed the life of Mrs. Norma Lee Bankston. Her husband, John Bankston, 32, is in the Baton Rouge General Hospital under treatment for injuries sustained in the crash.

Residents at Sikes said last night they had understood the man to be the same John Bankston who taught agriculture at Sikes 1952-56 and served as school principal 1956-57.

Mrs. Carl Hayes, relative of the injured man, told the Morning World last night that the John Bankston injured in the wreck was not the former Winn Parish educator.

Meaningless Platforms

Leaders of the Democratic and Republican parties, at their presidential-nominating conventions in 1960, will spare themselves a lot of trouble if they follow a suggestion that they abandon the practice of writing long party platforms.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, the frank and brilliant southern spokesman, made the proposal that the ancient custom of writing lengthy, dull and meaningless platforms for future elections, especially for 1960, be abandoned. The idea seems also to appeal to House Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate Majority Leader Lynden B. Johnson, both of Texas.

In Sen. Russell's criticism of the platform phobia, he said:

"Recent party platforms have been so long drawn out, so specious in their promises and so contradictory in their terms that I doubt very much whether any member of the senate has taken the trouble to read them lately. I know that I never did."

Not a single senator arose to disagree with Sen. Russell or to say that he believed in basing his legislative actions on his party's credo. Sen. Russell demolished even more completely the supposed sanctity and necessity of long-winded campaign exhortations when he said:

What a country we would have if the congress were to pass every proposal embraced within the political party platforms! What a budget we would have, what a tax burden we would have, and what a conglomeration of laws we would have!

For at least as long as most of us can remember, the matter of drawing up a party platform has been a process aimed only at garnering as many votes as posible. To little regard has been held for the real intents and purposes of the respective parties.

Each party has tried to picture a Utopian situation in which everybody would have the best of all things, in which money and federal gifts would be dealt out lavishly, in which there would be big increases in budgets for all purposes, in which taxes would be reduced, in which people would receive more and give less.

In recent years there have been attempts to show that both labor and minorities will fatten at the expense of the majorities. This, of course, is a patently fallacious claim, since there are no majorities in the United States except those made up of minorities. ties.

In the final analysis, whatever we receive must be paid for and the people themselves are the only ones who can and will pay.

Senator Russell's statement that the proposals in the party platforms are so contradictory and conglomerate that it would be an utter impossiblity to put all of them into effect simultaneously is true. Each proposal, taken by itself, may appear to be feasible but the task of harmonizing all the proposals is so impossible that no such attempt is ever made.

It has been suggested that, instead of drawing up the usual fatuous platforms, each party should dedicate itself to patriotism, the upholding of the American constitution and the safety of this country. It was pointed out that this country is in grave danger from within by the ever-growing menace of socialism and its twin brother communism and from without by the danger of eventual destruction by Soviet Russia or by absorption into a Soviet-controlled world government.

Party platforms, as presently drawn, amount to nothing more than promising everybody he can have more than his share.

That is impossible, just as it is impossible to continue forever to spend more money than we take in.

1.2 Cats Per Family

In connection with the annual celebration of Cat Week, scheduled Nov. 2-8, the American Feline Society has pointed out that there are 21 million cats in the United States and that this breaks down to 1.2 cats per family.

An interesting phase of the statement is that only about half of the cats are owner-fed, housed and cared for. The other 10.5 million are listed as strays or alley cats. The strays generally get their living out of trash cans or through the kindness of people who are not their owners.

Historically, we burned "witches" and their cats at stake a scant 300 years ago. Witches have disappeared from among us and the cats, no longer associated with witches, have risen in rank from 12th place until they have become second only to dogs as pets.

The American Feline Society is unique in many respects. It is the world's largest cat organization and the second-largest animal welfare group. It has no paid staff and does not employ professional fund-raisers. It conducts no drives and receives no financial support from any government agency, municipal, county, state or national. It operates through 160 member societies nationally and internationally. It maintains a field organization of more than 60 completely dedicated individuals, chiefly in various professional capacities, who work without compensation and carry on the society's work in their immediate areas. Having nothing to see and making no charges, the society may be classed as a true charity.

Child psychologists agree that children having small pets rarely become juvenile delinquents because of a sense of responsibility instilled in the young, growing person. Because of their quiet and gentle nature, their cleanliness and ease of maintenance, cats make excellent pets, enjoyed both by the child and the parent.

The unselfish manner in which the friends of cats carry on their work and their assistance in providing children with loved and affectionate pets are worthy of commendation.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

Admiral Rickover Symbol Of Talent Carelessness

I was looking through the sheets of bills passed by Congress and approved by the President and came across Public Law 85-826 which is "To authorize the chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy to confer a medal on Rear Admiral Hyman George Rickover, United States Navy."

Well, this is very nice, indeed. The sum of $2,500 is appropriated for the purpose of having a gold medal struck and presented to Admiral Hyman George Rickover, United States Navy. Also duplicates in bronze of such a medal are to be coined and sold to cover the cost thereof. I do not know where such a medal can be purchased if you care to have a duplicate in bronze.

But the question still arises whether Admiral Rickover, the father of the atomic-powered submarine is to be promoted so that he can remain in the Navy and continue to use his mind and his abilities in the interest of the United States. This country is not so rich in talent that it can afford to lose any. As for Admiral Rickover, there is no doubt whatsoever that he can get a good job with private industry, just as General Douglas MacArthur, General Lucius Clay and other men, whose talents are of value to the country, are selling electric razors, tin cans and other commodities that might just as well be made and sold by lesser minds. If General MacArthur, for instance, had not been pushed aside, our situation in the Far East might not be so perilous today.

To me Admiral Rickover is a symbol of this carelessness about talented men. We have moved into a new kind of warfare, into a world of new ideas, new methods new strategy and new tactics. Just note one picture: John Foster Dulles is in Rome attending the Pope's funeral he holds a conference there with the French and West German foreign ministers. He then takes his plane to London, has dinner with the British foreign minister. He thereupon returns to his plane, flies over the North Pole to Formosa to enter into conferences with Chiang Kai-shek. He left Rome Sunday after lunch; he left London Sunday shortly after 10 p.m. he arrived on Formosa Tuesday at 10:08 a.m.

That is the speed of diplomacy these days. It gives a slight picture of the speed of war. Perhaps by the time that such a peril may be upon us, if we have notice of 18 minutes, we shall be fortunate. In World War II, we took 18 months to warm up.

In such an atmosphere, talent is required to meet every exigency. Talent is difficult to find. It is not everywhere, in everybody. Of course, many human beings believe themselves to be neglected and deserted talents, ignored by those in authority, but the fact remains that when one has done such a job as Admiral Hyman Rickover has done for the United States, he has demonstrated his exceptional value.

It matters little that some naval men believe that the dignity of the Navy requires that only line officers should hold the top brass titles. What the United States has to worry about is not the dignity of the admirals but the ability of the United States to defend itself.

It might also be said that Admiral Rickover is not an indispensable man and that if he had not fathered the Nautilus, someone else would have, which is undoubtedly true. However, he did do that job, just as Edison did his job on the electric light and Marconi on radio. And there are historians and scientists who will contest that they were the great firsts just as there are those who say Shakespeare did not write Shakespeare but that someone else did.

The fact remains that Rickover did this feat, against great opposition among naval men who regard his ideas as ridiculous. The truth is that our atom driven submarines have already acheived wonders and we shall have a fleet of them and it may so happen that many of the line officers will have to doff their "whites," and wear overalls. We are living in a different age.

To repeat: Talent is a rare quality; that routine minds are a dime a dozen; that when men of talent are found, they should be treasured, and their particular talents should be put to work for the benefit of the United States.

HOLMES ALEXANDER

Alexander At National Reactor Test Station

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho — Only a few hours ago in an installation on the National Reactor Testing Station, some 60 miles away an amber light flashed and there was a subdued hum of bells.

"The amber light doesn't mean much," I was told. "It registers a change from the normal permissible radiation. The red light would mean real danger."

Even - so, four attendants stopped whatever they were doing and crowded around the "counter" machine which had flashed amber. Less than an hour afterwards, on leaving this particular installation, I stood on a set of pedals and thrust my hands into a set of sleeves for routine testing for radiation. The machine purred and I watched the little window where a light would supposedly flash behind a small sign reading: "Check OK." But, instead, a light went on and illuminated a window that read: "Decontamination Required."

A man in a white coat checked me with another piece of machinery and pronounced me pure enough to return to the outside world. But like a well - raised reporter I made some inquiries. I had arrived at this vast atomic reservation on the Lost River Desert of Idaho for the express purpose of studing plans to build a nuclear - powered aircraft. The Atomic Energy Commission had given me permission to come here, the first syndicated columnist to do so by the way. The U. S. air force had flown me most of the distance. The General Electric Company, which is designing the power plant for the nuclear plane, had patiently tutored me to understand some of the things the AEC has been good enough to show me. I was atomic - minded enough by this time to know that all nuclear experimenting is inherently dangerous. Otherwise this "station," which has already produced the Nautilus submarine and several more scientific "firsts" would not be so remotely located in a barren desert. Why the amber lights? Why the sign that did not read okay?

"The radiation which our counters are recording does not come from any activity on this station," it was explained by those with every reason to know and no reason to dissemble. "The radiation is a fall - out. It may come from Nevada or it may come from Russia. Nuclear explosions have happened in both places quite recently."

By the time I returned to my hotel in Idaho Falls, the switchboards were busy with anxious calls. Other persons than myself had seen the amber lights and had failed to pass a cursory purity test. By nightfall the AEC medical staff had delivered statements which were going on the evening radio broadcasts. The statements said in brief that the radiation level in the vicinity, although several times above normal, was still well below the peril point.

These events, not of an importance in themselves, cast some shadows before them. The area from which I write this story is highly sensitive to atomic dangers. The people are not frightened or timid, else they would not stay. But they are alert, as much as other peoples are alert to symptoms of typhoons, volcanic eruptions, forest fires and air raids.

Well, as the atomic age advances, there are going to be many American communities with atomic facilities nearby and with the consequent alertness and comprehension. There is need for a lot of education on the subject. There is a running debate among top scientists as to the effects of fall - out upon human life and reproduction. Some day quite soon the American people will have to use their form of government to write more laws and formulate some policies. The whole matter is much too important to be left to scientists, much less to the political propagandists.

More, the American people very soon must realize that there is a horse race in progress in which they should act as handicappers. A handicapper, as if everybody doesn't know, is an official who assigns the weights which race horses carry in competition. Theoretically, a wise handicapper could so distribute the weights that a field of horses would hit the finish wire nose to nose. Or such a handicapper conceivably could fix the race in advance so as to pick the winner. Well, there is a race right now between the exploders of nuclear bombs and the experimenters at these nuclear stations. The fall - outs occur from the bombs. The knowledge of how to moderate and to control nuclear energy comes from places like this National Test Reactor Station, which has something like 29 facilities for finding non - explosive uses of the atom.

The American people can—and must — handicap these racers. If we want to slow down the warlike shots, it can be done. We would be very foolish to do so while Russia is still shooting. If we want to increase the testing for electrical power, for medical research, for food preservation, for engines to drive vehicles over land, sea and air, we can do that also.

It seems almost beyond debate that the American people, international conditions permitting, want this second horse to run even faster than the first one. They want peaceful uses to open up a safe margin of victory over the bomb bursts.

As the country grows in atomic knowledge, we will learn how to bring about the desired result.

(A series on the atomic aircraft may not run in sequence because of time out for security clearance, if needed.)

Danger Is Seen From Smallpox

Americans who are going abroad on business or vacation should be vaccinated against smallpox before they leave. This will protect them against the disease in foreign countries and facilitate re - entry into the U. S. A. on their return. No one is allowed to pass the American health station at various ports without proof that they have been vaccinated within three years.

Many inveterate travelers never have had a reaction, even though vaccinated several times over a period of years. Then a "take" occurs and they wonder why. These individuals lost their immunity somewhere along the line. After all, a scar on the arm does not protect a person against smallpox for life.

I'm not trying to initiate a scare campaign but there must be millions of adults in these United States who have lost their immunity. In the circumstances, an epidemic could spread with lightning speed.

Don't forget we are less than 24 hours away from areas where smallpox is rife. This danger is avoided by getting vaccinated every five to seven years, except when travel requirements make more frequent vaccinations necessary.

Vaccination does not add to immunity unless there is a reaction. Nonreactors are immune and need not worry but within a few years protection might wane to such an extent that susceptibility to the disease exists. Vaccinations at frequent intervals decrease the hazard, as a positive reaction is bound to occur, producing more protective anti - bodies in the system.

A "take" usually starts about five to six days after the inoculation and boils up to a sizable sore area during the next four to five days. In some, the reaction is severe enough to induce fever and painful knots in the nearby armpit. Finally, a crust forms which falls off within a week or 10 days.

Prospective travelers should get their vaccination a month or more in advance of departure. A good "take" is better tolerated at home. Don't wait until the last minute, as the first week of your vacation might be ruined.

GALS ARE MISTAKEN

Mrs. J. writes: My doctor says my blood pressure is 290 but when I told this to the girls at the bridge club they said I was mistaken as no one could live with such a high pressure. Please advise.

REPLY

The gals are wrong. Several of my patients lived for years with blood pressures this high. The outcome depends on the level of the diastolic pressure and what hypertension is doing to you. In addition, women tolerate hypertension better than men do. I assume your physician has outlined a plan of treatment to bring the reading closer to normal.

ENLARGED GLAND

Mrs. J. writes: I have had a swollen gland under my right arm for several years. Is it necessary to do anything about it?

REPLY

Not if it has existed for years. On the other hand, removal is a simple surgical procedure and is advised if the gland gets bigger or becomes bothersome.

200 Million In Population Near

Last week our nation's population roared past the never-touched 175-million mark — and at the rate babies are being born and death is being postponed now we'll be crossing the historic 200 million total in only eight and one-half years.

We are outrunning even the most liberal projections of our population increases; we weren't scheduled to reach the 175-million milestone until the 1960s.

Our population is climbing at an annual rate of 3 million — the equivalent of adding to our country each year another Los Angeles, our third largest city, or adding every year the combined populations of Rhode Island, Delaware, Idaho, Nevada, Montana. We are growing at a rate of one person every 11 seconds, two seconds faster than our growth rate as recently as five years ago. The increase in our population just since 1940 tops the total of all living in the United States in 1870. In the next four years alone, our population rise will top the total of all people now living in Australia.

Enough Each statistical comparison is more spectacular than the last. We're riding a population boom unparalleled in our history, unforeseen by any expert.

And there is no missing the basic economic significance of this population explosion. More people do need, want and cosume more goods and services. Our expanding population demands an expanding economy.

In an economy such as ours the long - term implications of a population growth of this magnitude can be summarized in two words: long - term boom.

But this is only a superficial comment.

From now to 1965 the age group which will grow the fastest will be the teenagers — the 10-19 age category.

The explanation is simple: The population boom began in 1946 and the babies born immediately after the end of World War II and since are now moving into their teens.

The impact on the teenage market also is obvious: It will be phenomenal.

All industries catering to these youngsters — ranging from school supplies to sporting goods, from food to use cars - will be hit by demands beyond anything ever known

Our older citizens also will assure a zooming market for industries catering to their needs. And these millions will surge into such areas as California, Florida, the desert states: help put California ahead of New York by the 1970s.

The 25-44 age group actually will be declining in relation to total population in the immediate future; won't start climbing until the mid-60s.

When this group starts expanding, the big boom — in housing, all allied industries, countless other fields — will get underway. Simultaneously, though, the great rise in this age class well may cause some nagging employment problems — and pressures for and an intensifying trend toward a shorter workweek seem a certainty.

Population is exploding the world over. In underdeveloped lands the upsurge is a curse rather than a blessing, and to many thoughtful observers the speed of the world's population growth presents a massive and terrifying challenge. As the above brief analysis suggests, the rise in our land is not an unadulterated joy, either.

But fundamentally, in our country, where incomes, the ability to produce and living standards are in a powerful uptrend — expanding population has meant boom. It will mean boom again.

DR. CRANE SAYS

Christ's Death Revealed Love

Donald asks the most vital question I have ever answered in this educational column, so be sure you scrapbook this case and discuss it at church tomorrow! Invention applies not just to gadgets like the electric light and TV, but also to ideas, so Christ came to show us human beings an entirely new concept of God. Calvary has never been duplicated in ANY other religion:

Case Z — 354: Donald G., aged 19, is a college sophomore who attended a convocation at Florida Southern College which I addressed earlier this year.

"Dr. Crane," he began after my talk, "I have a question I wish you could answer for me.

"Clergymen say Christ died to give us forgiveness for our sins. But couldn't God have forgiven our sins without demanding that his Son be crucified?

"When Jesus met the man who was sick of the palsy, the Bible quotes Christ as saying: 'Thy sins be forgiven thee'.

"So Jesus didn't demand that somebody die in order to win such forgiveness.

"Surely God would be more charitable than us human beings and we also forgive each other without demanding the death penalty every time."

WHY CHRIST DIED

Donald is a smart young man and raises a widespread question that deserves to be answered.

He is quite right, too, in saying God could have said: "I forgive you erring human children," and we'd have been forgiven, without the need for Christ's crucifixion.

Then why did Jesus go to Calvary?

To introduce an entirely new thought into religion! And it could NOT have been done without Christ's death!

I'll abridge 10,000 years of history by reminding you that all primitive tribes developed their own local gods.

These deities were ALWAYS looked upon as severe judges and absolute dictators who took an almost sadistic delight in striking down us human beings with lightning bolts if we deviated one iota from their ritual.

Thus, Thor and Woden, of the Scandinavians, were ready to incinerate people for any minor flaw.

And the gods of the Persians and Hindu, the Greeks and Romans, the American Indians and the African natives were likewise regarded as demanding constant appeasement.

So people sacrificed rice and wine, or even human beings as offerings to allay the ill will of deity.

Even the ancient Hebrews offered doves and lambs and bullocks as sacrifices to win the favor of Jehovah from day to day.

GOD'S DESPAIR

Apparently, God despaired that we would ever get over this false notion that he was a vindictive, cruel dictator.

He had told us in the first book of the Bible that we were his children, made in his own likeness, and he expected us to look upon Him as a loving father.

But nobody did so! As a final resort, therefore, he reversed the universal habit of having human beings sacrifice to win the favor of dities, for God sacrificed to win the favor of us erring human children!

That was unique in all world history! God sacrificed to man!

No other religion had EVER described its deity as sacrificing to us human followers. So it was a radically new concept in religion!

And until Christ made this supreme sacrifice, nobody had ever thought of the idea nor would have believed it possible.

So Christ's death was primarily to prove a new point regarding the extensiveness of God's love for his human children, and not primarily to grant us forgiveness.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 4 cent stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Daily Devotion

But he that had received one (Talent) went and digged in the earth, and hid his lord's money. — Matt. 25:18.

The story of the talents is one of Christ's best - known illustrations. It certainly makes clear that we are not expected to exceed our capacities in Christian service. At the same time, it makes it equally clear that we must do our best with what we have. It is not often that we use our abilities to the fullest possible extent and it is here that we should resort to prayer, in faith, for guidance in our activities. God will help those who seek His aid in worthy undertakings.

God, our Father, help us to utilize fully and completely all the talents Thou hast given us. In Christ's name we ask. Amen.

BONDS

NEW YORK (AP)—Prices shaded off near the close in the government market Friday but most long-range securities showed gains.

Trading was brisk Friday morning for the first time in almost two weeks. The pace slackened to a crawl during the afternoon.

Corporate bonds backed and filled most of the day to close mixed with a tendency toward the upside. Rails declined, investment quality issues and industrials were mixed in a narrow range. Utilities advanced and foreign dollar bonds eked out a slight gain.

Trading amounted to $5,470,000 par value on the big board, the same as Thursday.

BUSINESS HIGHLIGHTS

United Press International

PRICES:

President Eisenhower hailed the levelling off of the cost of living index as proof that recovery from the recession is "possible without index as proof that recovery from the recession is "possible without inflation." He issued his statement a day after the Labor Department reported that for the first time since the winter of 1955-56 the consumer price index has held steady for a two-month period.

NAM

Milton C. Lightner, president of the National Assn. of Manufacturers, said labor reform legislation should be "one of the first matters" to be considered by the next Congress. The NAM executive called for a bi-partisan approach to labor legislation.

SUGAR

Representatives of the world's major sugar producing countries agreed to set sugar export prices between 3.15 and 4 cents a pound in an attempt to stabilize free market prices.

AUTOS

U.S. car production this week will total an estimated 69,559 units, Ward's automotive reports said. This is up from 45,387 units last week but far below the 104,-987 turned out in the same week a year ago.

WEEKS RESIGNS

President Eisenhower accepted the resignation of Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks and named former Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission to succeed him.

TICKER TAPE HIGHLIGHTS

TRANSACTIONS

Yesterday the Dow Jones industrials were lower and rails ahead, favoring fractional gains with active N.Y. Central up one and seven-eighths while Northern Pacific, still reflecting its stock dividend, was up a couple at top, up a half at the bell. Kansas City Southern slipped one and an eighth. Chemicals continued sour with Dupont off two and Allied down one. Kodak was up seven-eighths while Air Reduction lost seven-eighths.

DRUGS

Warner Lambert and Schering added three-quarters each in drugs while Pfizer was clipped for two and Parke Davis slipped one and a quarter. Motors continued sloppy with Chrysler off one on its reported loss. The building group favored gains with Manville in demand, up one and a quarter, and National Gypsum ahead seven-eighths.

TOBACCOS

Lorillard, up two and a half, continued to star in the tobaccos. Steels were mixed with Lukens down two and a half, Allegheny Ludlum off one and three-eighths and Youngstown down one and a half while Republic added five-eights and active U.S. was up three-eights. Aircrafts favored fractional losses with United off one. Airlines lost eights and quarters.

COPPERS

Coppers were lower by fractions as were aluminums with Alcoa down two and a quarter. Raytheon, up one and three-quarters, featured fractionally mixed electronics as Zenith added one and a half and Emerson gained one. Oils lost fractions to one and a quarter in Continental and TX-L Oil with Amerada dowr one and seven - eighths. Union Oil slipped one while Kern Country Land added two and a half.

PAPERS

Papers showed little change. Pepsi Cola showed a little volume, up three - quarters. Industrials closed off 1.20 at 539.52. Rails were up 74 cents at 147.76 and utilities closed unchanged at 82.28.

COTTON LETTER

Courtesy of Merrill, Lynch Pierce, Fenner & Smith

The USDA reported world cotton production for the 1957-58 season at 42.3 million ba'es, only 400,000 bales below the record crop of 1955-56.

New York Cotton Exchange estimated exports for the season to date at 692,336 bales vs. 1,044,497 a year ago. Numerous merchants are becoming more and more pessimistic on the final export figure believing it may be 3½ million bales or lower.

The weather remained favorable throughout most of the area and the next ginnings figure is expected to increase substantially.

Market Is Lower But Rails Up

NEW YORK (UPI)—Rail shares stood out as the bright spot in a generally lower, active weekend stock session.

For most of the list profit taking was the rule as traders continued to move cautiously, centering their attention on the specialties—issues such as American Motors which was pushed up 3 points to 31⅞ on the day's heaviest volume following the company's reports of sharply higher car sales.

There were numerous higher features such as this but the backbone of the list tended fractionally lower. The Dow-Jones industrial average showing a drop of 1.26 to 539.46.

Rails, helped by improved carloadings and good September earnings reports for New York Central and Pennsylvania, were 0.74 higher on average at 147.76, their best since Aug. 7, 1957. Central ran up nearly 2 points and was among the five most active issues. Bangor & Aroostock, outside the average group, climbed over 4 and Western Pacific 1½ points. Norfolk & Western and Great Northern rose close to a point each.

Turnover was at a brisk pace, with tickers falling behind briefly at the opening and again at the close. Volume totaled 3,770,000 shares compared with 3,610,000 Thursday.

Most of the big moves Friday were on the upside—gains of 5¾ points in Parmelee Transportation, 3 points in Checker Motors which controls Parmelee; 2 to 3 points in Lorillard, International Silver, Mergenthaler Linotype.

The televisions were strong with Zenith up 1½, Motorola 1⅛, Raytheon 1¾, Emerson 2⅜. Oils had good spots in Kern County.

COTTON

Prices moved in a narrow range of 25 cents a bale. Hedging and liquidation were absorbed mostly through trade buying and local short covering.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Cotton futures advanced here early today but reacted downward later under weekend long liquidation and hedge selling.

Closing prices were steady, unchanged to 15 cents a bale lower.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The average price of one inch spot cotton at 14 designated southern spot markets today was unchanged at 34.74 cents a pound; previous day 34.74; week ago 34.74; month ago 34.77; year ago 33.70; average for the past 30 market days 34.74; middling 15-16ths inch average 33.22; sales 71,197.

WOOL LETTER

Courtesy of Merrill, Lynch Pierce, Fenner & Smith

The market held in a fairly narrow range with trade interests generally inactive. Volume of trading was light with prices closing around highs for the day, up half a cent.

The October contract ceased trading yesterday and prior to its expiration, 13 notices were issued in the top and 11 in the wool, both well taken.

Argentina's government announced sale of 10 million pounds of greasy wool to Russia and this imparted a little strength to futures. However, trade interests pointed out that Argentina still has a very large stockpile of wool remaining unsold.

London futures, after opening a penny lower, rallied modestly but closed unchanged in moderate trading. A large trade interest in London ventured the opinion that futures are probably within a few pence of their lows.

It is expected by Boston traders prices at the Australian auctions will be moderately lower next week.

RECOVERED

LONDON (AP) — A box of valuable classified equipment has been recovered from the wreckage of the British airliner that crashed at Anzio, Italy, the Admiralty disclosed Friday.

A spokesman for the admiralty said the equipment was for the Mediterranean Fleet at Malta. He did not describe the equipment or its function.

"It is not unusual for British pilots to be entrusted with classified equipment," the Admiralty spokesman said.

LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO (AP) — Prices for butcher hogs and sows closed steady to 25 cents lower on the Chicago market Friday. Trading was moderately active.

Buyers paid $18.65 to $19 for No. 1 to 3 grade butchers scaling 190 to 230 pounds. Some No. 1 and 2s from 195 to 220 pounds brought $19 to $19.25, the top Scattered lots of No. 3s scaling 230 pounds down brought $18.50. Mixed grade sows brought $17.25 to $18 for 300 to 400-pound weights and $16.25 to $17.25 for heavier types.

In the cattle market slaughter steers and heifers were insufficient in number to test prices of these classes. Cows sold steady to 25 cents higher and bulls steady to up 50 cents.

Mixed high good and choice yearling steers sold for $26.50. Utility and commercial cows brought $17.75 to $20.50 and utility and commercial bulls $23 to $25

In the sheep market slaughter lambs were weak and ewes steady. A few lots of good and choice wooled slaughter lambs sold from $20 to $22.50. Utility to low good types brought $17 to $20 Slaughter ewes ranged from $5 to $8.

GRAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—Corn and soybean futures extended recent declines on the Board of Trade Friday but wheat closed mixed with only small price changes.

Except for the purchase of 1,-800,000 bushels of hard and white wheat by Formosa there was little incentive for the wheat trade. Reports from the southwest winter wheat belt were to the effect that farmers are withholding their wheat from the market and this tended to keep the futures about steady.

At the close wheat was ⅜ higher to ⅛ lower, December $1.92⅞-¾; corn ¼ to 1 cent lower, old style December $1.09½-⅜; oats ⅛ to ⅜ lower, December .63¾; rye unchanged to ¼ higher, December $1.29¾-, and soybeans ⅛ to ½ lower, November $2.11-10⅞.

Hedge selling along with liquidation attributed to speculators served to push corn futures lower.

Ouachita Bar Owners Score Control Board

The president of the Ouachita Bar Ow s Association attacked the Lo na Alcoholic Beverage Control oard here yesterday challenging the body to enforce "all the law or forget it" completely.

John Bailey blasted the LABCB charging that it functioned as a collection agency for liquor wholesalers while it ignored the law enforcing fair trade practices on price cuts — a section Bailey hailed as beneficial to retailers.

The fair trades law was passed by the 1950 legislature.

Bailey said the board should go all the way in enforcing controls on price cuts.

He said, "The board has ignored every provision of the law except that pertaining to credit advanced to retailers by wholesalers," Bailey charged.

This part of the law allows the wholesaler to give 15-day credit after which sales are made cash on delivery for a specified time.

If payments are not forthcoming according to law, the board may act on the matter.

A credit hearing was staged by the board in Monroe earlier this week. Two members are on the board — a third member having recently died.

Bailey said local bar owners complain that the credit provision handicaps the "little man" since he is unable to finance large purchases making impossible price cuts practiced by chain and other volume dealers.

The Ouachita association supported the 1950 law believing it would be enforced when passed, Bailey said.

"We are now insisting the law be enforced or forgotten," he said.

The board is appointed by the governor, serves at his discretion, and is responsible on' 'o him since the state senate not ratify board member pointments.

Missing School Girl Subject Of Intensive Hunt

WINNSBORO (Special) — Police authorities here are still pressing a search for an 18-year-old blonde high school girl missing from her home for 10 days.

Sheriff's department spokesmen said no word of Miss Nancy Louise Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Smith of Winnsboro, Route 1, has been heard since she left home to go to school.

Sheriff Hiram B. Waller said the teenager may have been harmed. Her parents said the girl had often talked of leaving school to get a job and added that it is their belief she may have done so.

Nancy was described in a missing persons bulletin as 5 feet 8 inches tall, 182 pounds, hazel eyes, dark blonde hair and wearing a green print dress, black loafers and carrying a white purse.

The Franklin Parish Sheriff's Department requests anyone who has seen Nancy to notify them at telephone number 4505 in Winnsboro.

OLD HAND

BREDONS NORTON, England (AP)—Sir Raymond Priestley reported Friday that he's going back to Antarctica—at the age of 72.

The British scientist is the only man alive who went with both Scott and Shackleton on their Antarctic expeditions before the first world war. He was with Scott in 1910-13 and with Shackleton in 1907-1909.

Meet Slated On Hospital In Ward Five

Plans will be discussed for a West Monroe hospital at an open meeting scheduled for Monday at 7 p.m. in the West Monroe city hall, it was learned yesterday.

The meeting was announced by a board of commissioners of the Ward Five Hospital Service District No. 1 and the hospital committee of the West Monroe Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. G. T. Gallaspy, chairman of the board of commissioners, and Charlie P. Chisholm, chairman of the hospital committee, said decisions may be made at the meeting which could lead to a bond election in ward five to raise up to $1,000,000 to match federal hospital funds to construct the proposed 106-bed hospital.

Representatives from a New Orleans bond attorney firm will be present at the meeting to present important aspects of hospital building in a community, Chisholm said. "We want a large crowd to attend the meeting Monday night and we want everyone to feel free to ask questions."

He also reported, "Plans for the hospital have progressed so satisfactorily that we can now look forward to success."

It was learned from the commission and committee that management of the proposed hospital by the Methodist Church is being considered.

City Courts

WEST MONROE

Traffic violations made up the major portion of the docket yesterday as three persons forfeited bonds. One each for speeding, running a red light and reckless driving.

Artis Tyson, 19, 1025 S. 5th St., was fined $25 or 10 days in jail plus a compulsory jail sentence of five days for aggravated assault with a carving knife.

A total of $85.50 was assessed in fines, forfeited bonds and court costs.

WM Rounding Up All Stray Dogs

More than 200 dogs have been captured by the West Monroe dogcatcher in the current drive to rid the town of mean or ownerless dogs, according to Police Chief Jeff Caldwell.

The drive grew out of numerous complaints of dogs biting people, Caldwell said. The catcher is under orders to pick up vicious or stray dogs regardless of whether or not the animals are tagged, Caldwedd added.

Negotiations On Passenger Liners Broken

TOKYO (UPI)—An American hotel executive and a Japanese shipbuilding company broke off negotiations Friday on the construction of two giant 90,000-ton transatlantic passenger liners.

Japanese officials said talks between H.B. Cantor and the Sasebo Shipbuilding Co., were canceled chiefly because of insurmountable financial problems. A spokesman for the Sasebo firm said Cantor offered 55 million dollars for the two super-liners while the company set a minimum price of 170 million dollars.

Bomb Threat Evacuates Tenn. School

MEMPHIS (AP)—More than 2,100 students were hastily evacuated from East High today after police received a warning that a bomb was planted in the all-white school.

An anonymous tipster called the police department switchboard and said the explosion was set for 11:30 a.m. The hour passed without incident except for the hurried emptying of the building and a fruitless search of its premises.

Fire trucks and police cars, sirens screaming, roared up to the big modern building minutes after the call. Firemen and police poured into the school, poking through lockers and other places where explosives could be hidden.

Registration Shows Decline

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Orleans Parish shows a total registration of 194,421 votes for the Nov. 4 general election, a drop from total registration of 200,007 at the time of the city election of last Feb. 4.

Of these there are 163,132 voters registered as Democrats for the Nov. 15 judgeship primary.

Total Democratic registration now is 190,364 and Republicans 3,019, the latter showing a 19 per cent drop from 1956.

1-AAA BATTLE

Stovall Sparks Rebels To 20-0 Rout Over Lions

By JIM CALHOUN

Piledriving halfback Jerry Stovall ran and tackled like a tiger and scored all the games' points to spearhead the West Monroe Rebels to a 20-0 rout over the Ouachita Lions in a District 1-AAA scrap here last night before a near capacity crowd.

Stovall, who raised his season scoring to 70 points, tallied on runs of 16 and 4 yards from scrimmage and snared a Lion pass and galloped 35 yards to paydirt.

The game started off as a tight defensive duel through the first period. Ouachita penetrated inside Rebel territory several times, but without threatening seriously. The Rebels finally crossed the mid-field just as the first period ended.

Then Stovall and the Rebs started rolling. The Rebels downed a Lion punt on the Ouachita 41 and Stovall began the drive with a ten yard dash around end. Halfback John Moses and fullback Dwain Johnston carried in four plays to the 15. Moses lost one through center and then Stovall burst off right tackle, bowling over Lion tacklers like ten pins, and scored standing up. He then split the uprights to make the score 7-0.

The Lions got off their first deep penetration midway in the second quarter. Ouachita quarterback Rex Carter, who partially held the Rebs off throughout the game with his booming punts, quick-kicked fifty nine yards to the West Monroe 17. On the first play the Rebs fumbled and Lion tackle Ronnie Wyatt fell on the ball on the 16. Carter and Woody Mahoney gained 2 in 2 tries and then Reb tackle Jimmy Bell intercepted a deflected Carter pass and lugged the pigskin back 40 yards to halt the threat.

Seconds before the half ended Carter hit end Tommy Crowe with a 40-yard aerial which carried to the West Monroe 15. But time ran out before the Lions could get the ball in play.

The Rebels took the second half kickoff and then drove 74 yards for their second touchdown. Stovall and Tommy Lolley highlighted the drive with runs of 36 and 22 yards and then Stovall plunged over from the 4. Ouachita center R. W. Kimball blocked Stovall's extra point attempt.

Less than a minute later, Stovall picked off a Carter pass on the Ouachita 35 and raced down the left sideline to score. He then booted the point to make the final score 20-0.

West Monroe led in first downs, 11-4, and rolled up 191 yards rushing while the Lions were held to a net minus five. The Rebel forward wall sparked by Bell, Albert Fields, and Larry Lewis crashed through to drop Ouachita passers time and again for long losses.

Floyd Borden shone defensively. Little sophomore halfback Herbert Perry entered late in the game and made several fine runs. Ouachita linebacker Ervin Bates intercepted a Rebel pass to halt a drive and Kimball recovered a West Monroe fumble.

The win gave West Monroe a season record of five wins against two losses. The Lions stand at 3-5.

West Germany Wins Horse Show

By FRED B. WALTERS

HARRISBURG (AP)—West Germany completed its sweep of major honors at the 13th annual Pennsylvania National Horse Show Friday.

"Deutschland Lied," the German national anthem, became the most often played hymn at the horse show as Germany's expert horsemen won both international jumping events.

The afternoon victory gave them the third leg and a complete sweep of the low score competition for the 104th Cavalry Challenge Trophy and also clinched the over-all team trophy.

Previously, Germany had won the Prix Des Nations Cup and Hans Geunther Winkler won the individual championship.

Both events Friday were team events, right down the 1956 Olympic champions' alley.

Alfonse Lutke - Westhues and Fritz Thiedemann gave faultless rides to win the afternoon event for Germany and Winkler and Lutke-Westhues marked the evening win with perfect showings.

NEUMANN STARS

Tallulah Thumps Neville, 28 To 6

Neumann's efforts alone almost matched the total yardage made by the visiting Tigers, who were able to muster only 177 yards on the ground.

The big Tallulah back, a much-wanted college prospect playing his last game on home soil, ran for touchdowns in the first and fourth period.

It was Tallulah's seventh consecutive win since the Trojans

lost in the season's opener to Carr Central of Vicksburg, Miss.

The surprise win came as a big one for Tallulah, since the Tigers, now with a 4-3 record, already have clinched the 2-AA championship.

Neville scored against the Trojans in the third period, coming back into the game after trailing at halftime, 21-0.

The Tigers started their drive on their own 37 with backs Gene Howard and Devonne Payne, leading the way. They hammered to the Trojan's 33 where Howard slipped over tackle and went all the way.

The Trojans got rolling early in the first period after taking the opening kickoff on their own 24. With sophomore Wayne Noland joining Neumann, the Trojans went to the Neville 17. Neumann went the distance for the score.

Later in the same period, Bill Grant blocked Joe Cage's punt and the Trojans took over on the Tiger's 20. From the three, Neumann went in.

Tallulah took over in the second period on Neville's 46 and drove to the one where Gerald Collins went around end from the one on a keeper.

A 32-yard drive was climaxed when Neumann got away for 14 yards and the touchdown. Jerry Fairbanks kicked all four extra points for the Torjans.

Tallulah linemen Jerry McConald, Billy Foster and Perry Beard were outstanding as well as Neville forward wall performers Lucian Branch, Robert Turner and Doug Turner.

Touchdown Duel Seen In Eastern Tilt

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) —Football fans in these mountains of Central Pennsylvania oiled the adding machine Friday in hopes of a touchdown dual Saturday between Syracuse and Penn State, two of the East's better offensive teams.

Syracuse has averaged 33 points a game and allowed only seven while Penn State has collected 25 points per game and allowed 9.6.

The Orange has not been able to win at Beaver Field in 24 years. Penn State has won 11 and tied one game here in that stretch.

On physical condition, the teams are about equal. Syracuse will miss tackle Ron Luciano, who is ill and did not make the trip. Penn State is short-handed at fullback with Pat Botula hampered by injuries and sophomore Sam Sobczak not expected to play.

Reckless Richie Lucas, State's gambling quarterback who passes or runs from almost any point in the field, will get the starting call with veteran Al Jacks working with the No. 2 unit.

High School Football Results

MANGHAM BY ONE

WISNER, La. (Special) —Quarterback Tommy Hendrix' two successful conversions gave Mangham a 14-13 triumph over Wisner here last night.

Hendrix made good on both his PAT tries while the Mangham line blocked Joe Blair's attempted conversion in the third period that would have tied the contest between two class B rivals.

Hendrix scored the first Mangham touchdown in the first period and booted the PAT. Wisner swept back to tie it up when Ken Thornhill dashed 85 yards with the kickoff to the Mangham 10. Thornhill scored on the next play and Blair ran for the extra point to tie it up.

Donald Adams scored from the three to put Mangham ahead again in the second and Hendrix booted true again. Underdog Wisner came back in the third with another touchdown with Phillip Dampier scoring from the two. Blair's attempted conversion was blocked.

Mangham led in first downs, 11 to 5.

BERNICE WINS

BERNICE, La. (Special) —Fullback Bo Dick Smith scored two touchdowns to lead Bernice to a 13-7 victory over Junction City, Ark., here last night.

Smith sprinted 48 years to set up a Bernice touchdown in the first quarter and then rammed over from the two for the TD. Buzzy Green ran for the PAT. Smith took an eight - yard passed from Green to score again in the second period.

Smith's 12 points ran his season's total to 94.

Junction City scored in the third when Bruce McKinnon went over from five yards out. Clarence Buckner passed to Bobby Joe Langley for the extra point.

The win left Bernice's record at 7-1 for the season.

DELHI, 19-0

CROWVILLE, La. (Special) —Delhi's powerful Bears downed Crowville, 19-0, here last night as Ken Newton, Charles Simmons and Thomas Hosea starred.

Hosea pulled in a 40-yard pass to score the first touchdown for Delhi in the first quarter. Newton rammed one yard to count the second TD, this one coming in the second period.

Simmons rambled around left end for 30 yards and the final Bear touchdown in the third period. The extra point was kicked to make the final score, 19-0.

Crowville, paced by the passing of Pete Halley, threatened twice, once in the first quarter and went to the four in the fourth. Jackie Richardson and Ronnie Newsom were outstanding in the Crowville line.

JONESBORO-HODGE, 32-18

WINNFIELD, La. (Special) —Jonesboro - Hodge rolled up their sixth win of the season here last night, 32-18, over Winnfield in a battle of "Tigers."

Quarterback John Garrett's 18-yard jaunt and a 54-yard gallop by right half Johnny Brunson, with two extra points by guard John Blake supplied Jonesboro with a 14-0 first quarter lead.

Brunson added another six points for Jonesboro in the third, then the two teams each racked up two touchdowns each in the final quar- off return by fullback Bobby Jones, plus a nine-pard plunge by quar- ter--Jonesboro on an 85-yard kick- terback Garrett.

WILDCATS TRIUMPH

WINNSBORO (Special) —Winnsboro's Wildcats, led by quarterback Pete Moore, thrilled a partisan homecoming crowd of 1500 here last night with a convincing 38-6 victory over Oak Grove.

The Wildcats rolled to their sixth win of the season by scoring in all four quarters and therefore setting the stage for next week's showdown with the potent Trojans from Tallulah.

He scored on a keeper from the one-yard in the first quarter, the touchdown being set up by a 38-yard run by halfback Bennie Wiggins.

In the second period, Wildcat back J. D. Busby went off right tackle on the Oak Grove 32 and went all the way. Then Moore returned to score from the four following a 50-yard drive.

Winnsboro's scatback — senior Frank Peoples, a 132-pounder — was not to be denied in the touchdown parade. He shook loose from his 17 to score and Moore then threw to Wiggins for the extra point.

In the fourth period, quarterback Buddy Rhodes, following a 61-yard drive, went seven yards for the score. Then came Moore's long touchdown run.

The Wildcats dropped back into punt formation from their own three. From a halfback slot, Moore received the center, hit the middle of the line and out raced the defenders. He ran the extra point.

Oak Grove's lone touchdown came in the second period following a 40-yard drive. On a trap play, halfback Tom Swayer slipped around left end from the nine for the touchdown. The try for extra point failed.

It was Winnsboro's second 2-A win of the season. The Wildcats meet Tallulah here next Friday night in a game that will more than likely decide the district championship.

BULLDOGS 7, PANTHERS 6

FERRIDAY (Special) —Ferriday turned in a strong first half here last night and then held on for dear life and a 7-6 squeak-by over Lake Providence.

It was the Bulldogs' fourth win of the season against as many losses. For the Panthers, it was their fourth loss.

The Bulldogs scored early in the first period after Larry Chauvin and Freddy Marks got off some nice runs to set up fullback James Poole for the kill.

The big linebuster broke through from the seven and then carried it around end for the extra point.

With Ferriday in command most of the second period, threatening but not scoring, Lake Providence came back to take the lead in the second half.

The Panthers too threatened but couldn't score and finally in the fourth period began to roll.

With backs Purvis Thomas and Bill Burton paving the way, the Panthers climaxed a 35-yard drive when Billy Regnold passed to left end Whatley for the touchdown on a play that covered 12 yards. The extra point attempt failed.

WATERPROOF WINS

The loss was the first of the year for Block in district play and the win left Waterproof with a 5-0 district slate and the favorite's role in the league.

Edgar Chase passed to Louis Testa for 33 yards for a Waterproof touchdown in the first period and Edward Justice ran for the PAT. Waterproof held it's lead at 7-0 until the fourth period when Chase threw again, this time to Bobby Wallace, for a touchdown from 18 yards out.

Block came up with its lone touchdown when Billy Edwards went 2 yards. Fullback Clarence Richard set it up with a 53-yard gallop. Edwards ran for the extra point.

Block tried an outside kick on the kickoff and Waterproof took over on the 37 and Justice scored from the one on the last play of the game. Justice ran the PAT.

Waterproof had the edge in first downs, 13-8, and gained 296 yards rushing and passing to 195 for the losers.

CROSSETT WINS

The Eagles rolled up 323 yards to the Badgers' 38.

Robert Tauton went 56 yards for a first period touchdown and scored again in the second period before the Crossett offense exploded.

Scoring for the winners were Bobby Keene, John Grice, David McCay, Lemuel Corkern and A. C. Moncreif. Jimmy Ross booted five out of seven extra point attempts.

ISTROUMA 42-0

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Top-ranked Istrouma crumbled little Catholic High of Baton Rouge, 42-0 Friday night.

Istrouma scored at will and gained yardage anytime it wanted throughout the contest. Catholic was able only to get eight yards on the ground and 11 by passing.

Winston alliouet scored the first touchdown, gathering in a Lynn Amede pass and carrying for a score on a play that covered 74 yards.

Steve Ward, Everett Brooks and Darryl Morris each scored a touchdown and Ronnie Fairchild got two.

All touchdowns came on runs of less than five yards after Istrouma either marched considerable distance or made things easier by intercepting Catholic passes.

Amedee kicked four extra points and Don McCollister booted two.

TERREBONNE, 42-0

HOUMA, La. (AP) - Second string quarterback Russell Pierce threw three touchdown passes and ran 52 yards with a punt for a fourth score as Terrebonne overwhelmed Bogalusa 40-0 Friday night.

Fullback Richie Boudreaux started the scoring with a 65-yard run on the third play of the game. Tommy Thompson added his first of four conversions.

Pierce's first scoring pass was thrown to Larry Hutchinson in the second quarter. The play covered 52 yards. Larry Bonvillain and Thompson were on the receiving end of the other touchdown passes.

Guard Allen Detriveaux got the other touchdown on a 75 yard run with a Bogalusa fumble.

JESUIT, 19-0

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Unbeaten and untied Jesuit, led by 15-year-old sophomore Pat Screen, scored two first guarter touchdowns and went on to a 19-0 victory over Baton Rouge High Friday night.

Baton Rouge's only serious threat came in the second quarter when the sixth ranked team in the Associated Press poll drove to the Jesuit 15 before losing the ball.

Screen scored one touchdown on a 35-yard run in the last quarter and passed 23 yards to Adrian Colon for another.

Jesuit's first score came on a 57-yard march. Mike Rooney went the last yard for the touchdown after Screen's 24-yard run had put the ball in scoring position.

Rooney was hurt on a defensive play in the second quarter and sat out the rest of the game.

BOLTON, 12-7

SULPHUR, La. (AP)—Ronnie Clayton and Ed Edgerton combined for touchdowns that gave Bolton a 12-7 victory over winless Sulphur Friday night.

Clayton got the first touchdown on a 14-yard end run in the first quarter.

Sulphur went ahead in the second quarter when Bill Keever threw a 28-yard scoring pass to A. J. Woods. Edgerton plunged two yards in the third quarter for the touchdown that put eighth-ranked Bolton ahead to stay.

Sulphur had two drives stopped deep in Bolton territory, one on the 3-yard line and the other on the 18.

MANSFIELD WINS

Mansfield broke the scoring ice in the second quarter on a drive from their own 45 yard line. Twelve plays carried to the one and on fourth down Jerry Stepp bulled over for the score. With 20 seconds remaining in the first half Gary Moore took a lateral from Carl Hemphill and raced 70 yards around right end to make the score 12-0 at halftime.

Moore passed to Scott Brown after a Farmer fumble in the third quarter from the six for another Wolverine tally. Minutes later another Farmerville fumble gave Mansfield the bal' on the 49. Several plays later Stepp went around right end from the five to paydirt. Hemphill kicked the point.

Hemphill broke loose in the fourth quarter and scampered 95 yards and booted the point to make it 32-0. In the closing minutes of play Moore intercepted a pass on the Farmer 35 and ran it back for a touchdown. Hemphill converted.

MINDEN, 12-6

MINDEN La. (AP) — Minden scored twice in the first half and then stopped a Byrd threat in the closing minutes for a 12-6 victory Friday night.

Grover Colvin nipped the Byrd drive when he intercepted a pass on the Minden two with two minutes and 35 seconds remaining.

Minden drove 45 yards in the opening minutes for its first score. The drive took six plays and was capped by a 7-yard end run by fullback Bobby Ashley. Ashley also got the second Minden score on a 14-yard run.

Byrd's first touchdown in six games came on a 35-yard pass play, Sonny Parnell to Hayden Hicks.

HORNETS WINNERS

RAYVILLE (Special) — Rayville's Hornets scored twice in all but the third period here last night to roll to an easy 42-13 victory over the Newellton Bears.

Scatback Paul Hunter, writing football history at Rayville, led the Hornets to their third win of the season against four setbacks.

It was Newellton's seventh consecutive loss of the season.

But before the period had ended, Hunter, on a tricky reverse, scampered 40 yards for the touchdown.

Then in the second quarter he went eight for another touchdown and Dyer returned in the same period to pass to Danny McCarty for the Hornets' fourth score in the first half.

Hunter's third touchdown of the evening, one which climaxed his sparkling performance, came in the third period. And he had to do it twice to make it stick.

He hauled in a Newellton kickoff and went 90 yards to paydirt, only to have it called back. The Bears kicked again . . . in the same spot . . . and Hunter went 90 yards again, this time good for the touchdown.

Rayville's scoring in the final period came when James Mayo went 20 yards into the end zone and Dyer scored on a sneaker from the five.

The Bears scored in the third and fourth quarters, James McVay going 30 around right end and William Bozeman kicking the extra point.

In the finale, fullback Allen Parker plunged over from the two. The try for point was no good.

BEARCATS WIN

RUSTON, La. (Special) —Ruston's Bearcats defeated triple - A Bastrop, 21-14, here last night in their homecoming game.

Bastrop jumped off to the lead in the first quarter when halfback Walter Moore went 55 yards off tackle and Charles Burks kicked the extra point. Ruston tied it up in the second period as Wallace Martin scored from three yards out. Ronnie Graham kicked the tying extra point.

Ruston's all-star prospect, Sammy Simonton, dashed 92 yards in the third to put Ruston ahead. Graham again kicked the extra point. Ruston held a determined Bastrop rally, stopping them at the three in the quarter.

Emmett Irby, Bastrop quarterback, counted the second Ram one and Burks added the PAT. Pat touchdown with a sneak from the Shows won it for Ruston when he sparked a drive to the Bastrop seven and then carried over for the TD. Graham kicked the point to make it 21-14.

Bastrop had the edge in first downs over their double-A foe, 15-12.

LASALLE, 31-20

SICILY ISLAND, La. (Special) —Class A LaSalle defeated class B Sicily Island in a touchdown party, 31-20, here last night.

Harold Watson scored from 15 yards out for Sicily Island and Charles Miller passed to William Patton for the PAT. LaSalle tallied when Gary Russell ran 60 yards.

Underdog Sicily Island came back to score again with Watson sprinting 50 yards for the TD. Miller tossed to Cliff Guice for the extra point. LaSalle came back with Ben Nichols passed 15 yards to Don Long and Jerry Ingram kicked the extra point.

Nichols threw to Bert Albritton for two yards just before the half to give LaSalle a 19-14 lead at intermission.

Nichols went 10 yards in the third for a LaSalle score and Don Long passed 10 yards to Fred Roberts for another LaSalle talley. Johnny Weston went five yards for the final Sicily Island touchdown in the fourth.

VIDALIA LOSES

NATCHEZ, Miss. (Special) —Cathedral High's Greenies of Natchez, Miss. outlasted the Vikings of Vidalia here last night for a 14-12 homecoming victory.

The Greenies scored in the first and second periods for a 14-6 halftime lead and then held the Vikings at bay for the win.

Baronni threw to Barrett on a long pass play that spelled touchdown for the Greenies in the first period and with only seconds left in the half Baronni threw again, this time to Lambert, for the score.

In the meantime, Jimmy Trindle passed to Jimmy Boles on a 40-yard pass play for Vidalia's first half touchdown. Zizzi ran over both the Greenies' extra points.

In the fourth period, Trindle threw again, this time to Jimmy Stringer to the one. Luther Andrews carried it over for the touchdown.

LUMBERJACKS TRIUMPH

SPRINGHILL (Special)—Springhill's Lumberjacks battered down the Jena Giants in a high scoring second period to score a 34-13 victory in an inter-sectional game here last night.

Halfback Jerry Griffin chalked up three touchdowns to pace the Lumberjack win. Griffin ran for one score and caught two passes from quarterback Bain Slack for two others.

St. Matthews Takes 2 From Weston Cagers

St. Matthews boys took a doubleheader here last night over Weston, the varsity winning its fourth straight without a loss, 80-43, and the "B" team taking a 55-27 decision.

Jimmy Tonore dropped in 18 points to pace the varsity win for Jim Mahoney's Fighting Irish while Gerald Williams scored 14 and Ab Elias got 13. W. Harold led Weston with 13.

Gerald Williams scored 16 to pace the winners in the "B" game while Joe Zarro got 15 and Roy Henderson had 14. L. Watkins was high for the losers with 12.

12 Named To Take Off In Toronto Race

TORONTO (AP)—Twelve have been named to start in Saturday's $50,000-added Canadian Championship at New Woodbine. The prediction is the winner's share of Canada's richest race will go to a U.S.-owned horse.

Owners made the final $500 payment Friday and included in the list were eight Americans. The mile and 5-furlong classic is over a grass course.

The winner will earn $35,000 and co-favorites probably will be Civet, 5-year-old stakes winner who has been in the money in 10 of his 15 starts, and the entry of Ekaba, Jack Ketch and Mahan from the Hasty House Farm of Toledo, Ohio. Civet is owned by E. Austin Byrne of Mt. Kisko, N.Y.

Other American-owned horses nominated:

La. State Fair Speed Races To End Sunday

SHREVEPORT, La. (Special)—The Louisiana State Fair speed program will end this week end with races set for tonight and tomorrow evening.

Midget race cars, Offenhausers, are slated for a seven event program Saturday evening. This will mark the first midget car action in the history of the Louisiana State Fair. Top drivers from the Texas area are included in the big field. More than twenty drivers from as far away as Wisconsin will shoot for the big cash purse.

The final State Fair speed program, Sunday evening at 7:30 finds the late model stock cars going in a 200-lap race. The national championship hinges on results of the Shreveport race. Don White and Ernie Derr remain in contention for top national honors.

All out speeds are indicated as this is the final race of the 1958 season.

Hockey Players Draw Fines For Indifferent Play

MONTREAL (AP)—A $100 fine was assessed against all members of the Chicago Black Hawk hockey team Friday by General Manager Tommy Ivan. The cause was indifferent play against the Montreal Canadiens Thursday night.

The Canadiens drubbed the Hawks, 9-1, in repulsing Chicago's effort to gain a first place tie in the National Hockey League.

Ivan disclosed his action just before the Hawks entrained for New York and a national TV game Saturday afternoon with the rangers.

Said Ivan:

"We've tried everything the last few games with no results. Maybe we'll get somewhere by hitting them in their pocketbooks."

Santa Chief In Yonkers Victory

YONKERS, N. Y. (AP)—Santa Chief, an 8-year-old gelding driven by Charles Fleming, took command at the start and went on to win Friday night's AA pace by a neck over Laura Scott at Yonkers Raceway. Time for the mile was 2:05.

The winner, owned by Charles Wilson of Independence, Mo., returned $55.10 as favorite. This was the gelding's fourth win, all made at Yonkers Raceway in seventeen starts. Ike Frost finished third.

Marion Cagers Sweep Twin Bill

MARION, La. (Special) —Marion boys and girls swept their fourth straight basketball doubleheader of the year last night with two wins over Parker's Chapel, Ark.

Marion's girls won, 50-38, with Sue Reeves and Judy Pilgreen scoring in the double figures for the winners. Cameron led the losers with 16.

Bobby Andrews, J. R. Miller and Bill Brashier scored in twin figures to pace Marion's win in the boys game, 71-48. Huggins led the losers with 19.

BOTH UNBEATEN IN GSC

Tribe Faces Southeastern In Search Of Sixth Scalp

The Northeast State College Indians with five scalps hanging to their belts, the longest-winning streak in the school's history, will send a raiding party tonight to the campus of the Southeastern Louisiana College Lions at Hammond.

Kickoff time for the clash of the two remaining unbeaten teams in Gulf States Conference play will be at 8 p.m. at Strawberry Stadium.

The Indians have beaten Southern State 33-12, Stephen F. Austin 14-12, Delta State 23-0, Southwestern 20-8 and McNeese State 29-14. They are rated 16th in the nation in Dick Dunkel's Power Index Rating of small colleges in the United States. Northeast also rated 26th in the United Press International small college ratings, the only GSC school placing.

Assistant Coach George Luffey has high regard for the Lions from his scouting report of last week end when Southeastern beat Florence (Ala.) State 40-7.

"They have the best-balanced club we will have met up to date," said Luffey, adding, "they have speed to go wide, power to go up the middle and a good quarterback who throws well."

In the backfield for the Lions will be C. J. Alexander, Jr., a 23-year-old halfback who played freshman ball at LSU and transferred to Hinds Junior College where he made J. C. All-American and is now considered to be the Lions' most dangerous runner.

Another back to watch this weekend is Fullback James Hanley, a sophomore and also an LSU transfer, who is very capable on power plays. He is their main cog in punching out those first downs through the line.

Robert Goss holds down the other tackle post. A 6'3", 220-pounder, he is a good blocker and is exceptionally fast for his size.

Quarterback Everett Reynolds, star of the McNeese State game last week, for which he was selected "Back of the Week" by the Associated Press, will engineer the Indian attack.

Head Coach Jack C. Rowan praised his entire Indian line for their past contributions to the Northeast wins this season. French, Knox, Brent, Feeney, Cox, Cagle, Driskill, McGraw, Anderson have all done a terrific job defensively in the line, he said.

"Our line outplayed a much-heavier line last week," said Rowan. "A football game is won or lost in the line," he added.

"Galloway teams are always well-coached with a versatile offense and a sound defense, Rowan said. "I think we are going to be up for this game but I don't know how much the loss of Laudadio and McGough will hurt us. Terry Head, Amos, Leach, and Simon will be called upon to carry the load and will do the best job possible."

Coach Jim Coats says McGough and Laudadio will be missed but the other boys are showing up well.

Flankman Joe Driskill who caught six passes for 155 yards and two touchdowns will be at the right end post for the Indians Saturday. At left end will be Jim Knox who has snagged three passes for 49 yards and two touchdowns. Jerry Head will back up Driskill and Dale Hoover will back up Knox.

The Indian lineup with alternates:

RE — Joe Driskill and Jerry Head

LE — Jim Knox and Dale Hoover

RT — Luther French and Ray Borders

RG — Fred Cox and Roy Cagle

LG — Fred Feeney and Millard Abrams

C — Bill McGraw and Buck Anderson

QB — Everett Reynolds and Bob Randel

LH — Terry Head and Bob Leach

RH — Keith Amos and Terry Reeves

FB — Stewart Stover and Lloyd Ray Smith.

COLLEGE

Grid Attendance Shows Increase

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

College football already has shown an attendance increase of 3.33 per cent this season with every indication thatit may go even higher before the various bowl teams are determined.

Only in the Big Ten, Big Eight, Missouri Valley and Southern Conferences has there been a decrease and in the first two loops there were ready explanations.

Michigan, for instance, plays its home Big Ten schedule in a 100,000 seat stadium. But this year the Wolverines travelled for games to Michigan State and Northwestern, whose stadiums total 54,000 seats less.

And in the Big Eight, the schedule twice has had Kansas and Kansas State both at home on the same day. The campuses are only 30 miles apart.

The final half of these schedules are so arranged that the attendances will be greater.

The drop in the Big Ten was 3.60 per cent and in the Big Eight 1.36 per cent. The Missouri Valley crowds are 4.82 per cent smaller while those in the Southern loop are down 0.61, an Associated Press survey shows.

The biggest increase percentage-wise was turned in by the Skyline Conference where the crowds have been 16.21 per cent larger. Border Conference throngs are 13.99 per cent greater, helped in part by a larger stadium at Arizona State of Tempe.

The survey was based on the reports from 106 colleges participating in 246 games. Last year's figures involved the same number of colleges but included 259 games.

The average attendance at college games during the first half of the 1957 season was 24,252. This year, again in the first half of the season only, the attendance has climbed to 25,063.

Vejar-Greaves Bout Cancelled

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Chico Vejar - Wilf Greaves proposed Nov. 12 middleweight fight will be cancelled because of a complaint by a Kentucky boxing commissioner, promoter Bill King said Friday.

Commissioner Bernie Bax said the fight had not been cleared, as required by the commission, before King announced the fight Thursday.

King said Vejar had not confirmed the date for the 10 round bout with the Canadian middleweight champion and published reports made the bout appear more definite than it was.

Geo. Washington Tumbles W & M

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Washington, a two-touchdown underdog, turned its one big break into a quick touchdown Friday night and stunned William and Mary with a 7-0 Southern Conference victory.

Fullback Duane Whetstone fammed one yard for the score with 35 seconds to play in the first half, three plays after a William and Mary blunder that cost the Indians the game.

STATISTICS

	W&M	GW
First downs	5	7
Rushing yardage	37	129
Passing yardage	93	16
Passes	10-15	2-7
Passes intercepted	0	2
Punts	7-35	8-36
Fumbles lost	1	4
Yards penalized	60	48

With 31 yards to go on fourth down, third-string end Ben Johnson dropped back to kick but let the pass from center trickle off his fingers. Johnson sccoped up the ball but was nailed on his own 14 by GW's Ed Rutsch and Don Herman.

Tom Haley gained three, Ted Colna rambled to the 1 and Whetstone crashed across. Bob Barbiere placekicked the point and the Griffith Stadium scoreboard was set for the rest of the night.

William and Mary, heavily favored because of its 13-6 upset of North Carolina State, never penetrated beyond GW's 18. Guard Bob Frulla, voted outstanding player of the game, led a Colonial defense which blunted William and Mary's attack.

Mike Injured, To Miss LSU Homecoming

Mike III, with two broken legs, has been sidelined for the season, right in the midst of LSU's homecoming with some 100,000 alumni and friends expected to jam the campus.

A hasty peek at the Ole War Skule's history fails to show a previous time since the first Mike was purchased in 1935 when the bengal tiger mascot failed to roll onto the home field in his cage just before game time.

Unbeaten LSU, favored over Florida, will play host to what is expected to be the largest homecoming crowd in history.

The football game should draw a capacity 65,000 as LSU seeks its sixth straight win.

During pre-game events, the LSU Alumni Federation will elect new officers. Candidates for president are Enoch T. Nix of Bossier City and E. T. Mansour of Shreveport.

A military review, pep rally, student variety show and other events are on the day-long program.

Brittain To Play Brown In North-South

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP)—A 62-year-old food broker and a 55-year-old banker will meet Saturday for the championship of the North and South seniors golf tournament.

The food broker, Jack Brittain Sr. of Woodhaven, N.Y., eliminated James H. McAlvin of Lake Forcest, Ill., 3 and 2 Friday. His opponent will be J. Wolcott Brown of Sea Girt, N.J., who won his semifinal match from Frederick Holmes of Riviera Beach, Fla., 3 and 2. Brown is president and chairman of a bank in Manasquan, N.J.

Brittain, a left-hander, made the turn 1-up. He halved the 10th and 11th holes with McAlvin, then parred No. 12 and birdied No. 13 to go 3-up. McAlvin cut the lead to 2-up as Brittain three-putted No. 14. They halved the next hole before Brittain won the match with a birdie on No. 16.

Brown, the reigning Southern seniors champion, gained his victory, in part, on the trap troubles of Holmes. They played fairly even until the ninth, when Holmes trapped his tee shot, enabling Brown to win the hole and turn 2-up.

Holmes won the 10th as Brown three-putted, but Holmes had trap troubles again on 12 and 13 and Brown won both. They halved the next three holes, giving Brown the match.

Campbell Fails To Break Mark

His highest speed was 201.5 mph.

Soviet Horses To Compete In International

MOSCOW (AP) — Two Soviet horses and a five-man Soviet delegation leave for Berlin Saturday en route to Laurel Park in Maryland for the Washington, D. C., International race.

The five Russians, including the directors of the Moscow Hippodrome and two jockeys, applied for U. S. visas Monday. They still had not received them Friday.

Joseph Cascarella, executive vice president of Laurel Park, has been in Moscow the past week in an effort to expedite transportation of the two 3-year-old colts which will carry the Kremlin's colors in the big race Nov. 11.

Cascarella said the Russians plan to pick up their un-visaed passports from the American Embassy and leave early Saturday for a three-day train trip to Berlin.

The Russian party is scheduled to fly from Berlin Oct. 29, arriving at Laurel Park the next day. Cascarella said he hoped the visas could be picked up in Germany.

The horses are two of the Soviet Union's best thoroughbreds, Garnyr and Zaryad.

Houston Still Hopes To Get Indian Club

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Sports Assn. said Friday night the deadline on its offer to buy the Cleveland Indians baseball club had expired with no reply received from Cleveland officials. But it apparently considered no news, good news.

The Houston group, led by oil heir Craig Cullinan Jr., offered more than 5½ million dollars for the club.

George Kirksey, executive secretary of the group, said the offer expired at noon Friday and added:

"This indicates to us that the Cleveland club's affairs are far from settled. We believe that in this situation we should sit tight and keep quiet pending the forthcoming Cleveland stockholders meeting."

Indian stockholders are expected to meet next week.

WORTH $297,250

By JOHN CHANDLER

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP) — The rains cleared away in southern New Jersey Friday and a pot of greenbacks worth $297,250 waited at the end of the rainbow for 13 colts entered in the Garden State Stakes.

The 2-year - old championship probably will be settled Saturday if a colt like First Landing, Tomy Lee, Intentionally, or Restless Wind can get into a winner's circle literally lined with banknotes.

Those colts have the credentials through earlier stakes victories, while most of the others could hardly stake a solid claim on the juvenile crown if they won this world's richest horse race.

Entries closed officially with the 13 horses who had been expected. Owners had to dig for $1,000 to enter, with another $1,000 apiece to face the starter Saturday at approximately 3:50 p.m., EST. The race will be televised (CBS) 3:30 - 4 p.m. (EST), and will be heard on radio (NBC Monitor).

First Landing, the colt Eddie Arcaro hopes will bring him a sixth Kentucky Derby next May, is the 7-5 favorite in the mile and one sixteenth event being run for the sixth time. Turn-to, First Landing's daddy, won the inaugural running of the race in 1953.

But First Landing isn't any lead pipe cinch, although he's won nine of 10 starts. Tomy Lee, the pride of California, is a colt many think will hit the big jackpot. His odds are 3 to 1.

Two weeks ago, First Landing won the $151,300 Champagne Stakes at Belmont Park. Tomy Lee, who was unbeaten in six starts, was leading in that mile race at the halfway mark when he suddenly bolted and dropped back to fifth. In doing so, he barged into Intentionally. Bill Hartack got him straightened away, and he rallied to finish second only a neck behind First Landing. For fouling Intentionally, Tomy Lee was dropped to third money, and Intentionally was moved into second place.

Those are the sort of question marks that must be answered in the Garden State.

Tomy Lee is owned by Fred Turner, Jr., of Texas, while Christopher T. Chenery of Virginia and New York owns First Landing. Intentionally, from the Brookfield Farms of Harry Isaacs of Maryland, could wrap it up. He is the only horse who has beaten First Landing—in the Belmont Futurity.

Restless Wind, from the Llangollen Farm of Liz Whitney of Virginia, won the two rich Chicago Futurities at Washington and Arlington Park and is the biggest money winning juvenile of the season with $290,040.

This will be the second richest Garden State. In 1956 they ran for $319,210, and Calumet Farm's Barbizon made off with a net purse of $168,490.50.

If any horse but a supplementary entry wins, this would be the most money ever won by a horse in a race—roughly about $175,000. The four supplementaries, at $10,000 each, are Restless Wind, Manon, Winsome Winner and Sword Dancer.

Either First Landing or Restless Wind could become the top money winning 2-year-old in history by getting home on top. Jewel's Reward earned a record $349,642 last season.

Willie Shoemaker will ride Tomy Lee. Hartack, who won the last two Garden State Stakes aboard Barbizon and Nadir, will handle Black Hills, a 15-1 shot.

Erice Guerin, who won with Summer Tan in 1954, rides Sword Dancer.

Richest of the other Saturday features is the $50,000-added Canadian Championship at New Woodbine. The 1⅝ mile race on the grass has attracted a field of 12, eight of them from the United States. Probable choice is the three-horse entry of Ekaba, Jack Ketch and Mahan from the Hasty House Farm.

Jamaica matches eight veteran performers in the mile and one-sixteenth of the $25,000 added Queens County Handicap. Tick Tock is the probable choice off victories in his last three races but Cohoes carries top weight of 126 pounds. Tick Tock gets in with three less, the same as Eddie Schmidt.

A traffic jam is in prospect at Suffolk Downs where 17 sprinters have been named for the 6 furlong, $20,000 added John Alden Handicap. The field numbers such fleet performers as Bull Strength (124), Alhambra (120), The Crack (118), and Mark Antony (121).

Rounding out the top races on Saturday's program are the $10,000 added Littletown Handicap at Sportsman's Park and a $7,500 Handicap at Keeneland.

UNANIMOUS

Liston Decisions Bert Whitehurst

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Charles "Sonny" Liston scored a unanimous 10-round decision Friday over Bert Whitehurst, knocking Whitehurst out of the ring in the final seconds of the last round. Whitehurst was trying to climb back into the ring when the fight ended.

Liston took control of the fight from the start, working constantly on Whitehurst with his rapier-like left, which he kept jabbing to the face. But it was not until the seventh round that Liston really gave out with a flurry that left little doubt of his superiority.

Liston's weight of 212½ pounds—22½ more than his opponent—began to tell heavily on Whitehurst in the seventh. Whitehurst appeared tired when he came out for the eighth.

It was Liston's 20th victory in 21 fights. It was the 14th straight victory for Liston and his second this year over Whitehurst, the only man who has been able to go the distance against him this year.

In the 10th Liston was in again midway in the round with his left. He caught Whitehurst directly on the chin. In a wild flurry of lefts and rights, Liston sent Whitehurst reeling through the ropes. Whitehurst lay on the apron as Referee Harry Kessler began his count. He was trying to get back in the ring when the final gong sounded at the count of eight.

Whitehurst, a journeyman fighter who now has a 24-15-4 record, had difficulty getting through Liston's guard. Occasionally he turned on brief spurts but for the most part he appeared ineffective.

Liston used a left jab repeatedly, keeping Whitehurst off guard, occasionally using a right which seldom landed. Both were cautious through the greater part of the fight. It was not until the fourth round that Liston put on a flurry of action. Then he drove Whitehurst into the ropes but he failed to follow up.

Whitehurst forced Liston to retreat a few times but never actually had his heavier, slow-moving opponent in real trouble. Whitehurst's best showing came midway in the fight.

Sooners Face Kansas State In Big 8 Tilt

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Not since 1934 has Kansas State whipped an Oklahoma football team, and it doesn't look like this is the year either.

The Sooners, ranked 9th nationally, are favored by five touchdowns in the Big Eight clash. Under Coach Bud Wilkinson, Oklahoma has played in 64 league games without a defeat.

While a heavy favorite, Oklahoma is not taking the game lightly as Wilkinson recalls last year's scare. A cleverly - contrived defense by Kansas State's Coach Bus Mertes held Oklahoma's scoring punch down and the Sooners got out with a 13-0 victory.

Oklahoma opened its Big Eight season last week with 43-0 victory over Kansas.

Missouri upset K-State 32-8 last week when the Wildcats played without their captain, Gene Meier, a tackle, and Bill Gallagher, hard-running sophomore fullback. They will be without them again this week.

Conley Gets Okay To Play With Celtics

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Pitcher Gene Conley of the Milwaukee Braves was told Friday night the team's management had no objections to his playing basketball with the Boston Celtics.

Joseph Cairnes, president of the Braves, said he met with General Manager John Quinn and Birdie Tebbetts, the club's new executive vice president, and they decided there was no reason why they should stand in Conley's way.

"Conley has a background in professional basketball," Cairnes said, "a thing uncommon to most baseball players."

Conley signed with the Celtics Thursday for an undisclosed amount. A clause in his contract with the Braves states that "... he will not engage in any game or exhibition of football, basketball, hockey or other athletic sport." Conley has a standard one year contract with the Braves.

Conley played with the Celtics during the 1952-53 season. Hampered by a sore arm, his 1958 record with the Braves was 0-6.

LAMBERT TROPHY AT STAKE

Big Things To Happen On College Gridirons Today

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Saturday is a day unlike any other day so far during the 1958 college football season. Here, among other things, is what's going to happen:

1. A Lambert Trophy winner all but formally chosen.
2. A big step taken in picking the Ivy League, Big Ten, Skyline, Southern and Southwest Conference champions.
3. Some highly ranked teams forced to prove just how good they really are.

The Cadets, with a 4-0 record, will have to play without fullback Harry Walters and with a highly curtailed Pete Dawkins, the star halfback with a charley horse. The Panthers, 4-1, are in good physical shape.

Ohio State (No. 2) with a 2-0 Big Ten record, and 4-0 overall, meets powerful Wisconsin, 1-1 in conference play. Then to the West, unbeaten Northwestern (No. 8), 2-0 in the Big Ten plays Iowa (No. 7), also 2-0 Ohio State and Northwestern are paired for the following week.

In the East, the same situation exists. Harvard (1-1) and Dartmouth (2-0) in the Ivy League play each other, while Princeton travels to Cornell where their 2-0 records will be tested. Princeton and Dartmouth, who meet Nov. 22, are expected to decide the title then.

Texas (No. 4) plays Rice in the Southwest Conference. Rice is 2-0, Texas 1-0 in conference play, while idle Texas Christian (No. 16) is also 2-0. The winner of the Texas-Rice game could begin looking toward the Cotton Bowl.

Virginia Tech plays West Virginia in the Tobacco Festival Bowl and Virginia Military meets Davidson, in Southern Conference games. All four teams have 1-0 records. The conference title could be postponed until Nov. 27 when Tech and VMI play if things go as expected this weekend.

Now for those big boys who have to produce or leave.

Fifth ranked Auburn, its 17-game winning streak broken with a 7-7 tie by Georgia Tech last week, plays Maryland, which has been shut out in three games this year.

Ninth ranked Oklahoma plays Big Eight rival Kansas State, while Notre Dame (No. 11) meets Purdue in their usual slam-bang affair. Purdue is ranked 15th and will face the Irish on a regional television hookup in the Midwest.

Colorado (No. 12) puts its high powered offense against Nebraska in the Big Eight while the surprising Air Force Academy (No. 14) plays Utah, whose Lee Grosscup keeps the footballs flying.

Georgia Tech (No. 17) travels to Dallas to play Southern Methodist, still wondering if Mustang quarterback Don Meredith will play. Navy (No. 18) after absorbing its first loss from Tulane last week, meets Penn's Quakers, who won their first the same day. Mississippi State (No. 19) plays Alabama in the Southeast Conference and Michigan State (No. 20) plays Illinois in the Big Ten.

Other top games feature:

Midwest: Minnesota at Michigan; Miami, Ohio at Indiana; Tulane at Kansas; College of Pacific at Marquette; Iowa State at Missouri; Oklahoma State at Cincinnati

CADETS UNBEATEN

Panthers Seek To Upset Army

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pitt's chances to upset unbeaten Army Saturday got a boost Friday with the disclosure that Cadet halfback Peter Dawkins will see little if any action.

Dawkins and halfback Bob Anderson have helped the Cadets run up the best collegiate offensive record, win four straight games and grab the No. 1 ranking nationally.

"Dawkins definitely will not start," said Army Coach Earl Blaik after sending his team through a light workout in Pitt Stadium. Dawkins pulled a leg muscle last week against Virginia.

Blaik indicated he might use the fleet halfback if the situation called for it, but would take no unnecessary chances. "We still have four games left after this one," Blaik added.

Pitt carries a 4-1 record into the game which will be televised in the East (12:30 p.m. EST, NBC). The Panthers, two and three deep in every position, will be without the services of place-kicking guard Norton Seaman and fullbacks Bob Stark and Joe Cunningham.

Essentially a ground team in seasons past, Pitt, under Coach John Michelosen, is expected to throw a lot of passes. Quarterbacks Ivan Toncic, Bill Kaliden and Ed Sharockman have connected with 49 per cent of their aerials and Toncic has completed 20 of 30.

Army will have to overcome a jinx to whip the Panthers, who have never lost to the Cadets in three games in Pittsburgh. Pitt has won five of the seven meetings with Army taking a pair, including last year at West Point

The game shapes up as a battle for the Lambert Trophy, symbolic of Eastern football supremacy. Army currently is running first in the weekly voting for the award with Pitt second.

Cards Defeat Jap All-Stars In Exhibition

TOKYO (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals downed a Japanese All-Star squad 5-2 Friday in the opener of a 16-game exhibition tour of this country.

Solly Hemus, the Cardinals' manager, said he felt the Japanese players were of major league calibre.

"Before coming to Japan I thought Japanese players were of double-A or triple-A classification," Hemus said. "They are much better than I expected."

He said the Cardinals would have to improve or they would face some rough times on the tour.

"Friday's Japanese pitchers were good," he said. "They throw harder than I thought. Instead of curving the ball, they fired some fast ones."

The Cardinals still combed two pitchers for seven hits, three by second baseman Don Blasingame which accounted for two of the Cardinals' runs.

The Cards' star, Stan Musial, was a disappointment to the 25,000 fans who turned out at Korakuen Stadium. He walked once, grounded to second and flied to center in three appearances.

"I will start hitting Saturday," Stan The Man said apologetically. "The pitchers surprised me the way they got the ball over the plate. They have fine control."

St. Louis' starting pitcher, left hander Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell, was lifted in the sixth inning after suffering a bruise on his right hand while stopping a line drive by Futoshi Nakanishi the Japanese first baseman

The injure wasn't serious but Hemus said he didn't want to take any chances. Mizell was replaced by Don Blaylock.

Leavitt Gets Axe; Tried To Sign Elliott

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—The rug Friday was pulled out from under the American promoter who offered fabulous professional contracts to Australia's ace miler, Herb Elliott, and the record-smashing Konrads kids.

The promoter, Leo Leavitt, was fired by his boss Fred Spiess, secretary - treasurer of Western Promotions of San Francisco. The dismissal is effective Nov. 26.

"Leavitt magnified his position and greatly overstepped his authority," Spiess told a press conference here. "We would sack Leo at once but we have to abide by our contract."

Leavitt offered Elliott, the world's fastest miler, a quarter of a million dollars to turn professional. He reportedly made a $125,000 offer to Jon and Ilsa Konrads, who hold many of the world's swimming records.

After Elliott turned down Leavitt's offer, the promoter attacked amateur officials as "a bunch of slobs" and threatened to make disclosures which would ruin Elliott's amateur career.

The crowd booed loudly and yelled for Leavitt "to take your check book and go back to America."

Leavitt walked out of the news conference in a huff, saying he would resign in seven days. He insisted he could still lay his hands on two million dollars. He said Elliott and the Konrads "will still come over to me."

San Francisco Center Suffers Knee Injury

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Huge Frank Morze, center for the San Francisco 49ers, may be through for the season with a knee injury suffered last week.

The 265-pound former Boston College star suffered a torn ligament near the left knee in last Sunday's game against the Philadelphia Eagles.

Friday the report was he would be inactive another four or five weeks. Coach Frank Albert said he may place Morze on the injured reserve list, which would keep him out the rest of the season.

Hogs Tangle With Rebs At Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Mighty Ole Miss rolls into War Memorial Stadium Saturday to meet Arkansas, but the unbeaten Rebels approach the contest with a measure of respect for the winless Razorbacks.

Four times in the immediate past seasons, the Mississippi Rebels have entered this contest as the favorite. On three occasions they have crawled back to Oxford licking 6-0, 14-0 and 12-6 wounds.

But if ever the cards were stacked in Ole Miss' favor, it is this year. Coach Johnny Vaught's 1958 Sugar Bowl champions have built up a full head of steam since their last defeat — by Arkansas in Memphis a year ago.

Mississippi has a 5-0 record while Arkansas stands 0-5.

The game — high point of the football season for fans in both states — will be a 38,000 sellout despite the discrepancy in caliber of opponents. All except 800 end zone seats were sold by mail long ago.

Excellent weather is forecast for the 2 p.m. EST kickoff.

Scotch Event At Highland Course Today

The tourney teams are comprised of one man and one woman, each playing the same ball on alternate shots. Both tee off and choose the best tee shot to play, then alternate shots.

Sixteen teams played the tournament four weeks ago won by Creighton and Simpson and another large field is expected. All players should register before 11 a.m. today by calling Highland pro James Aulds.

The schedule of Solunar Periods as printed below, has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solumnar Tables Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times if you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

BIG TEN BATTLE

Wisconsin Plays Buckeyes Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State's second-ranked Bucks were building up to a stage of relaxed confidence for Saturday's Big Ten clash with Wisconsin's Badgers.

Noting that his huge charges fumbled three times against impotent Indiana last week—the first bobbles of the year—Coach Woody Hayes has moved to take the tension from his team.

Thursday's practice schedule was billed on the bulletin board as "Operation Sally Rand." Half-way through the workout the squad doffed its pads and head-gears and romped the rest of the way in practically nothing.

Before and after the workout the locker room hi-fi set blared with the university's marching band music, and the entire score of "Music Man." The freshman squad visited the varsity field for a round of "Yea, Varsity" and "Beat Wisconsin" yells for the upper classmen.

After another easy workout Friday, Hayes said:

"We think we're good enough to do it." He meant he thinks his Bucks can whip the Badgers for their fifth of the year, their 14th in a row, and their 27th Western Conference victory in 29 starts.

Hayes figures 13th-rated Wisconsin, after losing 20-9 to Iowa a week ago, will be "higher than a kite," and that the Bucks will have to be two or three touchdowns better than at any time this year to win.

The kickoff is slated for 2 p.m. (EST) and at least 83,000 fans will be on hand.

RACING ROUNDUP

Brilliant Speed Wins Buena Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

George E. Allen's well-named Brilliant Speed carried Jockey Larry Gilligan to victory in the Buena Purse at Garden State Park Friday.

The 3-year-old son of Count Speed finished a length before John S. Kroese's Merry Lark. Calumet Farm's Jeriel the 4-5 choice, was third. Brilliant Speed paid $24.80.

The 5-year-old son of Brick-Eos, ridden by Johnny Ruane, sped the mile and a sixteenth in 1:42 3-5, three fifths off Blessbull's track record set in 1956.

Meeting won by 5 lengths over George D. Widener's Rare Treat, who took the place by 2½ lengths over Laudy Lawrence's Beau Diable. Meeting returned $7.40.

Audley Farms' Hit Head came out of a seven-horse Jam in a rip-roaring finish for a neck decision over Peter Fuller's Wailin Sailor in the Suffolk Downs feature.

Winding Way Farms' Graces Luck was third. Hit Head ran the 6 furlongs in 1:14 1-5 and paid $12.20.

John Leavitt's Lisa Lou was ridden by George Taniguchi in a fast finish to win the feature at Bay Meadows by a neck from Justa Drizzle, a 50 to 1 shot.

Chicote Girl was third, another neck back in the race for 2-year-old fillies.

Lisa Lou, daughter of Lodge Night, ran the 6 furlongs in 1:11 1-5 and paid $18.40.

Country Club Qualifying To Begin Today

Qualifying begins today for the Highland Park Country Club men's championship tournament and will continue through Nov. 2, James Aulds, pro at the West Monroe club, announced yesterday. E. B. Peddy is the tournament's defending champion.

Aulds also announced that qualifying will start Nov. 1 at Highland for the Twin City Amateur Championship. Qualifying will continue through Nov. 14 and the tourney will be played the 15th and 16th. State amateur titlist Roy Nash is the defending champion.

Play in the Twin City's championship flight will be over 54 holes of medal play. All other flights will be nine-hole match play.

The tournament's entry fee will be $5.

Gators Test Third-Ranked LSU In Homecoming Tilt

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.

BATON ROUGE (AP)—In boxing, it's slugger against boxer. In football Saturday night, it's Louisiana State against Florida. In either case the story is strong offense against tough defense.

A capacity 65,000 homecoming crowd will watch the upset-minded 'Gators try to spike LSU's explosive offense, led by All-America halfback candidate Billy Cannon.

Kickoff is 8 p.m. for the Southeastern Conference contest. In four seasons, coach Paul Dietzel has never beaten Florida.

The Tigers, for the first time in nearly 20 years, have won their first five games, and rank third in the current Associated Press poll. LSU rolled up 132 points to 22 for combined foes.

Florida won two, lost one and pint-sized Jimmy Dunn had to pitch a touchdown pass as time ran out last week to snatch a 6-6 tie with Vanderbilt.

Florida's rugged line, led by Val Heckman and end Don Fleming, limited four opponents to 260 yards net gain on the ground.

Cannon, the SEC's top rusher, spearheads a tough Tiger ground attack that has rolled for 1,099 yards in five games. The 200-pound halfback gets a lot of help from fullback Tommy Davis and halfbacks Johnny Robinson and Don Purvis.

The Gators last year snapped a four-game LSU winning streak 22-14 at Gainesville, Fla.

LSU's climb into national prominence is due to reserves as much as the Cannon-led first unit.

Dietzel has his best 11 football players on the first team, but uses a two-platoon reserve system, the "Chinese bandits" on defense and the "go team" on offense.

Center Max Fugler has been a standout starter, but John Langan on the "bandits" is pushing Fugler hard for first team honors.

Davis and Purvis give the "go team" a terrific offensive punch, mixing Davis' power running with the 160-pound "scooter's" nifty broken field dashes.

LSU's wing-T offense is designed to get the most out of a lightweight but highly mobile line. Florida should have a weight advantage in the line.

Coach Bob Woodruff's Gators run from a straight T formation, relying heavily on the belly series which features a fake or give to the fullback with Dunn either keeping himself or tossing to a halfback.

Both teams are near full strength. Only halfback Don Lucey is doubtful for Florida, with Davis likely to be slowed by a leg injury for LSU.

Grambling To Meet Prairie View Eleven

GRAMBLING La. (Special) — Coach Eddie Robinson was looking around Friday for incentives to put his scrimmage - scarred Grambling Tigers in the proper frame of mind for tonight's crucial game with the Prairie View Panthers.

The contest will be played in Grambling's new stadium, and, due to a curious state of affairs, might help decide the Southwestern Conference chompionship.

Both elevens are undefeated and it is hard to imagine a Southwestern loop title picture without familiar Prairie View faces. Opposing coaches professed a willingness Friday to accept an even break as par. However, beating Prairie View is a "must" for coaching happiness in Grambling and Robinson and his staff will shoot the works.

Saturday is "Dad's Day" and the fathers of Grambling football players will sit on their bench.

PRO FOOTBALL

Unbeaten Marks On Line Sunday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The only remaining unbeaten records in the National Football League—those of the Cleveland Browns and Baltimore Colts—should undergo severe strain Sunday.

The Browns, whose 4-0 mark leads the Eastern Conference, send their stout ground-gaining attack against the Chicago Cardinals' tricky "triple wing" offense at Chicago's Comiskey Park. The Cardinals (2-2) are improving steadily and two weeks ago lost to Cleveland by only a touchdown, 35-28.

The Colts, leading the Western Conference with four straight victories, are at home with their formidable neighborhood rivals, the Washington Redskins (2-2). The Redskins beat the Colts in an exhibition game. A verbal prelude to the game involving a Colt player and George Marshall, Redskin owner, has helped sell every available ticket.

In other league action, the Chicago Bears play at San Francisco, the winless Detroit Lions at Los Angeles, Phildelphia at Green Bay and Pittsburgh at New York.

Cleveland is banking on its two ball-rushing stars, Jimmy Brown and rookie Bob Mitchell, to offset any of the wild shenanigans the Cards might try with their new wide open formation which Coach Pop Ivy brought down from the Canadian league.

Brown has gone 635 yards on the ground in four games, a record pace.

The Colts have depended largely on Johnny Unitas' passing and Lenny Moore's running victories over Green Bay, Chicago Bears, and Detroit, the latter beaten twice Johnny Olszewski and Eddie Lebaron are among the Washington attacking threats the Colts must watch.

The Bears (3-1), pre-season favorites for the Western crown will be endeavoring to pick up some ground on front-running Baltimore in their game at San Francisco. The Bears won their first meeting with the 49ers, 28-6, but the San Francisco team (2-2) bounced back last week to beat the Philadelphia Eagles, 30-24.

The Los Angeles Rams (2-2) will be favored to repeat their early season triumph over the defending champion Lions (0-3-1). The Rams scored two touchdowns in the last two minutes to win at Detroit's Briggs Stadium 42-28.

Norm Van Brocklin, who triggers the Philadelphia offense, may give the Eagles (1-3) an edge over the unseason Green Bay Packers, who have lost three games and tied one in four starts.

Altrusa Fourth District Convention To Be Held In Shreveport October 24-26

Top business women from four states met in Shreveport Friday and will continue Saturday for the annual conference of the Fourth District of Altrusa International.

Members of Altrusa, the first classified women's service organization to be founded in the United States, convened for the three day sessions at the Washington - Youree Hotel. Emphasis was added to the conference by the expected arrival of Mrs. Edith W. Nelson of Richmond, Va., international president and Miss Mamie Larsh, of Indianapolis, Indiana, the legal adviser of Altrusa International.

Mrs. Violet Dickens, president of the Shreveport Club and general chairman of the conference advised registration under the supervision of Miss Lula Sasser. The general business session open at 4 p.m. The invocation was given by Dr. D. L. Dykes, Jr. and the official welcome from the city of Shreveport was given by Mayor James C. Garner at the opening of the business session. Mrs. Irene Jones of Huntsville, Alabama, governor of the fourth district will preside at all sessions.

The memorial services, conducted by two past governors from Shreveport, Mrs. Nancy Nettles and Miss Drury Key, was held in the chapel of the Beck Building at 5:30 p.m. Friday evening there was a buffet supper with the presidents of all Louisiana Altrusa Clubs receiving. A program highlight of the buffet was a series of skits on varied themes presented by Mrs. Memory Lee Streun and Jacques Steinau. The business of the conference will be resumed today when the reports of the district officers will be heard, and the workshops will start at 10:30 p.m.

The president's luncheon today in the Crystal Ball Room will have as guest speaker, Mrs. Edith Nelson, president of Altrusa International. Mrs. Irene Jones, governor will preside at the governor's banquet and will introduce the speaker, Miss Mamie Larsh. Miss Larsh's subject will be "Altrusa's Place in the World."

The entertainment for the banquet will be one of Shreveport's singing actresses, Mrs. Jasmine Egan, who will entertain with her Oriental, Parisienne sophisticate and Old South song interpretations. One of the highlights of the conference will be the reception following the banquet, honoring the international representatives Mrs. Edith Nelson and Miss Mamie Larsh, and Mrs. Irene Jones, governor of the district and the visiting governor of ninth district, Mrs. Edith DeBusk, prominent attorney of Dallas, and the secretary of ninth district, Miss Aileen Aiken also of Dallas, Texas.

The conference will conclude with breakfast Sunday morning. Those in attendance from the Monroe Club are: Mrs. Jewel Durham, official delegate and Mrs. Helen Luckett, Miss Mary Benoit, Miss Pauline Kelley and Miss Bernice McCoy.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Can't Treat 24-Year-Old As If She Were 15

By ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: What can we do about a 24 - year - old daughter who says she's in love with a 34-year - old man? He has a 10-year - old child and a divorce in progress.

We don't know his family because he's from another state. He's had six jobs in five months — just goes from one thing to another. Our daughter will have to give up her religion to marry him but she says "it's worth it".

She told us he was a single fellow when she started to go out with him six months ago, although she knew then he was married. Is there any legal action that can be taken against him? Our daughter doesn't care what family, friends, doctor or clergyman say. She claims she's crazy about him and nothing else matters. Can you help? —NORA

If this girl refuses to listen to family, friends, doctor or clergyman, she won't listen to me either — particularly since she didn't ask for my advice.

A girl 24 is an adult and you have no grounds for legal action against the man. He's not kidnapping her.

A part of your daughter's stubborness is probably rooted in her hostility toward you. The more you fight the situation and deprecate the man, the greater will be her determination to marry him and demonstrate that she can and will do as she pleases.

DEAR ANN: My husband has not been on a payroll since June 6th of this year. We have two small children, a home, a car, and bills. He sells insurance on a flat commission basis, when he feels like it. Unfortunately, he doesn't feel like it very often.

His mother left a small estate and he's been dipping into that money which I hoped would be for the children's education. He's been bringing home a few dollars a week from the estate and pretending it's commission from his sales.

I've worked ever since our baby was 20 months old. I'm tired of it and want my husband to support us. I've been lying to my family and friends because I'm ashamed to tell them the truth. I don't know what in the world he does with his time. When I tell him to get a job or I'll leave him, he says "Goodbye".

What is your husband contributing to your marriage besides wisecracks? If he makes no effort to find work you have a right to tell him to get out. It then becomes a matter for the law if a man doesn't support his family. The little boy needs to grow up. Perhaps this will do it.

CONFIDENTIALLY: MRS. HA HA: You've had two failures—do you want to try for three? Just tell a man that his mother reminds you of a squirrel and you've had it, Toots.

UNLUCKY LU: Married men are poor prospects. Wake up. Perhaps your luck would change if you'd operate in a different orbit.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper and enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.)

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Willi ngness Indicative Of Future Character

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Parents get so accustomed to their young children taking an afternoon nap that it comes as quite a shock when suddenly they cry, shake the bed, demand to be let out and refuse to sleep.

Sometimes this is a temporary situation which can be handled by going in, talking to them soothingly, reading a story, patting them gently until they relax and go to sleep.

But often children literally cannot sleep and then it is wise to give them a "rest" period with no demand that they sleep. Undress them, leave the blinds up, give them toys in bed and tell them in an hour they can come out of their room.

Now, they are resting. If mother takes a rest at the same time, the period can be a very comfortable one for everyone.

LETTER

Mrs. B. D. writes, "Suppose a 2 ½ - year - old boy is not sleepy but is put to bed anyway and cries for a time and then goes to sleep?

"My sister's and brother's children, both 2½, learned to climb out of bed and it is hard to keep them there. My boy has not wanted to climb out. My sister and brother laugh because theirs did.

"Can I determine by this what my boy's character will be when he grows up? Will he be a go-getter or sit back and let life pass him by? Most boys of this age do climb out of bed and I wondered if this were indicative of what his adult life would be."

ANSWER

I would hardly go that far. Maybe he really is sleepy and after he has given a few token cries he just falls asleep. The other children are not and so resent being penned in and fight to get away from the bed.

Once they have learned to climb out it is safer to put down the crib bars and then put a flexible gate on the door so they cannot run out of the room. They can play in there for the hour of rest.

Your boy may never be as aggressive as these boys but why do they all have to be the same? Just accept him as he is and do not be so sensitive about your brother's and sister's amusement.

They may not feel so secure about what their children are but find you take them seriously and so the temptation to tease or prod you, is overwhelming.

Be glad that he still wants to ta! a nap, though if he cries too long I would go in and tell him he didn't have to sleep, just be quiet and rest.

Football Fans Have Private Railroad Car

This morning at seven o'clock a real pigskin treat is in store for some of our most prominent football fans and business men.

They will leave on a private car on the Missouri Pacific Railroad for Little Rock, Arkansas, to see the Arkansas-Ole Miss football game this afternoon.

They will have breakfast and lunch on the train. A special bus will transport them to the stadium in Little Rock and then after the game back to the private car where they will be served a delicious steak dinner, arriving here at home in Monroe about eleven o'clock tonight.

Miss Leta Deane Frazier Honored With Showers

Miss Leta Deane Frazier, bride-elect of Sonny Steed was entertained with a miscellaneous shower at the Labor Temple on Montgomery Street in West Monroe on Tuesday evening.

Arrangements of fall flowers were used at vantage points.

The serving table was covered with a white cloth, in the center of which was placed a bride and groom arrangement. A crystal punch service was placed at one end of the table, and at the other a flower arrangement. Mrs. Roy Simmons poured and assisting in serving were Mrs. Bennett, Mrs. Charlie Guraedy, Mrs. Grace Guillory, Mrs. Gordon Greer and Mrs. James Fletcher.

Guests were Mrs. Herbert Frazier and Miss Joyce Frazier, mother and sister of the bride-elect.

Refreshments were served to fifty - three friends.

The home of Mrs. Dewayne Cummings on Bailey Street in West Monroe was the setting on Thursday evening for a shower honoring Miss Leta Deane Frazier. Miss Frazier was becomingly gowned in a cotton sheath of brown and gold design and her accessories were brown.

A linen cloth covered the table and for a centerpiece an arrangement of fall flowers was used.

Mrs Hollis McGrew served at the punch service. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Greer, Mrs Chloe May, Mrs. Leroy McGrew. Among the twenty - five guests were Mrs. Herbert Frazier, mother of the bride-elect; Mrs. Maggie Thompson, grandmother and Miss Joyce Frazier, sister.

C.A.R. Declare This Week As Education Week

The week of October 19 through 25 has been declared Patriotic Education Week by the National Society of the Children of the American Revolution as well as the Local Society Lt. Joseph Bowmar. Posters have been placed in windows of downtown business concerns. Mayor W. L. Howard made a formal proclamation as did Governor Earl Long for the Patriotic Education Week.

The Patriotic Education Committee is sponsoring a two year program to increase knowledge of American history so that people may better fulfill their duties as citizens. The highlight of the campaign is the Patriotic Education Week. The theme of the program is The Value of American Liberty, and the emphasis this year is on Our Four Freedoms, religion, speech, press and assembly. This is the purpose of trying to spread patriotic education and alert Americans to the danger that could come to the priceless heritage of American liberty.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

IN MONROE

District Court's Schedule Heavy

Two years in the Louisiana State Penitentiary at Angola was the sentence meted out to Jim Little, alias Robert Harris, when he pled guilty to theft of a wrist watch yesterday.

Judge David I. Garrett sentenced Little in Fourth District Court. In addition to the term for the $89.95 watch, he drew 15 days in the parish jail, for theft of cuff links worth $5.

Miss Edith Bell, remanded until today for sentencing, received a six month jail sentence for false swearing, a misdemeanor, but was placed on probation.

Robert Powell Jr., alias Bobby Powell, pled guilty to theft of a TV set valued at $75 and theft of $50. He was remanded for pre-sentence investigation.

Eleven cases were slated for trial yesterday. Trial of Gerald M. Rugg, charged with driving without a license and while intoxicated, was continued until Nov. 14.

Tommie J. Womack was fined $25 or 10 days for reckless driving. Charges of failure to post bond were dropped.

Disturbing the peace resulted in a fine of $25 or 10 days each for James Barrett and W. C. Barrett.

CONTINUED

A fine of $25 or 10 days was levied against Jerome Duchean for disturbing the peace.

Elbert Luther Hearne was fined $350 or 60 days in the parish jail for driving while intoxicated.

Leron Furr was fined $300 or 60 days for driving while intoxicated, and 30 days for the unauthorized use of a movable. The latter sentence started with the time of his arrest and the balance of it was suspended yesterday.

Thomas Morley drew a 90 day jail term for unauthorized use of a movable.

In other cases, J. B. Davis was fined $25 or 10 days for driving without brakes. He received an identical sentence for reckless driving causing an accident.

Among persons in jail charged with felonies, Sterling Barrilleaux denied theft of $25 and trial is set for Nov. 20.

Trial is also slated on that day for Emma E. Shankers, alias Emma Barrilleaux, charged with theft of $25. She will also be tried on charges of theft of $10, a misdemeanor.

Calvin Coolidge Diggins denied two counts of simple burglary, and trial is set for Feb. 4, 1959.

William D. Kennedy maintained his innocence on two charges of theft of $400 and of $250. Trial is scheduled for Nov. 4.

Robert F. Bayles, on bond and charged with aggravated battery denied guilt and trial is set for Feb. 3, 1959.

SCHEDULED

Twenty - four persons were scheduled for arraignment yesterday.

Each of the following who pled guilty was fined $25 or 10 days in jail:

Billy R. Causey, and Dan Pettit admitted speeding.

Walter Ray Conner and Theodore May Jr. pled guilty to driving without a chauffeur's license. May denied charges of failure to post bond.

On reckless driving charges, Nerious O. Fussell, G. O. Kirkpatrick, Joseph N. Smith, J. B. Davis, Helene L. Thompson and James Watson each pled guilty. Watson also drew a 15-day compulsory jail sentence, and Davis was fined for driving without brakes.

Charles Ray Stout and Jeff Washington each were fined for driving without a driver's license. Stout was also fined $5 or 5 days for driving with an improper license plate.

Nathaniel Bolden appeared in court and admitted reckless driving. Bond forfeiture against him when he did not appear in court last week was set aside, and he was fined $50 or 15 days.

Trial dates were set for the following, who denied charges:

Raymond Turner, charged with second offense, driving while intoxicated, trial Dec. 12.

Loyce Howard failed to appear on charges of driving without a chauffeur's license and failure to post bond.

Clarence E. Chisholm, charged with speeding, was listed as scheduled to appear in court Monday.

Willie E. Kinman, listed on the docket as charged with driving while intoxicated, did not appear and was not arraigned.

The following charges were dropped: Charges of failure to post bond, against Herbert E. Tedeton forgery against Theodore Harris, and criminal neglect of the family, against L. D. Frost in juvenile court.

In juvenile court, one person was remanded on bond on charges of criminal neglect of the family, and another man was ordered to pay $15 weekly support.

Burned Clamp Halts Power In Sector Of WM

A clamp on a feeder line burned out on Roland Road in West Monroe leaving a small area without power shortly after 7 p.m.

A Louisiana Power and Light spokesman said the area was isolated and service was restored in a few minutes.

Try At 'Free' Soft Drink Can Result In Death

West Monroe Police Chief Jeff Caldwell yesterday warned that children who try to pilfer cold drinks from machines could be flirting with death.

Caldwell said a 13-year-old boy was caught twice yesterday trying to get a "free" soft drink. The boy's hand was caught in a vending machine at Crosley School as he tried to reach inside and trip a lever. Firemen and policemen had to tear into the machine to free the boy.

"If a person gets his hand cut when he gets caught, it's possible for him to bleed to death before he can be released. Then, too, a child could lose a finger or a hand in one of the machines," the chief said.

In other action, police caught a small Negro boy shoplifting in a downtown West Monroe store, Caldwell said. Both boys were turned over to their parents to await juvenile court action.

Monroe Street Scene

BATTERED PAVEMENT —Condition of pavement in the 1400 block of DeSiard Street is typical of that found in many of Monroe's thoroughfares. Foundation failure, surface cracking and potholes are common inconvenience and expense to the taxpayer who will vote Tuesday on a capital improvement program to eliminate such conditions of five major arteries. (Staff photo by John Fogleman.)

ROUGH RIDING — Motorists on extremely heavily traveled Forsythe Avenue find riding not so smooth, what with coarse pavement and uneven surfaces. In widening the street, the city had to resort to the more crude type of work because of lack of funds. At the extreme right can be noted a shoulder drop of about two inches in one line and a drop of about the same depth in the outer portion of the patchwork. (Staff photo by John Fogleman.)

RAIL UNDERPASSES ALSO PROPOSED

Street Improvements Needed

(This is the fourth in a series of articles aimed at giving the taxpayers of Monroe an insight into factors involved in the Tuesday, October 28 bond issue election.)

By DANNY BINGHAM
Staff Writer

Termed one of Monroe's greatest needs in its march to progress is a street improvement program which can be accomplished with funds derived from a bond issue to be voted upon by property owners Tuesday.

The Citizens Committee sponsoring the forthcoming bond election, has approved certain projects for immediate attention as a means of relieving major traffic problems facing the community.

The proposed program involves improvements to five of the city's major arterial thoroughfares, along with the construction of two railroad underpasses to eliminate extremely heavily traveled rail crossings.

Cost to the city of the five street improvement projects is estimated at $816,600, while cost of the two rail underpasses is set at $1,013,400.

The streets to be improved under the program have been designated, and while present plans call for underpasses to be built under the Illinois Central Railroad track at North Fourth Street and the Missouri Pacific tracks at South Second Street, should final studies of engineers and the State Highway Department indicate more feasible crossings under the two tracks at other locations, they will be located accordingly.

It was pointed out that there are certain factors which could result in a change of these locations for the underpasses to better serve the traffic need of the community.

FINANCING

The proposition of financing improvements to the five arterial thoroughfares has been given the utmost of consideration by proponents of the Tuesday bond issue election, and the Citizens Committee, headed by Lee R. Vanderpool, Jr., has arrived at a conclusion which it considers equitable in all respects.

According to the Citizens Committee, the program is so designed that there is no discrimination in cost against any property owner, whether he lives on one of the five arterial thoroughfares to be improved or on a deadend street.

Under existing city laws, local repaving and street improvements are paid by persons owning property abutting the streets to be improved, but only if those property owners initiate the action by petition. This method does not provide funds for paving heavy enough to support arterial thoroughfare traffic.

The street improvement program as designed to be carried out under the proposed program sets out definitely that property owners facing a major traffic artery will be assessed the cost of improving a normal residential street, and in addition, will pay the millage assessed through passage of the bond issue.

That cost not borne by the property owner will be paid by funds derived from the bond issue.

DESIGNATED

Specified for immediate improvement to handle heavy traffic are Riverside Drive, DeSiard Street, Forsythe Avenue, South Grand Street and South Second Street.

Total cost for the Riverside Drive project is set at $81,500, with the property owners paying $17,800, leaving a total of $63,700 to be paid through the bond issue.

The DeSiard Street improvements are estimated to cost $466,900, with property owners paying $69,800 leaving a cost of $397,100 to be paid from the bond funds.

Forsythe Avenue's improvements are estimated to cost $170,200. Property owners will pay $16,200 and the balance to be borne by the city is $154,000.

Improvements to South Grand Street will cost in round figures, $58,100, of which $12,800 will be borne by the property owners, leaving a total of $45,300 to be taken from the bonds.

The South Second Street improvement project will cost $191,100 with property owners bearing $34,600 of the total, and the city, $156,500.

TRAFFIC COUNT

Interesting figures have been found in a traffic study of various Monroe streets when taken on a comparative basis.

Using the 1300 block of North Eighth Street during the period of 7 a.m. and 7 p.m., on a midweek day, checkers counted 613 vehicles.

The DeSiard Street count registered a total of 6,022 vehicles in its 900 block between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. on a midweek day.

Where North Fourth Street makes its surface crossing of the Illinois Central Railroad, checkers counted a total of 8,105 vehicles during a 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. of an average day, far exceeding that on any other thoroughfare in the city's street system involving rail crossings.

The traffic count at the South Second Street crossing of the Missouri Pacific for a daytime 12-hour period was 5,462 a figure triple that of any other rail crossing in the southern section of Monroe.

Total cost of construction of the two underpasses to eliminate grade crossings is set at $2,026,800. Of this amount, the state highway department and the railroads will bear half, or $1,013,400, leaving a similar amount to be borne by the taxpayers of Monroe.

According to the survey made by Ford, Bacon and Davis, Inc. engineers, and approved by the Citizens Committee, the present street system of Monroe consists primarily of two - lane streets. Only Louisville Avenue and a short section of Jackson Street provide for more than two moving lanes. While two traffic lanes are adequate for residential and local business traffic, thoroughfares or major streets require at least four lanes of moving traffic. By this standard, many of the city's principal streets are inadequate to handle present traffic loads.

POOR CONDITION

In addition, the physical condition of many streets requires major improvements. In many streets, the pavement surface is cracked. Potholes are found in numerous locations and in some cases there is evidence of failure of the base. Funds which have been allocated to street maintenance have been used primarily to patch and make minor repairs.

At the present time, all railroad crossings within the city are at grade level, and both the Illinois Central and Missouri Pacific conduct switching operations within the city. During these operations, streets may be blocked for a considerable period of time.

CROSSING PROBLEMS

In addition to the question of convenience, this also poses a safety problem and a fire hazard. Significant delays in getting trucks to the scene of a fire have been reported by the fire department, and ambulances, police and other emergency vehicles are also sometimes delayed on the way to their destination.

The proposal for immediate action is for resurfacing of existing pavement on Riverside Drive widening, repaving and resurfac- from Pine Street to Park Avenue; widening, repoving and resurfacing of DeSiard Street from South Grand to Sterlington Road by section; resurfacing existing pavement on Forsythe Avenue from Riverside Drive to North Sixth Street, and widening and repaving of Forsythe from North Sixth to North Eighteenth Street.

Widening and resurfacing of South Grand Street from DeSiard Street to the proposed new federal Highway I-20; widening and resurfacing South Second Street from the proposed route of I-20 to Winnsboro Road.

As pointed out, property owners abutting on streets to be improved will share in the cost of the improvements. They will be assessed an amount equal to the cost of resurfacing a strip 10 feet wide which is considered equivalent to the cost of repaving local streets.

Voting on these three bond issue propositions will be conducted throughout the city on Tuesday, October 28 from 7 a.m. until 6 p.m.

Editorial Hits Position On Rights Group

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The Citizens Council newspaper charged Friday that any Mississippian accepting appointment to the civil rights commission advisory group was a scalawag and traitor.

In a page-one editorial described by editor W. J. Simmons as a policy statement, the monthly paper said:

". . . Any scalawag Southerner who would so betray his own people by fronting for the avowed enemies of the principles of states rights and racial integrity, which are dearer to us than life, will face the well-deserved distaste and contempt that any proud people would feel for a traitor. a

No decent or responsible citizen in the south will be so stupid as to allow himself to be used for the betrayal of his own people, or so callous as to be insensible to the ostracism that will inevitably follow."

The editorial described the advisory groups as designed "to front for the satraps of reconstruction II (and) may be used to infiltrate and attack from within our existing segregated school system and neighboring residential patterns.

"Any so-called 'advisory group' that is eventually scraped from the bottom of The Deep South barrel, we may be sure, will be fit companions of the inter-racial rabble with whom they will associate themselves."

No More On Bartok, Says London Paper

LONDON (UPI)—The Daily Express Friday promised readers it would print no more stories on the madcap doings of four - times divorced actress Eva Bartok this year unless she married.

In the past year Miss Bartok has mothered a baby whose father she refused to identify, has been reported waiting to marry the Marquis of Milford Haven, and has claimed to be engaged to an Indian prince who denied it.

Hunt 2 Army Privates In Mississippi

BAY ST. LOUIS, Miss. (AP)—Search was being made Friday for two Army privates who overpowered the Hancock County jailer here Thursday night and escaped.

The injured man, 61-year-old Tony Bourgeois, was found unconscious on the jail cell floor by a city policeman who went to investigate after the jailer failed to return to his home.

Bourgeois was taken to Hotel Dieu in New Orleans where hospital attendants said he had become semi-conscious and was in fair condition from head wounds and other injuries.

The men hunted were Pvt. Robert Heath, 18 and Pvt. Jerry Richter, 17, arrested here Oct. 3 in connection with breaking and entering an ice cream shop.

Heath and Richter were described by Sheriff Sylvan Ladner as being absent without leave from Ft. Carson, Colo.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Bruno Haas, making his first start on the mound for the Philadelphia Phillies on June 23, 1915, allowed 16 bases on balls in his major league debut.

Explosion Levels Buildings In Canadian Capital City

A Major Tragedy Averted

OTTAWA (UPI) — An explosion flattened buildings in the heart of downtown Ottawa five blocks from the Canadian houses of paraliament today only an hour before the start of the Saturday shopping rush.

Authorities said no bodies had been found in the crater blasted with blockbuster force by the explosion, which apparently was caused by an accumulation of gas under a small building.

Two hospitals reported receiving a total of 32 injured persons, most of whom were only slightly hurt.

The explosion was Canada's second disaster in two days. A mine collapse in Nova Scotia Thursday night caused heavy loss of life.

EXPLOSION

Officials said that if the 8:20 a. m. explosion in the Canadian capital had come a few hours later, it might have caused a major tragedy. The area of the blast would have been teeming with shoppers, and a seriously damaged movie theater would have been occupied by a matinee audience.

Firemen fearful that a broken gas pipe might unleash another explosion ordered all stoves, pilot lights and other flames put out over a wide area and put a strict no-smoking ban in force throughout the danger zone.

Heavy police reinforcements were rushed into the downtown section to put a halt to looting that began as soon as smashed store windows were discovered.

Debris was scattered heavily over a four-block downtown section and the explosion was felt up to 10 miles away. Picture windows in some suburban homes were smashed and every window in the nine-story Jackson building, across the street from the blast site, was blown out. Power lines were cut, but telephone wires were undamaged.

The Jackson building houses the Webster Parish Penal Farm Is A Going Concern

(EDITORS NOTE: This is the second of a series on penal farm operation in Louisiana. Last Sundays article dealt with the farm at Lake Providence. Others in the series will describe the operation of farms in East Baton Rouge parish and Caddo parish. Then there will be stories detailing the need of a penal farm for Ouachita parish and how it can be obtained.)

By MAJOR De PINGRE

Webster parishs 530-acre penal farm is a correctional institution of variegated operation.

Located four and one-half miles southeast of Minden, the 30-year-old farm not only raises crops, feeds, ,cattle and hogs but produces culverts for the police jury as well as the municipalities in the parish.

A uniqueness about the sprawling farm is a quail hatchery which is operated jointly by Webster and Claiborne parishes. Although the hatchery is located on the penal firm, it is not considered to be under its operation.

The penal farm is owned by the police jury and its supervision is handled by a special committee headed by I. W. Rowland. Other members on the committee include J. B. Elkins, Elbert Matthews, Ray McDowell and Nick Love.

Directly responsible for operation of the penal farm is George T. Baker who is employed by the jury. He is assisted by three guards, Robert L. Burge, Tillmon Perkins and Tommy Walker.

The quail hatchery operation is under the direction of F. F. Bopp. During the past few years thousands of quails have been released in this part of the state by the police juries of Webster and Claiborne parishes.

The operation has been so successful that the juries are now able to offer quail for sale to the general public.

There is an average of 25 prisoners at the parish penal farm the year round. These prisoners are sent to the farm from the Webster portion of the 26th judicial district court of Bossier and Webster parishes. Prisoners are sent there with sentences ranging from a week to several months. Those to receive punishment for major offenses are sent to the state penitentiary at Angola.

Buildings on the farm, in addition to the quail hatchery include a one-sttory brick jail, the superintendent's home and two guard houses.

The manufacture of culverts on the farm is one of its chief enterprises. About half the labor force is required for this operation which

Eisenhower Challenges A-Test Ban

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower again challenged Russia Saturday to join the United States and Britain in a one-year ban of all atomic-hydrogen weapons tests beginning next Friday.

Eisenhower put it up to Moscow to end its current series of test explosions by that date as a step toward world disarmament.

In a statement, he reaffirmed U.S.-British readiness to abandon further tests during a 12-month trial period while East-West diplomats try to negotiate an inspection system to keep both sides from cheating.

Eisenhower prodded the Kremlin anew after a White House conference with Ambassador James J. Wadsworth, who will represent this country at talks set to begin in Geneva Friday with the Soviets.

The Geneva conference will seek to write a firm agreement

Growth Program Need Seen Here

(This is the last in a series of articles designed to give the people of Monroe details involved in the capital improvement bond election to be held Tuesday, October 28.)

BY DANNY BINGHAM
Staff Writer

Forward-thinking people of Monroe are concerned over the fact that the community is lacking in so many of the vital improvements that concern the lives of all.

That's why the Citizens Committee was formed.

A group of community-conscious persons from all political, social and civic walks of life got together to work toward the charting of a program of growth for the city of Monroe without regard to political affiliations or factional connections on a basis of unselfishness and public spiritedness.

The Citizens Committee has spent months in studies and deliberations on the projects which it thinks are the most urgent. These deliberations resulted in three propositions which are to appear on the ballot in Tuesday's special bond issue election. The decision came only after the committee had utilized every possible recourse in its search for facts concerning the needs of the community, means of correcting shortcomings and providing for these improvements.

The Monroe City Council has readily concurred with the Citizens Committee in management of funds which would be derived from the bond issue. The arrangement is such that by law, the money can be spent only as specified in the bond issue election, and that the funds from the bond issue can be dispersed by local banks only after engineers have furnished certificates to the effect that the work has been completed satisfactorily.

Methods of financing were by no means overlooked in the studies.

R. L. Vanderpool, Jr., in accepting presidency of the Citizens Committee, insisted that its conception and operation be centered around the principle of community improvement carried out in the strictest sense of freedom from political and factional entanglements.

The Citizens Committee is such

CITY AUDIT DUE

Report Will Be Made Tuesday

The annual audit for the City of Monroe will be presented Tuesday when the accounting firm of Garelick, Bradley and Heller makes its formal report on municipal financial operations.

The report will show that income to the city's general fund has declined slightly during the past 12 months, while expenses have increased, but not significantly.

A study of the report will show that the major factor in the small expense increase has been due to the fact that during the past year, the city was able to increase salaries of its employees and expand the police force.

The decline in revenue is due to the fact that this is the first full year that the water and light departments have had complete control over utilities revenues, and because of the many improvements made to the water and light systems, and therefore, the Utilities Commission was unable to give to the general fund all the excess revenue its systems produced, it was explained.

PRIOR

Prior to the formation of the Monroe Utilities Commission, the City of Monroe had access for its general fund all funds produced by the water and light systems except that specifically set aside for retirement of revenue bonds. All other funds derived from sale of city water and power helped toward payment for opera-

Ike Rebuffs Race Crowd In Washington

Singing star Harry Belafonte told the estimated 9,000 to 10,000 demonstrators gathered at the Lincoln Memorial that Eisenhower, by not meeting a committee from the marchers, had made a gesture of far-reaching meaning to millions throughout the world.

"I think you have demonstrated to the world that Little Rock is not America," added former baseball hero Jackie Robinson.

"I'm only sorry that the president has not demonstrated by his action that he agrees with what we are doing this afternoon."

MASS MEETING

The mass meeting went on to adopt a resolution calling for another march in the capital next May 17—fifth anniversary of the Supreme Court's decision outlawing racial segregation in the public schools—and another attempt to see Eisenhower then.

Eisenhower was asked to seek withholding of federal funds from states which flout the U.S. Constitution, an end to Senate filibusters, federal money to keep open any schools closed because of integration orders and a law making it a federal offense to dynamite public buildings.

Youths from grade school on into college, plus some of their elders, thronged Washington for the demonstration advertised as a "Youth March for Integrated Schools."

The demonstration was sponsored by various church groups,

EMBATTLED QUEMOY

Reds Cease-Fire Every Other Day

TAIPEI (AP) — The Chinese Communists proclaimed an every-other-day cease-fire on supply area of embattled Quemoy Saturday night and told the Nationalists to turn away from partnership with the United States.

The Nationalists immediately called the Red move another attempt to drive a wedge between them and the United States.

The new cease-fire order called off shelling on even-numbered dates so that supplies can reach the Nationalist-held Quemoy complex. It said the Red gunners would "not necessarily" resume firing on odd-numbered days. The Reds fired only a few shells on this odd-numbered day.

PROVISION

The order carried the provision, however, that the cease-fire would end if U.S. warships escorted Nationalist supply vessels to Quemoy.

This condition was contained in the first Red cease-fire imposed Oct. 6. When the Reds broke that last Monday, they charged that the United States violated the provision. The United States denied this.

"This is no trick, but a normal thing under the present circumstances," the order said.

The chief Nationalist military spokesman on Formosa, Adm. Liu Hohtu, laughed it off.

"I think it's damned silly," he said. "It's the same old trick. They are still at the game of trying to drive a wedge between us and the United States.

"It's a face-saving device. They know they can't succeed by shelling. It proves one thing—firing on

Cardinals Go Behind Doors To Elect Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Shocked and saddened by the sudden death of an American colleague, 51 cardinals retired Saturday night behind guarded, double-locked doors to elect a new supreme pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church.

Only death can release a cardinal from this voluntary imprisonment, until the moment the college names the man whom the world's half billion Catholics will regard as the 262nd Pope and successor of St. Peter.

Clad in their purple capes, the 51 cardinals marched in somber procession behind the bearer of the three-barred papal cross. While choristers chanted "Veni Creator Spiritus" — "Come, Creator Spirit,"—the slow march proceeded toward the conclave area where the cardinals occupied their cells.

These are small apartments specially arranged for them in the

La. Pardon Board Overhaul Asked By Lether Frazar

BATON ROUGE (AP) —Lt. Gov. Lether Frazar Saturday called for an overhaul of Louisiana's pardon board to provide a staff to handle the heavy case load.

He spoke to the subcommittee on pardon and parole of Gov. Earl Long's committee to aid "the forgotten man" at Angola State penitentiary.

Frazar, chairman of the three-man pardon board, said 400 cases were on the docket for the three day meeting opening Monday in New Orleans.

"We can't handle these cases properly," he said. "With that many all we can do is make an educated guess, and a not too educated one at that.

"It's going to be a full-time job if it keeps going the way it is," Frazar continued. "The board needs an executive secretary to

'Northeast Day' Proclaimed Here

Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard has proclaimed Saturday, November 1 as Northeast Louisiana State College Day.

The event will mark the institution's twenty - sixth annual homecoming, which will be climaxed by the football game between the Northeast Indians and the Northwestern State College Demons on Brown Field at 8 p.m.

Mayor Howard has designated the day as an appropriate occasion to welcome officially to Monroe the new college president, Dr. George T. Walker, and athletic director and head football coach, Jack Rowan, who also is experiencing his first year as a member of the Northeast faculty.

Cardinal Mooney Of Detroit Dies Of Heart Attack

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Edward Cardinal Mooney of Detroit, senior Roman Catholic prelate in the United States, died of a heart attack Saturday 70 minutes before he was to join the secret conclave to elect a new Pope. He was 76.

His death reduced the Sacred College of Cardinals to 53 and left the United States with only two Cardinals — Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York and James Francis Cardinal McIntyre of Los Angeles. Edward Cardinal Stritch of Chicago died in Rome last May after a stroke and arm amputation.

The body was to be returned to Detroit for burial after a funeral ceremony in the North American college of Rome.

Death was sudden. Cardinal Mooney had appeared in good spirits when he attended the mass of supplication in St. Peter's Basilica with the other princes of the church before the secret conclave.

He returned to the North American College of Rome with cardinals Spellman and McIntyre to have lunch with them and rest before joining in the procession of cardinals to the conclave in the Sistine Chapel of the Vatican.

A church source said the Cardinal "was in his usual good spirits and was quite jovial."

Sponsors

Several coeds on the Northeast State campus are now wearing smart military uniforms and shining insignia. They are the popular students who were chosen by the Reserve Officers Training Corps as sponsors of the battle group.

Heading the list is Barbara Elliott of Monroe who carries the title of "Little Colonel" to correspond with the rank of the battle group commander, Cadet Sam Ingram of Mer Rouge.

Each ROTC company will have a sponsor who will hold the rank of captain. Sponsors of companies and platoons include:

Company A., Sandy Edwards. Platoon sponsors, Sharon Thomissee, Faye Parker and Lois Halley.

Company B., Mary Louise Danna. Platoon sponsors, Jane Rogers, Shirley Crow, Lillian Price and Ruby F. Cloyd.

Company C., Bobby June Moore Platoon sponsors, Karen Strozier, Pat King and Brenda Gambrell.

Progress Cited In United Givers Funds Campaign

From reports available at a meeting of Ouachita Parish United Givers officers yesterday, it was learned the campaign had netted a total of $153,784 at the end of the third week of this year's campaign.

The fund raising drive, embracing 13 service agencies of Ouachita Parish, was begun October 6, with a goal of $210,000.

Following yesterday's meeting, R. L. Vanderpool Jr., chairman of the campaign said, "I believe the campaign has now arrived at a point where complete reporting within our organization itself and a final effort toward employe participation in area firms would see us near our goal."

Vanderpool noted the size of this year's organization — over 50 divisions — and urged all workers to complete their calls this week and make final reports to division leaders.

Campaign officials pointed out the drive this year had, for the most part, progressed more rapidly than those held in the past. Noting that several area firms were still completing enrollment in the payroll deduction plan, hopes were expressed that the drive might conclude at the end of this week.

Vanderpool cited the "fine spirit of the teachers and school employes in our parish and city systems" for their high percentage of cooperation in payroll deductions for United Givers.

Warranty Policy Warning Issued

BATON ROUGE (AP) —Insurance Commissioner Rufus Hayes Saturday warned used car buyers to beware of what he called misleading warranty policies which appear to guarantee parts and labor.

The state official ordered the warranty companies to stop doing business in Louisiana in violation of state laws or face a court attack.

"These so-called warranties mislead the public into thinking they have acquired safe insurance protection" Hayes said, in an interview.

Many of them are sold for $50 or $55, Hayes said, giving the motorist buying the car the impression he has good repair protection.

Hayes said such policies are misleading whether sold through new or used car dealers.

He emphasized he was not trying in any way to give the impression that new car warranties provided by new car dealers, or legitimate guarantees given by any dealer for new or second-hand autos, were involved.

"You have their individual guarantee in such instances," Hayes said, "backed up by their own firm. But in these insurance warranties the auto buyer really has no protection.

The companies selling such policies are illegal, he said, unless

$11,210 Collected In Special Drive

BASTROP (Special) —Residents of Morehouse Parish topped the $10,000 goal to contribute $11,210 to help support private segregated schools in Little Rock.

The Morehouse Parish Citizens Council announced the official total last night at the close of the three-day "Four Blocks for Little Rock" drive.

"We are pleased with the 100 per cent cooperation of the people of the parish," a spokesman for the Council stated.

Practically everyone in Morehouse parish worked in the drive including firemen, members of the Bastrop Police Department, members of the Morehouse Parish Sheriff's office, school teachers, school officials, workmen at the papermills and others.

Booths were set up in the two local banks, around the courthouse square and at the International and Louisiana Paper Mills.

Indian Summer Day Is Forecast

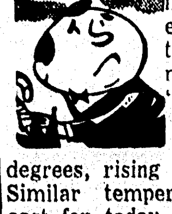
In Arkansas, the forecast is clear to partly cloudy.



Not much change in temperature is expected. Highest temperature today may range from 65 to 75.

Yeterday's high temperature was 69 degrees, rising from a low of 54. Similar temperatures are forecast for today.

Pollen count was a low 21 grains per cubic yard of air.

PROPOSALS EXPLAINED

Three Amendments Aimed At Clarifying

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth in a series of articles concerning the 30 constitutional amendments to be voted on November 4. Today's story explains amendments No. 10, No. 11 and No. 12.)

Three constitutional amendmen scheduled for a vote November 4 could eliminate confusion in state government to some degree.

Rep. Woodrow Wilson of Bastrop is responsible for the proposal of one of the more commendable amendments while two other proposed enactments are considered worthy of passage.

Wilson had little difficulty in getting this particular bill through the Legislature, since its intent was to provide a safeguard for legislation.

The Wilson proposal — amendment No. 10—would prohibit the Legislature from amending a bill by substituting an entirely new subject matter or making a change not pertaining to the original proposal.

Under the present legislative systems, lawmakers can legally insert a completely new bill in the form of an amendment inside another bill that has already passed the required readings and hearings.

Wilson's proposal would declare any legislation passed in violation of his prohibition plan null and void

Another amendment — No. 11—would change the title of state auditor to comptroller. At present, Bill Dodd is auditor without an

15 HOMES DAMAGED

Jet Crashes Into Group Of Houses, Explodes; 6 Dead

DETROIT (UPI)—A four-jet British Royal Air Force bomber, carrying six men and a goodwill message from the mayor of Lincoln, England, hurtled into a group of frame homes and exploded near the Detroit River Friday.

There was no report of survivors. Police and Coast Guardsmen recovered bits of what apparently was the body of one victim.

Three homes were leveled and two others gutted with only remnants of walls standing. At least 15 additional homes in a two-block area were damged by fire and debris, but only one occupant of the buildings was injured.

DITCH

"The pilot must have tried to ditch the plane in the river," homicide detective Paul Montgomery said. "He probably went down with the plane becase we found parts of a body scattered as far as 500 feet from where it hit."

"There's a big mess there and we can't be sure about other bodies," Montgomery said.

The Air National Guard reported it learned that military flight service of Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, Ohio, picked up a "may day" emergency distress call about the time the Delta-wing craft crashed (3:55 p.m., e.s.t.).

Officials in London said the plane left Waddington Air Base, Lincolnshire, England, Thursday carrying a goodwill message from the mayor of Lincoln, England to the mayor of Lincoln, Neb. Selfridge AFB, Mount Clemens, Mich., said the plane left Goose Bay, Labrador, Friday en route to Lincoln AFB, Neb.

A Detroit police boat fouled its propeller on a parachute, and a few moments later Coast Guardsmen began extensive dragging operations in the numerous canals and boat wells in the river area.

A spokesman at Selfridge said the plane carried six men when it took off from Labrador, and that was its normal crew. He said it might have landed for refueling, but it was more likely to have been refueled in flight if at all. He said it apparently was a special flight under such conditions planes generally are refueled in flight when necessary.

The plane struck one house and exploded, spewing flames over other houses in a wide area. The home that was struck was owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Kay, who were not at home.

The injured woman, Mrs. Ewald, lived next door. Her home also was totally destroyed.

Her husband, Otto Ewald, 72, was watching televison with her when the crash occurred. "It was just like one big boom," he said.

Weeks Quits, Strauss To Assume Post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks resigned Friday for business and family reasons. President Eisenhower immediately named former Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission to succeed him.

Weeks, 65, stepped down with "great reluctance." His resignation is effective not later than Nov. 10. He said it was imperative that he return to his Boston business interests. The President accepted the resignation with "keen regret" but full understanding.

RETIRED

Strauss, one-time secretary to former President Herbert Hoover, was one of the nation's leading investment bankers prior to World War II service in the Navy and his first appointment to the AEC in 1947. A Republican, he retired only last June 30 after a five-year term as AEC chairman.

Strauss' nomination may draw some fire in Congress. He bowed out of the AEC after prolonged wrangling with such Democrats as Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-N.M.). The Democrats accused him of not pushing development of atomic power fast enough.

Strauss, who has been serving as the President's special assistant on atoms-for-peace matters, will take over the commerce post on an interim appointment until his nomination is considered by the Senate Commerce Committee, now headed by Sen. Warren Magnuson (D-Wash.).

Threat Made To Mother Of Ariz. Senator

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater Friday refused to "take seriously" a threat of physical violence phoned to his mother, but his campaign advisors outwardly expressed fear of harm to the Arizona Republican, or his family.

The senator is running for reelection against Gov. Ernest McFarland, former Democratic majority leader, who lost to Goldwater in 1952.

Goldwater's campaign managers said Friday they feared "an out of state labor hoodlum may be out to cause him physical harm. If one of those hoodlums got him, the hoodlum could retire for life on the payoff."

Their statements came in the wake of threatening telephone calls to Goldwater's mother Thursday night. She received the calls shortly after Goldwater, in a statewide television address on Thursday night, gave a verbal scorching to "corrupt union bosses."

Of the threats, Goldwater said in a statement handled by his office:

"I am sure that no responsible labor leader in Arizona would have any part of such activity. I am confident labor people here would condemn it, as I condemn it.

Super Bridge Height Boost Accord Seen

Order Expected Soon On Project Across Ouachita

Highway officials have "informally" reached a "compromise agreement" to increase the height of the proposed federal super highway bridge across the Ouachita River here by 4½-feet, District Engineer Wayne Huckaby said yesterday.

Huckaby said final orders are expected to be handed down by the federal Bureau of Roads to increase the height of the bridge from 35 to 39.5 feet.

He explained that the term "height of the bridge" means the number of feet from the maximum water level to the bridge.

The Ouachita River Valley Association, an organization aimed toward improving the Ouachita for shipping purposes, several months ago requested that the bridge be constructed 50 feet over the maximum water level.

ENDORSED

But the Monroe Chamber of Commerce endorsed the original plans of the highway officials for a 35-foot height, Jim Williams, executive secretary, explained.

Huckaby said the "informal agreement" to raise the level of the bridge was a "compromise" in view of the associations request.

He said the "agreement" was reached between the Louisiana Department of Highways navigation interests and U.S. engineers.

Planned by Pavlo and Associates, the federal highway will be elevated across the Twin Cities. The highway will be stationery — unlike the present bridges that swing open for river traffic.

42 Americans Evacuated In Northeast Cuba

The aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt patrolled the coast just outside the Nicaro harbor to insure the safety of the evacuation.

U. S. Ambassador Earl E. T. Smith said he received word from the American naval base at Guantanamo that the evacuation had gotten underway at 5:55 p. m. E.D.T.

The transport was anchored in the Bay of Levisa. The Americans were moved aboard by launches from the transport.

The American women and children were all dependents of American supervisory personnel in the 100-million dollar nickel plant owned and operated by the U. S. government.

The American Embassy here announced that the carrier was ordered to Nicaro from the vicinity of the big U.S. naval base at Guantanamo where it had been engaged in naval maneuvers. The carrier was to "provide helicopter airlift if needed" during the evacuation and prevent any interference by insurgent guerrillas.

Decision to withdraw the American women and children was taken after Cuban government troops were recalled from the area, leaving it open to occupation by the rebels led by Fidel Castro.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS

District's Farmers Have Stake In Issue

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third in a series of stories on the November 4 election of 30 constitutional amendments. Today's article explains amendments No. 7, No. 8 and No. 9.)

By SAM HANNA
Staff Writer

Northeast Louisiana farmers will have a stake in the November 4 referendum when 30 constitutional amendments come before the public for approval.

The passage of amendment No. 8 could save the farmer some money annually.

Under amendment No. 8, machinery and equipment "consistent with present day mechanized farm operations" and used exclusively for agricultural purposes would be exempt from state and local property taxes.

Farm buildings would not be, however. But the exemption would be permanent, with no time limit as is the case now.

The list of constitutional amendments also includes a proposal presented in the past session of the legislature by Sen. James Sparks of Monroe.

Sparks' bill, which met widespread approval, would give adopted persons equal inheritance rights in their adoptive families as legitimate children born into those same families.

This proposal will be presented to the public for approval in the form of amendment No. 7. As it stands now, adopted persons can not share equal inheritance rights in matters of their adopted parents' relatives.

Another amendment, this one

4 Wounded In 8-Hour 'Small War'

LINCOLNTON, N. C. (UPI)—A berserk tenant farmer who shot to death three women, including his wife, and wounded four others in a bloody eight-hour rampage was killed early Friday night in a hail of police bullets.

Leroy Cook, 28, ex-convict tenant farmer with a "mean" reputation, fell behind a huge oak tree as bullets ripped into his body from all sides — but only after wounding two more men, one of them Lincolnton County Sheriff Frank Heavener.

Deputies cornered Cook near a lumber plant about 11 miles west of here and had him cornered for about an hour and a half before they moved in.

SINGLE SHOT

Cook, who earlier in the day had listed his wife and sister-in-law among his victims, got off a single shot from his deadly shotgun—some of the pellets striking Heavener's head, chest and legs, and others striking special deputy J. D. Williams in the hand and shoulder.

Then, according to deputy Grady Fisk, "he died in a blaze of gunfire. It looked like a small war. No, I could never say which shot hit him first—there were a lot of them."

Cook collapsed behind the tree, his shotgun falling beside him. He was rushed to a hospital in Lincolnton but was dead on arrival.

"His body was just riddled with bullets," one official said.

Heavener, Williams and Cleveland County guard Joe Godley, wounded earlier, were not believed to be seriously injured.

Godley tried to end the gory rampage when he cornered Cook earlier in the afternoon. Instead, a blast from Cook's shotgun hit him in the side, and the killer continued his flight.

Earlier in the day, police thought they had Cook cornered in his own house. They spent many minutes trying to flush him out, only to find he was not there. Then they pressed onward with

Battle To Rescue Men In Disaster

SPRINGHILL, N. S. (UPI) — Rescuers battled mounds of rock and deadly fumes Friday to try to reach 89 miners trapped by an earth shock more than two miles from the entrance of North America's deepest coal mine.

"There is practically no hope, but rescue operations will continue until the last man is accounted for," said mine official Harold Gordon.

Of 174 men who were in the mine when disaster struck, 79 were rescued, 15 of them with injuries.

Officials said six bodies had been found, leaving 89 men missing.

Ironically, the missing included six supervisors who went into the mine Thursday to search for the cause of several smaller shocks—or "bumps"—that jolted the mine earlier this year.

WIDE AREA

The bump shook the Cumberland Coal & Railway Co.'s No. 2 pit at 7:10 p.m. Thursday. The shock was felt over a 14-mile area of this jinxed Nova Scotia coal mining region and caused rockfalls that cut off escape routes for miners toiling at the deepest levels.

The No. 2 pit of the mine, owned by the Dominion Steel & Coal Corp., of which Cumberland is a subsidiary, extends 14,300 feet, or 2.7 miles underground, with a vertical drop of 4,400 feet from the surface. Dominion said this makes it the deepest coal mine in North America.

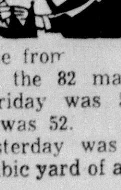
The trapped men were believed to be at the 13,400 and 13,800 foot levels.

The disaster struck this hard-luck community of 8,000 persons just a few days short of two years after an explosion in the mine killed 39 men and trapped 88 others for periods ranging up to three days. The blasted shaft, next to the one shaken Thursday night, has been closed since the explosion.

A total of 125 men died in an explosion at the mine in 1891.

Cloudy And Mild Seen For Today

Clear to partly cloudy skies are in store for today, with mild Indian summer weather in the Twin Cities' area.



In Arkansas, the forecast is clear to partly cloudy, with no important temperature changes. Highest temperature today will range from 65 to 75.

Temperatures rose from of 78 Thursday to the 82 mark yesterday. Low Friday was 51, while Thursday it was 52.

Pollen count yesterday was a low 21 grains per cubic yard of air.

OUACHITA CHANNEL

Outlook Is Bright For River Work

VICKSBURG, Miss. (Special) — Confidence was expressed yesterday that the proposed nine-foot channel in the Ouachita river will be realized in the not too distant future provided parties interested in the project continue to push for it.

The optimism was heard during an inspection tour of Mississippi River bank protection projects conducted by the United States Engineers of the Vicksburg district.

The delegation on the tour, headed by Congressman Otto Passman, included businessmen, police jury members and flood control authorities, of the Fifth Congressional district.

On the Ouachita river nine-foot channel project, Col. M. Barschdorf, district engineer in charge of the Vicksburg district, disclosed that his office had submitted a new plan for the channel. He said the proposal was now in the office of engineers for the Rivers and Harbors Board.

NEW PLAN

Briefly, the new plan calls for raising of the water level in the river three feet to produce the nine-foot channel. This would be accomplished by adding three more feet to existing walls in the six locks and dams on the 351 miles of the river between Camden, Ark., and the mouth of Black river.

Under the first proposal, the nine - foot channel would have been developed by dredging and the lowering of the bottom portions of the locks and dams. This would have cost an estimated $20,000,000 and would have closed the river to navigation until the overall project had been completed.

The new proposal calls for an expenditure of $17,000,000 and would allow navigation to con-

Upholds Law To Finance Private Schools In Ark.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—Arkansas Attorney General Bruce Bennett Friday upheld a state law under which Gov. Orval E. Faubus hoped to finance private, segregated Little Rock high schools.

Bennett said that state funds may be withheld from the Little Rock school district and given to public schools or to private schools to educate Little Rock students who have been out of classes for the past eight weeks.

Education department officials announced they would begin immediately to send state aid in the form of tuition to accredited public and private schools that have enrolled the Little Rock students.

Wiley Branton of Pine Bluff, chief attorney in Arkansas for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was not immediately available for comment. Mrs. L. C. Education Commissioner Arch Ford pointed out state aid would not go to the school set up by

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI)—Cypriot extremists shot and killed one Briton Friday and wounded seven others with bombs and a land mine.

The victim of the shooting was Frederick Sharman, 63, a retired Navy officer scheduled to join his wife in England within a few days. He operated import agencies for several British engineering firms.

A gunman shot down Sharman on a busy Nicosia street. British military police fired at the assailant, but he escaped in the crowds of a bustling square.

In the coastal city of Limassol, extremists lobbed a bomb into the crowded lobby of the Metropole Hotel, a center of British social life. Two servicemen, two civilian men and a woman were injured by the blast, none seriously. The extremists fled in a hail of fire from security forces.

Outside Limassol, a British soldier was injured when a bomb exploded in front of his car. Another soldier was hurt when a mine blew up under his car in the northeast part of the island.

U.S. Missiles Ring Taipei In Far East

TAIPEI, Formosa, Saturday (UPI)—The U.S. Army has ringed Taipei with deadly Nike and Hercules anti - aircraft missile batteries primed for instant retaliation to Communist attack, it was disclosed Saturday.

Maj. Gen. Leader I. Doan said the U.S. 2nd Missile Battalion which arrived in Formosa less than three weeks ago was in position and "personnel of the battalion are on the alert around the clock."

The top U.S. military spokesman here said the ground-to-air missiles were "in a 'hot' status and can be launched in immediate response to an attack."

PROGRAM

The completion of the "crash" defense program for the Nationalist Chinese capital came after the Communists shattered a temporary lull in the Formosa Strait with a day-long shelling of the Nationalist held offshore islands Friday.

The Communist shore artillery, silent for 23 hours after a three-day bombardment during the U.S.-Nationalist Chinese talks, opened up again at 11 a.m. (11 p.m. EDT Thursday) and continued intermittent bombardement till dusk.

The Nationalist Defense Ministry said the Communist guns hit Big and Little Quemoy islands with 901 explosive and fragmentation shells during the initial two hour bombardment, and then directed sporadic fire at all the islands of the Quemoy complex throughout the afternoon. Just before dusk, 30 shells were lobbed at Kaoteng Island in the Matsu group to the north, the ministry said.

Resumption of fire ended Nationalist ceasefire hopes aroused when the Communists stopped shelling at noon Thursday.

DESPITE LULL

Smear Charges Made In Campaign

WASHINGTON (UPI) — New charges of "smear" and "immoral" champaign spending popped up in the congressional election fight Friday despite an uneasy truce between two old battlers — Richard M. Nixon and Harry S. Truman.

Nixon described the former President as a "gallant warrior," although a Democratic. It was a follow-up to a speech by the vice president Thursday night in which he said there was no "war party" in this country and that the only "party of treason" was the Communist Party.

Truman, who has accused Nixon of calling him a "traitor," said Nixon's latest description was "very nice." He took the position that Nixon had "apologized" for past remarks. Lest relations get too good, he added that maybe Nixon was only playing "good politics."

BALANCED

Balanced against this seeming sweetness was a series of charges by Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler and allegations by Vincent J. Celeste, Republican opponent of Democratic Sen. John F. Kennedy in Massachusetts.

Butler charged that Sen. William F. Knowland, GOP gubernatorial candidate in California, had been "sucked into" smears and an anti-Semitic campaign. He said Knowland, in a recent attack on a Democratic committeeman, had singled out five individuals, all Jewish.

The Democratic chairman protested in a letter to chairman Charles P. Taft of the non-parti-

Cohen Miffed At Publishing Co., Writer

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) —Mickey Cohen of Los Angeles demanded one million dollar balm from the Curtis Publishing Co. and writer Dean Jennings Friday for articles which allegedly destroyed his "right to establish and maintain a good reputation as a law-abiding citizen."

The pudgy, 45-year-old Cohen maintained from the outset of his Common Pleas Court suit that the very title of a series of four articles appearing in recent issues of the Saturday Evening Post was liberlous. They were entitled, "Mickey Cohen: The Private Life of a Hood."

Cohen charged in the suit filed by former Dist. Atty. Samuel Dash that the articles written by Jennings contained 10 specific statements falsely accusing him of murder, assault, conspiracy, fraud and "all manner of crimes and illegal actions."

The suit sought general damages of $250,000, punitive damages of $500,000 and special damages of $250,000 because of an alleged loss sustained in connection with a publishing firm's plans to publish a book concerning his life.

The Peiping broadcast said the Red guns would not fire on the appointed days at the airfield, wharf, beach and ships in Liaolo Bay at Quemoy so supplies could arrive.

"If there is lack of anything, just say it and we will give (it to) you," the broadcast said.

Hitting at the United States, the broadcast said the purpose of Secretary of State Dulles' trip to Formosa was to isolate Formosa and make it a trusteeship.

Hours before the cease-fire announcement Vice Adm. Roland N. Smoot, chief U.S. military commander on Formosa, said he saw no immediate need for U.S. warships resuming escorts of Nationalist convoys.

Several hours before the Reds announced their partial cease-fire, President Chiang Kai-shek issued a statement predicting the time for revolt on the Red mainland was drawing nearer.

He said the success of such an uprising would be expedited from without but avoided saying flatly the Nationalists would counterattack.

He and Secretary of State Dulles at the end of their conferences this week issued a communique in which the Nationalists foreswore force as the main means of returning to the mainland.

Meantime, in Warsaw the United States and Communist China called off their deadlocked Formosa talks for two weeks to "think it over."

Next session between U.S. Ambassador Jacob Beam and Red Chinese Envoy Wang Ping-Nan was set for Friday, Nov. 7—41st anniversary of Russia's Bolshevist revolution.

tion of other departments of the city government.

Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard said yesterday that in the past, water and light systems had suffered because of lack of adequate funds and had not been able to keep pace with the growth of the city in the past, since the city government had spent revenues from these two sources through the general fund.

Mayor Howard said that in keeping with the present administration's policy of thoroughly informing the public on all details of city government operations, it should be pointed out that in 1956, the City of Monroe had a total of 755 employees on its payroll in all departments, including the water and lights departments.

As of this month, the City of Monroe and the Utilities Commission combined had on their payrolls the total of 755 employees, the same as the figure when the present administration took office in 1956, Mayor Howard said.

Employees in departments under the supervision of City Council now number 578, while those working for the Utilities Commission total 177.

Mayor Howard explained that when the present administration took office in 1956, there were 613 people on the city payroll in jobs which City Council now supervises, with 142 in the water and light department, in addition.

It is pointed out that the present number of persons employed by the city includes 20 new police officers and additional personnel to the sanitation department made necessary because of the growth of the community and extensions to the garbage collection service. Also included are approximately 20 persons on temporary status employed by the Utilities Commission during its program of revamping and expanding the water and light systems.

"The present city administration feels that the people of Monroe are proud of the progress made and asks continued support on a pledge of still exerting every effort toward making Monroe a better place in which to live," Mayor Howard said.

Negro Is Sentenced To Death

DILLON, S. C. (UPI)—An all-white jury deliberated four hours Saturday before convicting Negro dishwasher Quicky Bullock of murder in the cemetery slaying of a young white widow. He was sentenced to die in the state electric chair Nov. 28.

The jury brought in its verdict shortly after 9 p.m., to climax a two-day trial and the mandatory death sentence was passed by Circuit Judge T. B. Grenecker.

Bullock was convicted of the Aug. 3 "lovers' lane" slaying of Mrs. Carolyn Barfield, a 28-year-old Dillon widow who was parked in the woods near the cemetery with a male companion.

An assailant fired shots into the automobile and Mrs. Barfield and her date, Jimmy Horne, fled, becoming separated in the darkness. She was killed and Horne was wounded.

Bullock, who told officers he was born on a full moon and always acted strangely when the moon was full—as it was on the night of the slaying—admitted the shooting in a confession signed after he was arrested.

However, from the witness stand Saturday the 46-year-old ex-convict recanted the confession and swore officers had beaten him and thrown a sheet over his head until he admitted firing the shots.

Earlier, he had said he killed Mrs. Barfield with a .22 calibre pistol he called his "little puppy dog". Officers found the pistol in Bullock's home.

Department Says Mink In Demand

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mink is the fur most in demand in the United States but the fur industry used about six times as many rabbit pelts last year, according to the Commerce Department.

It said in a survey of the billion - dollar fur trade that mink production in 1957 was estimated at nearly 4,500,000 pelts. Imports brought more than 3 million more into the country.

In comparison, the department reported that 72 million rabbits were imported by the fur and hat industry last year. Many were touched up to simulate almost every known fur, the survey said, and rabbit pelts found their way into hats, gloves and novelty jewelry.

Demand for rabbit is declining, however, it said, mainly because of an "inexplicable consumer reaction against the connotation of the name."

"For many years rabbits masqueraded under some 100 real and fanciful trade names (but). . . these glamorous designations have been replaced by the more commonplace name required under the Fur Labelling Act," the survey writer explained.

Mink, on the contrary, is one of the most popular furs in the United States and a mainstay of the fur industry. In addition, "mink offers good serviceability" despite its upper - bracket price tags, the department said.

Americans In Guantanamo; All 59 Safe

HAVANA (UPI) — Fifty-nine American men, women and children and four foreigners evacuated from the U.S. government's multi-million-dollar nickel plant at Nicaro on Cuba's rebel-infested northeast coast arrived safely Saturday at the U.S. Navy base at Guantanamo.

The evacuees were brought to Guantanamo aboard the fast U.S. atta ' ship Kleinsmith while the giant aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt patrolled as escort.

The passengers included virtually all of the non-Cubans employed by the U. S. at the big nickel plant. Besides the Americans, there were two Chileans, a Canadian and an Argentine.

Five Americans elected to remain at the plant. They were Mr. and Mrs. Sherman A. White, Carl T. Linderholm, William G. Wendt and Arthu B. Courtney. The plant is run by the U.S. General Services Administration.

About 90 per cent of all forest fires in the U.S. are caused by people, says the National Geographic Society, and nearly a third are started deliberately.

an organization with a membership made up entirely of public-spirited citizens from all phases of Monroe's political, civic and social life.

The three propositions to be voted upon Tuesday are improvements to the city's storm drainage system, to the city's sanitary sewer system and to main arterial streets including construction of two underpasses for elimination of Illinois Central Railroad and Missouri Pacific Railroad surface crossings.

Total cost of this work is estimated at $5,120,000 in round figures.

This expenditure would be financed through issuance of bonds bearing 4.25 per cent interest with retirement in less than 30 years, taking into consideration an anticipated annual assessment growth of three per cent per year. Cost to the property owner would be five mills.

In effect, this five mills will not be an increase in taxation, since the city this year has retired bonds which have been costing the taxpayer 8.5 mills, and if the bond issue is passed Tuesday, the assessment still will be 3.5 mills less than that paid during the past several years.

Equity in benefits and costs of the program was one of the Citizens Committee's prime concerns in planning its move, and Vanderpool has stated that the group feels those projects selected for special attention at this time are those which will benefit the community as a whole at no expense to any one group of people.

In other words, these three projects will benefit all the people and will be paid for by all the property owners.

The Citizens Committee enlisted the aid of some of the best engineering minds in the nation before making its recommendations for community improvement. These include the firms of Ford, Bacon and Davis, Inc., of New York, and S. E. Huey and Company, consulting engineers, of Monroe, along with the Monroe-Regional Planning Commission and Arch R. Winter and Associates, city planning consultants.

It was the decision of these authorities on the subject that immediate improvements should be made to Monroe's sanitary sewerage facilities, storm drainage system and main arterial streets. In connection with the street project, careful attention was given to the construction of two underpasses to eliminate hazardous and highly inconvenient surface railroad crossings.

The program of capital improvement is so designed that not only will the money spent be of benefit to all the people, but, the location of projects on which it will be expended are equitably located. A study of the program shows that as much of the money will be spent in one half of the city as in the other. Inconveniences to property owners necessitated by construction have been given utmost consideration and plans call for holding these to a minimum in all cases.

Cost of the sewerage project which will give Monroe a system that can be expected to last for at least 20 or 25 years, is estimated at $900,000.

To provide facilities and improvements that will give Monroe a satisfactory storm drainage system, the cost is estimated at $2,390,000.

Five of the city's most heavily traveled thoroughfares would be improved as a major object of providing greater service to all the people, under the proposal. These with two underpasses will cost approximately $1,830,000.

Following its policy of complete equity in all respects, the Citizens Committee has developed a formula which it has reason to believe places no undue financial strain upon anyone. Those persons owning property along these streets will pay their portion of construction costs as do those persons owning property on any other street. In addition, these people will pay the millage as proposed in the Tuesday bond issue.

At the same time, it was pointed out, the city as a whole will benefit from having five of its major traffic arteries improved to the extent of being able to accomodate heavy-type traffic. Construction such as is serviceable on typical residential streets is by no means adequate for these heavy-duty streets, and their improvement entails considerably more cost.

Engineer studies show that elimination of surface street crossings of the Illinois Central Railroad on North Fourth Street and of the Missouri Pacific Railroad on South Second Street, are vital.

While present plans call for underpasses at these points, should final studies of engineers and the State Highway Department indicate more feasible locations under the two tracks, the underpasses will be located accordingly.

Many hours of detailed study and planning has been given to all features of the three propositions that will be presented to the public in Tuesday's election by members of the Citizens Committee, highly competent engineers and financiers, and the committee has expressed the opinion that such a program is not only necessary, but feasible, and vital if Monroe is to continue the growth and prosperity it has enjoyed in recent years.

go out and investigate these cases."

Former Gov. Sam Jones, chairman of the overall committee, pointed out in federal pardon cases the federal bureau of investigation carried out a complete study of the case.

The pardon and parole group, headed by Parrish Fuller of Oakdale, also heard from former Angola Warden Maurice Sigler, now with the Florida prison system, and Curvey Landry, state probation and parole director.

Meeting nearby was the personnel subcommittee, headed by E. A. Lee Sr., of Natchitoches, vice chairman of the state Board of Institutions.

Lee's committee will begin interviewing inmates at the state prison Nov. 4, an intensive drive to discover which inmates may have been convicted improperly or given unnecessarily harsh sentences because they were not properly represented at their trial.

At Saturday's meeting, the group decided procedure and standards for the interviews, which may continue several months.

Weeks Quits, Strauss To Assume Post

He said Strauss was "a splendid gentleman who is most knowledgeable" in the atomic field, but "I am a little at a loss to understand how he fits into the secretary of commerce position, inasmuch as that job has primarily to do with business conditions and transportation matters."

Sen. A. Willis Robertson (D-Va.), a member of the Senate Banking Committee, said Strauss, a fellow Virginian, was "a fine man and has always been a good friend of mine and I am glad to see him honored."

Weeks, a conservative, only last Saturday called for a national manufacturers sales tax as a means of reducing income taxes and helping meet the government deficit. Congressmen of both parties and Treasury officials promptly came out against the idea.

Local Policeman Directing Traffic Suffers Injuries

A Monroe City Policeman was hit by a car while directing traffic at the old traffic bridge yesterday, but apparently escaped serious injury.

Barnes arrested the driver, Lisso Jones, Jr., 18-year-old Negro of 212 S. 8th St. Jones was charged with reckless driving and negligent injury.

He was held in city jail on a $300 bond.

Barnes filed a report saying he had given Jones a stop signal, but the Negro continued east on DeSiard St. Barnes said he was hit on the left knee, and pushed about three feet before Jones stopped.

National Thrift Week, National Flower Week, United Nations Week; Cleaner Air Week; National Bible Week; National Donut Week; and lastly, National Macaroni Week. Have any others been overlooked?

Vacation

They went 4,600 or more miles by train, bus and in private cars at times. It was all during a three-week vacation.

They took a train to the great northwest and visited Seattle and vicinity. Then they took in all possible sights on the way home and this took them to the Atlantic coast and vicinity. Towns such as Williamsburg in Virginia were visited and other places of historic fame in that state and nearby states.

Now back at work, Oscar likes to recall all the places of interest that he visited. He will always recall a wonderful vacation.

River Work View Bright

tinue on the river while the work is in progress.

The original plan was discarded at the time because the expenditures would not justify the benefits, it was said. However, the lower cost of the new plans and the sharp increase in tonnage now moving on the Ouachita would justify the project, it was said.

Engineers disclosed that they expected 360,000 tons to be moved on the Ouachita this year. Th's compares to 260,000 tons last year and 50,000 tons approximately 10 years ago.

DISCLOSED

Colonel Barschdorf also disclosed that it now costs $200,000 a year for dredging of the present six-foot channel in the Ouachita. He said the nine-foot channel as proposed would cut that cost by $100,000 a year.

Some river authorities said they believed the nine-foot channel plan would be approved and that the project would be underway in the "not too distant future."

Persons on the tour viewed four projects of revetment construction, which is the principal means employed to stabilize the banks of the Mississippi.

Engineers pointed out that active revetment in place in the Vicksburg District at present is approximately 117 miles. Expenditures for revetments along both sides of the river in the district under the present project have been approximately $92,000,000.

The current year's program includes the construction of about 13 miles of revetment costing approximately $10,000,000.

It was pointed out that the purpose of the bank stabilization program is to improve and stabilize the channel of the river for both navigation and flood control. This is accomplished by preventing bank erosion by the scouring action of the river; and protecting existing levees and other fixed installations.

The revetment program was a fascinating process to members of the party.

Engineers in a pre-tour briefing also stressed the progress of the Boeuf and Tensas River and Bayou Macon flood control projects.

Colonel Barschdorf said the project consisted of approximately 530 miles of channel clearing, snagging, straightening and enlarging on the Boeuf River, Bayou Lafourche, Big and Colewa Creeks, Bayou Macon and the Tensas river. Of this amount, he said, 288 miles have been completed at a cost of $9,800,000. Work remaining consists of the improvement of Bayou Macon throughout its entire length and improvement of the lower 32 miles of Boeuf river and the lower 60 miles of Tensas river at an estimated cost of $2,100,000.

Engineers said funds were made available in fiscal 1959 for initiation of work on Bayou Macon and for right-of-way acquisition on Boeuf River. It is now anticipated, engineers said, that contract for first item of work on the Bayou Macon extending from the mouth to about 40 miles will be advertised for late in the fiscal year.

The entire project is expected to be completed from three to five years, and will protect the basin from internal floodings from three to five-year cycle storms.

DISCLOSED

It was also disclosed that engineers will make a restudy of the feasibility of completing the seawall along the Ouachita river in Monroe. Some 1800 feet along South Grand was not completed at the time the original levee was constructed because of the high cost of right-of-way, Colonel Barschdorf said. The restudy was asked in a Congressional resolution.

Water from the Ouachita flowed through the gap during the record high flood this spring. It was pointed out that no attempt will be made to finish the gap until right-of-way has been guaranteed. This would have to be obtained by Monroe.

Passman said the inspection tour was very revealing and that he was happy with the progress that was being made on the various projects.

Yesterday's tour covered the stretch of the Mississippi from near Eudora, Ark., to Vicksburg, Miss. It was made aboard the Engineers Patrol Boat "Lipscomb."

Cook, described by his parents as having had "mental trouble," began his trail of blood just outside the barn at his tenant farm home just off U. S. highway 27. There, he blasted down his 22-year-old wife, Rachel, with two blasts from the .12-guage shotgun. For some reason, he removed his shirt and dropped it beside the body.

Police said Cook turned and headed to the house, where he met his brother's wife, Mrs. Jeanette Cook. The woman was felled by a knife wound.

She got up and ran into the house, only to be cornered in a bedroom, police said. Three more shots from the shotgun, and Cook claimed his second victim in a matter of minutes.

The shirtless, 180-pound farmer then started across a cornfield. He encountered Mr. and Mrs. George Smith and their 16-year-old daughter, Marjorie. Mrs. Smith died instantly when a shotgun blast tore into her body. The daughter was wounded but rushed to a hospital where her condition was listed as serious.

Smith, the stunned husband, watched, but said he was unable to do anything to help. Cook continued his flight into the woods and fields.

the Little Rock Private School Corporation because it is not accredited. Nor would it include the new Baptist high school, which opens classes at three grade levels next Monday for 500 students.

Officials of the Baptist high school said recently they would not seek state aid for the support of their school.

The state Board of Education had requested Bennett's opinion.

The attorney general said a restraining order issued by the Eighth U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals does not apply to the transfer of state aid for education. Instead, he said it was directed at the Little Rock school board's transfer of four high schools to the Little Rock Private School Corporation.

A special session of the Arkansas Legislature authorized the governor to close Little Rock's four high schools rather than open them on an integrated basis. The Legislature also authorized the state to divert money from districts whose schools had been closed to other public or to private schools.

COL. W. H. LEWIS

Port Of N.O. Official To Speak Here

Plans to develop the Port of New Orleans will be discussed by Col. William H. Lewis, planning coordinator of the port, at a meeting of the North Monroe Lions Club at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The session will be held at the Saddle and Spur Restaurant.

Earlier that day, he will be introduced to the membership of the Lions Club at their noon meeting in the Frances Hotel.

Construction of such projects as that for control of Old River, the Mississippi River - Gulf Outlet, Baton Rouge Harbor, and flood control on the Amite River have been initiated under his direction.

As coordinator for the port, he is in charge of all planning and development of facilities, as well as of all activities concerned in the construction and development of the 76 - mile tidewater channel to the gulf whose construction by the Corps of Engineers began this spring under his direction.

PLANS

Lewis will tell Lions Club members about the Port of New Orlens plans to develop its facilities in the coming years, and he will discuss Constitutional Amendment No. 15 which will be voted on Nov. 4.

The Port of New Orleans, a state agency administered by a businessman board, would be permitted to increase its bond ceiling to $95,000,000 from its present ceiling of $35,000,000.

The Port of Baton Rouge has a bond limitation of $50,000,000 The constitutional amendment specifies that the bonds would be paid by port revenues and would require no additional taxes.

Lewis will describe plans to develop the Mississippi River - Gulf Outlet being constructed from New Orleans to the Gulf of Mexico. The channel is being constructed by the federal government, and the port is the assuring agency.

A 1937 graduate of West Point, he holds a bachelor of science degree from the military academy, and a master of science in engineering degree from Cornell. He is a licensed civil engineer in the state of Louisiana and a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers and of the society of American Military Engineers.

Little Theatre

At tryouts for Bus Stop last Monday, there was a fair sized group — enough to cast the play with a few exceptions. Choice of the leading lady, who must come up to standards set by Kim Novak on Broadway and Marilyn Monroe in the movie, has not yet been made. Among the spectators at tryouts were Robert and Judy Evans, Paul Goldman, Lallage Feazel, the Lamar Mullicans, Bid Causey, Bill Smith, Bobbie Strickland and Charlene Correro.

On October 29, our director, Ivan Uttal, is flying to the Southwest Theater Conference, which will have as co-hosts this ye the city of Amarillo and The University of Eastern New Mexico. Prominent people on the program will be Paul Baker of Baylor and John Rosenfield of the Dallas Morning News, but of chief interest to Monroyans is the fact that Stocker Fontelieu, our former director, will address one of the sessions.

Our fame is spreading. A few days ago a committee of seven people came down from El Dorado to get pointers on how to start a little theater. We wish them success.

Have you seen Ivan's new car, a bright red Triumph III? It's very dashing — something like an English setter puppy — and could merit this quip which we saw in the Readers Digest: Sign noted on the back of a midget sports car: "Don't squash me. I eat harmful insects."

Welcome To Monroe

They were Mrs. Don McGrede, 1109 S. 4th; Mrs. Ralph Burks, 1013 N. 5th; T. F. Stipulkosky, 1200 S. 10th, and C. S. Price, 510½ Bres Avenue.

MONDAY

Teddie Roosevelt Born 100 Yrs. Ago

By ROBERT J. SERLING
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — He would have been 100 years old Monday — and probably would have celebrated the event with a fast game of tennis punctuated by his high-pitched cries of "bully shot!"

That could be none other than Theodore Roosevelt, one of America's most colorful presidents.

To historians and political students, he will be remembered for such things as conservatism, trust-busting, and belligerent foreign policy. But to old - timers around Washington, he was the president of the United States who excelled in dynamic personality.

A British statesman met TR, and after about 30 minutes of exposure to that personality, summed up the president in one sentence:

"He is," said the Englishman, "an interesting combination of St Paul and St. Vitus."

When he was president, the White House was a busy, bustling factory of unconventional activity, outdoor living and unlike other presidents, the White House was no prison to him. When he felt like getting away, he merely told the Secret Service "to get ready for a bully little walk" and departed.

His "bully little walks" were often torture to the Secret Service and to the friends whom Roosevelt invited along. He liked to walk in the rain and over the roughest terrain.

His walks also included occasional nocturnal swims in Washington's Rock Creek or in the Potomac River. The swims were strictly impromptu. TR would come to a body of water and announce, "let's go swimming."

This resulted in some of the biggest names in government peeling off their clothes and dutifully diving in after the President. On one occasion, the French ambassador was along. He didn't object to disrobing but he insisted on wearing his gloves into the water.

"Why the gloves?" TR asked.

"We may meet some ladies," the Frenchman replied with great dignity.

The White House was more of a home than the executive mansion when Theodore Roosevelt was president. TR's four young sons, Kermit, Archie, Teddy and Quentin, were of the uninhibited variety. To them the big mansion was just another house to live and play in. They also regarded the White House as a fine place to establish a zoo. Like their father, they loved animals. And they brought in everything except elephants.

TR himself had his own animal pet—a bulldog which was declared persona non grata after he bit a visiting ambassador.

The reporters of his day, most of them, anyway, loved TR. For it was Theodore Roosevelt who literally threw open the White House doors to newspapermen. He was the first president to submit to frequent question-and - answer sessions—although with TR, these "press conferences" usually were one-sided lectures, with him doing all the talking.

He also originated the presidential practice of giving newsmen information so long as he was not quoted directly. No president before or since told reporters more things "off the record" than Theodore Roosevelt. Nor did he ever resort to a "no comment." He would just explain confidentially why he did not want to comment, and no one ever violated that confidence.

TR was looking out a White House window one day and saw a group of newsmen standing in a cold rain, waiting to interview presidential callers when they emerged. TR promptly ordered a small room near his own office set aside for their use. Thus the White House press room was born.

His popularity with the press was not universal, however. TR liked to float trial balloons through reporters. If the balloons were shot down by public opinion, TR would deny the stories and denounced their authors as liars. This resulted in many newspapermen becoming members of TR's famous "Ananeas Club" (liars' club)—an organization which also included political opponents and out-of-favor government officials. It has been said the club was so large it had a waiting list.

Returns

Plan Building For A Mortuary In West Monroe

Construction work on a new building to house Kilpatrick's Funeral Home is expected to begin shortly in West Monroe.

Tex Kilpatrick, president of the funeral home, said that Jesse F. Heard and Sons wil construct the building at a cost of $74,000 at North Seventh and Drago Streets in West Monroe.

The cost of the two-acre site, building and equipment is expected to bring the cost up to about $125,000, Kilpatrick said.

Northside Home Is Hit Heavily By Fire Damage

A six-room frame house at 1908 N. 4th St., was heavily damaged by fire that apparentlly caught from a bedroom heater about 8 last night.

No one was injured.

The house was occupied by Mrs. Betty Dye, her three small children, and her mother, a Mrs. Jones.

Firemen said the blaze started near a bedroom heater but said it was not definitely determined if the heater was burning. They planned a closer check.

The Dye family was not at home when the fire began.

Three rooms in the house were extensively damaged and the other rooms were damaged by heat and smoke.

The house is owned by Joe Kern.

Names 'Mixup' Plagues Kin Of Winn Principal

A report that a former Sikes High School principal was injured and his wife killed near Baton Rouge yesterday was an apparent mixup in names.

A two-car collision at Gonzales, 20 miles south of Baton Rouge, claimed the life of Mrs. Norma Lee Bankston. Her husband, John Bankston, 32, is in the Baton Rouge General Hospital under treatment for injuries sustained in the crash.

Residents at Sikes said last night they had understood the man to be the same John Bankston who taught agriculture at Sikes 1952-56 and served as school principal 1956-57.

Mrs. Carl Hayes, relative of the injured man, told the Morning World last night that the John Bankston injured in the wreck was not the former Winn Parish educator.

Tuesday's Bond Vote Vital

Monroe property owners go to the polls Tuesday to make perhaps one of the most important decisions ever to face them locally. The vital issue at stake is the question of whether this city shall move onto the path of progress and into era of expertly planned and supervised growth and prosperity, or continue to crawl along with inadequate facilities and with little hope of a future.

The course taken will depend on whether our people approve or reject the $5,120,000 improvement bond issue, proposed by a non-political Citizens Committee and approved by the Monroe City Council at the committee's request.

It is almost impossible even to imagine anything at this time that is of more importance to the growth of Monroe and the economic welfare of its people than the approval of this bond issue. It is most difficult to understand why anyone should be against it; how anyone could vote against progress and how anyone could cast a vote to allow this city to fall into the has-been class while other cities are moving forward with tremendous speed and with pride in great civic accomplishments.

Monroe is already behind most cities of its size in municipal improvements. While others have moved forward, Monroe has remained at the crossroads. Because of this, the city is now faced with the gigantic task of trying to make improvements that should actually have been made years and years ago.

Therefore the bond election Tuesday is one in which everyone should be vitally concerned. The program proposed is one designed to give benefits to all the people—not just a few. The money from the bond issue will be spent to improve facilities in all parts of the city.

In a matter of this importance, there should be no room for factionalism and enmity. In the past factionalism, enmity, envy and jealousy and political strife have wrecked sincere efforts to push this city ahead.

Some of us have fought improvements, not because the city didn't need them, but because we did not want to see our political enemies receive credit for a constructive program. We have allowed political animosities to carry over into non-political issues.

The results have been ruinous for Monroe. Our streets are the worst of any city in the state. Our drainage and sewerage facilities are most inadequate.

Personal enmity, jealousy, strife and envy have no place in a growing and progressive city. They are so damaging that they are heavily condemned in the Bible. History books are filled with the names of victims of these destroyers. Because of them, nations have fallen. They have destroyed homes, businesses and communities, cities and states. The canker of jealousy and envy has corroded cities and caused them to wither and die, when cooperation and friendship would have put them on the high road to progress and accomplishment.

In cities where progress is the key word, the spirit of the citizens is most outstanding. It has been demonstrated that when political peace, trust, cooperation and good will exist, nothing is impossible.

The remarkable programs of progress in many cities have been accomplished in short spans of time because of such cooperation. Progress was provided by the citizens of those cities, by the taxpayers who shouldered the load, by civic organizations, by businessmen and others, who have kept pace with the times and set the pace for it.

Although we may differ politically, and this is a good thing, we should never let it interfere with what is good for our city. The important thing is accomplishment and for any city to achieve this, cooperation of all its people is necessary.

The people of Monroe can have a progressive city. But all of us must desire it to reach that goal.

The proposal contained in the capital improvement program to be voted on Tuesday is fair, just and vital. The program was planned by the Citizens Committee after it had received a detailed report from the engineering firm of Ford, Bacon and Davis. There was no guesswork involved. Everything has been worked out and the proposals will give Monroe a start on the road to progress.

Many safeguards have been placed in the program. For example, the mayor and two city commissioners have assured the Citizens Committee that funds from the bond issue would be dispersed by the local banks for the improvements planned only after the engineers have furnished certificates covering the work done.

The cost to the individual is small. During the current year the city millage was reduced 8½ mills. It has been estimated that a five-mill levy will pay out the proposed $5,120,000 bond issue in slightly less than 30 years. In effect, if the bond issue is approved, the 1959 millage actually will be three and one-half mills less than it was in 1957.

Provided in the program are:

Improvement of the sanitary sewerage facilities — $900,000.

Improvement of the storm drainage facilities — $2,390,000.

Improvement of streets and construction of a four-lane underpass under the Illinois Central Railroad and a four-lane underpass under the Missouri Pacific tracks — total $1,830,000.

There are no hidden clauses and phrases. It has presented fairly and above all, the plan was submitted by a group of citizens, many with different beliefs politically, who got together in the spirit of cooperation and trust so vitally necessary for any city's growth.

The committee headed by R. L. Vanderpool Jr. is interested only in Monroe's growth and welfare. It has done an excellent job and one of which you can be proud.

Every street to be improved under the program has been listed and the reason given for its selection. At the present time, plans call for one underpass under the IC tracks on North Fourth, and another under the MP tracks on South Second street. As the committee has reported, these locations are not final. Should final studies by engineers of the state highway department and the city planning commission indicate more feasible crossings under the tracks at other locations, they will be located accordingly. In other words, they will be located at points to give you the best possible service.

The committee has repeatedly emphasized that the program is so designed that there is no discrimination in cost against any property owner, whether he lives on one of the five arterial thoughfares to be improved or on a deadend street.

The street improvement program as designed to be carried out under the proposed program sets out definitely that property owners facing a major traffic artery will be assessed the cost of improving a normal residential street, and in addition, will pay the millage assessed through passage of the bond issue.

This is a fair and equal division.

The five to be improved to handle the heavy flow of traffic are Riverside Drive, DeSiard Street, Forsythe Avenue, South Grand Street and South Second Street.

Everyone of those streets are used almost daily by all owners of automobiles in the city. Because of the heavy traffic flow, highway type of streets are vital.

Approval of this necessary bond issue means that every single resident of Monroe is a winner.

This newspaper sincerely hopes that our people will forget their political strife and jealousy and envy and show to all a spirit of good will and cooperation that will place Monroe in the ranks of the progressive cities.

Atom-Powered Aircraft Plant Labeled 'Beast'

Its significance is worthy of a supercolossal term — stupendous — because the Beast is the power plant which General Electric is designing for the Air Force's nuclear - powered aircraft.

If this plane lives up to predictions, it will virtually remove the known restrictions on air travel — distance, speed, weight, endurance.

I was allowed to see the Beast through the open doors of the Warm Shop. I saw a multi-ton contraption of engines and gauges that was mounted upon two side-by-side railroad flatcars. The assembly stands close to 30 feet high. It is indescribably complicated.

This thing will never fly. Like all atomic assemblies, the Beast is mostly shielding against noxious radiation and gadgetry for testing what goes on. At the heart of every atomic reactor is what the workers call a "suitcase" — the relatively small, compact package of power.

Mounted on the front of HTRE-1 are two turbojet engines, the J-47s, which today power the B-47 bombers. Like all jet engines, the J47 has an air compressor up front, a combustion chamber run by kerosene in the middle and a nozzle which expels hot air through the rear to obtain 'thrust." Substitute an atomic reactor for the present combustion chamber, and you have the nuclear aircraft engine.

There is no excuse for this gross oversimplification except to depict the end product. On three separate days I drove out from Idaho Falls to the half-million acre reservation which includes GE's Aircraft Nuclear Propulsion area. Nobody is allowed to live on the site. GE's nearest neighbor is 20 miles away. In the event of a nuclear accident, only the working personnel and the desert livestock would be exposed.

So, there would have to be a shield — water, lead, steel, concrete, graphite — between the atomic aircraft engine and the crew-passengers. It is not very feasible to carry these heavy materials aloft. A continuing search goes on at another site — the Materials Testing Reactor — to find a lightweight material or alloy that will reflect or moderate the deadly rays. Next door to the MTR is the Engineering Test Reactor where further experiments go forward under atomic conditions.

Shielding is the major problem in a manned nuclear - powered plane, but the designers do not wait for its solution or for a lucky break-through. The Beast is permanently based upon two portable flatcars, drawn by a heavily - shielded Diesel locomotive. It travels a shortline railroad to its test places. It comes back into the Hot, Warm and Cold Shops for maintenance, disassembly, decontamination and improvement.

This HTRE-1 has already built up an impressive total of "flying time" on the ground. At the end of 1955, it did about six hours, in early 1956 it did 80 more hours. Last year it did over 100 hours at one stretch, and 40 hours at another. No attempt has been made to run this reactor to exhaustion or to press it to any extreme effort. The whole purpose of these run-ups has been to gather information as to controlled thrust and safety factors.

These run-ups took place at a non - whistle stop on the double-ribbon railroad line called Initial Engine Test. Today at the far end of the rail line workmen are finishing a reenforced concrete arch which is 99 feet high and over 200 feet in length and breadth. This structure is called the Flight Engine Test. It is a long way, technologically speaking, from the Initial Engine Test where the Beast has been warming up for nearly three years.

When will it fly? What kind of airframe will contain it? What are the military and commercial justifications?

Nobody has the definite answers, but I hope to approach these areas of discussion in forthcoming columns.

REGULATION

Delhi, La.

Editor, World:

The state police are very strict about the regulation on car mufflers, and are very strict in enforcing this law against cars without mufflers. I would like to see the same law enforced as strong against these big transport trucks that drive on the highways and roads making loud noises. They drive by day and night, and people even living away from the highways are wakened in the night from the loud exhausts.

I see no reason to stop one and overlook the other. These big trucks make more noise sometimes than two cars without mufflers, but the troopers do nothing about stopping them. No car with a hollywood muffler or any of the ways the teen agers fix their cars will make as much noise as the trucks. The trucks make so much noise they shake the buildings and are certainly a nuisance to everyone along the highways and roads.

Being a citizen, as well as an officer of the law, I just wish to express my opinion on these two issues, and my feelings are to enforce one just like the other. I am for the law to have mufflers on cars 100 per cent, but I feel the same law should apply, and be enforced, for all vehicles the same way. If it's against the law for an automobile to be without a muffler, I certainly feel that the same law should apply to the trucks on the road.

FAVORS BOND ISSUE

Monroe, La.

Editor, World,

I wish to state that I am for the bond issue that will be voted on October 28. I think that all the people living on the southeast side of Monroe should do everything they can to get it passed.

The condition in regard to an underpass under the M. O. P. railroad is serious. Any time you are on short time to get up town there will be a long freight train either coming into the terminal or one just leaving the yards. There is hardly a day passes that all crossings are blocked from Plum street to the Illinois Central where it crosses the M. O. P. railroad sometimes from 30 to 45 minutes.

It seems that nearly all trains use Monroe for a meeting point. There will be one coming south and at usual speed of 8 to 10 miles an hours and some times much slower than that, and you will notice just as this train gets to Plum street another one north bound moves out of the yards. You can have an idea how long it will take them to clear the crossings with an average of 150 car trains.

It looks like the railroad could increase the speed of the freight trains through the city limits. As a retired railroad employe I know that there is no cause for them to move so slow all of the time.

Some months ago I had to call an ambulance to rush me to the hospital. We were blocked at S. Second at least 40 minutes, and this is very common condition.

The drainage south of Winnsboro road is very bad. Every time we have a large rain the Monroe housing addition goes under water, that is south of Winnsboro road.

There was money appropriated to drain Monroe some years ago and in the other parts of the city. They dug large canals and concreted the walls so when they needed it they could be cleaned out but the Terminal Heights and Adkins colored addition they installed about a 36 inch corrugated pipe under the ground and it was not half large enough to handle all the water for an average rain much less some of the floods we have had the last year. All I can say, whoever made the survey made a big blunder in his estimate of the water.

Let's all get behind this bond election and put it over because the whole city of Monroe needs everything the City Council recommended in it.

I have lived in Monroe almost 32 years and I have watched it grow year by year. I am proud of our city.

We really need that underpass. Let's go, property owners, and do the job right.

Daily Devotion

But let him ask in faith, nothing wavering. For he that wavereth is like a wave of the sea driven with the wind and tossed. — James 1:6.

Faith is a wonderful thing. When we fail in some undertaking and a friend says, "I know you are going to overcome all difficulties and win out in the long-run!" — how it cheers us up and makes us more determined to succeed! If we have faith in the words of our fellowmen, how much more ought we to have faith in the promises of God and Christ. It is good if a Christian can say, with Paul, "We know that all things work together for good to them that love God."

Gracious God, our Father, give us faith in our ability to do what is right and necessary in Thy strength. In Christ's name we ask. Amen.

Two Parties Are Fouling Signals

If two high powered football teams fouled up their signals as both Republicans and Democrats are doing this year, with congressional and state elections less than two weeks off, the spectators would boo them, the coaches would tear their hair, and the game might wind up in a scoreless tie.

On the political gridiron, the Democrats are already assured of victory, on the basis of nationwide scouting reports, but the voters aren't cheering and the state political leaders, Democrats as well as Republican, blame their top level spokesmen for deliberatel, snarling team play.

A congressional campaign in this country frequently becomes a rumble, but usually the combatants are divided into two sides, and while no holds are barred, the members of each gang stick together. In no year within memory has there been such intra-party skirmishing as now disrupts the closing days of what started out to be a dull but fairly consistent battle for control of Congress and state government.

Two important contributing factors are the determination of Vice President Richard M. Nixon to get a head start in [illegible] presidential campaign by making himself principal spokesman for the Republican party, and the effort of National Chairman Paul Butler of the Democratic National Committee to wield control of the party's political machinery in preparation for 1960.

Butler foresees a heavy Democrat gain in the Senate, large enough to give northern and western liberals a sufficient margin to jam through additional civil rights legislation, defeat any attempt to curb the auhority of tempt to curb the authority of the U. S. Supreme Court and back up the court's orders enforcing school integration.

Neither ambition, of course, comes as any surprise to those who follow the political parade Nixon has realized the necessity of consolidating his position since President Eisenhower in 1956 gave Harold E. Stassen, then one of his White House assistants, the green light to oppose Nixon for renomination as Vice-President, presumably upon the advice of Sherman Adams, then his political advisor.

Butler now, as in the past, is working toward a stronger civil rights law, an issue which [illegible] atens increasingly to split his party in 1960. Since action to that end is not deemed likely from the new Congress, Butles has now teamed with former President Harry S. Truman in a drive to break the South's seniority grip on both houses, and displace veteran committee chairmen from that section.

Nixon has pictured the Eisenhower administration as on the defensive rather than the aggressive in the congressional campaign, and his description can hardly have been inadvertent. Many observers see in it an intimation that Ike has not been as strong a President as Nixon likes to think he would be. Nixon's advisors reason that he must campaign aggressively in every possible way between now and 1960, to reenergize a Republican party which has slipped [illegible].

Butler has grown confident recently that he and his liberal followers among state leaders can dominate the 1960 convention, giving the Southern delegations who want states' rights to be the paramount issue the choice of going along with the strong civil rights' program or leaving the party. How many states a split thus engendered would pull out of the convention is still highly speculative, and Butler may find that the advocates of compromise will prevail sufficiently to prevent any split at all. But the issue, if another effort is made to jam it down the throats of the southern delegates, could cause formation of a third party.

That might doom Democratic chances of electing a President, but it would not necessarily disrupt Democratic control of Congress. The national conventions name the presidential candidates and write the party platforms, but Congress is elected by the people, decides upon its own organization and the composition of its committees, including the designation of their chairmen.

Gallstones Can Cause Trouble

Infections of the gall bladder may occur in the absence of gallstones. But gallstones seldom form unless infection is present. These concretions develop from chemicals that crystalize in the presence of inflammation, especially when bile is overly concentrated. Once started, nothing can be done to prevent stones from growing.

They may not cause symptoms and it is surprising how many persons live to a ripe old age and die without knowing they harbored a gall bladder full of rocks. On the other hand, gallstones can be real trouble makers, particularly when small enough to escape into the tube leading into the intestine. Their migration leads to such severe colicky pain a narcotic is required for relief. Jaundice ensues when the stone gets stuck and blocks the duct.

Distress may continue for years and is worse at times than at others. Pregnancy often aggravates discomfort, whereas rest and dietary discretion are helpful. Symptoms are most likely to arise after eating pork, cabbage, and fried or greasy foods.

A bothersome gall bladder is better out than in. It will not be missed, because the common duct between the liver and intestine takes over the organ's job of storing bile.

Surgery is more likely to be successful when typical symptoms exist and there is evidence of gall bladder disease. Keep in mind that the operation cannot be expected to relieve symptoms that stem from nervous or other intestinal disorders, even though gallstones co-exist.

WHAT IS FAINTING?

S. M. writes: Please explain fainting?

REPLY

In fainting there is temporary lack of blood to the brain. No other disorder resembles death so closely. The pulse, breathing, and blood pressure become imperceptible; the skin is cold and clammy; and the color, ashen. There are many causes of fainting varying from an emotional upheaval to a heart attack. It is less popular today than in the past.

ADDED INFECTION

W. L. writes: What is meant by a secondary infection?

REPLY

These infections are derived from or follow an original infection or disease. The term is used frequently in discussing colds, for example. At first a virus is responsible; two or three days later new micro-organisms take over. When the second group of invaders move in, this is known as a secondary infection.

ICE AND HANDS

J. M. writes: Will putting the hands in ice water many times a day (as part of the job) lead to a disease?

REPLY

Not if your skin and circulation are normal and you are not a hyper - reactor to cold. We can assume this is so if you have been doing this work for some time without adverse effects.

CHLORINATED WATER

S. W. writes: Does the chlorine used in swimming pools harm the eyes?

REPLY

No, but if there is too much in the water and the individual stays in the pool for a long time, the eyes may burn and become irritated.

POTATO CONTENTS

Mrs. J. writes: Do potatoes contain important food elements?

REPLY

Yes. They are an excellent source of minerals. The white potato contains 20 per cent starch, 2 per cent protein, 1 per cent ash, and 77 per cent water.

Meaningless Platforms

Leaders of the Democratic and Republican parties, at their presidential-nominating conventions in 1960, will spare themselves a lot of trouble if they follow a suggestion that they abandon the practice of writing long party platforms.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, the frank and brilliant southern spokesman, made the proposal that the ancient custom of writing lengthy, dull and meaningless platforms for future elections, especially for 1960, be abandoned. The idea seems also to appeal to House Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate Majority Leader Lynden B. Johnson, both of Texas.

In Sen. Russell's criticism of the platform phobia, he said:

"Recent party platforms have been so long drawn out, so specious in their promises and so contradictory in their terms that I doubt very much whether any member of the senate has taken the trouble to read them lately. I know that I never did."

Not a single senator arose to disagree with Sen. Russell or to say that he believed in basing his legislative actions on his party's credo. Sen. Russell demolished even more completely the supposed sanctity and necessity of long-winded campaign exhortations when he said:

What a country we would have if the congress were to pass every proposal embraced within the political party platforms! What a budget we would have, what a tax burden we would have, and what a conglomeration of laws we would have!

For at least as long as most of us can remember, the matter of drawing up a party platform has been a process aimed only at garnering as many votes as posisble. To little regard has been held for the real intents and purposes of the respective parties.

Each party has tried to picture a Utopian situation in which everybody would have the best of all things, in which money and federal gifts would be dealt out lavishly, in which there would be big increases in budgets for all purposes, in which taxes would be reduced, in which people would receive more and give less.

In recent years there have been attempts to show that both labor and minorities will fatten at the expense of the majorities. This, of course, is a patently fallacious claim, since there are no majorities in the United States except those made up of minorities.

In the final analysis, whatever we receive must be paid for and the people themselves are the only ones who can and will pay.

Senator Russell's statement that the proposals in the party platforms are so contradictory and conglomerate that it would be an utter impossiblity to put all of them into effect simultaneously is true. Each proposal, taken by itself, may appear to be feasible but the task of harmonizing all the proposals is so impossible that no such attempt is ever made.

It has been suggested that, instead of drawing up the usual fatuous platforms, each party should dedicate itself to patriotism, the upholding of the American constitution and the safety of this country. It was pointed out that this country is in grave danger from within by the ever-growing menace of socialism and its twin brother communism and from without by the danger of eventual destruction by Soviet Russia or by absorption into a Soviet-controlled world government.

Party platforms, as presently drawn, amount to nothing more than promising everybody he can have more than his share.

That is impossible, just as it is impossible to continue forever to spend more money than we take in.

1.2 Cats Per Family

In connection with the annual celebration of Cat Week, scheduled Nov. 2-8, the American Feline Society has pointed out that there are 21 million cats in the United States and that this breaks down to 1.2 cats per family.

An interesting phase of the statement is that only about half of the cats are owner-fed, housed and cared for. The other 10.5 million are listed as strays or alley cats. The strays generally get their living out of trash cans or through the kindness of people who are not their owners.

Historically, we burned "witches" and their cats at stake a scant 300 years ago. Witches have disappeared from among us and the cats, no longer associated with witches, have risen in rank from 12th place until they have become second only to dogs as pets.

The American Feline Society is unique in many respects. It is the world's largest cat organization and the second-largest animal welfare group. It has no paid staff and does not employ professional fund-raisers. It conducts no drives and receives no financial support from any government agency, municipal, county, state or national. It operates through 160 member societies nationally and internationally. It maintains a field organization of more than 60 completely dedicated individuals, chiefly in various professional capacities, who work without compensation and carry on the society's work in their immediate areas. Having nothing to see and making no charges, the society may be classed as a true charity.

Child psychologists agree that children having small pets rarely become juvenile delinquents because of a sense of responsibility instilled in the young, growing person. Because of their quiet and gentle nature, their cleanliness and ease of maintenance, cats make excellent pets, enjoyed both by the child and the parent.

The unselfish manner in which the friends of cats carry on their work and their assistance in providing children with loved and affectionate pets are worthy of commendation.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

Admiral Rickover Symbol Of Talent Carelessness

I was looking through the sheets of bills passed by Congress and approved by the President and came across Public Law 85-826 which is "To authorize the chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy to confer a medal on Rear Admiral Hyman George Rickover, United States Navy."

Well, this is very nice, indeed. The sum of $2,500 is appropriated for the purpose of having a gold medal struck and presented to Admiral Hyman George Rickover, United States Navy. Also duplicates in bronze of such a medal are to be coined and sold to cover the cost thereof. I do not know where such a medal can be purchased if you care to have a duplicate in bronze.

But the question still arises whether Admiral Rickover, the father of the atomic-powered submarine is to be promoted so that he can remain in the Navy and continue to use his mind and his abilities in the interest of the United States. This country is not so rich in talent that it can afford to lose any. As for Admiral Rickover, there is no doubt whatsoever that he can get a good job with private industry, just as General Douglas MacArthur, General Lucius Clay and other men, whose talents are of value to the country, are selling electric razors, tin cans and other commodities that might just as well be made and sold by lesser minds. If General MacArthur, for instance, had not been pushed aside, our situation in the Far East might not be so perilous today.

To me Admiral Rickover is a symbol of this carelessness about talented men. We have moved into a new kind of warfare, into a world of new ideas, new methods new strategy and new tactics. Just note one picture: John Foster Dulles is in Rome attending the Pope's funeral he holds a conference there with the French and West German foreign ministers. He then takes his plane to London, has dinner with the British foreign minister. He thereupon returns to his plane, flies over the North Pole to Formosa to enter into conferences with Chiang Kai-shek. He left Rome Sunday after lunch; he left London Sunday shortly after 10 p.m. he arrived on Formosa Tuesday at 10:08 a.m.

That is the speed of diplomacy these days. It gives a slight picture of the speed of war. Perhaps by the time that such a peril may be upon us, if we have notice of 18 minutes, we shall be fortunate. In World War II, we took 18 months to warm up.

In such an atmosphere, talent is required to meet every exigency. Talent is difficult to find. It is not everywhere, in everybody. Of course, many human beings believe themselves to be neglected and deserted talents, ignored by those in authority, but the fact remains that when one has done such a job as Admiral Hyman Rickover has done for the United States, he has demonstrated his exceptional value.

It matters little that some naval men believe that the dignity of the Navy requires that only line officers should hold the top brass titles. What the United States has to worry about is not the dignity of the admirals but the ability of the United States to defend itself.

It might also be said that Admiral Rickover is not an indispensable man and that if he had not fathered the Nautilus, someone else would have, which is undoubtedly true. However, he did do that job, just as Edison did his job on the electric light and Marconi on radio. And there are historians and scientists who will contest that they were the great firsts just as there are those who say Shakespeare did not write Shakespeare but that someone else did.

The fact remains that Rickover did this feat, against great opposition among naval men who regard his ideas as ridiculous. The truth is that our atom driven submarines have already acheived wonders and we shall have a fleet of them and it may so happen that many of the line officers will have to doff their "whites," and wear overalls. We are living in a different age.

To repeat: Talent is a rare quality; that routine minds are a dime a dozen; that when men of talent are found, they should be treasured, and their particular talents should be put to work for the benefit of the United States.

HOLMES ALEXANDER

Alexander At National Reactor Test Station

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho — Only a few hours ago in an installation on the National Reactor Testing Station, some 60 miles away an amber light flashed and there was a subdued hum of bells.

"The amber light doesn't mean much," I was told. "It registers a change from the normal permissible radiation. The red light would mean real danger."

Even so, four attendants stopped whatever they were doing and crowded around the "counter" machine which had flashed amber. Less than an hour afterwards, on leaving this particular installation, I stood on a set of pedals and thrust my hands into a set of sleeves for routine testing for radiation. The machine purred and I watched the little window where a light would supposedly flash behind a small sign reading: "Check OK." But, instead, a light went on and illuminated a window that read: "Decontamination Required."

A man in a white coat checked me with another piece of machinery and pronounced me pure enough to return to the outside world. But like a well - raised reporter I made some inquiries. I had arrived at this vast atomic reservation on the Lost River Desert of Idaho for the express purpose of studing plans to build a nuclear - powered aircraft. The Atomic Energy Commission had given me permission to come here, the first syndicated columnist to do so by the way. The U. S. air force had flown me most of the distance. The General Electric Company, which is designing the power plant for the nuclear plane, had patiently tutored me to understand some of the things the AEC has been good enough to show me. I was atomic - minded enough by this time to know that all nuclear experimenting is inherently dangerous. Otherwise this "station," which has already produced the Nautilus submarine and several more scientific "firsts" would not be so remotely located in a barren desert. Why the amber lights? Why the sign that did not read okay?

"The radiation which our counters are recording does not come from any activity on this station," it was explained by those with every reason to know and no reason to dissemble. "The radiation is a fall - out. It may come from Nevada or it may come from Russia. Nuclear explosions have happened in both places quite recently"

By the time I returned to my hotel in Idaho Falls, the switchboards were busy with anxious calls. Other persons than myself had seen the amber lights and had failed to pass a cursory purity test. By nightfall the AEC medical staff had delivered statements which were going on the evening radio broadcasts. The statements said in brief that the radiation level in the vicinity, although several times above normal, was still well below the peril point.

These events, not of an importance in themselves, cast some shadows before them. The area from which I write this story is highly sensitive to atomic dangers. The people are not frightened or timid, else they would not stay. But they are alert, as much as other peoples are alert to symptoms of typhoons, volcanic eruptions, forest fires and air raids.

Well, as the atomic age advances, there are going to be many American communities with atomic facilities nearby and with the consequent alertness and comprehension. There is need for a lot of education on the subject. There is a running debate among top scientists as to the effects of fall - out upon human life and reproduction. Some day quite soon the American people will have to use their form of government to write more laws and formulate some policies. The whole matter is much too important to be left to scientists, much less to the political propagandists.

More, the American people very soon must realize that there is a horse race in progress in which they should act as handicappers. A handicapper, as if everybody doesn't know, is an official who assigns the weights which race horses carry in competition. Theoretically, a wise handicapper could so distribute the weights that a field of horses would hit the finish wire nose to nose. Or such a handicapper conceivably could fix the race in advance so as to pick the winner. Well, there is a race right now between the exploders of nuclear bombs and the experimenters at these nuclear stations. The fall - outs occur from the bombs. The knowledge of how to moderate and to control nuclear energy comes from places like this National Test Reactor Station, which has something like 29 facilities for finding non - explosive uses of the atom.

The American people can—and must — handicap these racers. If we want to slow down the warlike shots, it can be done. We would be very foolish to do so while Russia is still shooting. If we want to increase the testing for electrical power, for medical research, for food preservation, for engines to drive vehicles over land, sea and air, we can do that also.

It seems almost beyond debate that the American people, international conditions permitting, want this second horse to run even faster than the first one. They want peaceful uses to open up a safe margin of victory over the bomb bursts.

As the country grows in atomic knowledge, we will learn how to bring about the desired result.

(A series on the atomic aircraft may not run in sequence because of time out for security clearance, if needed.)

Danger Is Seen From Smallpox

Americans who are going abroad on business or vacation should be vaccinated against smallpox before they leave. This will protect them against the disease in foreign countries and facilitate re - entry into the U. S. A. on their return. No one is allowed to pass the American health station at various ports without proof that they have been vaccinated within three years.

Many inveterate travelers never have had a reaction, even though vaccinated several times over a period of years. Then a "take" occurs and they wonder why. These individuals lost their immunity somewhere along the line. After all, a scar on the arm does not protect a person against smallpox for life.

I'm not trying to initiate a scare campaign but there must be millions of adults in these United States who have lost their immunity. In the circumstances, an epidemic could spread with lightning speed.

Don't forget we are less than 24 hours away from areas where smallpox is rife. This danger is avoided by getting vaccinated every five to seven years, except when travel requirements make more frequent vaccinations necessary.

Vaccination does not add to immunity unless there is a reaction. Nonreactors are immune and need not worry but within a few years protection might wane to such an extent that susceptibility to the disease exists. Vaccinations at frequent intervals decrease the hazard, as a positive reaction is bound to occur, producing more protective anti - bodies in the system.

A "take" usually starts about five to six days after the inoculation and boils up to a sizable sore area during the next four to five days. In some, the reaction is severe enough to induce fever and painful knots in the nearby armpit. Finally, a crust forms which falls off within a week or 10 days.

Prospective travelers should get their vaccination a month or more in advance of departure. A good "take" is better tolerated at home. Don't wait until the last minute, as the first week of your vacation might be ruined.

GALS ARE MISTAKEN

Mrs. J. writes: My doctor says my blood pressure is 290 but when I told this to the girls at the bridge club they said I was mistaken as no one could live with such a high pressure. Please advise.

REPLY

The gals are wrong. Several of my patients lived for years with blood pressures this high. The outcome depends on the level of the diastolic pressure and what hypertension is doing to you. In addition, women tolerate hypertension better than men do. I assume your physician has outlined a plan of treatment to bring the reading closer to normal.

ENLARGED GLAND

Mrs. J. writes: I have had a swollen gland under my right arm for several years. Is it necessary to do anything about it?

REPLY

Not if it has existed for years. On the other hand, removal is a simple surgical procedure and is advised if the gland gets bigger or becomes bothersome.

200 Million In Population Near

Last week our nation's population roared past the never-touched 175-million mark — and at the rate babies are being born and death is being postponed now we'll be crossing the historic 200 million total in only eight and one-half years.

We are outrunning even the most liberal projections of our population increases; we weren't scheduled to reach the 175-million milestone until the 1960s.

Our population is climbing at an annual rate of 3 million — the equivalent of adding to our country each year another Los Angeles, our third largest city, or adding every year the combined populations of Rhode Island, Delaware, Idaho, Nevada, Montana. We are growing at a rate of one person every 11 seconds, two seconds faster than our growth rate as recently as five years ago. The increase in our population just since 1940 tops the total of all living in the United States in 1870. In the next four years alone, our population rise will top the total of all people now living in Australia.

Enough Each statistical comparison is more spectacular than the last. We're riding a population boom unparalleled in our history, unforeseen by any expert.

And there is no missing the basic economic significance of this population explosion. More people do need, want and cosume more goods and services. Our expanding population demands an expanding economy.

In an economy such as ours the long - term implications of a population growth of this magnitude can be summarized in two words: long - term boom.

But this is only a superficial comment.

From now to 1965 the age group which will grow the fastest will be the teenagers — the 10-19 age category.

The explanation is simple: The population boom began in 1946 and the babies born immediately after the end of World War II and since are now moving into their teens.

The impact on the teenage market also is obvious: It will be phenome l.

All industries catering to these youngsters — ranging from school supplies to sporting goods, from food to use cars - will be hit by demands beyond anything ever known

Our older citizens also will assure a zooming market for industries catering to their needs. And these millions will surge into such areas as California, Florida, the desert states; help put California ahead of New York by the 1970s.

The 25-44 age group actually will be declining in relation to total population in the immediate future; won't start climbing until the mid-60s.

When this group starts expanding, the big boom — in housing, all allied industries, countless other fields — will get underway. Simultaneously, though, the great rise in this age class well may cause some nagging employment problems — and pressures for and an intensifying trend toward a shorter workweek seem a certainty.

Population is exploding the world over. In underdeveloped lands the upsurge is a curse rather than a blessing, and to many thoughtful observers the speed of the world's population growth presents a massive and terrifying challenge. As the above brief analysis suggests, the rise in our land is not an unadulterated joy, either.

But fundamentally, in our country, where incomes, the ability to produce and living standards are in a powerful uptrend — expanding population has meant boom. It will mean boom again.

DR. CRANE SAYS

Christ's Death Revealed Love

Donald asks the most vital question I have ever answered in this educational column, so be sure you scrapbook this case and discuss it at church tomorrow! Invention applies not just to gadgets like the electric light and TV, but also to ideas, so Christ came to show us human beings an entirely new concept of God. Calvary has never been duplicated in ANY other religion:

Case Z — 354: Donald G., aged 19, is a college sophomore who attended a convocation at Florida Southern College which I addressed earlier this year.

"Dr. Crane," he began after my talk, "I have a question I wish you could answer for me.

"Clergymen say Christ died to give us forgiveness for our sins. But couldn't God have forgiven our sins without demanding that his Son be crucified?

"When Jesus met the man who was sick of the palsy, the Bible quotes Christ as saying: 'Thy sins be forgiven thee'.

"So Jesus didn't demand that somebody die in order to win such forgiveness.

"Surely God would be more charitable than us human beings and we also forgive each other without demanding the death penalty every time."

WHY CHRIST DIED

Donald is a smart young man and raises a widespread question that deserves to be answered.

He is quite right, too, in saying God could have said: "I forgive you erring human children," and we'd have been forgiven, without the need for Christ's crucifixion.

Then why did Jesus go to Calvary?

To introduce an entirely new thought into religion! And it could NOT have been done without Christ's death!

I'll abridge 10,000 years of history by reminding you that all primitive tribes developed their own local gods.

These deities were ALWAYS looked upon as severe judges and absolute dictators who took an almost sadistic delight in striking down us human beings with lightning bolts if we deviated one iota from their ritual.

Thus, Thor and Woden, of the Scandinavians, were ready to incinerate people for any minor flaw.

And the gods of the Persians and Hindu, the Greeks and Romans, the American Indians and the African natives were likewise regarded as demanding constant appeasement.

So people sacrificed rice and wine, or even human beings as offerings to allay the ill will of deity.

Even the ancient Hebrews offered doves and lambs and bullocks as sacrifices to win the favor of Jehovah from day to day.

GOD'S DESPAIR

Apparently, God despaired that we would ever get over this false notion that he was a vindictive, cruel dictator.

He had told us in the first book of the Bible that we were his children, made in his own likeness, and he expected us to look upon Him as a loving father.

But nobody did so! As a final resort, therefore, he reversed the universal habit of having human beings sacrifice to win the favor of dities, for God sacrificed to win the favor of us erring human children!

That was unique in all world history! God sacrificed to man!

No other religion had EVER described its deity as sacrificing to us human followers. So it was a radically new concept in religion!

And until Christ made this supreme sacrifice, nobody had ever thought of the idea nor would have believed it possible.

So Christ's death was primarily to prove a new point regarding the extensiveness of God's love for his human children, and not primarily to grant us forgiveness.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 4 cent stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Daily Devotion

But he that had received one (Talent) went and digged in the earth, and hid his lord's money. — Matt. 25:18.

The story of the talents is one of Christ's best - known illustrations. It certainly makes clear that we are not expected to exceed our capacities in Christian service. At the same time, it makes it equally clear that we must do our best with what we have. It is not often that we use our abilities to the fullest possible extent and it is here that we should resort to prayer, in faith, for guidance in our activities. God will help those who seek His aid in worthy undertakings.

God, our Father, help us to utilize fully and completely all the talents Thou hast given us. In Christ's name we ask. Amen.

Penal Farm Is A Going Concern

produces five different sizes of culverts. A discovery of gravel on the farm has added to the variety of jobs done there

Culverts and gravel are two important items used by the parish road system, thus the penal farm plays an important role in both the building and maintenance of roads.

Although the penal farm is not self-sustaining, it goes a long way in reducing costs in what might otherwise be an expensive operation.

One of the really bright spots in the farm's agriculture program has been the increased grass and livestock production. Pasture acreage has been doubled in less than two years and the beef cattle herd increased nearly 40 per cent.

Baker puts about 180 acres of land into cultivation each year. There are 40 acres of woodland and the remaining 310 acres are in pasture.

Government agencies such as the Dorcheat Soil Conservation District, Extension Service and the Agricultural - Conservation Program Service play an important part in helping Baker develop the farm and keep it operating under up-to-date practices.

Some of the pasture combinations used on the penal farm are bermuda grass grown along with reseeding crimson, white and hop clovers and lespedeza.

Also providing feed for the livestock are corn, oats and other grains which Baker raises.

High grade Herford cows and Duroc-Jersey sows are raised on the farm. Nearly 50 hogs are killed each year to provide meat for the farm. Surplus cured hams are sold.

There's a large fish pond on the penal farm and Baker sees that the fishing is kept good by fertilization. Since the penal farm belongs to the parish, visitors are invited to come and bring their fishing tackle.

labor unions and the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

More than half the marchers were Negroes. Most came from Northern cities, many from New York. They seemed enthusiastic, but orderly, in their mile-long hike down Constitution Avenue to the rally at the statue of Abraham Lincoln, "The Great Emancipator."

Leaders of the demonstration voiced indignation at their failure to get an appointment with the President. Eisenhower played golf Saturday.

Belafonte and a committee of five white and five Negro students nonetheless went to the White House. Told that neither Eisenhower nor his aides were available, they gave a guard a statement to be delivered to White House officials.

The statement urged Eisenhower to push for "an end to the reign of terror in the South, to bring the guilty to trial, and to effectively protect all school children in the exercise of their constitutional and moral rights."

Gravel Thinks Of Entering Governor's Race

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Camille Gravel of Alexandria said Saturday he is thinking about entering the governor's race next year, "but not very seriously."

"Right now," he said in an interview, "I am concentrating on settling my problems with the state central committee."

Earlier this month the Democratic Central Committee voted to oust Gravel as the state's national committeeman because of his support for the national party's civil rights program two years ago. Chairman Paul Butler said the state group had no authority for such a move.

Gravel said the matter should be settled Dec. 6 when the national committee meets in Washington. He said at least 90 of the 108 members of the national group will support him.

MAXWELL IN HONG .

Eisenhower Challenges A-Test Ban

on an inspection network of some 180 scientific outposts to enforce a permanent test suspension around the globe.

"It thus lies with the Soviet Union to decide whether on Oct. 31 all countries which have tested nuclear weapons will have voluntarily suspended testing," Eisenhower said.

Russia renewed testing last month after voluntarily announcing a suspension last March 31. The Soviets maintained that British and U.S. tests during the past few months placed Russia at a scientific disadvantage in view of its ban. The United States has announced detection of 13 Soviet explosions since Sept. 30.

This country plans to continue its own tests right up until the deadline. A fall series at the Nevada testing grounds was originally scheduled to wind up this week, but the Atomic Energy Commission announced Friday that additional explosions have been scheduled through Oct. 31.

Eisenhower said: "The United States regrets that the Soviet Union has not accepted the offer of the United States and the United Kingdom, although we still hope it will do so."

Wadsworth was reported cautiously optimistic as he prepared to leave for two days of preconference strategy talks with the British. Some 20 scientific, military and foreign policy advisers are to assist him in the Geneva talks.

These officials were reported to feel that Russia probably will halt further testing but avoid making a public announcement.

Amendments Are Explained

audit, mainly because the Louisiana auditor is not legally set up to audit.

With the supervisor of public funds actually conducting state audits, the changing of Dodd's title would at least get the matter clear in the public's mind.

Amendment No. 12 would allow the state or it's political sub-divisions to maintain projects in cooperation with the United States government.

The Louisiana constitution at present provides that the state or any of its political subdivisions may donate to the federal government any lands, property, rights of way, easements or other servitudes for use in connection with the maintaining of waterways.

But the constitution does not allow the state or subdivision the authority to cooperate with the federal government in maintaining a project.

CARDINALS SEEK SPIRITUAL GUIDANCE — Cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church, wearing cloaks and berettas, line the bench at right in St. Peter's Basilica yesterday during the "Mass of the Holy Spirit" preceding the conclave to choose a new pope. Warranty Policy Warning Issued they qualify in this state as insurance companies, putting up the necessary deposits and safeguards in the state for the protection of the policyholders.

"None of the warranty companies have qualified," he said.

These so-called "used car warranties," Hayes said, deprive residents of the safeguards provided in Louisiana laws.

Home offices of these firms are in other states, Hayes said. "these black market companies deprive citizens of Louisiana of adequate protection against failure of these companies to perform in accordance with their contracts . . . Louisiana citizens would have to sue and serve these companies in the states where they are incorporated."

The attorney general held issuance of these warranty contracts constituted doing an insurance business in Louisiana and fell within jurisdiction of the state insurance commissioner, Hayes said.

The companies have been warned to stop business, or comply with state laws.

Hayes threatened lawsuits against companies opening new operations or continuing to sell this type of auto warranty contract.

Cardinals Go Behind Doors To Elect Pope

sealed-off area of the Vatican Palace.

The cardinals had begun assembling for this procession only 40 minutes after Edward Cardinal Mooney, 76-year-old archbishop of Detroit, collapsed and died at the North American College on Rome's Janiculum Hill.

Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, was in tears as he arrived at the assembly area and reported the news of Cardinal Mooney's death to his colleagues.

But not even sudden death could interrupt the rigid schedule of the conclave. The saddened cardinals, still discussing the passing of their friend and colleague, had assembled at the appointed hour in the Pauline Chapel of the Apostolic Palace.

The procession over, each cardinal proceeded to this cell. Some of the apartments are located in the ancient chambers of the Borgia Chambers, some of them displaying centuries old arms and armor.

Shortly after 5 p.m. the prefect of ceremonies, Msgr. Erico dante, intoned the Latin words "Extra omnes," warning all outsiders to leave.

The marshal of the conclave, Prince Sigismondo Chigi, and 20 assistants, had been searching the conclave premises for nearly two hours,, themselves frequently and loudly shouting the words "Extra omnes."

This was, in the words of the late Pius XII, to "assure themselves that no person or spy lurks in hiding."

Only then were the doors finally locked, at precisely 5:20 p.m.

Prince Chigi, now himself outside the conclave area, turned to the Vatican Guards and called out the order, "Hoist my flag!"

The guards hastened to raise the flag of the Chigi family over the Vatican buildings. This symbolized the conclave marshal's responsibility for Vatican affairs while the cardinals were locked in the secrecy of the conclave.

Now the cardinals were meditating in their cells upon the solemnity of their task. They had been charged on their sacred oaths to choose—most likely from among their own number—a new Pope who in every sense could be a resolute leader both in spiritual and worldly affairs.

The cardinals begin to ballot Sunday at about 10 a.m., and it is possible that before dark Sunday night the world will know the name of the man who will succeed the "Pope of Peace."

Vacation

Mrs. A. T. Bond, downtown storekeeper, took time off recently to take a real vacation. With her son as chauffeur, she and two close friends, both local women, initiated a real trip such as she had long planned to make.

The party, made their way north through a historic country like Virginia and Pennsylvania and then made a stop off to see New York and the sites that visitors there revel in on their travels. Next they made a complete trip through each of the New England states. Connecticut, at the back door of New York, was visited first in this area, and then they went on to Hartford, and thence into Massachusetts with a stay in historic Boston.

Mrs. Bond declared she liked Boston as one place that revealed points of interest such as she had studied in school when a girl. New Hampshire, Maine, Vermont and Rhode Island all were places that were inspected.

The fall had already reached New England and the woods and all nature had donned gorgeous rainbow colors from the visits of early frosts. All said it was a fine trip.

Outing

Northeast State college students, barely back from their big outing to the McNeese football game, where they went by chartered train, in many cases took a second outing Saturday. This time they went by a chartered bus to Hammond to attend the Southeastern football game there.

Discussion

Banker Sam Smith, waxed enthisiastic the other day, when he discussed Louis Lock with Jes' Ramblin'. "If any man hereabouts deserved and still deserves some outstanding memorial, it is Louis Lock, discoverer of the great gas field here," he said.

He expressed his pleasure that it appears Bastrop Rotarians are thinking of some memorial.

Smith said that his father, at the time of the gas discovery, was owner and operator of a gentlemen's furnishing store on DeSiard. He knew Lock intimately and did all he could to help Lock further the interests of himself and the entire community.

Cardinal Mooney Of Detroit Dies Of Heart Attack

he was going to take a nap before the conclave.

Wake me up at 2:45," he said.

When Msgr. Breitenbeck went into the cardinal's room at the appointed time, he found him dying. The priest immediately administered extreme unction, the sacrament of the Church for the dying.

He called for a doctor and summoned cardinals Spellman and McIntyre. By the time they arrived, Cardinal Mooney was dead.

Both cardinals tearfully gave absolution to their old friend and fellow churchman.

The time of death was fixed at 2:50 p.m.

Despite their grief, Cardinals Spellman and McIntyre obeyed the mandate of the church and went to the conclave. Cardinal Spellman was in tears as he rode into the Vatican.

Eugene Cardinal Tisserant of France, dean of the Sacred College, was notified formally of the death of the American cardinal only a few minutes before the cardinals were bricked up in the Sistine Chapel. He agreed that the North American College, a seminary for Americans in Rome, should hold a funeral mass and that the body be returned to Detroit.

Only Cardinal Tisserant has the jurisdiction over the funeral and disposition of the body of a cardinal.

Msgr. Ernest Primeau, rector of the Chicago House Seminary, and Father Joseph Emmenegger rushed to the Vatican shortly after Mooney was pronounced dead to inform Tisserant and ask about funeral details.

It was the second time since the death of Pope Pius XII on Oct. 9 that a cardinal had passed away. Celso Cardinal Costantini, 82, an Italian, died Oct. 17 in a Rome hospital.

BONDS

NEW YORK (AP)—Prices shaded off near the close in the government market Friday but most long-range securities showed gains.

Trading was brisk Friday morning for the first time in almost two weeks. The pace slackened to a crawl during the afternoon.

Corporate bonds backed and filled most of the day to close mixed with a tendency toward the upside. Rails declined, investment quality issues and industrials were mixed in a narrow range. Utilities advanced and foreign dollar bonds eked out a slight gain.

Trading amounted to $5,470,000 par value on the big board, the same as Thursday.

BUSINESS HIGHLIGHTS

United Press International

PRICES:

President Eisenhower hailed the levelling off of the cost of living index as proof that recovery from the recession is "possible without index as proof that recovery from the recession is "possible without inflation." He issued his statement a day after the Labor Department reported that for the first time since the winter of 1955-56 the consumer price index has held steady for a two-month period.

NAM

Milton C. Lightner, president of the National Assn. of Manufacturers, said labor reform legislation should be "one of the first matters" to be considered by the next Congress. The NAM executive called for a bi-partisan approach to labor legislation.

SUGAR

Representatives of the world's major sugar producing countries agreed to set sugar export prices between 3.15 and 4 cents a pound in an attempt to stabilize free market prices.

AUTOS

U.S. car production this week will total an estimated 69,559 units, Ward's automotive reports said. This is up from 45,387 units last week but far below the 104,987 turned out in the same week a year ago.

WEEKS RESIGNS

President Eisenhower accepted the resignation of Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks and named former Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission to succeed him.

TICKER TAPE HIGHLIGHTS

TRANSACTIONS

Yesterday the Dow Jones industrials were lower and rails ahead, favoring fractional gains with active N.Y. Central up one and seven-eighths while Northern Pacific, still reflecting its stock dividend, was up a couple at top, up a half at the end. Kansas City Southern slipped one and an eighth. Chemicals continued sour with Dupont off two and Allied down one. Kodak was up seven-eighths, while Air Reduction lost seven-eighths.

DRUGS

Warner Lambert and Schering added three-quarters each in drugs while Pfizer was clipped for two and Parke Davis slipped one and a quarter. Motors continued sloppy with Chrysler off one on its reported loss. The building group favored gains with Manville up in demand, up one and a quarter, and National Gypsum ahead seven-eighths.

TOBACCOS

Lorillard, up two and a half, continued to star in the tobaccos. Steels were mixed with Lukens down two and a half, Allegheny Ludlum off one and three-eighths and Youngstown down one and a half while Republic added five-eighths and active U.S. was up three-eights. Aircrafts favored fractional losses with United off one. Airlines lost eights and quarters.

COPPERS

Coppers were lower by fractions as were aluminums with Alcoa down two and a quarter. Raytheon, up one and three-quarters, featured fractionally mixed electronics as Zenith added one and a half and Emerson gained one. Oils lost fractions to one and a quarter in Continental and TXL Oil with Amerada down one and seven - eighths. Union Oil slipped one while Kern County Land added two and a half.

PAPERS

Papers showed little change. Pepsi Cola showed a little volume, up three - quarters. Industrials closed off 1.20 at 539.52. Rails were up 74 cents at 147.76 and utilities closed unchanged at 82.28.

COTTON LETTER

The USDA reported world cotton production for the 1957-58 season at 42.3 million bales, only 400,000 bales below the record crop of 1955-56.

New York Cotton Exchange estimated exports for the season to date at 692,336 bales vs. 1,044,497 a year ago. Members are becoming more and more pessimistic on the final export figure believing it may be 3½ million bales or lower.

The weather remained favorable throughout most of the area and the next ginnings figure is expected to increase substantially.

COTTON

Prices moved in a narrow range of 25 cents a bale. Hedging and liquidation were absorbed mostly through trade buying and local short covering.

The weather in the cotton belt was mostly favorable.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Cotton futures advanced here early today but reacted downward later under weekend long liquidation and hedge selling.

Closing prices were steady, unchanged to 15 cents a bale lower.

Market Is Lower But Rails Up

NEW YORK (UPI)—Rail shares stood out as the bright spot in a generally lower, active weekend stock session.

For most of the list profit taking was the rule as traders continued to move cautiously, centering their attention on the specialties—issues such as American Motors which was pushed up 3 points to 31⅞ on the day's heaviest volume following the company's reports of sharply higher car sales.

There were numerous higher features such as this but the backbone of the list tended fractionally lower. The Dow-Jones industrial average showing a drop of 1.26 to 539.46.

Rails, helped by improved carloadings and good September earnings reports for New York Central and Pennsylvania, were 0.74 higher on average at 147.76, their best since Aug. 7, 1957. Central ran up nearly 2 points and was among the five most active issues. Bangor & Aroostock, outside the average group, climbed over 4 and Western Pacific 1½ points. Norfolk & Western and Great Northern rose close to a point.

Turnover was at a brisk pace, with tickers falling behind briefly at the opening and again at the close. Volume totaled 3,770,000 shares compared with 3,610,000 Thursday.

Most of the big moves Friday were on the upside—gains of 5¾ points in Parmelee Transportation, 3 points in Checker Motors which controls Parmelee; 2 to 3 points in Lorillard, International Silver, Mergenthaler Linotype.

The televisions were strong with Zenith up 1½, Motorola 1⅛, Raytheon 1¾, Emerson 2⅜. Oils had good spots in Kern County.

WOOL LETTER

Courtesy of Merrill, Lynch Pierce, Fenner & Smith

The market held in a fairly narrow range with trade interests generally inactive. Volume of trading was light with prices closing around highs for the day, up half a cent.

The October contract ceased trading yesterday and prior to its expiration, 13 notices were issued in the top and 11 in the wool, both well taken.

Argentina's government announced sale of 10 million pounds of greasy wool to Russia and this imparted a little strength to futures. However, trade interests pointed out that Argentina still has a very large stockpile of wool remaining unsold.

London futures, after opening a penny lower, rallied modestly but closed unchanged in moderate trading. A large trade interest in London ventured the opinion that futures are probably within a few pence of their lows.

It is expected by Boston traders prices at the Australian auctions will be moderately lower next week.

RECOVERED

LONDON (AP) — A box of valuable classified equipment has been recovered from the wreckage of the British airliner that crashed at Anzio, Italy, the Admiralty disclosed Friday.

A spokesman for the admiralty said the equipment was for the Mediterranean Fleet at Malta. He did not describe the equipment or its function.

"It is not unusual for British pilots to be entrusted with classified equipment," the Admiralty spokesman said.

LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO (AP) — Prices for butcher hogs and sows closed steady to 25 cents lower on the Chicago market Friday. Trading was moderately active.

Buyers paid $18.65 to $19 for No. 1 to 3 grade butchers scaling 190 to 230 pounds. Some No. 1 and 2s from 195 to 220 pounds brought $19 to $19.25, the top Scattered lots of No. 3s scaling 230 pounds down brought $18.50. Mixed grade sows brought $17.25 to $18 for 300 to 400-pound weights and $16.25 to $17.25 for heavier types.

In the cattle market slaughter steers and heifers were insufficient in number to test prices of these classes. Cows sold steady to 25 cents higher and bulls steady to up 50 cents.

Mixed high good and choice yearling steers sold for $26.50. Utility and commercial cows brought $17.75 to $20.50 and utility and commercial bulls $23 to $25

In the sheep market slaughter lambs were weak and ewes steady. A few lots of good and choice wooled slaughter lambs sold from $20 to $22.50. Utility to low good types brought $17 to $20 Slaughter ewes ranged from $5 to $8.

GRAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—Corn and soybean futures extended recent declines on the Board of Trade Friday but wheat closed mixed with only small price changes.

Except for the purchase of 1,800,000 bushels of hard and white wheat by Formosa there was little incentive for the wheat trade. Reports from the southwest winter wheat belt were to the effect that farmers are withholding their wheat from the market and this tended to keep the futures about steady.

At the close wheat was ⅜ higher to ⅛ lower, December $1.92⅞-¾; corn ¼ to 1 cent lower, old style December $1.09¼-⅜; oats ⅛ to ⅜ lower, December .63¾; rye unchanged to ¼ higher, December $1.29¾-, and soybeans ⅛ to ½ lower, November $2.11-10⅞.

Hedge selling along with liquidation attributed to speculators served to push corn futures lower.

SCARCE ON EARTH

Helium Believed To Be On Moon

By DARRELL GARWOOD
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rare helium gas may be a promising product for importation from outer space if the element can be found in concentrations on the moon or elsewhere.

According to Dr. Homer E. Newell of the Naval Research Laboratory, there is some reason to believe that great quantities of helium may be trapped beneath the moon's surface because of the effects of eons of cosmic ray bombardment of the lunar body.

The U.S. government has 33 million dollars invested in four plants producing helium. With the gas's uses constantly increasing, a plan has been drawn up to build eight more plants at a total cost of nearly 150 million dollars. As a compressed gas, helium retails for $19 a cubic foot; in liquid form it is worth about $300 a cubic foot.

Until Russian Sputniks, the U.S. was thought to be the only producer of helium. But the Soviets proved they have a source of the gas by using helium for pressurizing purposes in the propellant tanks of the Sputnik launchers.

Although scarce on earth, helium is one of the most abundant elements in the universe. It is the end product on the hydrogen fusion process from which the sun and the stars—and the H-bomb—get their energy.

Satellite experiments are being planned to determine the extent to which helium escapes from astral bodies into space, but very little is known on the subject as yet. In any case, helium is too fast moving to be held for long by the earth's gravity—the amount of helium in the atmosphere is only one part in 185,000.

Nevertheless, at depths as little as 1,500 feet considerable quantities of helium - bearing natural gas have been found in the region of the Texas and Oklahoma panhandles. The present government plants are processing gas that runs anywhere from less than 1 to nearly 10 per cent helium.

The Interior Department's Bureau of Mines assumes that the helium is the result of radioactivity. The "alpha" particle of radiation is a helium nucleus and, after picking up two electrons, becomes a helium atom.

Being unprotected by an atmosphere, the surface materials of the moon to a depth of at least several hundred feet have since the beginning of time been subject to terrific cosmic ray bombardment that would spew out untold billions and trillions of alpha particles destined to become helium atoms.

Whether the gas is there depends on whether there are cavities or other conditions in which the gas could become trapped. If this has happened, the helium should be fairly near the moon's surface.

The possibility of an outer space source of helium gets added attraction for the future from the increasing difficulty with which the element is obtained on earth.

Canada attempted helium production but the sources soon failed. At present, except for those that must be in Russia, no deposits are known outside the American Southwest.

About 90 per cent of U.S. production, averaging a million cubic feet a day, is used by the government, much of it in defense. In addition to inflating balloons, the non - combustible gas is vital in the manufacture of atomic materials, in welding, in various instruments and in pressurization.

Labor Dept. Notes Rise In Unemployed

By WILLIAM J. EATON
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A snowballing number of unemployed workers exhausting jobless benefits is creating concern among Labor Department officials.

They are considering various proposals to ease the situation in hard - hit industrial states, but have reached no decision on whether to ask Congress for help.

One source told United Press International that it appeared likely that President Eisenhower would again urge state legislatures meeting next year to improve state unemployment compensation programs.

The number of workers receiving jobless payments under the regular UC law has been declining for the past three months, partly because many are exhausting their rights to benefits.

The number on emergency benefit rolls in 22 states also has been declining. Labor Department technicians estimate that 250,000 workers who received the emergency payments have exhausted their claims.

Robert C. Goodwin, director of the bureau of employment security, said the number of emergency program exhaustions would increase rapidly in the next few months.

The AFL - CIO reported last week that the jobless dropped from benefit rolls were applying for relief in growing numbers across the nation.

An article in the AFL - CIO News said the federation's community services division reported the trend was especially marked in industrial centers in Pennsylvania, Michigan, Wisconsin and Indiana.

Goodwin said recently that a major shortcoming of the jobless benefit programs was the problem of exhaustions.

"We need to adopt laws," he recently told state officials, "so that the longer duration of unemployment occurring in recessions will be provided for in advance rather than through an emergency program."

Congress this year approved the administration's request for an emergency program to extend the duration of state compensation periods by 50 per cent. Twenty-two states accepted federal advances to extend payments.

State benefits range from $3 a week to $45 a week. They are paid from six weeks to 30 weeks in different states.

Since the temporary programs began in late June, 1,240,500 workers have applied for them after exhausting regular benefit rights.

Complete Plans On Homecoming For Jonesville

The days avtivitie will begin at 1 p.m. with a parade through downtown Jonesville led by the Block High School Band. Local clubs and organizations will enter floats and compete for prizes. The theme for this year is "Tributes to our Grads."

A tea honoring all alumni Block High School, Jonesville, will be held in the home economics department from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. All graduates are urged to attend the tea.

Prior to the football game, the Queen and her Court will be presented at 7:30 p.m. at the Town Park.

The highlight of the day's activities will be a football game between Block and Wisner at 8 p.m.

LIPPMANN INSIDE KREMLIN

LONDON (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushcev had a the New York Herald Tribune, "long taik" Friday with Walter Lippman, a political columnist of Radio Moscow reported.

LOVE AT FIRST SLASH—Pat Grimes, 19, says she has fallen in love with Pvt. Alfred Gust—a stranger until he knifed her on downtown street in Portland, Ore. in August. Gust, who admitted three knifings, was convicted of assault with a dangerous weapon. Miss Grimes said she will wait for him. She is Portland resident.

TRUCK DRIVERS

No Longer Need Heavy Muscles

DETROIT (UPI)—The auto industry is changing the nation's truck drivers. They no longer fit the popular image of a heavily-bearded, heavily-museled brute, built to absorb the jolts of the road.

The stereotyped truck driver of the past, who wrestled the steering wheel of a large, lumbering, noisy and smelly behemoth of the highway, is becoming a "vanishing American."

The change has taken place largely because of the change in the environment of truck drivers.

Major advances in the years since World War II have transformed trucks from mere mechanical "work horses" to stylish vehicles that now rival passenger cars in safety and comfort.

The trend actually began slightly before the end of the war but the slight advances made suffered a setback when the auto industry began producing military vehicles.

When the industry returned to civilian production after the war, the trend picked up momentum and has advanced far enough now to change the qualifications of the nation's truck drivers.

The pre-war truck driver, for example, had to have a large frame to keep his vehicle on the highway by brute force.

Now power steering and other improvements which make control of the vehicle almost as simple as driving a car have eliminated the need for bulging biceps.

The huge frame of the pre-war truck driver had to be well-padded to absorb the jolts as his cab bobbed along the highway like a dinghy tied to an ocean liner on a rough sea.

Now the need for personal shock absorbers on the driver has been eliminated by installing air suspension, hydraulic shock absorbers and foam rubber seats on the trucks.

One truck line, for example, boasts five inches of foam rubber underneath the driver and two inches of the same material behind him when he is seated at the wheel.

The same truck line offers air suspension and shock absorbers which make the truck cab ride almost as smoothly as pre - war passenger cars.

New improvements in ventilation, including air conditioning in some cases, eliminates some of the need for endurance in modern truck drivers.

The cabs of modern trucks are sealed much better to dampen noises and eliminate drafts of cold air in the winter and dust in the summer.

Perhaps the best indication of the change in the nation's truck drivers can be obtained from the fact that one truck manufacturer not only advertises, but sells as optional equipment, seats upholstered in "candy-stripe pattern woven nylon - saran, with vinyl bolsters and side facings."

Air Force Is Developing New Missile

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Air Force revealed Sturday that it is developing a speedy new missile, dubbed the "White Lance", for use by bombers attacking land targets.

A little brother of the liquid-fueled "Rascal," the White Lance is a solid-propellant rocket to be released from distances of at least several miles to streak ahead of the bomber.

Basic design for the new weapon was taken from the Navy-developed "Bullpup," which is 11 feet long and a foot in diameter.

The Air Force indicated the Martin Aircraft Company, in converting the Bullpup into the White Lance, is seeking much greater range and speed in thousands of miles per hour.

The Rascal, 30 feet long, is for release by bombers many miles from the target with heavy payloads of nuclear explosives.

The White Lance which is also large enough to carry a nuclear warhead, presumably will be used with greater accuracy. The missile could be carried by medium bombers or even by fighter-bombers.

Girl Scout News

The pretty weather has caused troops to carry out plans for fun in the out of doors, saving indoor activities until the inevitable bad weather later. The ultimate in out of door experiences for young girls is troop camping, of course. Since this type of camping is only for Intermediates and Seniors, it is an eagerly-looked-for event. Girls of our council are fortunate in having Pine Wood for just such occasions.

Planning at troop meetings for the overnight and learning the necessary skills are the most important part of the trip — making a plan for kapers, activities, menus, learning to make a bedroll, practising fire building and out door cooking. Signed permission slips must come in, transportation provided, arrangements made through the office for the use of the camp, the date having been put on the calendar long before.

Troop 41 enjoyed such a trip recently, with Mrs. Louis Breard Jr., and Mrs. Louis Hall Jr. in charge. Highlight of their trip was an all - morning hike to the river and up-and-down the slopes that our lowland children call hills. Taking part were the following girls: Julia Amman, Bonnie Baldo, Linda Breard, Renee Breard, Ann Brinson, Jane Cook, Anna Lea DuBos, Susan Ellington, Gretchen Haas, Anne Hall, Salley Hover, Loretta Jones, Paula Sue Lyon, Louise Starsney, Virginia Starsney, Laura Lyn Landry, Carole Sciro.

The long - awaited overnight for Troop 33 was last weekend. Accompanied by Mrs. Frank Halpin and Mrs. C. E. Vaughan, leaders, and Mrs. Clinton Langley, the girls carried out activities on the Campcraft badge for their program. Becky Middleton and Mickie Varnado, of Troop 24, shared their camping skills with the younger girls, finding much satisfaction in being able to help. Since this was their first overnight and each girl had a flashlight she was eager to use, they planned a short night hike. The night was very dark; we city people don't get to experience real darkness, so this was another new experience. Back at camp the girls learned to light, clean, and fill a lantern and a lamp, to strike a match, too, which is hard for youngsters. Turning off the electric light, the girls marvelled at the yellow glow of lamplight and wondered how people once studied or read by the meager light.

Lively games, singing, paper bag dramatics were fun at camp fire time, with the cook patrol serving chocolate drops (each girl dipped her own). Sleeping on the porch is probably the most fun of all, with the girls arranging to get the required nine-hours sleep.

Cooking a breadtwist over coals in a sunny spot at breakfast was another "first" for these girls. A hike in the sunshine, another fire for campfire stew for lunch, and all too soon came time to clean up the building, load cars and leave for home.

Mental Patient Forces Release At New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Using a plastic toy pistol, a mental patient Saturday forced Charity Hospital attendants to release him and two women patients.

The man with the pistol was arrested later at his home by Police Lt. James Arnold and Patrolman John Mine and booked with simple kidnaping.

The arrested man was listed as Edward Williams.

Officers said Williams, a voluntary patient, forged a pass to leave the hospital Friday and later returned to the third floor mental ward.

Early Saturday he pointed the toy pistol at two nurses and forced them to open the ward. Two other 24, walked out and Williams forced the elevator operator to take them to the ground floor.

Police were still looking for the women.

14 Negroes Left In Ala. Jail

Bailes declined to act on a petition for a writ of habas corpus filed in their behalf because witnesses requested by their attorneys had not been assembled.

The Negroes were committed to jail Thursday night after being convicted on counts growing out of their mass violation of the newly-enacted law Monday.

Birmingham recorder William C. Conway withheld sentencing until Monday but ordered the Negroes held without bond until that time.

FOOD AND DRINK

CHICAGO (UPI) —The National Restaurant Association estimates that Americans will spend 78 billion dollars this year on food and drink. The average family will invest 27 cents of every dollar on food and beverage consumption, the association said.

BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI) — Four prominent Colombian financiers fly to Houston, Tex., Saturday for talks with U.S. government officials and businessmen on the possibility of private American investments in Colombia.

DOCTOR SAYS

Time Now Here For Polio Shots

Dr. Carroll W. Summer director of the Ouachita Parish Health Unit said yesterday that this is the proper time to start Salk anti-polio vaccinations.

He commented on safe - guards for the influenza outbreak that is expected to barrel through the United States again this winter, and discussed how the recent yellow fever outbreak in South America might effect Louisiana.

By starting polio vaccinations "anytime now," two of the innoculations will have taken effect before the polio season starts in May and June, Dr. Summer pointed out.

The vaccinations are given by nurses at the Health Unit, in the old Post Office building on the corner of St. John and Grammont Streets. There is no charge.

"Authorities recommend that all persons between the age of six months and 40 years take the polio shots. They emphasize that the vaccinations be started at six months because in every few cases of polio, one of those affected is less than one-year-old," the health director stated.

He added that youngsters between the ages of one to nine years are "more susceptible," than persons of other ages to the crippling disease.

Commenting on the warnings issued that a new flu outbreak is expected in the United States this winter, Summer urged that area residents receive anti - influenza innoculations from their family physicians.

"Some persons are more susceptible to colds than others. They are the ones who particularly should receive the vaccine" he explained.

Details were released within the last few days on a new yellow - fever outbreak in South America, with some fears expressed that mosquitoes carrying the fever might enter the United States through the New Orleans port of Algiers.

QUESTIONED

When questioned on the possibility that yellow fever might sweep over Louisiana, Dr Summer said that mosquitoes first must bite an infected person, before being able to spread the fever to others.

"As soon as anyone is diagnosed as having yellow fever, he will be placed behind screens where no other mosquito can bite him and spread the disease," Dr. Summer stated.

"We haven't had any yellow fever in Louisiana in many years, though," he added.

Vaccine to prevent yellow fever is available in New Orleans, and is given to any person planning to travel in South America.

It is given only twice each week, at 3 p.m. on Tuesdays and at 11 a.m. on Fridays, one hour at a time.

"There's a good reason for that," Dr. Summer explained. "The vaccine is highly expensive to produce, must be kept frozen until it is to be used, and then is dissolved in sterile water or saline solution."

"It is effective for only one hour, then its value leaves so any which has not been used up at the end of one hour must be thrown away" he continued.

In answer to a query on the health conditions at this time in the Monroe area and Northeast Louisiana, Dr. Summer stated that sanitary conditions are "normal" - "we don't have any flagrant violations of the sanitary code in public places."

"No epidemic conditions of any disease exist at this time in the area" he concluded.

Ouachita Bar Owners Score Control Board

The president of the Ouachita Bar Ow[illegible]s Association attacked the Lo[illegible]na Alcoholic Beverage Control [illegible]oard here yesterday challenging the body to enforce "all the law or forget it" completely.

John Bailey blasted the LABCB charging that it functioned as a collection agency for liquor wholesalers while it ignored the law enforcing fair trade practices on price cuts — a section Bailey hailed as beneficial to retailers.

The fair trades law was passed by the 1950 legislature.

Bailey said the board should go all the way in enforcing controls on price cuts.

He said, "The board has ignored every provision of the law except that pertaining to credit advanced to retailers by wholesalers," Bailey charged.

This part of the law allows the wholesaler to give 15-day credit after which sales are made cash on delivery for a specified time.

If payments are not forthcoming according to law, the board may act on the matter.

A credit hearing was staged by the board in Monroe earlier this week. Two members are on the board — a third member having recently died.

Bailey said local bar owners complain that the credit provision handicaps the "little man" since he is unable to finance large purchases making impossible price cuts practiced by chain and other volume dealers.

The Ouachita association supported the 1950 law believing it would be enforced when passed, Bailey said.

"We are now insisting the law be enforced or forgotten," he said.

The board is appointed by the governor, serves at his discretion, and is responsible on[illegible] to him since the state senate [illegible] not ratify board member[illegible] pointments.

Missing School Girl Subject Of Intensive Hunt

WINNSBORO (Special) — Police authorities here are still pressing a search for an 18-year-old blonde high school girl missing from her home for 10 days.

Sheriff's department spokesmen said no word of Miss Nancy Louise Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Smith of Winnsboro, Route 1, has been heard since she left home to go to school.

Sheriff Hiram B. Waller said the teenager may have been harmed. Her parents said the girl had often talked of leaving school to get a job and added that it is their belief she may have done so.

Nancy was described in a missing persons bulletin as 5 feet 8 inches tall, 182 pounds, hazel eyes, dark blonde hair and wearing a green print dress, black loafers and carrying a white purse.

The Franklin Parish Sheriff's Department requests anyone who has seen Nancy to notify them at telephone number 4505 in Winnsboro.

Meet Slated On Hospital In Ward Five

Plans will be discussed for a West Monroe hospital at an open meeting scheduled for Monday at 7 p.m. in the West Monroe city hall, it was learned yesterday.

The meeting was announced by a board of commissioners of the Ward Five Hospital Service District No. 1 and the hospital committee of the West Monroe Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. G. T. Gallaspy, chairman of the board of commissioners, and Charlie P. Chisholm, chairman of the hospital committee, said decisions may be made at the meeting which could lead to a bond election in ward five to raise up to $1,000,000 to match federal hospital funds to construct the proposed 106-bed hospital.

Representatives from a New Orleans bond attorney firm will be present at the meeting to present important aspects of hospital building in a community. Chisholm said, "We want a large crowd to attend the meeting Monday night and we want everyone to feel free to ask questions."

He also reported, "Plans for the hospital have progressed so satisfactorily that we can now look forward to success."

It was learned from the commission and committee that management of the proposed hospital by the Methodist Church is being considered.

City Courts

WEST MONROE

Traffic violations made up the major portion of the docket yesterday as three persons forfeited bonds. One each for speeding, running a red light and reckless driving.

Artis Tyson, 19, 1025 S. 5th St., was fined $25 or 10 days in jail plus a compulsory jail sentence of five days for aggravated assault with a carving knife.

A total of $85.50 was assessed in fines, forfeited bonds and court costs.

WM Rounding Up All Stray Dogs

More than 200 dogs have been captured by the West Monroe dogcatcher in the current drive to rid the town of mean or ownerless dogs, according to Police Chief Jeff Caldwell.

The drive grew out of numerous complaints of dogs biting people, Caldwell said. The catcher is under orders to pick up vicious or stray dogs regardless of whether or not the animals are tagged, Caldwedd added.

Negotiations On Passenger Liners Broken

TOKYO (UPI)—An American hotel executive and a Japanese shipbuilding company broke off negotiations Friday on the construction of two giant 90,000-ton transatlantic passenger liners.

Japanese officials said talks between H.B. Cantor and the Sasebo Shipbuilding Co., were canceled chiefly because of insurmountable financial problems. A spokesman for the Sasebo firm said Cantor offered 55 million dollars for the two super-liners while the company set a minimum price of 170 million dollars.

Bomb Threat Evacuates Tenn. School

MEMPHIS (AP)—More than 2,100 students were hastily evacuated from East High today after police received a warning that a bomb was planted in the all-white school.

An anonymous tipster called the police department switchboard and said the explosion was set for 11:30 a.m. The hour passed without incident except for the hurried emptying of the building and a fruitless search of its premises.

Fire trucks and police cars, sirens screaming, roared up to the big modern building minutes after the call. Firemen and police poured into the school, poking through lockers and other places where explosives could be hidden.

Registration Shows Decline

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Orleans Parish shows a total registration of 194,421 votes for the Nov. 4 general election, a drop from total registration of 200,007 at the time of the city election of last Feb. 4.

Of these there are 163,132 voters registered as Democrats for the Nov. 15 judgeship primary.

Total Democratic registration now is 190,364 and Republicans 3,019, the latter showing a 19 per cent drop from 1956.

SAYS VOTERS UNDECIDED

GOP In High Gear -- Nixon

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Vice President Nixon said Saturday night the Republican campaign has bounced into high gear after facing three weeks ago what he said looked like a "disastrous defeat at the polls."

There is a brand new campaign in the battle for control of Congress to be decided in the elections a week from next Tuesday, Nixon said in a speech prepared for a GOP rally in Lincoln, Neb.

"I have never known an election," he said, "in which more voters were undecided at such a late date as in this campaign. This I believe is a major advantage for us because there is not an issue on which our case is not far superior to that of our opponents."

Aside from Nixon, the major campaigners for the Republicans and the Democrats were idle this weekend. President Eisenhower will set out again Monday, with scheduled speeches in Charleston, W. Va., and Pittsburgh.

The White House announced Friday broadened radio-television coverage of the speech the President will make from Pittsburgh Monday night. Originally scheduled for broadcast in 11 Eastern states, it will be carried also in seven states in the Midwest.

They are Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri and Wisconsin. There are U.S. Senate contests in all these states except Illinois.

Following his Pittsburgh appearance, Eisenhower will go on to New York City for some politicking, staying until Wednesday morning.

For the Democrats, the major campaign trips have been undertaken by former President Harry S. Truman and Adlai E. Stevenson, the party's presidential candiate in 1951 and 1956.

If the intensive campaigning these and other speakers have done was having any appreciable effect on the voters, it wasn't discernible in a coast-to-coast check made by The Associated Press.

Summarizing the findings of the survey, AP writer Douglas B. Cornell wrote from Washington:

"The speeches—and the scurrying around from place to place to make them—have put a little zip into the campaign, of course. Interest has perked up at various points—but mostly on the part of party workers and professionals and people whose jobs depend on the spin of the political wheel of fortune.

"But if votes have been switched and trends altered, the changes are of microsiopic size. In state after state, the momentum still appears to be largely toward the Democrats although it may have slowed down a bit in the last month."

Nixon's stop in Lincoln came at the end of five days of campaigning in the Midwest during which he reported he found brighter prospects for the Republicans than existed four years ago.

"The farmers are much happier than they were in 1954," Nixon told reporters. "Republican chances look better this year than they did then."

In his Lincoln talk, Nixon said the Democrats had made a major error by injecting foreign policy into the campaign—a premise the Democrats reject. They say the GOP started it by boasting that it is the party of peace.

The vice president said criticism of the administration's Formosa policy is backfiring on the Democrats. He said two other major factors are a reviving economy and what he called a prospect of lavish spending if "radical" Democrats are given control of Congress.

These issues, he said, have "given the Republican campaign a massive shot in the arm just at the time the Democratic campaign ran out of gas."

The customary crossfire over which side was resorting to unfair campaign tactics continued with GOP National Chairman Meade Alcorn saying the words of Democratic campaigners belie party Chairman Paul Butler's claim they have shown restraint.

In a Washington statement, Alcorn said Butler has been wearing an air of innocence and decrying GOP tactics to avoid talking about the issues. Meanwhile, he added, "other Democrat speakers, were blasting to bit Mr. Butler's phony claims."

This was almost the same as Butler's contention earlier this week that the GOP campaigners are reluctant to talk about issues and instead have resorted to what he called ugly language.

Also in Washington, the GOP National Committee filed with Congress a report showing that between Sept. 1 and Oct. 20 the party took in contributions of $242,577 while spending $214,290. The Democratic report for the 50-day period is expected to be filed early next week.

More than 90 individuals were shown to have contributed $1,000 or more to the GOP committee. The top individual contribution of $5,000 was credited to Mr. and Mrs. George W. Love of Pittsburgh.

Cool Reception Given Proposal Concerning Oil

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A proposal to give tax relief to oil producers who agree to dispose of salt water waste underground met with a cool reception from two legislators at an Arkansas legislative council hearing Saturday.

Perry Rep. Paul Van Dalsem and Crawford Rep. Milton Willis disagreed with oil industry officials on possible revenue loss from the proposal but agree to a study designed to eliminate the severance tax for about 200 independent producers.

They indicated, however, convincing arguments will have to be presented before they will vote to eliminate or reduce the five per cent levy.

Van Dalsem estimated the tax proposal would cost the state $900,000 annually in lost revenue. R. E. Adair, president of the Arkansas Oil Assn., said the revenue loss would be negligible if figured over a 15-year period.

The dilemma was created by a recent state water pollution control commission order for oilmen to cease contamination of surface streams with the salt water which is pumped along with oil.

Louisiana recently threatened action under a federal measure unless anti-pollution action was taken on the Ouachita River.

Adair said enforcement of the order would cause many small producers to close down unless tax relief was provided to help defray costs of expensive water disposal systems.

Issues Warning On 'Flareups' After Games

TRENTON, Tenn. (UPI) — The Tennessee Secondary Schools Athletic Assn. threatened suspension of schools where there are student "flareups" following high school football games.

Webb Porter, assistant secretary, disclosed Saturday that warnings had been issued to schools where "flareups" had been reported.

"If a team goes up to a school to play, members must be assured that nobody is going to get them alarmed," Porter told United Press International.

Porter said two incidents had been reported to the association.

He said after the Cumberland County - Spring Hill game a bus was stoned.

Porter said when the Oliver Springs bus left one automobile "gave chase until the bus got out of town."

He said, "any additional acts like that will mean suspension of the school from the association."

DEAD GIVEAWAY

WEST HARTFORD, Conn. — (UPI) —Fire Chief John T. O.'Loughlin had little trouble finding the schoolboy responsible for a bomb scare at Sedgwick Junior High School. When he arrived at the school a youngster asked, "Have you found the bomb yet?" O'Loughlin said only police and firemen – and the culprit – knew of the anonymous call that a bomb was in the school.

Gives Reason For Crash Into Residential Area

DETROIT (AP)—The pilot of a British jet bomber reported a complete electrical failure moments before his big delta-wing Vulcan exploded and crashed in a Detroit riverfront residential district.

Maj. Louis W. Lagro, information officer at Selfridge Air Force base in Detroit, said the emergency radio report was made over Dresden, Ont., Friday about 50 miles northeast of Detroit. The pilot said he was flying at 35,000 feet.

"Then he asked for an emergency 'steer' to Kellogg Field at Battle Creek, Mich," Lagro said. "But before the ground radio man could reply, the pilot asked for directions to any airport."

Lagro said that was the last anyone heard from the plane.

The frantic call was picked up by a radio operator at Cleveland, Lagro said. It was preceded by a "May Day" international distress Call. Moments later the 70-ton bomber roared down out of an overcast sky and blew apart at tree-top level.

Flaming fragments demolished three houses and damaged a score of others, but amazingly, only an elderly couple suffered serious injury among residents.

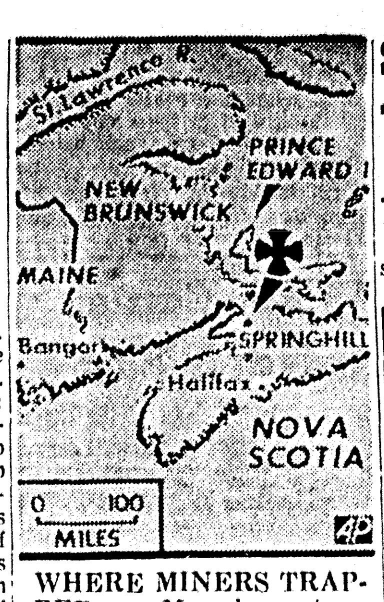
An ice-coated piece of wreckage that crashed through the roof of a home in the area had given investigators an earlier clue that icing might have been to blame.

Another Atom Tripleheader On Tap Today

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP) —Another atomic tripleheader is on tap Sunday, but the weatherman will have final say on whether the test shots are fired.

Rain washed out a nuclear blast scheduled for Saturday. Scattered showers are forecast for Sunday.

The Atomic Energy Commission hopes to fire two nuclear devices from towers and one from an anchored balloon Sunday. If it does, it will mark the second time three test explosions have been touched off on the same day at the Nevada test site. The first tripleheader was Wednesday.



WHERE MINERS TRAPPED — Map locates Springhill, Nova Scotia, where a strong earth movement this week shook a coal mine where 166 men were working. Saturday, 93 men were still unaccounted for. (AP Wirephoto)

No Sign Of Life Found In NS Mine

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (UPI)—Rescue crews found no sign of life Saturday in the gas-filled depths of North America's deepest coal mine, raising fears that all 93 men trapped by an earth shock Thursday night were buried alive.

Ten bodies had been recovered and identified. Other bodies were found Saturday but authorities would not say how many until they had been identified.

The Cumberland Railway and Coal Company's No. 2 colliery was wrecked by a thundering earth "bump" at 7:10 p.m. Thursday. Tons of earth, coal, splintered timbers and wrecked mine machinery were dumped into the shaft, sealing escape routes for men working 13,000 feet and even farther from the pit entrance.

A total of 79 miners were rescued. Fifteen of them were injured. Most were able to stagger from the mine, but some crawled or were carried.

Fifty men had been working at the 13,000-foot level of the mine. Any survivors would come from that level. Officials gave up all hope of finding the more than 30 men who were trapped at lower levels.

Dominion Steel and Coal Corp., parent company of the Cumberland organization, said the mine is the deepest coal pit in North America. United States mines average 800 feet in depth. This one runs 4,200 feet from the earth's surface.

The shaft of the No. 2 pit slopes as steep as 30 degrees in places.

Rescue workers tried to cut a passage through to the 13,000 foot working level. They said there was a slight possibility that some oxygen still was circulating at that level but that the air would be foul after two days.

Gordon said rescuers were operating in quarters so cramped that in some places they were forced to crawl on their stomachs through a newly hewn - out passageway.

Among the men trapped in the mine were six supervisors who had gone down to the pit Thursday to try to find the cause of several minor "buops" that had shaken coal seams earlier this year.

While they were there, the big bump came. It ripped coal seams apart and caused a jolt felt for miles around.

The earlier disturbances had brought appeals to the government to close the mine as dangerous.

While rescuers labored in the mine, the number of relatives keeping vigil for the trapped men dwindled. Some wives had been at the pithead since Thursday. Several apparently gave up hope this morning and went home.

Algerian Reb Rejects French Bid For Peace

CAIRO (UPI) — Premier Ferhat Abbas of the Algerian rebel government in exile Saturday night rejected French Premier Charles de Gaulle's proposal for peace talks in Paris but left the door open for negotiations "on neutral territory."

He insisted the only final solution can be Algerian independence and warned the French government not to mistake the rebels' willingess to discuss peace as a sign of weakness. His tough statement, issued after a meeting of his cabinet in Cariro, appeared to rule out any early talks with the French aimed at ending the four-year-old Algerian rebellion.

De Gaulle had invited the rebel leaders to Paris to discuss what he termed a "peace of brave men" that would stop the war. The French premier assured the rebels they would have safe conduct and not be molested.

But Abbas charged that De Gaulle had answered previous Algerian rebel offers to negotiate with a "demand for unconditional surrender."

He said De Gaulle's statement on Oct. 23 constituted a retreat on the previous French position.

"This statement by Gen. De Gaulle constitutes a refusal to negotiate," Abbas said.

He argued that there can be no discussion solely on ending the fighting, but that both sides must take up "the real solution to the whole Algeria problem."

By this, Abbas meant the question of independence which the rebels are seeking.

Solon's Son, Teenage Girl Are Suffocated

WETUMPKA, Ala. (UPI)—The son of a newly nominated Alabama House member and a teen-aged Montgomery girl were found accidentally suffocated by exhaust fumes in a parked car Saturday.

Sheriff Lester Holley said a deputy shortly after noon found the bodies of Weldon Johnston, 18, of Wetumpka, and Miss Jerry Rayworth, 17, of (2052 Gorgas St.) Montgomery, in a car parked just outside the Wetumpka city limits.

The young couple had been missing since about 11 o'clock Friday night, the sheriff said.

Holley emphasized the deaths, which he said were caused by carbon monoxide poisoning, were accidental. This announcement indicated no inquest would be considered necessary.

Young Johnston was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Johnston. The elder Johnston recently won the Democratic nomination to the Elmore County House seat by contesting a primary election.

1-AAA BATTLE

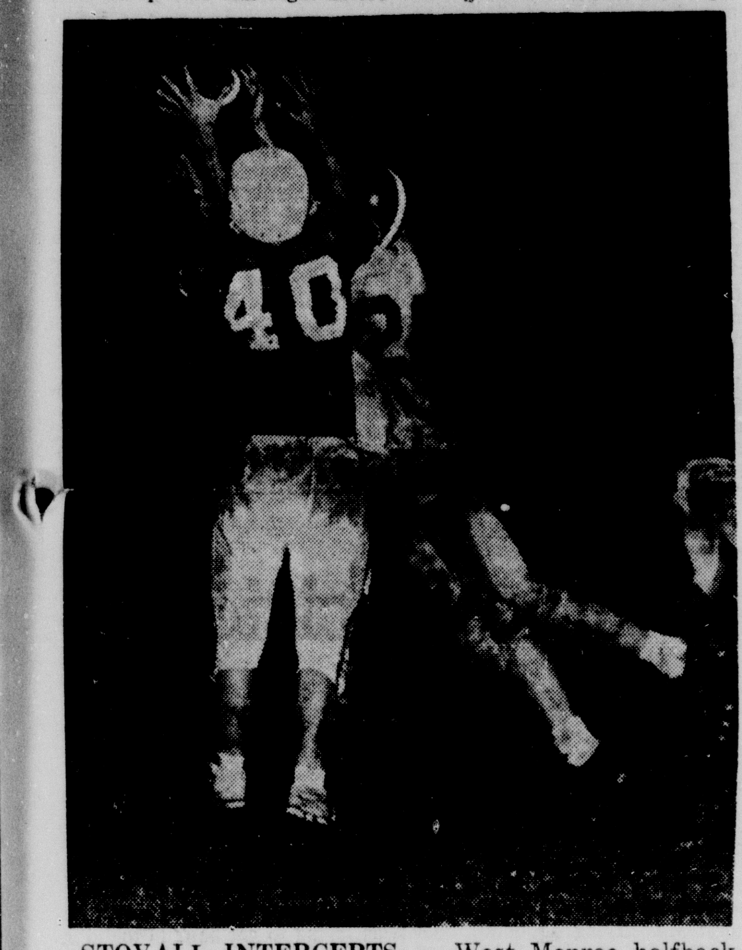
Stovall Sparks Rebels To 20-0 Rout Over Lions

By JIM CALHOUN

Piledriving halfback Jerry Stovall ran and tackled like a tiger and scored all the games' points to spearhead the West Monroe Rebels to a 20-0 rout over the Ouachita Lions in a District 1-AAA scrap here last night before a near capacity crowd.

Stovall, who raised his season scoring to 70 points, tallied on runs of 16 and 4 yards from scrimmage and snared a Lion pass and galloped 35 yards to paydirt.

The game started off as a tight defensive duel through the first period. Ouachita penetrated inside Rebel territory several times, but without threatening seriously. The Rebels finally crossed the mid-field just as the first period ended.



STOVALL INTERCEPTS — West Monroe halfback Jerry Stovall (20) is shown as he intercepts a Rex Carter pass on the Ouachita 35. The Rebel star sprinted to the end zone for West Monroe's third score as The Rebs won, 20-0. Lion fullback Woody Mahoney (40) tries for a catch. (Staff photo by John Fogleman)

Then Stovall and the Rebs started rolling. The Rebels downed a Lion punt on the Ouachita 41 and Stovall began the drive with a ten yard dash around end. Halfback John Moses and fullback Dwain Johnston carried in four plays to the 15. Moses lost one through center and then Stovall burst off right tackle, bowling over Lion tacklers like ten pins, and scored standing up. He then split the uprights to make the score 7-0.

The Lions got off their first deep penetration midway in the second quarter. Ouachita quarterback Rex Carter, who partially held the Rebs off throughout the game with his booming punts, quick-kicked fifty nine yards to the West Monroe 17. On the first play the Rebs fumbled and Lion tackle Ronnie Wyatt fell on the ball on the 16. Carter and Woody Mahoney gained 2 in 2 tries and then Reb tackle Jimmy Bell intercepted a deflected Carter pass and lugged the pigskin back 40 yards to halt the threat.

Seconds before the half ended Carter hit end Tommy Crowe with a 40-yard aerial which carried to the West Monroe 15. But time ran out before the Lions could get the ball in play.

The Rebels took the second half kickoff and then drove 74 yards for their second touchdown. Stovall and Tommy Lolley highlighted the drive with runs of 36 and 22 yards and then Stovall plunged over from the 4. Ouachita center R. W. Kimball blocked Stovall's extra point attempt.

Less than a minute later, Stovall picked off a Carter pass on the Ouachita 35 and raced down the left sideline to score. He then booted the point to make the final score 20-0.

West Monroe led in first downs, 11-4, and rolled up 191 yards rushing while the Lions were held to a net minus five. The Rebel forward wall sparked by Bell, Albert Fields, and Larry Lewis crashed through to drop Ouachita passers time and again for long losses.

For the Lions, Wyatt played a tremendous game at tackle and end Fred Becton and tackle Floyd Borden shone defensively. Little sophomore halfback Herbert Perry entered late in the game and made several fine runs. Ouachita linebacker Ervin Bates intercepted a Rebel pass to halt a drive and Kimball recovered a West Monroe fumble.

The win gave West Monroe a season record of five wins against two losses. The Lions stand at 3-5.

West Germany Wins Horse Show

By FRED B. WALTERS

HARRISBURG (AP)—West Germany completed its sweep of major honors at the 13th annual Pennsylvania National Horse Show Friday.

"Deutschland Lied," the German national anthem, became the most often played hymn at the horse show as Germany's expert horsemen won both international jumping events.

The afternoon victory gave them the third leg and a complete sweep of the low score competition for the 104th Cavalry Challenge Trophy and also clinched the over-all team trophy.

Previously, Germany had won the Prix Des Nations Cup and Hans Geunther Winkler won the individual championship.

Both events Friday were team events, right down the 1956 Olympic champions' alley.

Alfonse Lutke - Westhues and Fritz Thiedemann gave faultless rides to win the afternoon event for Germany and Winkler and Lutke-Westhues marked the evening win with perfect showings.

NEUMANN STARS

Tallulah Thumps Neville, 28 To 6

Neumann's efforts alone almost matched the total yardage made by the visiting Tigers, who were able to muster only 177 yards on the ground.

The big Tallulah back, a much-wanted college prospect playing his last game on home soil, ran for touchdowns in the first and fourth period.

It was Tallulah's seventh consecutive win since the Trojans lost in the season's opener to Carr Central of Vicksburg, Miss.

STATISTICS

	Tallulah	Neville
First downs	16	6
Yards rushing	328	420
Passes	2-0	177
Yards passing	0	2-1
Passes int. by	0	32
Fumbles lost	3	0
Penalties	4-30	0
Punting	1-8	2-20

The surprise win came as a big one for Tallulah, since the Tigers, now with a 4-3 record, already have clinched the 2-AA championship.

Neville scored against the Trojans in the third period, coming back into the game after trailing at halftime, 21-0.

The Tigers started their drive on their own 37 with backs Gene Howard and Devonne Payne, leading the way. They hammered to the Trojan's 33 where Howard slipped over tackle and went all the way.

Mickey Cox, who turned in a fine performance, missed the extra point.

The Trojans got rolling early in the first period after taking the opening kickoff on their own 24. With sophomore Wayne Noland joining Neumann, the Trojans went to the Neville 17. Neumann went the distance for the score.

Later in the same period, Bill Grant blocked Joe Cage's punt and the Trojans took over on the Tiger's 20. From the three, Neumann went in.

Tallulah took over in the second period on Neville's 46 and drove to the one where Gerald Collins went around end from the one on a keeper.

Neumann scored his final touchdown in the fourth quarter after Tallulah nailed Cox in punt formation after he got a bad pass from center.

A 32-yard drive was climaxed when Neumann got away for 14 yards and the touchdown. Jerry Fairbanks kicked all five extra points for the Trojans.

Tallulah linemen Jerry McConnell, Billy Foster and Perry Beard were outstanding as well as Neville forward wall performers Lucian Branch, Robert Turner and Doug Turner.

Touchdown Duel Seen In Eastern Tilt

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) —Football fans in these mountains of Central Pennsylvania oiled the adding machine Friday in hopes of a touchdown dual Saturday between Syracuse and Penn State, two of the East's better offensive teams.

The game is rated here as a tossup, although Syracuse's record of 3-1 is superior to State's 3-2.

Syracuse has averaged 33 points a game and allowed only seven while Penn State has collected 25 points per game and allowed 9.6.

The Orange has not been able to win at Beaver Field in 24 years. Penn State has won 11 and tied one game here in that stretch.

On physical condition, the teams are about equal. Syracuse will miss tackle Ron Luciano, who is ill and did not make the trip. Penn State is short-handed at fullback with Pat Botula hampered by injuries and sophomore Sam Sobczak not expected to play.

Reckless Richie Lucas, State's gambling quarterback who passes or runs from almost any point in the field, will get the starting call with veteran Al Jacks working with the No. 2 unit.

MANGHAM BY ONE

WISNER, La. (Special) —Quarterback Tommy Hendrix' two successful conversions gave Mangham a 14-13 triumph over Wisner here last night.

Hendrix made good on both his PAT tries while the Mangham line blocked Joe Blair's attempted conversion in the third period that would have tied the contest between two class B rivals.

Hendrix scored the first Mangham touchdown in the first period and booted the PAT. Wisner swept back to tie it up when Ken Thornhill dashed 85 yards with the kickoff to the Mangham 10. Thornhill scored on the next play and Blair ran for the extra point to tie it up.

Donald Adams scored from the three to put Mangham ahead again in the second and Hendrix booted true again. Underdog Wisner came back in the third with another touchdown with Phillip Dampier scoring from the two. Blair's attempted conversion was blocked.

Mangham led in first downs, 11 to 5.

BERNICE WINS

BERNICE, La. (Special) —Fullback Bo Dick Smith scored two touchdowns to lead Bernice to a 13-7 victory over Junction City, Ark., here last night.

Smith sprinted 48 years to set up a Bernice touchdown in the first quarter and then rammed over from the two for the TD. Buzzy Green ran for the PAT. Smith took an eight - yard passed from Green to score again in the second period.

Smith's 12 points ran his season's total to 94.

Junction City scored in the third when Bruce McKinnon went over from five yards out. Clarence Buckner passed to Bobby Joe Langley for the extra point.

The win left Bernice's record at 7-1 for the season.

DELHI, 19-0

CROWVILLE, La. (Special) — Delhi's powerful Bears downed Crowville, 19-0, here last night as Ken Newton, Charles Simmons and Thomas Hosea starred.

Hosea pulled in a 40-yard pass to score the first touchdown for Delhi in the first quarter. Newton rammed one yard to count the second TD, this one coming in the second period.

Simmons rambled around left end for 30 yards and the final Bear touchdown in the third period. The extra point was kicked to make the final score, 19-0.

Crowville, paced by the passing of Pete Halley, threatened twice, once in the first quarter and went to the four in the fourth. Jackie Richardson and Ronnie Newsom were outstanding in the Crowville line.

JONESBORO-HODGE, 32-18

WINNFIELD, La. (Special) — Jonesboro - Hodge rolled up their sixth win of the season here last night, 32-18, over Winnfield in a battle of "Tigers."

Quarterback John Garrett's 18-yard jaunt and a 54-yard gallop by right half Johnny Brunson, with two extra points by guard John Blake supplied Jonesboro with a 14-0 first quarter lead.

Fullback Thomas Latham got Winnfield's Bengals back in the game in the second stanza with a half-yard plunge, to make it 14-6.

Brunson added another six points for Jonesboro in the third, then the two teams each racked up two touchdowns each in the final quar-off return by fullback Bobby Jones, plus a nine-pard plunge by quar-ter--Jonesboro on an 85-yard kick-terback Garrett.

WILDCATS TRIUMPH

WINNSBORO (Special) — Winnsboro's Wildcats, led by quarterback Pete Moore, thrilled a partisan homecoming crowd of 1500 here last night with a convincing 38-6 victory over Oak Grove.

The Wildcats rolled to their sixth win of the season by scoring in all four quarters and therefore setting the stage for next week's showdown with the potent Trojans from Tallulah.

Moore climaxed his fine night's work with a 9-yard sprint through the center of the line in the dying minutes of the game.

He scored on a keeper from the one-yard in the first quarter, the touchdown being set up by a 38-yard run by halfback Bennie Wiggins.

In the second period, Wildcat back J. D. Busby went off right tackle on the Oak Grove 32 and went all the way. Then Moore returned to score from the four following a 50-yard drive.

Winnsboro's scatback — senior Frank Peoples, a 132-pounder — was not to be denied in the touchdown parade. He shook loose from his 17 to score and Moore then threw to Wiggins for the extra point.

In the fourth period, quarterback Buddy Rhodes, following a 61-yard drive, went seven yards for the score. Then came Moore's long touchdown run.

The Wildcats dropped back into punt formation from their own three. From a halfback slot, Moore received the center, hit the middle of the line and out raced the defenders. He ran the extra point.

Oak Grove's lone touchdown came in the second period following a 40-yard drive. On a trap play, halfback Tom Swayer slipped around left end from the nine for the touchdown. The try for extra point failed.

It was Winnsboro's second 2-A win of the season. The Wildcats meet Tallulah here next Friday night in a game that will more than likely decide the district championship.

BULLDOGS 7, PANTHERS 6

FERRIDAY (Special) —Ferriday turned in a strong first half here last night and then held on for dear life and a 7-6 squeak-by over Lake Providence.

It was the Bulldogs' fourth win of the season against as many losses. For the Panthers, it was their fourth loss.

The Bulldogs scored early in the first period after Larry Chauvin and Freddy Marks got off some nice runs to set up fullback James Poole for the kill.

The big linebuster broke through from the seven and then carried it around end for the extra point.

With Ferriday in command most of the second period, threatening but not scoring, Lake Providence came back to take the lead in the second half.

The Panthers too threatened but couldn't score and finally in the fourth period began to roll. With backs Purvis Thomas and Bill Burton paving the way, the Panthers climaxed a 35-yard drive when Billy Regnold passed to left end Whatley for the touchdown on a play that covered 12 yards. The extra point attempt failed.

WATERPROOF WINS

The loss was the first of the year for Block in district play and the win left Waterproof with a 5-0 district slate and the favorite's role in the league.

Edgar Chase passed to Louis Testa for 33 yards for a Waterproof touchdown in the first period and Edward Justice ran for the PAT. Waterproof held it's lead at 7-0 until the fourth period when Chase threw again, this time to Bobby Wallace, for a touchdown from 18 yards out.

Block came up with its lone touchdown when Billy Edwards went 2 yards. Fullback Clarence Richard set it up with a 53-yard gallop. Edwards ran for the extra point.

Block tried an outside kick on the kickoff and Waterproof took over on the 37 and Justice scored from the one on the last play of the game. Justice ran the PAT.

Waterproof had the edge in first downs, 13-8, and gained 296 yards rushing and passing to 195 for the losers.

CROSSETT WINS

The Eagles rolled up 323 yards to the Badgers' 38.

Robert Tauton went 56 yards for a first period touchdown and scored again in the second period before the Crossett offense exploded.

Scoring for the winners were Bobby Keene, John Grice, David McCay, Lemuel Corkern and A. C. Moncreif. Jimmy Ross booted five out of seven extra point attempts.

ISTROUMA 42-0

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Top-ranked Istrouma crumbled little Catholic High of Baton Rouge, 42-0 Friday night.

Istrouma scored at will and gained yardage anytime it wanted throughout the contest. Catholic was able only to get eight yards on the ground and 11 by passing.

Winston alliouet scored the first touchdown, gathering in a Lynn Amede pass and carrying for a score on a play that covered 74 yards.

Steve Ward, Everett Brooks and Darryl Morris each scored a touchdown and Ronnie Fairchild got two.

All touchdowns came on runs of less than five yards after Istrouma either marched considerable distance or made things easier by intercepting Catholic passes.

Amedee kicked four extra points and Don McCollister booted two.

TERREBONNE, 42-0

HOUMA, La. (AP) - Second string quarterback Russell Pierce threw three touchdown passes and ran 52 yards with a punt for a fourth score as Terrebonne overwhelmed Bogalusa 40-0 Friday night.

Fullback Richie Boudreaux started the scoring with a 65-yard run on the third play of the game. Tommy Thompson added his first of four conversions.

Pierce's first scoring pass was thrown to Larry Hutchinson in the second quarter. The play covered 52 yards. Larry Bonvillain and Thompson were on the receiving end of the other touchdown passes.

Guard Allen Detriveaux got the other touchdown on a 75 yard run with a Bogalusa fumble.

JESUIT, 19-0

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Unbeaten and untied Jesuit, led by 15-year-old sophomore Pat Screen, scored two first quarter touchdowns and went on to a 19-0 victory over Baton Rouge High Friday night.

Baton Rouge's only serious threat came in the second quarter when the sixth ranked team in the Associated Press poll drove to the Jesuit 15 before losing the ball.

Screen scored one touchdown on a 35-yard run in the last quarter and passed 23 yards to Adrian Colon for another.

Jesuit's first score came on a 57-yard march. Mike Rooney went the last yard for the touchdown after Screen's 24-yard run had put the ball in scoring position.

Rooney was hurt on a defensive play in the second quarter and sat out the rest of the game.

BOLTON, 12-7

SULPHUR, La. (AP)—Ronnie Clayton and Ed Edgerton combined for touchdowns that gave Bolton a 12-7 victory over winless Sulphur Friday night.

Clayton got the first touchdown on a 14-yard end run in the first quarter.

Sulphur went ahead in the second quarter when Bill Keever threw a 28-yard scoring pass to A. J. Woods. Edgerton plunged two yards in the third quarter for the touchdown that put eighth-ranked Bolton ahead to stay.

Sulphur had two drives stopped deep in Bolton territory, one on the 3-yard line and the other on the 18.

MANSFIELD WINS

Mansfield broke the scoring ice in the second quarter on a drive from their own 45 yard line. Twelve plays carried to the one and on fourth down Jerry Stepp bulled over for the score. With 20 seconds remaining in the first half Gary Moore took a lateral from Carl Hemphill and raced 70 yards around right end to make the score 12-0 at halftime.

Moore passed to Scott Brown after a Farmer fumble in the third quarter from the six for another Wolverine tally. Minutes later another Farmerville fumble gave Mansfield the ball on the 49. Several plays later Stepp went around right end from the five to paydirt. Hemphill kicked the point.

Hemphill broke loose in the fourth quarter and scampered 95 yards and booted the point to make it 32-0. In the closing minutes of play Moore intercepted a pass on the Farmer 35 and ran it back for a touchdown. Hemphill converted.

MINDEN, 12-6

MINDEN La. (AP) — Minden scored twice in the first half and then stopped a Byrd threat in the closing minutes for a 12-6 victory Friday night.

Grover Colvin nipped the Byrd drive when he intercepted a pass on the Minden two with two minutes and 35 seconds remaining.

Minden drove 45 yards in the opening minutes for its first score. The drive took six plays and was capped by a 7-yard end run by fullback Bobby Ashley. Ashley also got the second Minden score on a 14-yard run.

Byrd's first touchdown in six games came on a 35-yard pass play, Sonny Parnell to Hayden Hicks.

HORNETS WINNERS

RAYVILLE (Special) — Rayville's Hornets scored twice in all but the third period here last night to roll to an easy 42-13 victory over the Newellton Bears.

Scatback Paul Hunter, writing football history at Rayville, led the Hornets to their third win of the season against four setbacks.

It was Newellton's seventh consecutive loss of the season.

But before the period had ended, Hunter, on a tricky reverse, scampered 40 yards for the touchdown.

Then in the second quarter he went eight for another touchdown and Dyer returned in the same period to pass to Danny McCarty for the Hornets' fourth score in the first half.

Hunter's third touchdown of the evening, one which climaxed his sparkling performance, came in the third period. And he had to do it twice to make it stick.

He hauled in a Newellton kickoff and went 90 yards to paydirt, only to have it called back. The Bears kicked again . . . in the same spot . . . and Hunter went 90 yards again, this time good for the touchdown.

Rayville's scoring in the final period came when James Mayo went 20 yards into the end zone and Dyer scored on a sneaker from the five.

The Bears scored in the third and fourth quarters, James McVay going 30 around right end and William Bozeman kicking the extra point.

In the finale, fullback Allen Parker plunged over from the two. The try for point was no good.

BEARCATS WIN

RUSTON, La. (Special) —Ruston's Bearcats defeated triple - A Bastrop, 21-14, here last night in their homecoming game.

Bastrop jumped off to the lead in the first quarter when halfback Walter Moore went 55 yards off tackle and Charles Burks kicked the extra point. Ruston tied it up in the second period as Wallace Martin scored from three yards out. Ronnie Graham kicked the tying extra point.

Ruston's all-star prospect, Sammy Simonton, dashed 92 yards in the third to put Ruston ahead. Graham again kicked the extra point. Ruston held a determined Bastrop rally, stopping them at the three in the quarter.

Emmett Irby, Bastrop quarterback, counted the second Ram one and Burks added the PAT. Pat touchdown with a sneak from the Shows won it for Ruston when he sparked a drive to the Bastrop seven and then carried over for the TD. Graham kicked the point to make it 21-14.

Bastrop had the edge in first downs over their double-A foe, 15-12.

LASALLE, 31-20

SICILY ISLAND, La. (Special) —Class A LaSalle defeated class B Sicily Island in a touchdown party, 31-20, here last night.

Harold Watson scored from 15 yards out for Sicily Island and Charles Miller passed to William Patton for the PAT. LaSalle tallied when Gary Russell ran 60 yards.

Underdog Sicily Island came back to score again with Watson sprinting 50 yards for the TD. Miller tossed to Cliff Guice for the extra point. LaSalle came back with Ben Nichols passed 15 yards to Don Long and Jerry Ingram kicked the extra point.

Nichols threw to Bert Albritton for two yards just before the half to give LaSalle a 19-14 lead at intermission.

Nichols went 10 yards in the third for a LaSalle score and Don Long passed 10 yards to Fred Roberts for another LaSalle talley. Johnny Weston went five yards for the final Sicily Island touchdown in the fourth.

Sicily Island had the edge in first downs, 13-9.

VIDALIA LOSES

NATCHEZ, Miss. (Special) — Cathedral High's Greenies of Natchez, Miss. outlasted the Vikings of Vidalia here last night for a 14-12 homecoming victory.

The Greenies scored in the first and second periods for a 14-6 halftime lead and then held the Vikings at bay for the win.

Baronni threw to Barrett on a long pass play that spelled touchdown for the Greenies in the first period and with only seconds left in the half Baronni threw again, this time to Lambert, for the score.

In the meantime, Jimmy Trindle passed to Jimmy Boles on a 40-yard pass play for Vidalia's first half touchdown. Zizzi ran over both the Greenies' extra points.

In the fourth period, Trindle threw again, this time to Jimmy Stringer to the one. Luther Andrews carried it over for the touchdown.

LUMBERJACKS TRIUMPH

SPRINGHILL (Special)—Springhill's Lumberjacks battered down the Jena Giants in a high scoring second period to score a 34-13 victory in an inter-sectional game here last night.

Halfback Jerry Griffin chalked up three touchdowns to pace the Lumberjack win. Griffin ran for one score and caught two passes from quarterback Bain Slack for two others.

St. Matthews Takes 2 From Weston Cagers

St. Matthews boys took a doubleheader here last night over Weston, the varsity winning its fourth straight without a loss, 80-43, and the "B" team taking a 55-27 decision.

Jimmy Tonore dropped in 18 points to pace the varsity win for Jim Mahoney's Fighting Irish while Gerald Williams scored 14 and Ab Elias got 13. W. Harold led Weston with 13.

Gerald Williams scored 16 to pace the winners in the "B" game while Joe Zarro got 15 and Roy Henderson had 14. L. Watkins was high for the losers with 12.

12 Named To Take Off In Toronto Race

TORONTO (AP)—Twelve have been named to start in Saturday's $50,000-added Canadian Championship at New Woodbine. The prediction is the winner's share of Canada's richest race will go to a U.S.-owned horse.

Owners made the final $500 payment Friday and included in the list were eight Americans. The mile and 5-furlong classic is over a grass course.

The winner will earn $35,000 and co-favorites probably will be Civet, 5-year-old stakes winner who has been in the money in 10 of his 15 starts, and the entry of Ekaba, Jack Ketch and Mahan from the Hasty House Farm of Toledo, Ohio. Civet is owned by E. Austin Byrne of Mt. Kisko, N.Y.

Other American-owned horses nominated:

La. State Fair Speed Races To End Sunday

SHREVEPORT, La. (Special)—The Louisiana State Fair speed program will end this week end with races set for tonight and tomorrow evening.

Midget race cars, Offenhausers, are slated for a seven event program Saturday evening. This will mark the first midget car action in the history of the Louisiana State Fair. Top drivers from the Texas area are included in the big field. More than twenty drivers from as far away as Wisconsin will shoot for the big cash purse.

The final State Fair speed program, Sunday evening at 7:30 finds the late model stock cars going in a 200-lap race. The national championship hinges on results of the Shreveport race. Don White and Ernie Derr remain in contention for top national honors.

All out speeds are indicated as this is the final race of the 1958 season.

Hockey Players Draw Fines For Indifferent Play

MONTREAL (AP)—A $100 fine was assessed against all members of the Chicago Black Hawk hockey team Friday by General Manager Tommy Ivan. The cause was indifferent play against the Montreal Canadiens Thursday night.

The Canadiens drubbed the Hawks, 9-1, in repulsing Chicago's effort to gain a first place tie in the National Hockey League.

Ivan disclosed his action just before the Hawks entrained for New York and a national TV game Saturday afternoon with the rangers.

Said Ivan:

"We've tried everything the last few games with no results. Maybe we'll get somewhere by hitting them in their pocketbooks."

Santa Chief In Yonkers Victory

YONKERS, N. Y. (AP)—Santa Chief, an 8-year-old gelding driven by Charles Fleming, took command at the start and went on to win Friday night's AA pace by a neck over Laura Scott at Yonkers Raceway. Time for the mile was 2:05.

The winner, owned by Charles Wilson of Independence, Mo., returned $55.10 as favorite. This was the gelding's fourth win, all made at Yonkers Raceway in seventeen starts. Ike Frost finished third.

Marion Cagers Sweep Twin Bill

MARION, La. (Special) —Marion boys and girls swept their fourth straight basketball doubleheader of the year last night with two wins over Parker's Chapel, Ark.

Marion's girls won, 50-38, with Sue Reeves and Judy Pilgreen scoring in the double figures for the winners. Cameron led the losers with 16.

Bobby Andrews, J. R. Miller and Bill Brashier scored in twin figures to pace Marion's win in the boys game, 71-48. Huggins led the losers with 19.

Bickering In Texas Is Buried

AUSTIN (UPI)— Texas Democrats, as they do once every two years, have temporarily buried their bickering.

The action heralds the approach of the general election Nov. 4. At that time, Texans will vote on a full slate of state and district officials, including a U.S. senator and governor, and have their say on nine proposed amendments to the state's constitution.

Campaigning has been relatively quiet.

The three candidates for the U.S. Senate — Democratic, Republican and Constitution parties — have done most of the traveling and talking.

The incumbent and Democratic nominee for the Senate, Ralph Yarborough, faces opposition from Republican nominee Roy Whittenburg and Constitution candidate Bard Logan. Whittenburg, of Amarillo, is engaged in ranching, oil, newspaper publishing, radio and television enterprises. Logan, of San Antonio, is a publisher of directories.

Gov. Price Daniel, bidding for his second term, is opposed by GOP candidate Edwin S. Mayer, a Sonora rancher. The Constitution party has no candidate in that race.

Republicans have candidates in three of the 22 congressional races. They are incumbent Bruce Alger, Dallas, in the fifth, against Democrat Barefoot Sanders; Joseph E. A. Ross, Rusk, against incumbent Democrat John Dowdy, Athens, in the seventh, and T. Everton Kennerly, Houston, against Democrat Bob Casey, Houston, in the new 22nd district.

Yarborough and Mrs. R. D. (Frankie) Randolph have united in urging all factions of the Democratic party to vote for Daniel Nov. 4 — regardless of past fights.

Both Yarborough and Mrs. Randolph, chairman of the "Democrats of Texas" (DOT), have urged party members to vote a straight Democratic ticket.

Both have pointed out county delegate strength to the 1960 state Democratic convention will be based on votes for governor in the coming election.

But this call to Democratic party loyalty was lambasted by state GOP Chairman Thad Hutcheson.

"It is machine politics at its worst to suggest to any Texas citizen that his vote for the high office of governor should be cast not on the theory of who is the best candidate, but in aid of the efforts of factional leaders to gain friendly delegates and solidify their party control," the state GOP chairman said.

In the race for lieutenant governor, incumbent Ben Ramsey, seeking a fifth term as the Democratic candidate, is opposed by Philip Lee Eubank of San Antonio, secretary of the Constitution party. The Republicans offered no candidate in this race.

Other state level races, featuring for the most part token contests, included:

Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, Place One, in which Robert W. Hamilton, the Democratic nominee, faces John Q. Adams, the GOP candidate.

Commissioner of Agriculture, pitting Democratic nominee and incumbent John White against Grover C. Carothers, the GOP candidate, and H. W. Vogan, the Constitution party standard-bearer.

Judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals which places Democratic nominee and incumbent Kenneth K. Woodley opposite Reuben R. Lozano, the Constitution party candidate.

Railroad commissioner, pitting Olin Culberson, the Democratic nominee and incumbent, against Howard Brumbaugh, Constitutionalist.

Comptroller of public accounts which matches Robert S. Calvert, Democratic incumbent, against R. Glenn Florance, the Constitution party candidate.

Commissioner of the general land office which finds Democratic nominee Bill Allcorn, seeking his first full elective term, opposed by Constitutionalist W. C. Miller.

State treasurer, pitting Democratic incumbent Jesse James against Constitution party candidate Bert Ellis.

One Killed, 3 Hurt In Tenn. Auto Accident

LEBANON, Tenn. (UPI) — A former Cookeville resident, Thurman Pippin, 24, was killed 14 miles west of here early Saturday in a two-car collision which injured three others.

State trooper Herschel Gentry said dynamite caps were found in the pocketbook of the victim's wife.

Gentry said the wife — Margaret — was delirious at McFarland hospital and could give no explanation of the caps.

Gentry also said he could get no information about the caps from a passenger in the Pippin car, John Jackman of Joelton. He said "when I asked Jackman about the wreck and the caps he just clammed up."

The driver of the other car, Jerry Lewis of Nashville, was also taken to McFarland Hospital for treatment.

He said "all I remember is the crash" and could give no other details. The wreck was found by state police and they said no one appeared to have made an effort to call police.

MISS. COUNCIL

Moves Against Civil Rights Appointment

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 24 (UPI) — The pro-segregation Citizens' Councils have moved in to prevent any influential Mississippians from accepting appointment as advisor to the Federal Civil Rights Commission.

The Councils' newspaper published in Jackson branded as a "traitor" any white Southerner who would accept the appointment. Council leaders also were reported to have issued "warnings" in private conversations concerning influential moderates who have been offered the assignment.

At least two well-known, non-controversial Mississippi leaders turned it down, reliable sources said.

However, a commission spokesman in Washington said the commission was still hopeful of obtaining five to nine respectable Mississippians who will "keep the commission advised of the problems involved in local areas." An advisory group is being appointed for each of the 48 states and 39 state groups have been completed, he said.

The commission was created under the new Civil Rights law to protect minority rights. It is now trying to obtain voter registration records in Alabama and has under study complaints from Mississippi and other states.

One purpose of the advisory groups, the spokesman said, is to erve as a means of communication between the commission and the local people. The advisory group could be influential in deciding how the commission should proceed with its investigations in the state.

But the Councils warned in an editorial that anyone who accepted the appointment would "face the well - deserved distaste and contempt that any proud people would feel for a traitor."

"The local 'advisory groups' selected to front for the satraps of reconstruction it may be used to infiltrate and attack from within our existing segregated school system," the paper said.

The commission spokesman indicated that Negroes and whites would be selected on the advisory group in Mississippi.

"Where there are substantial minorities in a state we are trying to get representation on the advisory groups for those people," he said.

The spokesman said the commission hoped to have all 48 advisory groups appointed and at work by the end of this year.

He said members would be paid no salary and probably would not be called to Washington at all but would hold their own meetings in their states.

Ladies of the Twin Cities and surrounding area are asked to prepare and bring a basket lunch.

All singers and lovers of Gospel singing are extended a cordial invitation to attend by the convention President Videt Polk.

1st 3-Star Miss. General In Nat'l Guard Is Pinned

GREENVILLE, Miss. (UPI) — Gen. A. G. Paxton wore a third Star Saturday as the first three-star general in the history in the Mississippi National Guard.

The star was pinned on the Greenville officer, who is retiring after 41 years of military service, by Lt. Gov. Carroll Gartin.

Paxton received the star during "General Paxton Day" festivities here Friday and the commander of the 31st Dixie Division of Mississippi and Alabama became a lieutenant general. The promotion was secretly authorized by the state Legislature earlier and approved and issued by Gov. J. P. Coleman.

Promises of a remodeled and expanded armory in Greenville, a set of silver service, a high-powered rifle and a bullwhip were among surprises the general received during ceremonies in his honor including a parade, a testimonial dinner and half - time activities at a football game. The bullwhip was in recognition of the nickname he was called privately —"Bullwhip Shorty" Paxton.

Maj. Gen. William P. Wilson, state adjutant general, revealed during the day the National Guard has approved spending of about $150,000 for remodeling the armory.

Nixon Makes Musical Peace With Truman

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Vice President Nixon is ready to make musical peace with Harry Truman.

Nixon and Truman, who have been exchanging hard words about each other for a long time, recently have had some nice things to say, for a change.

Nixon was asked when he and the former President will bury the hatchet.

"When the National Press Club invites us to play a duet," replied Nixon, a piano player of sorts.

The vice president suggested they could play "California, Here We Come" ond "The Missouri Waltz."

"I'll play "The Missouri Waltz," it's easier," Nixon said.

50 POISONED

JUNCTION, Tex. (AP) — Angry owners of pets in this southwest Texas ranch town are offering $567 reward for information leading to the arrest of whoever is poisoning dogs and cats. Charles Evans, radio station KMBL owner and organizer of a crusade to protect the city's pets, said more than 50 animals have been poisoned this week.

Six Persons Killed In Miss. Wrecks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Six persons died in three separate traffic accidents in Mississippi Friday and Saturday and a seventh died as a result of injuries received in an accident last week.

William Morgan Crapps of Lena was killed Saturday when his automobile hit the rear of a tractor-trailer truck five miles south of Jackson.

Thirty miles south of Meridian on highway 11, three persons were killed and three injured in a head-on crash Saturday.

The dead were identified as J. L. Hollingsworth, 22, and Joe Hollingsworth, 27, of Columbus and Sam V. Langford, 46, of Mayhew.

The injured were George C. Hollingsworth, 53, of Columbus, in critical condition; Robert Brown, 28, of Jacksonville, Fla., and Mrs. Johnnie Denton, 24, of Forest, both injured seriously.

Two persons were injured fatally in a two-car collision on highway 49 near the Magee city limits Friday night.

D. B. McLaurin, 21, of Magee, died in the crash and Wade Newman Smith of Mount Olive, died early Saturday in a Jackson hospital.

Odell Walker and Helen Williams, both of Magee, were injured.

In Hattiesburg, John E. Roberts, 27, of Hattiesburg, died Saturday of injuries suffered in a head-on collision that killed another person last Sunday.

Mrs. William Franklin Riels, 58, of Laurel, died in the crash. Her 57-year-old husband remains in critical condition.

Aircraft Carrier Arrives In East

CAPETOWN, South Africa (AP) —The U. S. aircraft carrier Essex, en route home from Formosa, arrived in Capetown Saturday.

The 3,000 crew members will be given shore leave during the ship's two-day stay. An officer said non-white members of the crew have been given guidance on South Africa's strict segregation laws, and "we don't expect any trouble or embarrassment."

Universities Given Grants

WASHINGTON (AP)—Award of grants totaling more than $8,600,000 to 32 colleges and universities was announced Saturday by the national science foundation.

The money will be used in support of academic-year institutes designed to help high school science and mathematics teachers add to their knowledge of the subjects.

The foundation estimates 1,500 high school science and mathematics teachers will be enrolled in the institutes at the 32 schools in the 1959-60 academic year.

Each of the 32 schools will be awarded about $270,000.

Tribe Faces Southeastern In Search Of Sixth Scalp

The Northeast State College Indians with five scalps hanging to their belts, the longest-winning streak in the school's history, will send a raiding party tonight to the campus of the Southeastern Louisiana College Lions at Hammond.

Kickoff time for the clash of the two remaining unbeaten teams in Gulf States Conference play will be at 8 p.m. at Strawberry Stadium.

The Indians have beaten Southern State 33-12, Stephen F. Austin 14-12, Delta State 23-0, Southwestern 20-8 and McNeese State 29-14. They are rated 16th in the nation in Dick Dunkel's Power Index Rating of small colleges in the United States. Northeast also rated 26th in the United Press International small college ratings, the only GSC school placing.

Assistant Coach George Luffey has high regard for the Lions from his scouting report of last week end when Southeastern beat Florence (Ala.) State 40-7.

"They have the best-balanced club we will have met up to date," said Luffey, adding, "they have speed to go wide, power to go up the middle and a good quarterback who throws well."

In the backfield for the Lions will be C. J. Alexander, Jr., a 23-year-old halfback who played freshman ball at LSU and transferred to Hinds Junior College where he made J. C. All-American and is now considered to be the Lions' most dangerous runner.

Another back to watch this weekend is Fullback James Hanley, a sophomore and also an LSU transfer, who is very capable on power plays. He is their main cog in punching out those first downs through the line.

Robert Goss holds down the other tackle post. A 6'3", 220-pounder, he is a good blocker and is exceptionally fast for his size.

Quarterback Everett Reynolds, star of the McNeese State game last week, for which he was selected "Back of the Week" by the Associated Press, will engineer the Indian attack.

Head Coach Jack C. Rowan praised his entire Indian line for their past contributions to the Northeast wins this season. French, Knox, Brent, Feeney, Cox, Cagle, Driskill, McGraw, Anderson have all done a terrific job defensively in the line, he said.

"Our line outplayed a much-heavier line last week," said Rowan. "A football game is won or lost in the line," he added.

"Galloway teams are always well-coached with a versatile offense and a sound defense, Rowan said. "I think we are going to be up for this game but I don't know how much the loss of Laudadio and McGough will hurt us. Terry Head, Amos, Leach, and Simon will be called upon to carry the load and will do the best job possible."

Coach Jim Coats says McGough and Laudadio will be missed but the other boys are showing up well.

Flankman Joe Driskill who caught six passes for 155 yards and two touchdowns will be at the right end post for the Indians Saturday. At left end will be Jim Knox who has snagged three passes for 49 yards and two touchdowns. Jerry Head will back up Driskill and Dale Hoover will back up Knox.

The Indian lineup with alternates:

RE — Joe Driskill and Jerry Head

LE — Jim Knox and Dale Hoover

RT — Luther French and Ray Borders

RG — Fred Cox and Roy Cagle

LG — Fred Feeney and Millard Abrams

C — Bill McGraw and Buck Anderson

QB — Everett Reynolds and Bob Randel

LH — Terry Head and Bob Leach

RH — Keith Amos and Terry Reeves

FB — Stewart Stover and Lloyd Ray Smith.

COLLEGE

Grid Attendance Shows Increase

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

College football already has shown an attendance increase of 3.33 per cent this season with every indication thatit may go even higher before the various bowl teams are determined.

Only in the Big Ten, Big Eight, Missouri Valley and Southern Conferences has there been a decrease and in the first two loops there were ready explanations.

Michigan, for instance, plays its home Big Ten schedule in a 100,000 seat stadium. But this year the Wolverines travelled for games to Michigan State and Northwestern, whose stadiums total 54,000 seats less.

And in the Big Eight, the schedule twice has had Kansas and Kansas State both at home on the same day. The campuses are only 80 miles apart.

The final half of these schedules are so arranged that the attendances will be greater.

The drop in the Big Ten was 3.60 per cent and in the Big Eight 1.36 per cent. The Missouri Valley crowds are 4.82 per cent smaller while those in the Southern loop are down 0.61, an Associated Press survey shows.

The biggest increase percentage-wise was turned in by the Skyline Conference where the crowds have been 16.24 per cent larger. Border Conference throngs are 13.99 per cent greater, helped in part by a larger stadium at Arizona State of Temple.

The survey was based on the reports from 106 colleges participating in 246 games. Last year's figures involved the same number of colleges but included 259 games.

The average attendance at college games during the first half of the 1957 season was 24,252. This year, again in the first half of the season only, the attendance has climbed to 25,063.

Vejar-Greaves Bout Cancelled

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Chico Vejar - Wilf Greaves proposed Nov. 12 middleweight fight will be cancelled because of a complaint by a Kentucky boxing commissioner, promoter Bill King said Friday.

Commissioner Bernie Bax said the fight had not been cleared, as required by the commission, before King announced the fight Thursday.

King said Vejar had not confirmed the date for the 10 round bout with the Canadian middleweight champion and published reports made the bout appear more definite than it was.

Geo. Washington Tumbles W & M

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Washington, a two-touchdown underdog, turned its one big break into a quick touchdown Friday night and stunned William and Mary with a 7-0 Southern Conference victory.

Fullback Duane Whetstone fammed one yard for the score with 35 seconds to play in the first half, three plays after a William and Mary blunder that cost the Indians the game.

STATISTICS	W&M	GW
First downs	5	7
Rushing yardage	37	129
Passing yardage	93	16
Passes	10-15	2-7
Passes intercepted	0	2
Punts	7-35	8-36
Fumbles lost	1	4
Yards penalized	60	48

With 31 yards to go on fourth down, third-string end Ben Johnson dropped back to kick but let the pass from center trickle off his fingers. Johnson scooped up the ball but was nailed on his own 14 by GW's Ed Rutsch and Don Herman.

Tom Haley gained three, Ted Colna rambled to the 1 and Whetstone crashed across. Bob Barbiere placekicked the point and the Griffith Stadium scoreboard was set for the rest of the night.

William and Mary, heavily favored because of its 13-6 upset of North Carolina State, never penetrated beyond GW's 18. Guard Bob Frulla, voted outstanding player of the game, led a Colonial defense which blunted William and Mary's attack.

Mike Injured, To Miss LSU Homecoming

Mike III, with two broken legs, has been sidelined for the season, right in the midst of LSU's homecoming with some 100,000 alumni and friends expected to jam the campus.

A hasty peek at the Ole War Skule's history fails to show a previous time since the first Mike was purchased in 1935 when the bengal tiger mascot failed to roll onto the home field in his cage just before game time.

Unbeaten LSU, favored over Florida, will play host to what is expected to be the largest homecoming crowd in history.

The football game should draw a capacity 65,000 as LSU seeks its sixth straight win.

During pre-game events, the LSU Alumni Federation will elect new officers. Candidates for president are Enoch T. Nix of Bossier City and E. T. Mansour of Shreveport.

A military review, pep rally, student variety show and other events are on the day-long program.

Approximately 100 alumni will gather at the same time halfway round the world at Tachikawa Air Force Base in Japan. The Japanese celebration was initiated by Air Force Lt. James E. Sanford of Covington, La., a 1953 graduate.

Brittain To Play Brown In North-South

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP)—A 62-year-old food broker and a 55-year-old banker will meet Saturday for the championship of the North and South seniors golf tournament.

The food broker, Jack Brittain Sr. of Woodhaven, N.Y., eliminated James H. McAlvin of Lake Forcest, Ill., 3 and 2 Friday. His opponent will be J. Wolcott Brown of Sea Girt, N.J., who won his semifinal match from Frederick Holmes of Riviera Beach, Fla., 3 and 2. Brown is president and chairman of a bank in Manasquan, N.J.

Brittain, a left-hander, made the turn 1-up. He halved the 10th and 11th holes with McAlvin, then parred No. 12 and birdied No. 13 to go 3-up. McAlvin cut the lead to 2-up as Brittain three-putted No. 14. They halved the next hole before Brittain won the match with a birdie on No. 16.

Brown, the reigning Southern seniors champion, gained his victory, in part, on the trap troubles of Holmes. They played fairly even until the ninth, when Holmes trapped his tee shot, enabling Brown to win the hole and turn 2-up.

Holmes won the 10th as Brown three-putted, but Holmes had trap troubles again on 12 and 13 and Brown won both. They halved the next three holes, giving Brown the match.

Campbell Fails To Break Mark

His highest speed was 201.5 mph.

Soviet Horses To Compete In International

MOSCOW (AP) — Two Soviet horses and a five-man Soviet delegation leave for Berlin Saturday en route to Laurel Park in Maryland for the Washington, D. C., International race.

The five Russians, including the directors of the Moscow Hippodrome and two jockeys, applied for U. S. visas Monday. They still had not received them Friday.

Joseph Cascarella, executive vice president of Laurel Park, has been in Moscow the past week in an effort to expedite transportation of the two 3-year-old colts which will carry the Kremlin's colors in the big race Nov. 11.

Cascarella said the Russians plan to pick up their un-visaed passports from the American Embassy and leave early Saturday for a three-day train trip to Berlin.

The Russian party is scheduled to fly from Berlin Oct. 29, arriving at Laurel Park the next day. Cascarella said he hoped the visas could be picked up in Germany.

The horses are two of the Soviet Union's best thoroughbreds, Garnyr and Zaryad.

Houston Still Hopes To Get Indian Club

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Sports Assn. said Friday night the deadline on its offer to buy the Cleveland Indians baseball club had expired with no reply received from Cleveland officials. But it apparently considered no news, good news.

The Houston group, led by oil heir Craig Cullinan Jr., offered more than 5½ million dollars for the club.

George Kirksey, executive secretary of the group, said the offer expired at noon Friday and added:

"This indicates to us that the Cleveland club's affairs are far from settled. We believe that in this situation we should sit tight and keep quiet pending the forthcoming Cleveland stockholders meeting."

Indian stockholders are expected to meet next week.

Pot Of Greenbacks Awaits Garden State Stakes Victor

By JOHN CHANDLER

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP) — The rains cleared away in southern New Jersey Friday and a pot of greenbacks worth $297,250 waited at the end of the rainbow for 13 colts entered in the Garden State Stakes.

The 2-year-old championship probably will be settled Saturday if a colt like First Landing, Tomy Lee, Intentionally, or Restless Wind can get into a winner's circle literally lined with banknotes.

Those colts have the credentials through earlier stakes victories, while most of the others could hardly stake a solid claim on the juvenile crown if they won this world's richest horse race.

Entries closed officially with the 13 horses who had been expected. Owners had to dig for $1,000 to enter, with another $1,000 apiece to face the starter Saturday at approximately 3:50 p.m., EST. The race will be televised (CBS) 3:30 - 4 p.m. (EST), and will be heard on radio (NBC Monitor).

First Landing, the colt Eddie Arcaro hopes will bring him a sixth Kentucky Derby next May, is the 7-5 favorite in the mile and one sixteenth event being run for the sixth time. Turn-to, First Landing's daddy, won the inaugural running of the race in 1953.

But First Landing isn't any lead pipe cinch, although he's won nine of 10 starts. Tomy Lee, the pride of California, is a colt many think will hit the big jackpot. His odds are 3 to 1.

Two weeks ago, First Landing won the $151,300 Champagne Stakes at Belmont Park. Tomy Lee, who was unbeaten in six starts, was leading in that mile race at the halfway mark when he suddenly bolted and dropped back to fifth. In doing so, he barged into Intentionally. Bill Hartack got him straightened away, and he rallied to finish second only a neck behind First Landing. For fouling Intentionally, Tomy Lee was dropped to third money, and. Intentionally was moved into second place.

Those are the sort of question marks that must be answered in the Garden State.

Tomy Lee is owned by Fred Turner, Jr., of Texas, while Christopher T. Chenery of Virginia and New York owns First Landing. Intentionally, from the Brookfield Farms of Harry Isaacs of Maryland, could wrap it up. He is the only horse who has beaten First Landing—in the Belmont Futurity.

Restless Wind, from the Llangollen Farm of Liz Whitney of Virginia, won the two rich Chicago Futurities at Washington and Arlington Park and is the biggest money winning juvenile of the season with $290,040.

The field is completed with the Charfran Stable's Crafty Skipper, Briaradle Farm's Rico Tesio, Brookmeade Stable's Sword Dancer, King Ranch's Black Hills, Ralph Lowe's Sherry Prince, T. Alie Grissom's Namon, Pollock and Bond's Winsome Winner, Cary C. Boshamer's Carolina Joy, and Leo Edwards' Moon Age.

This will be the second richest Garden State. In 1956 they ran for $319,210, and Calumet Farm's Barbizon made off with a net purse of $168,490.50.

If any horse but a supplementary entry wins, this would be the most money ever won by a horse in a race—roughly about $175,000. The four supplementaries, at $10,000 each, are Restless Wind, Manon, Winsome Winner and Sword Dancer.

Either First Landing or Restless Wind could become the top money winning 2-year-old in history by getting home on top. Jewel's Reward earned a record $349,642 last season.

Willie Shoemaker will ride Tomy Lee. Hartack, who won the last two Garden State Stakes aboard Barbizon and Nadir, will handle Black Hills, a 15-1 shot.

Erice Guerin, who won with Summer Tan in 1954, rides Sword Dancer.

Richest of the other Saturday features is the $50,000-added Canadian Championship at New Woodbine. The 1⅝ mile race on the grass has attracted a field of 12, eight of them from the United States. Probable choice is the three-horse entry of Ekaba, Jack Ketch and Mahan from the Hasty House Farm.

Jamaica matches eight veteran performers in the mile and one-sixteenth of the $25,000 added Queens County Handicap Tick Tock is the probable choice off victories in his last three races but Cohoes carries top weight of 126 pounds. Tick Tock gets in with three less, the same as Eddie Schmidt.

A traffic jam is in prospect at Suffolk Downs where 17 sprinters have been named for the 6 furlong, $20,000 aded John Alden Handicap. The field numbers such fleet performers as Bull Strength (124), Alhambra (120), The Crack (118), and Mark Antony (121).

Bay Meadows winds up its fall meeting with Battle Dance heading a field of 10 in the $25,000 added William P. Kyne Memorial Handicap. It's a mile and one-eighth test with Battle Dance carrying top weight of 124 pounds.

Rounding out the top races on Saturday's program are the $10,000 added Littletown Handicap at Sportsman's Park and a $7,500 Handicap at Keeneland.

Sooners Face Kansas State In Big 8 Tilt

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Not since 1934 has Kansas State whipped an Oklahoma football team, and it doesn't look like this is the year either.

The Sooners, ranked 9th nationally, are favored by five touchdowns in the Big Eight clash. Under Coach Bud Wilkinson, Oklahoma has played in 64 league games without a defeat.

While a heavy favorite, Oklahoma is not taking the game lightly as Wilkinson recalls last year's scare. A cleverly - contrived defense by Kansas State's Coach Bus Mertes held Oklahoma's scoring punch down and the Sooners got out with a 13-0 victory.

Oklahoma opened its Big Eight season last week with 43-0 victory over Kansas.

Missouri upset K-State 32-8 last week when the Wildcats played without their captain, Gene Meier, a tackle, and Bill Gallagher, hard-running sophomore fullback. They will be without them again this week.

UNANIMOUS

Liston Decisions Bert Whitehurst

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Charles "Sonny" Liston scored a unanimous 10-round decision Friday over Bert Whitehurst, knocking Whitehurst out of the ring in the final seconds of the last round. Whitehurst was trying to climb back into the ring when the fight ended.

Liston took control of the fight from the start, working constantly on Whitehurst with his rapier-like left, which he kept jabbing to the face. But it was not until the seventh round that Liston really gave out with a flurry that left little doubt of his superiority.

Liston's weight of 212½ pounds —22½ more than his opponent—began to tell heavily on Whitehurst in the seventh. Whitehurst appeared tired when he came out for the eighth.

It was Liston's 20th victory in 21 fights. It was the 14th straight victory for Liston and his second this year over Whitehurst, the only man who has been able to go the distance against him this year.

Liston, formerly of St. Louis but now fighting out of Philadelphia, caught his Baltimore opponent with a sharp left hook early in the ninth and had Whitehurst in serious trouble.

In the 10th Liston was in again midway in the round with his left. He caught Whitehurst directly on the chin. In a wild flurry of lefts and rights, Liston sent Whitehurst reeling through the ropes. Whitehurst lay on the apron as Referee Harry Kessler began his count. He was trying to get back in the ring when the final gong sounded at the count of eight.

Whitehurst, a journeyman fighter who now has a 24-15-4 record, had difficulty getting through Liston's guard. Occasionally he turned on brief spurts but for the most part he appeared ineffective.

Liston used a left jab repeatedly, keeping Whitehurst off guard, occasionally using a right which seldom landed. Both were cautious through the greater part of the fight. It was not until the fourth round that Liston put on a flurry of action. Then he drove Whitehurst into the ropes but he failed to follow up.

Whitehurst forced Liston to retreat a few times but never actually had his heavier, slow-moving opponent in real trouble. Whitehurst's best showing came midway in the fight.

Conley Gets Okay To Play With Celtics

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Pitcher Gene Conley of the Milwaukee Braves was told Friday night the team's management had no objections to his playing basketball with the Boston Celtics.

Joseph Cairnes, president of the Braves, said he met with General Manager John Quinn and Birdie Tebbetts, the club's new executive vice president, and they decided there was no reason why they should stand in Conley's way.

"Conley has a background in professional basketball," Cairnes said, "a thing uncommon to most baseball players."

Conley signed with the Celtics Thursday for an undisclosed amount. A clause in his contract with the Braves states that "... he will not engage in any game or exhibition of football, basketball, hockey or other athletic sport." Conley has a standard one year contract with the Braves.

Conley played with the Celtics during the 1952-53 season. Hampered by a sore arm, his 1958 record with the Braves was 0-6.

China Dreams Haunt Student

RUSTON (Special) — Among the students of Louisiana Tech is a petite Chinese - American girl who mixes memories of summer days in China along with her college work this fall.

The student is Betty Wall of Tallulah, a senior majoring in medical technology at Tech, who spent six weeks in Hong Kong with the Ecumenical Voluntary Service, a subsidiary of the World Council of Churches.

Miss Wall, who speaks Chinese with a southern drawl, says the trip was significant to her because her father was born in China and had returned there only once after coming to the United States as a small boy. He went back to China to marry

The Techster's voyage over the Pacific on the "President Cleveland" included such ports as Honolulu, Manila and Yokohama. Many college students, including Hawaiians, Japanese, Chinese, Filipinos, and Americans, were aboard.

"As we entered Hong Kong harbor," Miss Wall recalls, "I thought the city looked like a paradise against the background of mountains and the brilliant sky."

This image was soon destroyed by the appearance of tiny junks filled with begging families.

During the first two weeks of her stay, the Techster lived in the nearby town of Kowloon, spending the days touring Hong Kong.

"Everywhere I went," she said, "I was mistaken for Japanese."

To make matters worse, at first she understood only her parents' dialect and her Louisiana accent was rather out of place, she said.

Miss Wall mastered the chopsticks, shopped at a six-to-one exchange rate, visited a Chinese opera, toured the surrounding islands by bicycle, and developed a distaste for tea, which is served there several times daily.

But the Tech student's trip was not entirely a tour. After two weeks of becoming acquainted with the city and its culture, she moved to the Christian Family Life Center, which is located in a refugee resettlement area, for four - weeks work camp

The camp, whose 25 members came from all parts of the world, had as its project the laying of a playground for refugee children. Construction equipment was impractical because of nearby buildings, so all the labor was done by hand on the side of the mountain.

"I ached for the first week," Miss Wall said, "but eventually my muscles became accustomed to the job." The volunteers dug, carried baskets of dirt down the terraces, carried pails of water up the mountain, poured cement, and took their turns at K. P. duty.

VIEW

At the work camp, she got a first - hand view of the living conditions of the 2,000,000 refugees in Hong Kong. Small squatter huts, made of tar paper, mud, bamboo and tin, are clustered around the mountain in the resettlement area. The men, who fled from Communist China, find it difficult to obtain jobs. The unemployed number over 300,000.

Some families sleep on the streets and the death rate is very high. Ninety per cent of the children have tuberculosis. Many of the children do not go to school because their families cannot afford the small tuition.

Hong Kong was suffering from a water shortage during the Techster's stay. The water was turned on for five hours each day.

On the return trip, Miss Wall made a two - week stopover in Tokyo at the home of an American school teacher. While there, she often wore a kimono, just as she had worn Chinese dresses in Hong Kong. Even there, she was mistaken for Japanese — although the only sentence she spoke was "I do not understand." Attempting more, she gave a taxi driver the wrong directions and spent an hour trying to correct the error.

The Tallulah girl toured Tokyo and surrounding villages, taking in the Kabuki, a theater where all the parts are enacted by men.

On a weekend stay at a Japanese inn, Miss Wall confounded the manager by asking for a private bath.

"Communal bathing is popular among the Japanese," she explained.

Summing up, Miss Wall said: "I had a much broader idea of the problems and the people of the world when I returned."

Now, while she attempts to study, she says she finds her mind wandering time and again to the tea houses, squatters' huts, Shinto shrines and especially the smiling faces of refugee children on the other side of the world.

Stamps Sold At 10 Times Face Value At Vatican

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Scalpers sold Vatican "sede vacante" stamps at 10 times face value Saturday in the prospect that the issue would end with the election of a Pope Sunday or Monday.

The 15, 25 and 60 lire "sede vacante" stamps, with a total face value of 16 cents, went on sale after death of Pope Pius XII and will be replaced as soon as a new pontiff is elected.

Scalpers were offering them in St. Peter's Square, calling: "Buy now! They'll only last a few days."

They were asking 1,000 lire — $1.60 — of American tourists, but selling as low as half that to Italians.

Two-Car Wreck Nets Injury To Local Resident

A 24-year-old West Monroe woman was injured at noon Saturday in a two-car collision at the intersection of Stella and Natchitoches Streets in West Monroe. One driver was charged with reckless driving.

Miss Betty Johnson Eppinett, of 703 Vick Street, was hospitalized at St. Francis with a broken right foot.

Investigating officers said the accident occurred when John S. Hendrix, 67, of 102 Peach Street, West Monroe, pulled out of 1701 Natchitoches Street onto Stella Street into the path of a car driven by Glenda F. Perhacs, 17, of 4503 South Grand Street.

LSU Alumni Elects Nix President

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The Louisiana State University's Alumni Federation Saturday elected Enoch T. Nix of Bossier City president.

Nix defeated E. T. (Mike) Monsour of Shreveport

Other officers named are Lloyd F. Love, Ferriday, first vice president, and I. J. Becnel, New Orleans, second vice president. New Louisiana members placed on the alumni council are Mrs. Frank Mideleton, Baton Rouge, and Jesse Kees, Alexandria. Sterling (Buck) Gladden, Baton Rouge, was named council member from the LSU board of supervisors.

New out of state council members elected are Andrew (Jack) Aycock, Laurel, Miss.; R. V. (Vancy) Miles Jr., Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Walter C. (Buddy) Coleman, Little Rock, Ark.; Thomas H. Bowen Jr., Jackson, Miss., and Guy W. Miller, Beaumont, Tex.

The federation adopted a new constitution to make the alumni association a legal entity.

United States, Red Chinese Resume Talks

WARSAW (AP) — The United States and Communist China Saturday renewed their negotiations on a solution to the explosive situation in the Formosa Strait.

The talks between U. S. Ambassador Jacob Beam and Communist Chinese envoy Wang Ping-Nan recessed 10 days ago. Since that time, the Reds have resumed the shelling of Quemoy and Secretary of State Dulles has made a solidarity yisit to Chiang Kai-Shek.

Both ambassadors were silent as they began their ninth session. Because of the new flareup in the area, diplomats here regarded the talks as having taken a special importance.

FANFANI "SLIGHTLY ILL"

ROME (UPI) — Premier Amintore Fanfani was confined to his bed with a slight case of influenza. He missed a committee meeting of his Christian Democrat Party Thursday night and was reported "slightly indisposed."

Operation In Red For P.O. Seen

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Post Office Department faces the prospect of continuing to operate in the red despite the recent postal rate increases.

Officials predict a deficit of around 351 million dollars for the 1959 fiscal year ending next June 330. This is despite the new one cent postal hikes which are due to add 450 million dollars more a year to the postal purse.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield has not yet decided whether to make a new pitch to Congress for another rate increase.

Aides indicate he may delay any such a request while waiting to determine whether the second and third class mail increases scheduled to go into effect on a staggered basis fatten the kitty. The first of these becomes effective Jan. 1.

At the beginning of Eisenhower administration, Summerfield took over with the dream of operating the department without a deficit. But he is far from his goal.

Postal aides blame pay increases of about 275 million a year and higher charges by railroads for mail hauling for taking a big bite out of the new revenue.

Officials said it was too early to determine whether the first class mail increases which went into effect Aug. 1 are bringing in the expected revenue. They noted, however, that there has been no "appreciable" change in the mail volume as a result of the higher rates. In fact, officials said, the mail load continues to climb 3 to 5 per cent a year.

They point out that in 1866 the mail volume was 60 pieces per capita a year. In 1957 the per capita volume was 350 pieces. By 1980, it has been predicted the figure will be 700 pieces.

Officials said initial increases slated to become effective Jan. 1, primarily on third class bulk mail and second class mail, will bring in about 43 million dollars. But even with these hikes, they said, the department will continue to handle second and third class mail service at a loss of about $250,000 a year.

TREMENDOUS AGILITY

Khrush Knows When To Jump

Nikita S. Khrushchev, head of the Soviet party and government, is a man of tremendous agility.

He has a seemingly tireless energy, wide ranging ability and that all-important Communist knack of knowing when to jump.

He has made more enemies in Russia in the last few years than any other Soviet leader except Stalin. But so far he is still in complete control.

His control has been challenged. But when he can't lick them he joins them. Most of the time he's managed to lick them.

He uses no terror in the Stalin pattern. His enemies are still alive.

His agility vaulted him to the top in the scramble after Stalin's death, and has kept him at the top despite bloopers and reverses that would have felled a less nimble man.

Khrushchev has played many roles since he came to power. His early characterizations were popular.

When he played the clown the Russians roared. They laughed at him but in their way they loved him, made up anecdotes about him and slapped their thighs.

Then in February 1956 he denounced Stalin and a hush fell over the land, broken only by the coaxing singsong of orators and party agitators rallying the masses.

After 30 years of Stalinism the new line was hard to swallow whole. As the people slowly digested it a new excitement stirred the country.

It stirred the people of Poland and Hungary even more. They rioted in Poznan, revolted in Hungary.

Khrushchev reared back.

At a New Year's banquet in the Kremlin's gold and marble St. George's Hall, Khrushchev announced that Stalin was a great man after all.

The cynics smiled. "We knew it all the time," they said. And Khrushchev even joked about it, and the people laughed.

They fell a little silent again in June and October 1957 when he started purging his onetime partners in the Kremlin. For a spell the ghost of Stalin seemed about to rise in earnest.

So far there is no indication of solidarity in the ranks of the disaffected. And, equally important, there is no man of stature left to lead them.

World War III Has Started, Adm. Brown Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice Adm. Charles R. (Cat) Brown says "World War III has long since started, whether we'll admit it or not."

Brown, commander of the 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean until recently, made the comment in an address to the Navy League Friday night.

LAMBERT TROPHY AT STAKE

Big Things To Happen On College Gridirons Today

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Saturday is a day unlike any other day so far during the 1958 college football season. Here, among other things, is what's going to happen:

1. A Lambert Trophy winner all but formally chosen.
2. A big step taken in picking the Ivy League, Big Ten, Skyline, Southern and Southwest Conference champions.
3. Some highly ranked teams forced to prove just how good they really are.

The Cadets, with a 4-0 record, will have to play without fullback Harry Walters and with a highly curtailed Pete Dawkins, the star halfback with a charley horse. The Panthers, 4-1, are in good physical shape.

Ohio State (No. 2) with a 2-0 Big Ten record, and 4-0 overall, meets powerful Wisconsin, 1-1 in confe ence play. Then to the West, unbeaten Northwestern (No. 8), 2-0 in the Big Ten plays Iowa (No. 7), also 2-0 Ohio State and Northwestern are paired for the following week.

In the East, the same situation exists. Harvard (1-1) and Dartmouth (2-0) in the Ivy League play each other, while Princeton travels to Cornell where their 2-0 records will be tested. Princeton and Dartmouth, who meet Nov. 22, are expected to decide the title then.

Texas (No. 4) plays Rice in the Southwest Conference. Rice is 2-0, Texas 1-0 in conference play, while idle Texas Christian (No. 16) is also 2-0. The winner of the Texas-Rice game could begin looking toward the Cotton Bowl.

Virginia Tech plays West Virginia in the Tobacco Festival Bowl and Virginia Military meets Davidson, in Southern Conference games. All four teams have 1-0 records. The conference title could be postponed until Nov. 27 when Tech and VMI play if things go as expected this weekend.

Now for those big boys who have to produce or leave.

Louisiana State (No. 3) plays Southeast Conference rival Florida, while sixth ranked Mississippi meets non-conference foe Arkansas. LSU and Mississippi could wrap up the title next Saturday

Fifth ranked Auburn, its 17-game winning streak broken with a 7-7 tie by Georgia Tech last week, plays Maryland, which has been shut out in three games this year.

Ninth ranked Oklahoma plays Big Eight rival Kansas State, while Notre Dame (No. 11) meets Purdue in their usual slam-bang affair. Purdue is ranked 15th and will face the Irish on a regional television hookup in the Midwest.

Colorado (No. 12) puts its high powered offense against Nebraska in the Big Eight while the surprising Air Force Academy (No. 14) plays Utah, whose Lee Grosscup keeps the footballs flying.

Georgia Tech (No. 17) travels to Dallas to play Southern Methodist, still wondering if Mustang quarterback Don Meredith will play. Navy (No. 18) after absorbing its first loss from Tulane last week, meets Penn's Quakers, who won their first the same day. Mississippi State (No. 19) plays Alabama in the Southeast Conference and Michigan State (No. 20) plays Illinois in the Big Ten.

Other top games feature:

Midwest: Minnesota at Michigan; Miami, Ohio at Indiana; Tulane at Kansas; College of Pacific at Marquette; Iowa State at Missouri; Oklahoma State at Cincinnati.

Southwest: Texas A&M at Baylor; Tulsa at North Texas State; Wichita at Hardin-Simmons.

CADETS UNBEATEN

Panthers Seek To Upset Army

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pitt's chances to upset unbeaten Army Saturday got a boost Friday with the disclosure that Cadet halfback Peter Dawkins will see little if any action.

Dawkins and halfback Bob Anderson have helped the Cadets run up the best collegiate offensive record, win four straight games and grab the No. 1 ranking nationally.

"Dawkins definitely will not start," said Army Coach Earl Blaik after sending his team through a light workout in Pitt Stadium. Dawkins pulled a leg muscle last week against Virginia.

Blaik indicated he might use the fleet halfback if the situation called for it, but would take no unnecessary chances. "We still have four games left after this one," Blaik added.

Fullback Harry Walters is definitely lost to the Cadets. He sustained a severe ankle sprain against Virginia.

Pitt carries a 4-1 record into the game which will be televised in the East (12:30 p.m. EST, NBC). The Panthers, two and three deep in every position, will be without the services of place-kicking guard Norton Seaman and fullbacks Bob Stark and Joe Cunningham.

Essentially a ground team in seasons past, Pitt, under Coach John Michelosen, is expected to throw a lot of passes. Quarterbacks Ivan Toncic, Bill Kaliden and Ed Sharockman have connected with 49 per cent of their aerials and Toncic has completed 20 of 30.

Army will have to overcome a jinx to whip the Panthers, who have never lost to the Cadets in three games in Pittsburgh. Pitt has won five of the seven meetings with Army taking a pair, including last year at West Point

The game shapes up as a battle for the Lambert Trophy, symbolic of Eastern football supremacy. Army currently is running first in the weekly voting for the award with Pitt second.

Cards Defeat Jap All-Stars In Exhibition

TOKYO (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals downed a Japanese All-Star squad 5-2 Friday in the opener of a 16-game exhibition tour of this country.

Solly Hemus, the Cardinals' manager, said he felt the Japanese players were of major league calibre.

"Before coming to Japan I thought Japanese players were of double-A or triple-A classification," Hemus said. "They are much better than I expected."

He said the Cardinals would have to improve or they would face some rough times on the tour.

"Friday's Japanese pitchers were good," he said. "They throw harder than I thought. Instead of curving the ball, they fired some fast ones."

The Cardinals still combed two pitchers for seven hits, three by second baseman Don Blasingame which accounted for two of the Cardinals' runs.

The Cards' star, Stan Musial, was a disappointment to the 25,000 fans who turned out at Korakuen Stadium. He walked once, grounded to second and flied to center in three appearances.

"I will start hitting Saturday," Stan The Man said apologetically. "The pitchers surprised me the way they got the ball over the plate. They have fine control."

St. Louis' starting pitcher, left hander Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell, was lifted in the sixth inning after suffering a bruise on his right hand while stopping a line drive by Futoshi Nakanishi the Japanese first baseman

The injure wasn't serious but Hemus said he didn't want to take any chances. Mizell was replaced by Don Blaylock.

San Francisco Center Suffers Knee Injury

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Huge Frank Morze, center for the San Francisco 49ers, may be through for the season with a knee injury suffered last week.

The 265-pound former Boston College star suffered a torn ligament near the left knee in last Sunday's game against the Philadelphia Eagles.

Friday the report was he would be inactive another four or five weeks. Coach Frank Albert said he may place Morze on the injured reserve list, which would keep him out the rest of the season.

Leavitt Gets Axe; Tried To Sign Elliott

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—The rug Friday was pulled out from under the American promoter who offered fabulous professional contracts to Australia's ace miler, Herb Elliott, and the record-smashing Konrads kids.

The promoter, Leo Leavitt, was fired by his boss Fred Spiess, secretary - treasurer of Western Promotions of San Francisco. The dismissal is effective Nov. 26.

"Leavitt magnified his position and greatly overstepped his authority," Spiess told a press conference here. "We would sack Leo at once but we have to abide by our contract."

Leavitt offered Elliott, the world's fastest miler, a quarter of a million dollars to turn professional. He reportedly made a $125,000 offer to Jon and Ilsa Konrads, who hold many of the world's swimming records.

After Elliott turned down Leavitt's offer, the promoter attacked amateur officials as "a bunch of slobs" and threatened to make disclosures which would ruin Elliott's amateur career.

The crowd booed loudly and yelled for Leavitt "to take your check book and go back to America."

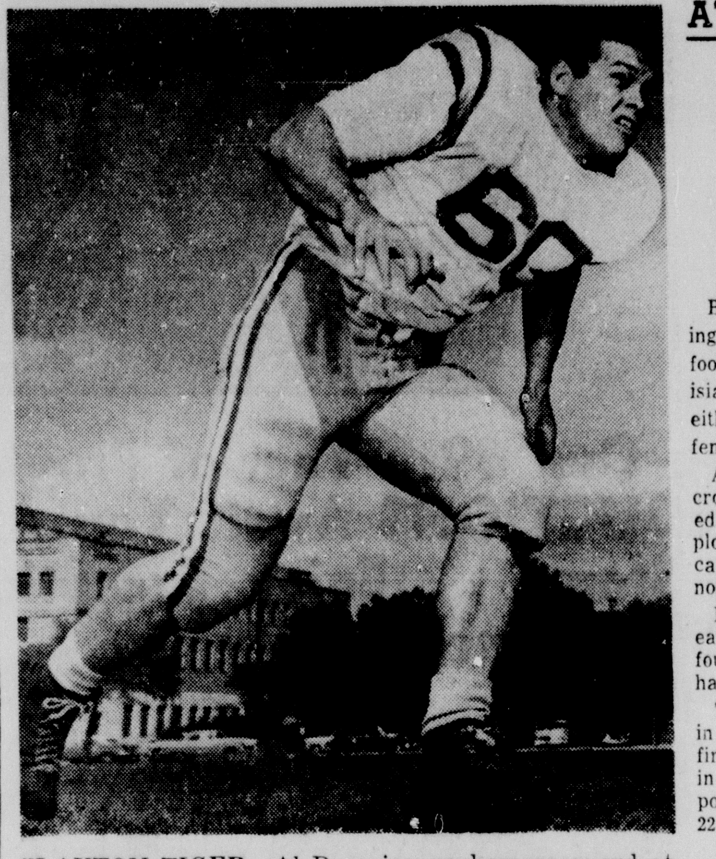
Leavitt walked out of the news conference in a huff, saying he would resign in seven days. He insisted he could still lay his hands on two million dollars. He said Elliott and the Konrads "will still come over to me."

Scotch Event At Highland Course Today

Bob Creighton and Lila Simpson defend their title today in the second Scotch foursome of the fall season at the Highland Park Country Club golf course.

The tourney teams are comprised of one man and one woman, each playing the same ball on alternate shots. Both tee off and choose the best tee shot to play, then alternate shots.

Sixteen teams played the tournament four weeks ago won by Creighton and Simpson and another large field is expected. All players should register before 11 a.m. today by calling Highland pro James Aulds.



CLAYTON TIGER—Al Dampier, sophomore guard at LSU, will see action tonight when the third-ranked Bengals play Florida at Baton Rouge. A 200-pounder, Dampier is a resident of Clayton and played his high school football at Sicily Island.

BIG TEN BATTLE

Wisconsin Plays Buckeyes Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State's second-ranked Bucks were building up to a stage of relaxed confidence for Saturday's Big Ten clash with Wisconsin's Badgers.

Noting that his huge charges fumbled three times against impotent Indiana last week—the first bobbles of the year—Coach Woody Hayes has moved to take the tension from his team.

Thursday's practice schedule was billed on the bulletin board as "Operation Sally Rand." Halfway through the workout the squad doffed its pads and headgears and romped the rest of the way in practically nothing.

Before and after the workout the locker room hi-fi set blared with the university's marching band music, and the entire score of "Music Man." The freshman squad visited the varsity field for a round of "Yea, Varsity" and "Beat Wisconsin" yells for the upper classmen.

After another easy workout Friday, Hayes said:

"We think we're good enough to do it." He meant he thinks his Bucks can whip the Badgers for their fifth of the year, their 14th in a row, and their 27th Western Conference victory in 29 starts.

Hayes figures 13th-rated Wisconsin, after losing 20-9 to Iowa a week ago, will be "higher than a kite," and that the Bucks will have to be two or three touchdowns better than at any time this year to win.

The kickoff is slated for 2 p.m. (EST) and at least 83,000 fans will be on hand.

RACING ROUNDUP

Brilliant Speed Wins Buena Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

George E. Allen's well-named Brilliant Speed carried Jockey Larry Gilligan to victory in the Buena Purse at Garden State Park Friday.

The 3-year-old son of Count Speed finished a length before John S. Kroese's Merry Lark. Calumet Farm's Jeriel the 4-5 choice, was third. Brilliant Speed paid $24.80.

The 5-year-old son of Brick-Eos, ridden by Johnny Ruane, sped the mile and a sixteenth in 1:42 3-5, three fifths off Blessbull's track record set in 1956.

Meeting won by 5 lengths over George D. Widener's Rare Treat, who took the place by 2½ lengths over Laudy Lawrence's Beau Diable. Meeting returned $7.40.

Audley Farms' Hit Head came out of a seven-horse Jam in a rip-roaring finish for a neck decision over Peter Fuller's Wailin Sailor in the Suffolk Downs feature.

Winding Way Farms' Graces Luck was third. Hit Head ran the 6 furlongs in 1:14 1-5 and paid $12.20.

John Leavitt's Lisa Lou was ridden by George Taniguchi in a fast finish to win the feature at Bay Meadows by a neck from Justa Drizzle, a 50 to 1 shot.

Chicote Girl was third, another neck back in the race for 2-year-old fillies.

Lisa Lou, daughter of Lodge Night, ran the 6 furlongs in 1:11 1-5 and paid $18.40.

Hogs Tangle With Rebs At Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Mighty Ole Miss rolls into War Memorial Stadium Saturday to meet Arkansas, but the unbeaten Rebels approach the contest with a measure of respect for the winless Razorbacks.

Four times in the immediate past seasons, the Mississippi Rebels have entered this contest as the favorite. On three occasions they have crawled back to Oxford licking 6-0, 14-0 and 12-6 wounds.

But if ever the cards were stacked in Ole Miss' favor, it is this year. Coach Johnny Vaught's 1958 Sugar Bowl champions have built up a full head of steam since their last defeat — by Arkansas in Memphis a year ago.

Mississippi has a 5-0 record while Arkansas stands 0-5.

The game — high point of the football season for fans in both states — will be a 38,000 sellout despite the discrepancy in caliber of opponents. All except 800 end zone seats were sold by mail long ago.

Excellent weather is forecast for the 2 p.m. EST kickoff.

Country Club Qualifying To Begin Today

Qualifying begins today for the Highland Park Country Club men's championship tournament and will continue through Nov. 2, James Aulds, pro at the West Monroe club, announced yesterday. E. B. Peddy is the tournament's defending champion.

Aulds also announced that qualifying will start Nov. 1 at Highland for the Twin City Amateur Championship. Qualifying will continue through Nov. 14 and the tourney will be played the 15th and 16th. State amateur titlist Roy Nash is the defending champion.

Play in the Twin City's championship flight will be over 54 holes of medal play. All other flights will be nine-hole match play.

The tournament's entry fee will be $5.

Gators Test Third-Ranked LSU In Homecoming Tilt

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.

BATON ROUGE (AP)—In boxing, it's slugger against boxer. In football Saturday night, it's Louisiana State against Florida. In either case the story is strong offense against tough defense.

A capacity 65,000 homecoming crowd will watch the upset-minded 'Gators try to spike LSU's explosive offense, led by All-America halfback candidate Billy Cannon.

Kickoff is 8 p.m. for the Southeastern Conference contest. In four seasons, coach Paul Dietzel has never beaten Florida.

The Tigers, for the first time in nearly 20 years, have won their first five games, and rank third in the current Associated Press poll. LSU rolled up 132 points to 22 for combined foes.

Florida won two, lost one and pint-sized Jimmy Dunn had to pitch a touchdown pass as time ran out last week to snatch a 6-6 tie with Vanderbilt.

Florida's rugged line, led by Val Heckman and end Don Fleming, limited four opponents to 260 yards net gain on the ground.

Cannon, the SEC's top rusher, spearheads a tough Tiger ground attack that has rolled for 1,099 yards in five games. The 200-pound halfback gets a lot of help from fullback Tommy Davis and halfbacks Johnny Robinson and Don Purvis.

The Gators last year snapped a four-game LSU winning streak 22-14 at Gainesville, Fla.

LSU's climb into national prominence is due to reserves as much as the Cannon-led first unit.

Dietzel has his best 11 football players on the first team, but uses a two-platoon reserve system, the "Chinese bandits" on defense and the "go team" on offense.

Center Max Fugler has been a standout starter, but John Langan on the "bandits" is pushing Fugler hard for first team honors.

Davis and Purvis give the "go team" a terrific offensive punch, mixing Davis' power running with the 160-pound "scooter's" nifty broken field dashes.

LSU's wing-T offense is designed to get the most out of a lightweight but highly mobile line. Florida should have a weight advantage in the line.

Coach Bob Woodruff's Gators run from a straight T formation, relying heavily on the belly series which features a fake or give to the fullback with Dunn either keeping himself or tossing to a halfback.

Both teams are near full strength. Only halfback Don Lucey is doubtful for Florida, with Davis likely to be slowed by a leg injury for LSU.

PRO FOOTBALL

Unbeaten Marks On Line Sunday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The only remaining unbeaten records in the National Football League—those of the Cleveland Browns and Baltimore Colts—should undergo severe strain Sunday.

The Browns, whose 4-0 mark leads the Eastern Conference, send their stout ground-gaining attack against the Chicago Cardinals' tricky "triple wing" offense at Chicago's Comiskey Park. The Cardinals (2-2) are improving steadily and two weeks ago lost to Cleveland by only a touchdown, 35-28.

The Colts, leading the Western Conference with four straight victories, are at home with their formidable neighborhood rivals, the Washington Redskins (2-2). The Redskins beat the Colts in an exhibition game. A verbal prelude to the game involving a Colt player and George Marshall, Redskin owner, has helped sell every available ticket.

In other league action, the Chicago Bears play at San Francisco, the winless Detroit Lions at Los Angeles, Philadelphia at Green Bay and Pittsburgh at New York.

Cleveland is banking on its two ball-rushing stars, Jimmy Brown and rookie Bob Mitchell, to offset any of the wild shenanigans the Cards might try with their new wide open formation which Coach Pop Ivy brought down from the Canadian league.

Brown has gone 635 yards on the ground in four games, a record pace.

The Colts have depended largely on Johnny Unitas' passing and Lenny Moore's running victories over Green Bay, Chicago Bears, and Detroit, the latter beaten twice. Johnny Olszewski and Eddie Lebaron are among the Washington attacking threats the Colts must watch.

The New York Giants (2-2) will have a little known Texan, Don Maynard, in the left halfback spot of the injured Frank Gifford against the Pittsburgh Steelers (1-33). The Steelers are attempting to get an offense clicking behind Bobby Layne.

The Bears (3-1), pre-season favorites for the Western crown will be endeavoring to pick up some ground on front-running Baltimore in their game at San Francisco. The Bears won their first meeting with the 49ers, 28-6, but the San Francisco team (2-2) bounced back last week to beat the Philadelphia Eagles, 30-24.

The Los Angeles Rams (2-2) will be favored to repeat their early season triumph over the defending champion Lions (0-3-1). The Rams scored two touchdowns in the last two minutes to win at Detroit's Briggs Stadium 42-28.

Norm Van Brocklin, who triggers the Philadelphia offense, may give the Eagles (1-3) an edge over the unseason Green Bay Packers, who have lost three games and tied one in four starts.

Grambling To Meet Prairie View Eleven

GRAMBLING La. (Special) — Coach Eddie Robinson was looking around Friday for incentives to put his scrimmage - scarred Grambling Tigers in the proper frame of mind for tonight's crucial game with the Prairie View Panthers.

The contest will be played in Grambling's new stadium, and, due to a curious state of affairs, might help decide the Southwestern Conference chompionship.

Both elevens are undefeated and it is hard to imagine a Southwestern loop title picture without familiar Prairie View faces. Opposing coaches professed a willingness Friday to accept an even break as par. However, beating Prairie View is a "must" for coaching happiness in Grambling and Robinson and his staff will shoot the works.

Saturday is "Dad's Day" and the fathers of Grambling football players will sit on their bench.

You'll enjoy the true old-style Kentucky bourbon always smoother because it's slow-distilled

There are less expensive ways to make bourbon—but slow distilling is the patient, old-style way, the smoothing way to make whisky. Next time, ask for Early Times.

Stock Market Acts As If Embarrassed

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market acted for a good part of this week as if it were embarrassed by the nororiety it had achieved in the preceding week.

Prices throughout the first three days of the period drifted lower with turnover declining each day. Occasionally did the ticker run behind floor transactions, and then for brief periods.

The market had a chastened appearance, particularly when viewed against the wild gyrations and heavy trading of the previous week (Volume set a 25 year record that week).

On Thursday the uniformly lower trend ended as rails spurted even though industrials continued to decline. Activity picked up a bit, too. This also was the pattern on Friday.

The upshot of the week's activity was that, for the first time in 10 weeks, the market declined on average. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed at $197.60, down $1.50, although the rail component was ahead $1.10 and finished at a new 1958 peak.

Probably the most arresting feature of the week, aside from the dwindling activity, was the strength in selective issues. In some cases this was based on news developments, in others on wild, wild rumors.

In any case this type of activity indicated there was still plenty of investment and speculative money around to hop into the market in hopes of uncovering a good thing.

Northern Pacific was an example of a stock responding to news. Directors declared a stock dividend. The stock gained 4¾ for the week. Another dividend baby was Schenley, which rose 6⅞ on four extra stock dividends.

Coleman Guest Of Gov. Faubus

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Gov. and Mrs. J. P. Coleman of Mississippi were luncheon guests of Arkansas Gov. and Mrs. Orval E. Faubus Saturday, prior to the Arkansas-Ole Miss football game here.

Coleman declined to discuss school integration problems with newsmen.

The Mississippi governor's party arrived in Arkansas yesterday, but stayed overnight in Fort Smith. They reached Little Rock this morning.

Coleman said that after the football game, he and Mrs. Coleman would leave for Memphis.

Bonds Advance But Turnover Shows Decline

NEW YORK (AP) Corporate bonds advanced on smaller turnover this week and government securities closed mixed with a tendency toward the upside.

What distinguished an otherwise lacklustre performance was the background against which it was achieved. The discount rate went up from 2 to 2½ per cent in five of the federal reserve's 12 districts. It is considered only a matter of time until the other seven follow suit.

Ordinarily such a move by the feds send bond prices lower. The discount rate (what the feds charges member banks when they borrow from it to make their own commercial loans) is a basic money-market charge. When it is boosted other interest rates generally rise too and bonds, tied to fixed incomes, decline.

This time, however, other money market short term rates have risen in recent weeks. The treasury's 81-day bill rate has been in the neighborhood of 2.8 per cent, almost a full point above the old discount rate.

In the corporate list, investment quality issues, industrials and utilities advanced, rails were steady and foreign declined.

More Than 1 Way To Skin An Elephant

LOS ANGELES (AP)—There's more than one way to skin an elephant—and they're all a lot of work.

That's the word from George Adams, a fellow who for more than a quarter of a century has been stuffing everything from aardvarks to zebras for wealthy sportsmen and museums.

"Please don't refer to taxidermy as 'stuffing,'" says Adams.

"That's passe—from the days when animals actually were stuffed with straw and rags—and looked it."

Now taxidermists like Adams have to be naturalists, sculptors and, frequently, big game hunters. Their finished product is real enough to fool its mother.

Adams, who creates lifelike displays for the Los Angeles County Museum, recently returned from a moose and caribou hunt in Alaska.

"That's the big fellow we brought back," he says, pointing a spatula at an antlered giant standing big as life in the museum workshop.

The moose, weighing almost a ton and standing six feet at the shoulders, was shot in Alaska's Caribou Hills.

When the moose toppled over into the snow, Adams immediately began making plaster impressions of the head. Then he measured and skinned the animal.

Back at the workshop, he sculpted a small-scale model of the moose, then he fashioned a life size clay statue over the skeleton.

This was too heavy to work with, so he made a plaster impression, cast a hollow model and stretched the dried moose hide over it so tightly it showed muscles, veins and even warts.

Adams, 48, began his career at 15 in his home town of Kanab, Utah. He worked up a lively business with the mule deer, mountain lions and antelope bagged by hunters in the rugged Utah hills.

Realizing that he needed an art background to do a better job, he moved to New York City and enrolled at an art school. He worked part time for wealthy sportsmen while becoming a first rate sculptor.

Newsman Who Wrote Of Miss. River Is Dead

MEMPHIS (UPI) — "Captain" Joe Curtis, dean of Memphis newsmen whose stories kept alive the romantic era of Mississippi River gamblers and paddle boats, died here Saturday.

The 88 - year - old Curtis had been in partial retirement, but had continued writing his Sunday column in the Memphis Commercial Appeal, "In The Pilot House."

Curtis started on a weekly newspaper at Lewisport, Ky. Later he moved to newspapers in Cincinnati, New Orleans, Columbus, then here.

He was a newsman for 68 years. In his early days as a reporter, Curtis covered political and industrial stories, but always he found time to write about the river.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Edelette Hicks Curtis.

Weekly Cotton Preview For La. Prepared

BATON ROUGE, Oct. 24 (UPI) — Here is the weekly cotton review prepared by the market news service, Louisiana department of agriculture.

Cotton strengthened in some Louisiana country markets last week with farmers selling current ginnings at 33-37. 50 cents a pound.

Trading increased in both country and spot markets as offerings increased. Shippers and direct mill buyers were taking greater amounts of recent ginnings, middling and lower in grade.

Domestic mill demand was mostly for strict low middling and lower grades. Export inquiries were few in number and foreign mill sales declined from the previous week.

Middling 1 inch cotton has remained at the same level since Oct. 3, closing Oct. 23 at 34.75 cents a pound in New Orleans and 35 cents at Little Rock.

Middling 1 inch averaged 34.74 cents a pound in the 14 spot markets Oct. 23—down 1 point from the previous Thursday but 5.50 a bale higher than a year ago. This is about 60 points below the average loan rate for the 14 markets.

Sales reported lst week totaled 232,400 bales in the New Orleans, Little Rock, Memphis and Greenwood markets compared to 161,000 bales the previous week and 174,400 bales a year ago.

Picking and ginning reached a seasonal high in most heavy cotton growing areas last week.

Cotton Futures Prices Move Slightly Higher

NEW YORK (AP) —Cotton futures prices moved into slightly higher ground this week in listless dealings.

Active contracts on the New York Cotton Exchange scored net advances ranging from 25 to 90 cents a bale.

The week produced no developments that had any major impact on the market. Prices were strengthened by light trade and spot house buying and scattered covering. The latest government report on loan entries, while indicating an upward trend, had no bullish effect.

Offerings were furnished by light hedge selling and tired long liquidation. Considered mildly bearish were favorable weather reports from the belt and expectations that the government's official crop forecast for November would show an increase over the October estimate.

Exports of U.S. Cotton for the week ended Tuesday were estimated by the New York Cotton Exchange at 33,000 bales vs. 50,000 the previous week and 128,000 were estimated at 692,000 bales vs 1,016,000 at approximately the same time last season.

Miss. Farmers Make Progress In Harvesting

STATE COLLEGE, Miss. (AP) — Most Mississippi farmers made considerable progress in harvesting crops and planting winter grazing last week when the weather turned favorable.

The Agriculture Extension Service said Saturday harvesting was in full swing for cotton, corn, milo, soybeans, and hay.

The progress of the harvest varies from nearly complete in some areas to delay in others due to unopened cotton.

Some small grain is being grazed and much more is being planted.

However, the soil is to dry in some areas for small grain planting.

CRASH VICTIM DIES

SAN ANTONIO (UPI)— Linda Ruth Vaughn, 10, died Saturday as a result of injuries she suffered Thursday when her bicycle was struck by a car.

Grain Futures Depressed On Trade Board

CHICAGO (AP)—Hedge selling and liquidation coupled with slow export demand combined to depress grain futures prices on the Board of Trade this week.

Huge surpluses of wheat, corn and soybeans continued to act as a drag on futures and there was virtually no incentive for any sustained advance of any of these grains. There were several attempts to rally wheat and soybeans but these soon collapsed.

As a result wheat ended the week ½ to 3⅛ cents a bushel lower than on Friday a week ago. Corn was off 1 to 1½ cents, oats were down ⅝ to ¾, rye was unchanged to ⅞ lower and soybeans declined ¾ to 2⅝ cents.

Resumption of hostilities in the Far East sent shorts scurrying for wheat at the start of trading Monday. After prices moved up a cent or more, however, selling increased and wheat finished lower than it started.

There was another effort to advance wheat Thursday, but this also failed in the final moments of trading when hedging and liquidation knocked out fractional advances.

Soybeans and corn also were victims of hedging and speculative liquidation, as well as weather and the harvest movement.

Several efforts to rally soybeans got fair local support but not enough to keep the advances going. Liberal receipts and apparent indifference of processors regarding supplies seemed to sway sentiment.

'Miss Alabama College' Named

MONTEVALLO, Ala. (UPI)— Pretty Shirley Stabler of Greenville, Ala., a senior majoring in mathematics, Saturday night was named "Miss Alabama College for 1959."

The announcement was made at the climax of Elite Night ceremonies at the formerly all-girls' college.

Miss Stabler, a top student in physics and mathematics, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stabler of Greenville.

NOV. 4

Six States To Vote On Right To Work Problem

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rarely if ever have so many American voters been called upon to ballot on a single issue as will happen Nov. 4 in the drive to enact right-to-work laws in six states.

An estimated 10 million voters —or about one out of every five expected to go to the polls in the national elections — will pass on the proposals in California, Ohio, Kansas, Colorado, Idaho and Washington.

The battle over banning compulsory union membership has been intense. It has featured about every campaign stunt in the books. Registration has reached near record levels in the half-dozen states.

The right-to-work fight has overshadowed candidates' races in some states. Practically every politician on the stump has had something to say about it. Millions of dollars have been spent on both sides.

In each case the proposed law says a worker cannot be denied a job or ousted from one on account of membership or nonmembership in a labor union.

It is aimed mainly at the union shop, or similar employer-union arrangements. Advocates of right-to-work laws say a worker should not be compelled to join a union, although he may have a right to do so. Foes of the proposals say they would compel an open shop, and a death knell to unions.

Jack Redding, director of the National Council for Industrial Peace, which has headed the opposition fight, predicted all six states will reject the right-to-work proposals. Cochairmen of his committee are Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Democratic former Sen. Herbert H. Lehman of New York.

But Redding's opposite number, William T. Harrison, executive secretary of the National Right-to-Work Committee, said:

"I think the other side is going to find the result considerably different after the votes are counted. After all, you can't tell what the American public is going to do until after he enters the voting booth."

Business constitutes the main support of the right-to-work advocates and organized labor that of the opposing group, but both sides claim widespread support from all walks of life.

Eighteen states already have enacted right-to-work laws, most of them except Indiana located in the South and West. Proponnts seek to line up at least three fourths of the states in hopes they then will be able to write the right-to-work principle into the U.S. Constitution.

Sweet Potato Price Drop To Be Aired

Efforts to bolster a disastrous harvest - time drop in sweet potatoes received new impetus this week from the influential Louisiana Farm Bureau Federation.

Harold Sonnier of Scott, chairman of the LFBF Sweet Potato Advisory Committee, charged that market manipulations are lowering sweet potato prices to farmers despite prospects of a short crop in Louisiana this year, and despite "abnormally high" retail prices. He said that at the request of Farm Bureau, the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee will consider establishing a federal sweet potato purchase program at its meeting in Alexandria Tuesday, October 28.

The request followed an emergency meeting of the newly - appointed Sweet Potato Committee in Lafayette October 23, at which the Farm members recommended a three - point program to bolster the market. Committee representatives are Harvey Garrett of St. Francisville, Rondey Boudreaux of Sunset, Noah Leger of Church Point, Kerrell Vidrine of Ville Platte and Harold Melancon of Breaux Bridge.

Sonnier termed the recent price drop in the sweet potato market "as much of a disaster as the weather." Current price to farmers for top-grade potatoes (U.S. I) ranges from 85 cent to $1.25 for a 50-pound crate, with second-grade potatoes bringing only 25 cents a crate. Top-grade canning potatoes bring about 55 cents a crate.

The Scott farmer pointed out that because of adverse weather conditions in late August and September which stained many potatoes, a greater percentage of the farm yield this year was being relegated to the second-grade, or U.S. II, class of sweet potatoes.

Actor Uses Role In His Daily Life

NEW YORK (AP) — An old San Francisco cable car mounted on a truck base rolled into New York's Rockefeller Plaza the other day.

A husky, gray-haired man sprang from the truck cab, stepped into the traffic of 49th Street, held up his left hand, pointed at a car authoritatively with his right—and traffic stopped dead on 49th. The old cable car moved ahead on the plaza and Warner Anderson, actor, leaped into the truck cab.

If anybody recognized him—and people always are recognizing him —he would have been identified as Lt. Guthrie of the San Francisco Police Department. That's the role he plays in The Lineup (CBS-TV, Friday nights). In his fifth year as a good television police officer, there are times (according to his wife) when he seems to be more Guthrie than Anderson.

Riding the cable car from Chicago to New York was strictly a publicity stunt, uncomfortable physically and mentally to Guthrie—pardon, Anderson. Once here, however, he talked quite comfortably about policemen.

"There's an attitude about all policemen that puts you at a disadvantage until you know them well," he said. "When any policeman meets you for the first time, he has a way of staring at you that makes you feel you're guilty."

He fixed us coldly with his blue eyes and we lowered our gaze guiltily, searching our soul for crime.

"It's part of a policeman's nature to keep a suspect off balance physically and mentally," he said. "The clue to good police work is keeping everyone off balance. For instance, shake hands."

Anderson grasped our hand firmly and pulled it down toward him. Off balance, we staggered forward. Remember, now, he exercised no great force or brutality. But we felt vaguely humiliated.

Anderson admits he's been Guthrie so long that he's probably type cast as an actor. In fact, he thinks Guthrie is about the last role he'll play in his acting career. Apparently The Lineup will go on forever, but if it were to end someday, Anderson figures he'd turn from acting to directing and producing.

WORKING HIS WAY TO JAIL

GREENWICH, Conn. (UPI) — William D. Sonnensen, 29, apologized for waiting three years before giving himself up to face charges of embezzling $1,500. Sonnensen explained his money ran out while he was returning to Greenwich from California and he had to take several jobs to finance the rest of the trip to the police station.

4 OPERATIONS EYED

Oil Activity In Mississippi Told

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) —Jones County is bursting with oil activity this week with four closely eyed operations under way.

Central Oil Co. and Zach Brooks continue to log oil shows in the Wildcat Mississippi Investments No. 1, sec. 1-8N-12W, on the western edge of th Laurel city limits.

Operators are drilling below 10,290 feet. A core at 10,165-98 feet logged shows of undetermined commercial worth.

The closely watched test appears to have commercial production in the Tuscaloosa zone at 8,122-75 feet.

Seven miles northeast of Laurel, Sinclair Oil and Gas Co. is below 15,200 feet in the wildcat gore No. 1, swc, 13-9n-11w, with no shows reported.

Zach Brooks also has set surface casing in the wildcat Byrd No. 1, sec. 14-9n-10w, five miles east of the Sinclair test. Contract depth is 12,000 feet.

The confirmation well in the newly discovered Bryan field of Jones County is scheduled to get under way immediately.

Long Star Producing Co. has location cleared for the Masonite No. B-1, sec. 36-10n-10w.

The discovery well flowed 303 barrels of oil daily from perforations at 10,710-14 feet and a Rodessa sand at 10,240-66 feet appeared commercial.

Four miles north of Madison County's Flora field, American Petrofina Co. is moving in at its wildcat Andrew Estate No. 1, sec 14-9n-1w. Contract depth is 11,500 feet.

In northwest Walthall county, Gulf Oil is below 3,100 feet in the wildcat Wallace No. 1, sec. 21-4n-10e. Contract depth is 13,500 feet.

In north Hancock County, Marshall R. Young is below 5,500 feet in the wildcat board of supervisors No. 1, 36-5s-15w. Contract depth is 10,500 feet.

California Co. has resumed drilling below 12,820 feet in the Scott County wildcat forkville unit No. 1, sec. 32-7.1..n-73. Contract depth is 13,500 feet.

Deep drilling continues to increase in wildcat wells. Eighteen tests have contract depths of more than 11,000 feet.

Three new oilers and two gas condensate wells were completed in known fields last week.

At little creek field in Lincoln County, Vasser, Howard and Radzewicz completed the northwest outpost well Soloman-Atkinson No. 1, sec. 27-5n-8e, at 383 barrels daily from perforations at 10,770-807 feet.

In Wayne County's diamond Field, Sun Oil Co. completed the Robert Gray No. 2, sc. 7-9n-6w, at 103 barrels of oil daily from perforations at 10,729-44 feet.

Cameron Operating Co. and John Callon completed the Anderson No. 5, sec. 43-5n-1, at 98 barrels of oil daily from a Wilcox sand at 6,596-99 feet.

In the Maxie gas condensate field of Forrest County, Ohio Oil Co. completed the unit sW-42, sec. 11-1s-13w at 1,300,000 cubic feet of gas daily from a Wilcox sand at 4,656-65 feet.

Also at Maxie, L. B. Porter completed the unit se-72, sec. 17-1s-12w at 1,340,000 cubic feet of gas and 22 barrels of condensate daily from perforations in the Eutaw zone at 7,110-12 feet.

Chess Player Thinks Like Quarterback

PORTOROZ, Yugoslavia (AP)—It's October, a little more than a month after the interzonal chess tournament, and in America the tal.. is of football.

But here in Yugoslavia and throughout Europe, the people have never heard of Navy's Joe Tranchini or Ohio State's Frank Kremblas.

And even if they had, they would prefer to talk about Bobby Fischer, the 15-year-old Brooklyn boy with the mind of a quarterback, the self-discripline of a linebacker and the title of grand master of chess.

Chances are Bobby, the boy, or Robert, as he prefers to be called when playing chess, has never heard of Tranchini or Kremblas either. And they may not have heard of him.

Bobby's mother says there was a time when he used to be very good at athletics, but that must have been before he reached the age of six. Thats when he learned the moves of chess and he hasn't stopped studying them since. He says he is interested in virtually nothing else.

This is exceptional in the United States where the game is taken far less seriously than football, and even in Europe, where chess has undergone more refinements than the split-T, the chess masters are amazed at the genius of the gangling Fischer.

A tall boy with the classic adolescent slump, he doesn't look like a quarterback. He just thinks like one.

He became the youngest grand master in history by his expert play at the interzonal tournament here.

He left behind him eight world best grand masters and seven international masters. He failed to place first but captured the title of grand master and qualified for the Tournament of Candidates, the third st... in world championchip competition.

Bobby impressed fellow competitors with his mature play in his first international tournament. He knew exactly what he wanted The toughness of the will with which he fulfilled his aim was wonderful.

He is now a candidate for the world championship held by Russian grand master Mihael Botvinik. Fischer can challenge Botvinik in 1960 if he wins next year's tournament of candidates.

Bobby, who won the U.S. junior title in 1956 and the U.S. open this year, was the most serious player in the interzonal tourney.

Only the Russians with their famous discripline could match him. But while the Russians occasionally went for a swim or a walk, Bobby remained in the tournament hall or in his hotel room. His self-imposed discipline was amazing, and he grew angry at reporters who kept stressing his age. He said he wanted to be judged only on his play.

When the tournament began Bobby said privately: "I plan to qualify for the Tournament of Candidates. To achieve that it is necessary to draw with the great players and defeat some of the weaker. That will bring me enough points to qualify."

He followed his plan stubbornly and with success. Some of his foes thought they could trap "the boy" by bizarre variations or surprise him with an unusual move to break his opposition.

But the lad proved them wrong. Johnny Lujack never called a cooler football game

Bobby is regarded here as the first challenger in years to Russian chess supremacy.

But like the football players, he must go to school while Russian stars dedicate almost their entire time to chess.

WHERE BRITISH JET BOMBER CRASHED — Firemen fight fire in ruins where a Royal Air Force jet bomber, believed to have six men aboard, crashed in flames into houses on the Detroit River front Friday. No survivors were found immediately. The plane was a Delta Wing Vulcan en route from Goose Bay, Labrador, to Lincoln Air Force Base, Neb. Its feul tanks exploded as it struck one house, glanced off the building and piled into a second. (AP Wirephoto)

Waited For Money, It Was The Sabbath

NEW YORK (AP) — Very late Friday afternoon a tenant of an ancient Lower East Side tenement complained that rubbish was scattered about the dark rear of a corridor. Ben Troeger, caretaker, hurried to clean it up before sundown.

It included orange peels, apple cores, torn paper, 48 one-thousand-dollar bills, 24 five-hundred-dollar bills, and 53 hundred-dollar bills.

Troeger, who is over 80 years old, has lived all his days as a devout Orthodox Jew. He believes in meticulously observing the Jewish Sabbath, from sundown Friday to sundown Saturday. He tries to avoid all work—indeed, almost all activity, especially concerning money—on the Sabbath.

When he saw the bills, he swiftly swept them into a box. He didn't even count them. Then he quickly hid the box, and turned his thoughts to other things. Saturday, he attended religious services.

It wasn't until after sundown Saturday night that the old man showed up at the nearest police station with the box. Capt. Stephen Luckas counted its contents.

"Sixty-five thousand, three hundred dollars!" he gasped.

An investigation started immediately to find the money's owner, but if it isn't claimed in 90 days, it becomes Troeger's.

"Why didn't you bring it in sooner?" Capt. Luckas asked the old man.

"It was the Sabbath," Troeger replied simply.

Commercial Jet Sets New Record

NEW YORK (AP)—A new commercial jet plane flashed across the United States Saturday in 4 hours and 43 minutes, clipping an hour and 27 minutes off the record set for transcontinental flights by an old-fashioned piston-driven plane.

"She handled real good," commented the pilot, Capt. Hamilton Smith, of Sea Cliff, N.Y., as he stepped from the shiny new American Airlines' Boeing 707.

The plane, the kind that has been cleared for transatlantic operations by Pan American Airlines, brought 39 passengers, mostly company representatives, and a crew of five. It left Los Angeles at 9:58 a.m., EDT and arrived here at 2:41 p.m.

Until now, the transcontinental record for a commercial plane was 6 hours and 10 minutes ,set in 19545 by a DC7. Later flights, however, were clocked unofficially at about 7½ hours. Routine New York-to-Los Angeles flights take 7 hours and 40 minutes.

Coal Mines Must Buy $5 License

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — All coal mines in Virginia must buy a $5.00 license each year, starting Jan. 1, the state announced Saturday.

On Jan. 1, a new law passed by the 1958 General Assembly will go into effect requiring the licenses, the announcement said.

Whole Horse Or Nothing

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was last Thursday that Hyman G. Rickover was promoted to vice admiral in the Navy, in part because of his work in developing the atomic-powered submarine.

The day before, a horse named Rickover won the fifth race at Belmont Park in New York, paying $20.50 for a $2 win ticket.

IN ARKANSAS

Race-Mix Effect On Business Told

Editor's Note—The trouble over integrating schools in Arkansas has attracted worldwide attention. But has it kept new industry out of the state? A two-time Pulitzer prize winning newsman who has reported the crucial events in Little Rock now assesses their impact on the region's economy.

By RELMAN MORIN

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — How has the battle of Little Rock, with all its pain and frustration, affected business conditions in Arkansas and the state's drive to attract new industry?

Statistically, the answer seems to be, "not at all."

Many economic barometers — employment and unemployment, payrolls, department store sales, bank debits — indicate a very healthy condition.

The record for the state as a whole, in the year since the riots at Central High School, is good. As for Little Rock itself, an economist says:

"Little Rock never had it so good."

The economic boxscore, however, may not be the whole story. For two reasons:

1. Some of the latest available figures were compiled before Gov. Orval E. Faubus closed the four Little Rock high schools. Since then, anxiety about the future has increased, markedly. Will the trouble spread to other parts of the state? Will Little Rock teachers have to go elsewhere to work? Will students have to transfer to schools outside Arkansas?

2. The Little Rock plan for integrating the schools moves into its second phase--the junior high schools—in 1960. Three years later, it is scheduled to embrace the elementary schools. Does this mean a recurrence, on a bigger scale, of the disturbances that swirled around Central High School? Will parents with small children be likely to move to Arkansas if there are to be y.rs of racial strife?

The answers to these questions probably depend on what comes next in the struggle—so highly charged with passion now—over admitting Negro children to all-white schools.

So the Arkansas businessman, and the group work ng to bring new industry into the state, confront the question:

"If this deadlock is not resolved, what will it do to business and development in another year?"

They have some figures for the period since September 1957, when the Little Rock riots occurred These are generally encouraging. For example:

New jobs—the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission, reporting for the year ended last July, announced 63 new industries and 28 expanded plants in Arkansas. Total jobs created, it said, were 8,527.

Manufacturing employment — The state total began dropping in September 1957, hit a low point in February of 1958, and has now climbed back almost to the last-year figure, the Little Rock Chamber of Commerce reported.

Little Rock—Manufacturing employment in Little Rock itself reached an all-time high, the chamber reported last June 30. "It is one of 12 cities in the nation to show an increase over 1957 in a report released by the U. S. Dept. of Labor," the chamber said.

The 12 cities, in order of percentage increases, were listed as Sacramento, Calif. (20.13), Albuquerque, N. M. (11.71), San Jose, Calif. (7.34), Little Rock (7.32), Tampa, Fla. (6.62), Boise, Idaho, (5.55), Westchester County, N. Y. (5.09), Fargo, N. D. (5), Miami, Fla. (4.61), Salt Lake City (2.69) Seattle (1.90), Topeka, Kan (1.67)

Bank debits—Little Rock was the only one of the "six largest centers" in the Eigth Federal Reserve District to show an increase in July, this year, compared with July 1957. It was up three per cent. Three of the six showed increases for July over the previous month. The Little Rock figure was seven per cent.

Dept. store sales — the Federal Reserve figures for Little Rock showed the same level for Sept. 27 as for Jan. 1, 1958. During the same period, the Federal Reserve said, St. Louis dropped two percentage points, Louisville three, and Memphis, three.

The figures on new jobs and new or expanded industries announced by the AIDC, showed an 18 per cent drop from the previous year's total.

Was that because of the trouble over the school?

"There's no way in the world to estimate it," said William P Rock, executive director of the AIDC. "If anybody can tell us what the effect of the recent recession was on the industrial program, then we could estimate the effect of the racial troubles."

There is another aspect.

A number of firms were in various stages of negotiation with the development commission, possibly leading to the establishment of new plants in Arkansas.

"Some decided to go to some other state," said an AIDC executive. "There are any number of reasons—other than the racial situation here—that may have impelled them to decide against an Arkansas site. All you know is that they didn't come here. You seldom can find out why."

Soviet Union Now Planting Wonder Crop

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

Russian scientists now are planting a double-duty wonder crop.

In June they expect to cut it for grass to feed cattle.

Then they'll let it grow up again to yield a harvest of wheat for humans next fall.

Known as "grain-fodder" because it would feed both human and animals, this plant still is experimental, says Peter Lapi, assistant director of the main botanical gardens in Moscow.

It comes from a cross or marriage of wheat and wild grasses in experiments conducted by academician Nikolai Tsitsin, one of Russia's leading botanists. Prof. Tsitsin also is trying to develop a perennial type of wheat which would grow again every year.

The double-duty grain-fodder plant also belongs to the perennial type, Lapin says, but "it is not good enough at wintering yet to be of practical use"

Some of it is being tested on experimental plots at the botanical garden.

"You plant the grain-fodder in October and it gives grass for its first harvest," Lapin says. "It grows after that cutting, and yields grain for the second harvest.

"Or the first yield can be grain, if you have a wet spring: then you get the grass later. It promises to be very useful in our climate because sometimes we have very dry springs. After first giving grass, it would yield grain after the summer rains."

Altrusa Fourth District Convention To Be Held In Shreveport October 24-26

Top business women from four states met in Shreveport Friday and will continue Saturday for the annual conference of the Fourth District of Altrusa International.

Members of Altrusa, the first classified women's service organization to be founded in the United States, convened for the three day sessions at the Washington - Youree Hotel. Emphasis was added to the conference by the expected arrival of Mrs. Edith W. Nelson of Richmond, Va., international president and Miss Mamie Larsh, of Indianapolis, Indiana, the legal adviser of Altrusa International.

Mrs. Violet Dickens, president of the Shreveport Club and general chairman of the conference advised registration under the supervision of Miss Lula Sasser. The general business session open at 4 p.m. The invocation was given by Dr. D. L. Dykes, Jr. and the official welcome from the city of Shreveport was given by Mayor James C. Garner at the opening of the business session. Mrs. Irene Jones of Huntsville, Alabama, governor of the fourth district will preside at all sessions.

The memorial services, conducted by two past governors from Shreveport, Mrs. Nancy Nettles and Miss Drury Key, was held in the chapel of the Beck Building at 5:30 p.m. Friday evening there was a buffet supper with the presidents of all Louisiana Altrusa Clubs receiving. A program highlight of the buffet was a series of skits on varied themes presented by Mrs. Memory Lee Streun and Jacques Steinau. The business of the conference will be resumed today when the reports of the district officers will be heard, and the workshops will start at 10:30 p.m.

The president's luncheon today in the Crystal Ball Room will have as guest speaker, Mrs. Edith Nelson, president of Altrusa International. Mrs. Irene Jones, governor will preside at the governor's banquet and will introduce the speaker, Miss Mamie Larsh. Miss Larsh's subject will be "Altrusa's Place in the World."

The entertainment for the banquet will be one of Shreveport's singing actresses, Mrs. Jasmine Egan, who will entertain with her Oriental, Parisienne sophisticate and Old South song interpretations. One of the highlights of the conference will be the reception following the banquet, honoring the international representatives Mrs. Edith Nelson and Miss Mamie Larsh, and Mrs. Irene Jones, governor of the district and the visiting governor of ninth district, Mrs. Edith DeBusk, prominent attorney of Dallas, and the secretary of ninth district, Miss Aileen Aiken also of Dallas, Texas.

The conference will conclude with breakfast Sunday morning. Those in attendance from the Monroe Club are: Mrs. Jewel Durham, official delegate and Mrs. Helen Luckett, Miss Mary Benoit, Miss Pauline Kelley and Miss Bernice McCoy.

Parties Fete Ill. Visitors This Week

Mrs. Ronald Lee Davis entertained in her home with a luncheon honoring Mrs. Walter W. Shattuck's guest, Mrs. W. W. Shattuck and Miss Marion Shattuck of Evanston, Ill.

Roses from Mrs. Davis' garden were used in an arrangement on the dining table.

OTHER PARTIES

Others honoring the Shattucks prior to their departure were Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Shafto. They entertained them for dinner in their home on North Third Street. Mrs. Gilbert Faulk gave a luncheon in their honor, Mrs. George Weaks invited them for coffee on Friday morning, and Sunday dinner was enjoyed with the Milling Bernsteins.

Stack slices of bologna, casing removed, with a mixture of cream and Roquefort cheese; chill and cut in miniature pie-shaped wedges. Serve as snack food.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Can't Treat 24-Year-Old As If She Were 15

By ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: What can we do about a 24 - year - old daughter who says she's in love with a 34-year - old man? He has a 10-year - old child and a divorce in progress.

We don't know his family because he's from another state. He's had six jobs in five months — just goes from one thing to another. Our daughter will have to give up her religion to marry him but she says "it's worth it".

She told us he was a single fellow when she started to go out with him six months ago, although she knew then he was married. Is there any legal action that can be taken against him? Our daughter doesn't care what family, friends, doctor or clergyman say. She claims she's crazy about him and nothing else matters. Can you help? —NORA

If this girl refuses to listen to family, friends, doctor or clergyman, she won't listen to me either — particularly since she didn't ask for my advice.

A girl 24 is an adult and you have no grounds for legal action against the man. He's not kidnapping her.

A part of your daughter's stubborness is probably rooted in her hostility toward you. The more you fight the situation and deprecate the man, the greater wlil be her determination to marry him and demonstrate that she can and will do as she pleases.

You can't treat a 24 - year - old as if she were 15. Simply withdraw and let her get her lumps the hard way. She's a big girl now.

DEAR ANN: My husband has not been on a payroll since June 6th of this year. We have two small children, a home, a car, and bills. He sells insurance on a flat commission basis, when he feels like it. Unfortunately, he doesn't feel like it very often.

His mother left a small estate and he's been dipping into that money which I hoped would be for the children's education. He's been bringing home a few dollars a week from the estate and pretending it's commission from his sales.

I've worked ever since our baby was 20 months old. I'm tired of it and want my husband to support us. I've been lying to my family and friends because I'm ashamed to tell them the truth. I don't know what in the world he does with his time. When I tell him to get a job or I'll leave him, he says "Goodbye".

My nerves are at the breaking point. What shall I do?—KCA

What is your husband contributing to your marriage besides wisecracks? If he makes no effort to find work you have a right to tell him to get out. It then becomes a matter for the law if a man doesn't support his family. The little boy needs to grow up. Perhaps this will do it.

CONFIDENTIALLY: MRS. HA HA: You've had two failures—do you want to try for three? Just tell a man that his mother reminds you of a squirrel and you've had it, Toots.

UNLUCKY LU: Married men are poor prospects. Wake up. Perhaps your luck would change if you'd operate in a different orbit.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper and enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.)

Catahoula 4-H Clubs Place High At Shreveport

JONESVILLE (Special) — Catahoula parish 4-Her's placed high on their exhibitons in the junior livestock division at the State Fair in Shreveport.

Van Taliaferra, Block 4-H member, who won grand champion on his hereford bull calf under 1 year old at the Catahoula parish fair, took second place honors at the state fair.

Henry Ellen Ryal Stevenson, Block 4-H member, who won grand champion on her Jersey heifer in the dairy division at the Catahoula Parish fair placed 3rd at the state fair and won 4th place in showmanship.

Giralt Bird, Sicily Island 4-H member, placed second with his shorthorn in the 2-year-old class of any other breed.

Malcom Terry of Harrisonburg, 4-H member, showed two sheep, one in the lightweight and one in medium weight divisions, which spoke well of his exhibits due to the fact that many of the sheep were culled out and not allowed to be put on exhibiton.

BURLINGTON, Vt. (UPI) — Mrs. Hazel Lander has served as clerk of Selective Service Local Board No. 4 without interruption since 1940.

School Survey For Crossett Nearly Complete

CROSSETT (Special)—Progress on the Comprehensive Study now underway by a citizens' committee on the Crossett schools went forward this week as two different groups made plans to visit other schools and compare them with Crossett's.

School at Bastrop, La., and Magnolia, Ark., will be visited this week by one group under the direction of Robert Hudgens and will make a survey of buildings and facilities, while another group under the direction of Mrs. Dan Nall will study and compare curriculums.

Much work has already been accomplished by an evaluation committee headed by Tom Pat Cook, which has drawn up a summery of local school facilities and compared it with schools in the state as well as those in several other states.

It is planned to have the complete work of the Steering Committe completed by National Education Week, November 9th to 15th, at which time the report will be distributed to all parents and school patrons so that they can receive a complete and conprehensive picture of how the Crossett schools rate in comparison with those others studied.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Willi ngness Indicative Of Future Character

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Parents get so accustomed to their young children taking an afternoon nap that it comes as quite a shock when suddenly they cry, shake the bed, demand to be let out and refuse to sleep.

Sometimes this is a temporary situation which can be handled by going in, talking to them soothingly, reading a story, patting them gently until they relax and go to sleep.

But often children literally cannot sleep and then it is wise to give them a "rest" period with no demand that they sleep. Undress them, leave the blinds up, give them toys in bed and tell them in an hour they can come out of their room.

Now, they are resting. If mother takes a rest at the same time, the period can be a very comfortable one for everyone.

LETTER

Mrs. B. D. writes, "Suppose a 2 ½ - year - old boy is not sleepy but is put to bed anyway and cries for a time and then goes to sleep?

"My sister's and brother's children, both 2½, learned to climb out of bed and it is hard to keep them there. My boy has not wanted to climb out. My sister and brother laugh because theirs did.

"Can I determine by this what my boy's character will be when he grows up? Will he be a go-getter or sit back and let life pass him by? Most boys of this age do climb out of bed and I wondered if this were indicative of what his adult life would be."

ANSWER

I would hardly go that far. Maybe he really is sleepy and after he has given a few token cries he just falls asleep. The other children are not and so resent being penned in and fight to get away from the bed.

Once they have learned to climb out it is safer to put down the crib bars and then put a flexible gate on the door so they cannot run out of the room. They can play in there for the hour of rest.

Your boy may never be as aggressive as these boys but why do they all have to be the same? Just accept him as he is and do not be so sensitive about your brother's and sister's amusement.

They may not feel so secure about what their children are but find you take them seriously and so the temptation to tease or prod you, is overwhelming.

Be glad that he still wants to ta[illegible] a nap, though if he cries too long I would go in and tell him he didn't have to sleep, just be quiet and rest.

C.A.R. Declare This Week As Education Week

The week of October 19 through 25 has been declared Patriotic Education Week by the National Society of the Children of the American Revolution as well as the Local Society Lt. Joseph Bowmar. Posters have been placed in windows of downtown business concerns. Mayor W. L. Howard made a formal proclamation as did Governor Earl Long for the Patriotic Education Week.

The Patriotic Education Committee is sponsoring a two year program to increase knowledge of American history so that people may better fulfill their duties as citizens. The highlight of the campaign is the Patriotic Education Week. The theme of the program is The Value of American Liberty, and the emphasis this year is on Our Four Freedoms, religion, speech, press and assembly. This is the purpose of trying to spread patriotic education and alert Americans to the danger that could come to the priceless heritage of American liberty.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Bob Anderson looks them over for Paul Martin today.)

POLLS AND THE WEAKNESSES THEREOF

"Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned," but a disgruntled football fan can run her a close race. Whether booting out a losing coach or defending his school's honor, John Q. Fan is a foe less to be preferred than a Malay pirate and much, much more unreasonable.

Since, at this writing, most of Louisiana's college coaches are sitting tall in the saddle, fandom's ire is directed at those brave souls who rate football teams. LSU is unbeaten, untied and rated third by one press association and fifth by another. By the time you read this, they may be bruised, beaten and rated lousy but, going by their five games thus far, the Tigers deserve a better fate than fifth or even third.

LSU has beaten five good football teams. The three best, Rice, Miami and Kentucky, they have beaten badly. Florida may shoot them down but the Tigers should enjoy the fruits of their first five efforts without getting short-changed.

UPI rates LSU fifth behind Army, Ohio State, Texas and Auburn. AP rates the Tigers third behind Army and Ohio State. Army is No. 1 because it defeated Notre Dame, always good for headlines, a lonesome end and little else. The Cadets have defeated South Carolina, Penn State and Virginia, none of whom would frighten old ladies. Ohio State is highly-ranked because it's a Big Ten team and happens to be unbeaten at the moment.

The Big Ten is an athletic conference of 10 schools, all located in the midwestern section of the United States. Contrary to belief in some circles, the caliber of football played in this conference is not superior to that of the National Football League and players at Ohio State, Michigan State and other Big Ten schools are rumored to put their pants on one leg at a time just like everybody else. Nonetheless, the Big Ten is considered by many (all north of the border) to be heaven's gift to football. Naturally it follows that this league should always have a team on or near the top in national football ratings.

The Associated Press "top 10" are selected by sports writers. As much as we hate to admit it, sports writers are mere mortals, subject to the same failings and fallacies as the rest of mankind. They are more likely to vote for football teams closest to their base of operations for various reasons. There are more people in Ohio than in Louisiana, more sports writers and more votes for Ohio State.

The United Press International rankings are made by a board of coaches. Coaches too are human and, if the polls are any indication, even more subject to error than sports writers. The coaches voted Ohio State, beaten by lowly Texas Christian, as the No. 1 team in 1957 over undefeated Auburn. Coaches, by necessity, are usually too busy winning their own ball games to pay much attention to other teams except those on their schedules.

There is another poll, whose "board of experts" is not named, which appears in a national magazine of sports, TIME by name. This top 10 has Ohio State in first place because of its great pillage of hapless Indiana. Army is second, Wisconsin third, Iowa fourth, Oklahoma fifth and LSU sixth. Undefeated Texas and Mississippi aren't even mentioned, which just illustrates how silly these things can get.

We could go on and on but let's close by saying it doesn't pay to get upset about these things because football is only a game. Where have we heard that before?

Verdict: Much ado about nothing.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

Bastrop's Leonard Pratt, boosting an area baseball league, is planning on the amateur variety. As reported here last week, the league would include eight northeast Louisiana and southern Arkansas clubs. Nobody connected with the clubs would receive pay.

To finance the league, Pratt is planning on business sponsors for each player. He figures the cost as hardly higher than three or four dollars a week per player.

Pratt envisions crowds averaging 1,000 per game with a nominal admission charge, 25 cents for adults, 10 cents for children. To promote interest, he is hoping to secure such speakers as Alvin Dark, Joe Adcock and possibly Stan Musial or Ted Williams for booster meetings. Drawings on opening day and at the all-star game, free autographed baseballs and gifts for kids are other promotion schemes Pratt has in mind.

Despite the plight of the professional minors, people still like baseball. The success of the kids leagues prove it. Whether an adult amateur loop will go over remains to be seen. However, the first "must" for a successful baseball league is some enthusiastic backing and well - planned promotion. In these departments, Pratt's league is off to a good start. If he can get some players who'll play good baseball for nothing, he'll be off and running.

Take Sixth Straight Win, Third In GSC

HAMMOND, La. (Special) — Northeast, one of the vanishing unbeaten, untied teams, made Southeastern its 6th straight victim here last night with a 22-8 triumph, its third of the year in Gulf States Conference play.

Jack Rowan's surprising Indians stunned the host Lions with two quick touchdowns in the first quarter and another TD and field goal in the second before settling down to a defensive battle in the final half. Southeastern, previously unbeaten in GSC action, scored in the second period.

The victory left Northeast all alone atop the Gulf States standings with a 3-0 mark, the only unbeaten record in the conference. The Redskins have two GSC games left, one against Northwestern next week at Monroe and the other on Nov. 22 against Tech, also at Monroe.

STATISTICS

	Northeast	SLC

Penalties	4-30	8-40
Punting	8-26.3	5-30

Halfback Keith Amos plunged one yard to climax a 64-yard drive for the first Northeast touchdown and then booted the extra point. Everett Reynolds, enjoying another fine passing night, threw 13 yards to Terry Reeves for the other first quarter score, climaxing an 89-yard drive. Reynolds' attempted run for the points was no good. The Indians started the drive on the 11 after fielding a punt.

Northeast came back with another drive in the second period, going 41 yards with Reynolds capping the push with a two-yard smash for the touchdown. His try for the points was no good. Amos set up the score with a fumble recovery.

C. J. Alexander put Southeastern back in the game in the second with a 24 yard dash into the end zone and ran for the extra points.

Northeast counted the final points of the game with 35 seconds to go before the injured Jim Laudadio, in the game for the first time, booted a 16-yard field goal. The Indians had driven to the six before Laudadio came in to boot the ball from the 16.

The game settled into a defensive battle after the intermission with Northeast, successful in the first half with passes, sticking to the ground and tossing only one aerial. Southeastern mounted two serious threats, once going to the 33 and to the 11 where a fumble recovery stopped them.

Northeast had good luck in the fumble department all night, recovering four Lion bobbles.

Bill McGraw, Luther French, Roy Cagle and Joe Driskill sparked the fine Northeast defense in the tilt and Driskill had a field day on offense in the first. The all-GSC end took three passes from Reynolds, one for 27 yards, another for 43 and the third for 10.

Reynolds hit the mark with seven of nine passes in the game and was one of Northeast's leading rushers with 38 yards. He passed for 146 yards. Amos was the top Indian rusher with 46 yards and fullback Smokey Stover came up with 31.

Alexander was Southeastern's big gun with 78 yards.

TEXAS PASSES AND RUNS FOR EIGHT—Drew Morris (20), University of Texas right halfback, is hit low by Rice's Hart Peebles (37) after taking a pass in the right flat and picking up eight yards in the first quarter of the Conference game. Rice won the game, 33-7. (AP Wirephoto)

TEXAS RANKED FOURTH

Rice Owls Down Longhorns, 34-7

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Alvin Hartman, a 207-pound sophomore quarterback, scored two touchdowns Saturday night as the Rice Owls handed arch-rival Texas, the nation's No. 4 team, a crushing 34-7 defeat before 72,000.

While handing the Longhorns, conquerors of mighty Oklahoma, their first defeat in six starts, a tremendous Rice defense permitted Texas to move no deeper than the Owl 24 until fullback Clair Branch returned an intercepted pass 90 yards for a score with only 39 seconds to play.

The victory left Rice, the defending Southwest Conference champion, with a 3-0 league record and a 4-2 season mark that includes losses only to highly regarded Louisiana State and Purdue. The Owls next meet Army here Nov. 8.

Rice struck for a 13-0 lead with two long second quarter drives that included spectacular passes. In the third period the Owls turned a fumble recovery and an intercepted pass into a pair of quick scores. A 41-yard final period drive made it 34-0 before Branch got the lone touchdown for Texas on the longest Longhorn scoring play since 1936.

Halfback Gordon Speed scored from the 5 and Hartman carried over from the 1 in the second period. Quarterback Jon Schanble, a junior college transfer, scored from the 2 and Hartman ran over from the 5 in the third. The final touchdown came on a nine-yard pass from Bobby Wright, third string quarterback, to end Lester Veltman.

Southern Cal Beats Wash. Cougars, 14-6

SPOKANE (AP)—The Southern California Trojans beat Washington State 14-6 Saturday on a 77-yard touchdown pass play in the last two minutes of a rugged football battle.

Quarterback Willie Wood, who hadn't had much luck with his throws, passed 36 yards to Hillard Hill who took it on the Cougar 41 behind two defenders and scored standing up.

The Cougars lost their star passer, Bobby Newman, on the third play of the game when he came up limping on his left knee.

Without Newman, the Cougars used second string quarterback Davey Wilson but he, too, went out with an injury in the third quarter.

The loss virtually wiped out any chance of the Cougars' winning the Pacific Coast Conference title. Without Newman, the WSC aerial game was gone and the running attack was contained by the big Trojan forwards.

LSU Dumps Florida On Davis' Field Goal, 10-7

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Fullback Tommy Davis booted a 19-yard field goal with three minutes to go Saturday night as Louisiana State edged rugged Florida 10-7 for its sixth straight victory.

The kick by the 23-year-old ex-GI saved halfback Billy Cannon, LSU's All-America candidate, from being the goat as the Gators came within a whisker of an astonishing tie with their third ranked Southeastern Conference rivals.

Cannon set up the Florida score early in the fourth quarter when his quick kick rolled out on the Tiger 25. The Gators marched for a score in five plays with sub quarterback Mickey Ellenburg hitting end Perry McGriff with a 14-yard scoring pass. Gator halfback Billy Booker toed the extra point that tied the score.

LSU's touchdown came on a 59-yard march in the second quarter, with Cannon muscling over from the one on fourth down. Davis kicked the extra point.

Cannon made a mighty effort to get LSU rolling shortly after the Gators tied the score. The 200-pound halfback intercepted a Florida pass on the Tiger 18, fighting off a tackler with one hand he lateraled to end Billy Hendrix, who raced 22 yards to the LSU 40.

But the Tigers couldn't gain in three plays and had to kick.

The winning surge by LSU came after Florida kicked out to its own 43. In the drive, Cannon carried four times for 20 yards.

Florida's rugged line, led by tackle Val Heckman, end Don Fleming and center Joe Herget, muzzled LSU's potent ground attack, holding the Tigers to 89 yards rushing.

In the first half, great kicking by Gator quarterback Jimmy Dunn kept LSU bottled up deep in its own territory. Dunn rolled kicks out twice on the Tiger six and once on the seven.

Halted on the ground, the Tigers turned to the air. Quarterback Warren Rabb connected on 10 of 16 passes for 92 yards.

Cannon, the SEC's top ground gainer, carried 155 times for 61 yards, a 4.1 average. His longest run of the night, a 41-yard punt return, was nullified by a clipping penalty.

Fullback Bob Milby was Florida's top ground gainer with 47 yards in five carries for a 9.4 average.

Ellenburg came in for Dunn in the second half and connected on four of seven passes for 51 yards, including the touchdown pass.

This was the first time Coach Paul Dietzel had defeated Florida in four seasons at LSU. It was also the stiffest test of the year so far for the Tigers.

No team has been even with LSU in the fourth quarter before this game.

The winning field goal came from a slight angle. It was the first for LSU this season.

Immediately after his crucial field goal, the 205-pound Davis kicked the ball out of the end zone on the kickoff to wipe out any Florida hopes for a long runback.

Texas Aggies Beat Baylor In Comeback

WACO, Tex. (AP)—Charles Milstead and Ed Dudley cranked up a sizzling fourth quarter aerial attack for Texas A&M Saturday night to send the Aggies to an amazing 33-27 comeback win over Baylor.

The Bears, behind the bursts of Larry Hickman, stormed to a 27-7 lead late in the third period only to see an apparently safe homecoming victory washed out by the air - minded Aggies. Hickman scored three times.

Dudley, substituting for Milstead at the tailback spot, directed the Aggie second unit to two quick scores. The first came on a 10-yard pass play to end Travis Nevill. Baylor fumbled the kickoff and from the 25 Dudley passed to Nevill in the corner at the 10. Luther Hall slammed in for the score but Baylor led 27-20.

With 10 minutes left, from the 20, Milstead, who had turned in a dazzling 74-yard first period touchdown sprint, began blazing away to senior John Tracey.

Four times Milstead connected with Tracey, a total of 60 yards on passing plays. The score came on a 9-yard shot. A pass for a 2-pointer was blocked and Baylor still led 27-26.

Stopping Baylor on the ground, the Aggies took the punt on their own 28 with 5:17 left. Working the ball to the 37, Milstead found Hall, a 185-pound junior halfback, wide open and Hall sprinted down the sidelines for the 46-yard payoff play.

Southerners Defeat West Texas State

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) — Mississippi Southern powered its way to its fifth consecutive victory of the season Saturday night, blanking West Texas State 15-0.

Fullbacks Sammy Broyles and Buddy Supple shared touchdown honors for Southern. Broyles scored on a 44-yard run late in the first period. Bobby Lance converted.

Supple smashed across from the one in the third quarter after Southern took the second half opening kickoff and drove 77 yards in 100 plays. Supple's own 23-yard run set up the touchdown. George Sekul ran the two - point conversion.

West Texas threatened twice, driving to the Southern 19 in the first period and to the 13 in the next. But the Texans lost the ball both times on downs.

ROUT

Techmen Smash Ark. A&M, 40-0

RUSTON (Special) —Louisiana Tech came back from an 18-14 upset by Northwestern State last week and trounced Arkansas A and M here tonight, 40 to 0, as Tech reserves piled up 20 points in the final period.

The Techmen got two touchdowns in the second period after a scoreless first quarter, added another in the third and three in the fourth.

Tech piled up 312 yards on the ground and 168 through the air while A and M got only 51 on the ground and 53 passing.

Paul Hynes, J. W. Slack and Jerry Frasier did the bulk of the ball carrying, Hynes getting 74 yards on 11 carriers, Slack 71 on 12, and Frazier 80 on eight trips with the ball.

The Bulldogs completed 7 of 14 passes, one a 54 yarder in the air by Taylor McNeel caught in the end zone in the final seconds of play in Halfback George Rhea.

Tech broke the ice three minutes into the second period when Jim Orton took a punt at Tech 41 and raced to the A and M nine yard line. Max Rudd took it over for the touchdown. Th Bulldog came right back for another TD, moving 83 yards. Slack went over from 3. After the half Tech moved 81 yards in 13 plays with Slack going over from the two. Then Tech went 52 yards with Jim Orton racing from the 25 to the two on a keeper. Sonny Sumlin went over from the two.

Air Academy Stops Rally, Wins, 16-14

DENVER (AP)—The Air Force Academy Falcons fought off a furious fourth - quarter rally by Utah Saturday before they finally nailed the pass-minded Redskins 16-14.

Even then Utah might have gained a tie except for an illegal substitution penalty on the conversion attempt after the Redskins' last touchdown.

Coach Ray Nagel of Utah sent in halfback Don McGivney who had been in the game twice during the final period. The officials stepped off a 15-yard penalty against Utah to put the ball back on the 18.

Quarterback Lee Grossup, who entered the game as the nation's leading passer, faded back to pass for the two-pointer but was smothered by Falcon end Bob Brickey before he could get the ball away.

For three periods, it was a bitter defensive battle. Going into the final quarter, the Air Force led 3-0 on a seven-yard field goal in the second by halfback George Pupich.

Blue Devils Rally To Win

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Duke, trailing 7-6, exploded for two fourth period touchdowns and defeated North Carolina State 20-13 in an Atlantic Coast Conference football game Saturday.

Duke, outplayed the first half, turned a recovered fumble into a early fourth period score and then added a two-point conversion on a pass from quarterback Bob Brodhead to end Doug Padgett to go ahead 14-7. The touchdown had come on a 10-yard aerial from halfback George Dutrow to halfback Wray Carlton.

BOUNCES BACK

Auburn Humbles Maryland, 20-7

By REX THOMAS

AUBURN, Ala. (AP) — Maryland outplayed Auburn for 15 minutes Saturday, then paid the penalty as a rugged Tiger defense pounced on Terrapin fumbles and intercepted passes to open the way for a 20-7 victory.

It was the 19th game without a defeat for the fifth-ranked Tigers. They bounced back with a vengeance after last week's 7-7 tie with Georgia Tech.

Auburn's passing was as deadly as Maryland's aerial was costly to the Terrapins, with quarterback Johnny Kern and halfback Tommy Lorino hitting their receivers with almost monotonous regularity.

The Terps' vaunted passing attack had the Tigers worried despite the interceptions, and for a time Auburn was behind on the scoreboard for the first time since Mississippi State ran up a 7-0 halftime lead in 1957 before finally losing 15-7.

With the Tigers nursing a 6-0 lead, Maryland end Ben Scotti grabbed a pass from quarterback Bob Rusevlyan that went for 68 yards and a touchdown in the third period. Vincent Scott, a second string end, put the Terrapins in front 7-6 with a perfect kick for the extra points.

Auburn then took the kickoff back for another score in two plays, with second stringer Jimmy Reynolds racing 62 yards for the touchdown. For the second time in a row, the conversion failed.

With one second remaining in the third quarter Lorino grabbed Rusevlyan's pass on the Maryland 20 and set up the Tigers' final score. Lorino finally plunged over from the 1 with one second remaining in the third period. Mike Simmons took a pass from Kern for two more points, the only Auburn conversion.

Lorino had scored in the second period on a seven-yard pass from Kern. Wilson's kick was blocked.

Like the final touchdown, a Maryland pass set up Auburn's first score. Halfback Lamar Rawson grabbed a toss from Rusevlyan and ran it back to the 12.

The Terrapins exploded in an unexpected burst of power and shoved the nation's No. 1 defensive team 50 yards downfield after the opening kickoff before a jarring tackle knocked the ball out of fullback Jim Joyce's hands and Tiger Jackie Burkett recovered on the Auburn 31.

Maryland drove back to the Tiger 21 but again a fumble halted the drive. The ball got away from halfback John Forbes and Rawson got it.

Auburn's powerhouse defense stopped the Terrapin boys cold on running plays and held them to a net 35 yards rushing on the ground. But Rusevlyan's passing was more difficult to stop. Maryland completed 11 out of 21 for 136 yards, with Rusevlyan getting eight of 15 for 115 yards.

The Tiger backs ran up 198 yards rushing and 89 yards in the air. They completed eight passes in 10 attempts.

Auburn, the national leader in defense, now has allowed five opponents an average of 108.6 yards per game.

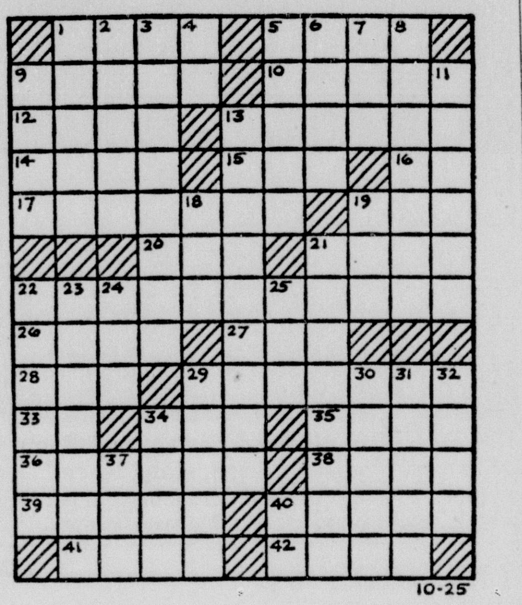
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Underdog Badgers Gain 7-7 Tie With Ohio State

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Wisconsin knocked some of the luster off second-ranked Ohio State Saturday as the underdog Badgers battled the Bucks to a 7-7 deadlock in a Western Conference game before 83,142 rain soaked fans.

Two bad breaks in the closing minutes kept the Badgers from turning in a startling upset. Each team scored in the third period of the rugged defensive battle.

Dale Hackbart, Wisconsin quarterback, scored his sixth touchdown of the year as he raced 64 yards with a punt return to give the Badgers a 7-0 lead. The Bucks marched the ensuing kickoff 66 yards in 20 plays to tie it up as Bob White, the block-busting fullback, blasted over from the 1-inch line.

The Bucks capitalized on a great last-second break for the score. They had the ball on the Wisconsin 6 with a third down situation when quarterback Frank Kremblas was thrown back on the 17 by Wisconsin's Bob Zeman on an attempted pass play. However, Wisconsin was guilty of defensive holding, and the ball placed on the 1-inch line from where White bulled over.

After that it was all Wisconsin. In the fourth period the Badgers went from their own 31 to Ohio's 8, only to have Jim Herbstreit, substitute halfback, intercept a pass in the end zone. A few minutes later Wisconsin was back on Ohio's 12 where Hackbart fumbled and tackle Jim Tyrer recovered for Ohio.

The longest drives of the day by each team failed to pay off. Wisconsin took the opening kickoff and marched 77 yards in 14 plays to Ohio's 1-inch line. There the Bucks took the ball on downs.

Ohio promptly surged from that point to Wisconsin's 3-yard line, the 97-yard drive eating up 19 playeo Wisconsin dug in ,and Dave Kilgore, the Buckeye kicking specialist, missed a field goal from the 11.

Wisconsin also lost a chance to win it with a field goal in the third period after Bob Nelson had recovered a punt fumble on the 24 by Ohio's Tom Matte. The Badgers failed to gain, and Paul Shwaiko missed a field goal from near the 27.

The deadlock played in alternate sunshine and rain ended Ohio's 13-game winning streak, and was the first blot on the Buckeye record this year. Wisconsin has never beaten Ohio in the Stadium dedicated in 1922, and in eight tries against teams coached by Woody Hayes has lost six times and tied twice.

Ohio has now won 26 and tied 1 of its last 29 Western Conference contests.

Ohio had 18 first downs to Wisconsin's 12, and a 208 to 182 yard advantage rushing. But the Badgers had a 227 to 221 edge in all yardage gained. White was Ohio's big ground gainer as he picked up 153 yards in 36 rushes. That was just two attempts and five yards off the Ohio rushing record set in 1943 by Ernie Parks against Illinois. Zeman led the Badger ball carriers with 40 yards in 6 tries.

The crowd, biggest ever to fill the Ohio Stadium, boosted Ohio's 4-game at-home attendance to 332,120.

Coach Hayes, who has blasted Big Ten officiating the last two weeks, had nothing to complain of Saturday. His Bucks were Penalized once for 5 yards, for consuming too much time between plays, while Wisconsin was penized twice for a total of 10 yards, once for a backfield-in-motion infraction, and once for holding—the latter setting up the Buckeye score.

SMU Takes 20-0 Win Over Tech

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS (AP)—Southern Methodist got the breaks and followed the passing of Billy Dunn, the running of Jim Welch and a grand exhibition by end Henry Christopher for a 20-0 victory over fumbling Georgia Tech Saturday.

Whereas last week the Methodists virtually gave the game to Rice on fumbles and pass interceptions, they were recovering the loose balls and handing the opposition passes in big league style this time.

It was the first time SMU beat Georgia Tech in eight years.

A 19-yard pass from Dunn to Stan Eckert brought the first SMU touchdown. Dunn hammered through the line for a yard and the second TC.

Don Meredith, the celebrated SMU passer who has been out with an injury, went in for a golden moment in the fourth period to throw 22 yards to the ever-present Christopher for the third.

Dunn passed for 41 yards in the first SMU drive that swept 71 yards.

A 41-yard punt return by Glynn Gregory led to the final Methodist counter.

A crowd of 27,000 sat under gloomy skies to watch SMU win its second game of the season in five games and add an important intersectional triumph to the Southwest Conference's string.

IN RUNAWAY VICTORY

Sooners Trounce Kansas St., 40-6

By SAUL FELDMAN

NORMAN, Okla (AP)—A sluggish Oklahoma football team plagued by early game penalties and fumbles, finally ground down Kansas State 40-6 Saturday for its second Big Eight Conference victory of the season.

Kansas State tried to defense Oklahoma and the Sooners, fifth nationally in total offense, made only 32 yards rushing in the first quarter. The score at the half was 13-0 in favor of the Sooners, the ninth ranked team nationally, but Kansas State's Wildcats began to tire and from there it was a romp.

It was Oklahoma's 65th straight league game without defeat.

The Sooner face a big conference test next week against Colorado.

Six Sooners scored, and the touchdowns came in an assortment of ways' including two on passes, blocked punt recovered in the end zone by end Ross Coyle and a 45-yard punt return by Jimmy Carpenter.

Jerry Tillery Ronnie Hartline, David Baker and Brester Hobby contributed the others.

Kansas State's touchdown came at the start of the fourth quarter when quarterback Les Krull, the Big Eight's top passer, took to the air. Three passes covered 62 yards including a 16-yard touchdown pass to Ed Price for the tally.

Illini Take Measure Of Spartans, 16-0

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Illinois turned a fumble and a pass interception into fourth period touchdowns Saturday and handed Michigan State its first shutout in 40 games, 16-0 before a homecoming crowd of 68,811.

Until the final period, it appeared as though the Illini's first period field goal by Don Yeazel would stand as the only score.

The victory gave Illinois its second Big Ten triumph against one defeat, while Michigan State suffered its second defeat against one tie.

The Spartans, giver numerous opportunities in the first half, couldn't cash in. Their only threat in the second half fizzled in the wake of a field goal attempt which went low and wide.

Leading 3-0 in the third quarter, Illinois had the ball on its own 12 when quarterback Bob Hickey sent the tremendous crowd to its feet with a 61-yard pass to end Rich Kreitling. Kreitling, however, fumbled when he was tackled and MSU recovered only to have quarterback Ike Grimsley fumble from the first play from scrimmage and Illinois take over on the Spartan 30. With L. T. Bonner and Bill Brown, a hard driving sophomore fullback, doing all the work, the Illini scored 11 plays later with Brown plunging over from the 1. Yeazel booted the extra point. Late in the quarter Hickey intercepted a pass and ran back 35 yards for the final score which doomed Michigan State's chances.

Eagles Calm Hurricane In 6-2 Surprise

NEWTON, Mass (AP) — Stubborn Boston College stalled Miami's surprise "lonesome twosome" offense Saturday, then got a 48-yard touchdown run and fumble recovery from Vinnie Hogan for an upset 6-2 football victory in the mud.

Hogan, a junior substitute halfback and one of BC's walking wounded, burst through right tackle behind shattering blocks by Bob LeBlanc and John Flanagan for his 48-yard touchdown sprint in the third period.

The play followed guard Frank Casey's second fumble recovery of the slippery, rain-drenched afternoon.

Listed for only spot service due to a leg injury which has hobbled him all season, Hogan, a 180-pounder from Springfield, pounced on an errant pitchout at the Miami 23.

Though the Eagles didn't score the play chilled the spirit of the Hurricanes and consumed valuable time in the fourth period.

A fourth down pass play at the Miami 4 failed for the Eagles but their 11,000 supporters cheered them lustily.

Miami, a potentially powerful squad held to a mere two touchdowns in three previous starts, broke out in their new offense on their opening play.

Doing Army's lonesome end one better, the Hurricanes split one end 15 yards wide and the opposite halfback the same distance to the other side. Neither came back into the huddle.

But the rugged Eagle defenders were not to be confused and had much the better of the footing on the slimy turf.

Miami's two points resulted from a wild pass from center by BC at the start of the second quarter. It was an automatic safety.

Marquette Beats Pacific, 27-18

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Marquette a three-touchdown underdog, ambushed College of the Pacific 27-18 Saturday before a crowd of 10,711 at County Stadium. Bulldozing Frank Mestnik scored the deciding touchdown on a one-yard plunge in the fourth quarter.

TRUCKERS HALT PRACTICE

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP) — Sandia High School opened its doors for the first time this fall. And when coach Clam Charlton called his first football practice, 115 eager prospects showed up.

But then he found he didn't have any equipment. All the uniforms and pads had been held up by a truck strike.

RAZORS' SIXTH LOSS

Ole Miss Squeezes Past Surprising Arkansas, 14-12

By PHIL NEWMAN

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—The Mississippi Rebels masterminded by competent quarterbacks Billy Brewer and Bobby Franklin got a scare from a revved up Arkansas team, but expanded their winning streak Saturday with a 14 - 12 win over the Razorbacks.

The Rebels started off confidently, but halfback Jim Mooty kept the fires of hope burning for Arkansas partisans in the crowd of 36,000.

Mooty, an El Dorado, Ark., junior, scored both Arkansas touchdowns and ripped off a total of 120 yards in 14 plays, which brought the crowd to its feet many times.

Franklin, a Clarksdale, Miss., speedster, counted both Mississippi touchdowns.

For the hapless Razorbacks, it was the sixth consecutive setback in a dreary season, and got the Rebels over the game that has become a hex contest for the Porkers' cross - river rivals.

The victory was sweet for Coach Johnny Vaught's crew because they had not won at Little Rock since 1952.

Mississippi, favored by 16½ points, started out with a rush.

The Rebels recovered a fumble on the Arkansas 33 in the first quarter. Five plays later, Franklin went two yards around right end for the score. Right guard Robert Khayat converted.

Arkansas used three quick kicks to keep out of trouble in the first quarter. Two by left halfback Freddy Akers caught Mississippi without a man back.

The Porkers got inside the Mississippi 50 yard line for the first time at the start of the second quarter. Shortly afterward, Mooty burst around right end, picked up four blockers and went 23 yards for the first Arkansas touchdown.

Mississippi took Arkansas's kickoff on the 27 and in 14 plays went 73 yards to send Franklin stumbling over the goal marker flag for the Rebels' second touchdown. Khayat continued his smooth converting with a 45-degree kick for the extra point.

In the last period, quarterback Jim Monroe flipped a four - yard pass to halfback Don Horton to start a 10 - play series for the second Arkansas score. That came when Mooty went through center for two yards. The attempted Monroe - to Mooty pass for the two points needed to tie the score fell to the ground.

Score by Periods

Arkansas	0	6	0	6—12
Mississippi	7	7	0	0—14

Scoring: Arkansas — Mooty 23, run (kick failed); Mooty 2, run (pass failed). Mississippi — Franklin 7, run (Khayat kick); Franklin 2, run (Khayat kick).

Hawkeye Passes Crush Wildcats

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — The deadly aerial shots of Iowa's Randy Duncan exploded plucky Northwestern's victory bubble and swept the unbeaten Hawkeyes into undisputed Big Ten football leadership with a 26-20 homecoming triumph Saturday.

Duncan hurled three scoring passes for a 20-0 lead before the spirited Wildcats rallied for three second half touchdowns to throw a big fright into a record Iowa crowd of 59,275.

Iowa's decisive touchdown proved to be fullback Don Horn's four-yard scoring smash at the outset of the fourth quarter.

Iowa thus moved out in front of the Big Ten race with a 3-0 conference record as Ohio State was tied by Wisconsin 7-7 for a 2-0-1 mark. It was the first loss in three Big Ten starts for Northwestern which last week mauled Michigan 55-24.

Duncan's passing mastery was reflected in his record of 14 completions, three for touchdowns, in 18 passes for 174 yards.

Northwestern seemed destined to take a severe trimming itself as Duncan passed 13 and 22 yards to end Curt Merz for two touchdowns and arched a 21-yard scoring pass to end Don Norton against a seemingly helpless Wildcat defense.

But Northwestern's Dick Thornton got his own p[illegible] arm ing and the Wildcat running game came to life.

Thornton threw a 24-yard touchdown pass to soph end Elbert Kimbrough and hit halfback Ron Burton with a 35-yard scoring pass. Sandwiched between, Fred Hecker plunged one yard for a touchdown to cap a 34-yard Wildcat march.

Leading 20-12, Iowa marched 73 yards in 13 plays and Horn produced the big six-pointer on his 4-yard smash as the fourth period opened.

LSU Puts Limit On Tickets For Ole Miss Game

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Louisiana State University's athletic department, hard-pressed by ticket seekers, Saturday imposed a limit on tickets for the Mississippi game.

Athletic director Jim Corbett said a maximum of ten tickets, including children's tickets, would be allowed each purchaser of family plan tickets for the game next Saturday.

The 15,000 family plan unreserved tickets, located in the upper deck of the stadium's south end, will be placed on sale Monday at 8 a.m., Corbett said, on a first come, first served basis.

Corbett said the limitation was made to allow a greater number of persons an opportunity to secure tickets for the game.

Commodores Roll Over Virginia, 39-6

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Workhorse Tom Moore scored two first half touchdowns to start Vanderbilt on its way to a 39-6 rout of Virginia in an intersectional football game Saturday.

A homecoming day crowd of 21,000 saw the jun' Commodore halfback score one touchdown in the opening quarter and another in the second, both on short runs.

Vanderbilt added another in the second to go into halftime with a comfortable 21-0 advantage.

Virginia, held in check during the first half, threatened twice in the third quarter and drove inside the Commodore 5 both times before giving up the ball on downs.

Not to be denied, the Cavaliers finally scored in the fourth quarter, quarterback Arnold Dempsey tossing to end Ulmo Randle for the last five yards.

Vanderbilt then opened its scoring gates with three final period touchdowns, with reserves playing most of the time.

La. College Massacres Southern St.

PINEVILLE, La. (AP) — Louisiana College celebrated homecoming Saturday by whitewashing Southern State 52-0.

Freshman halfback Bobby Satcher galloped 24 and 21 yards for touchdowns in leading the free-for-all. Lamar Hebert kicked three extra points.

Guard Leon Boone intercepted a Southern State pass two minutes after the game began and raced 62 yards for a tally. Three minutes later halfback Don Scullane snared a 70-yard pass by Charles Ward to score.

Fullback Bill Morgan scored on a run from five yards out, fullback Joe Stewart from the one, Sonny Huff from 21 yards out, and Keith Munyan went off tackle for 20 yards and then lateraled to end Bob Clark who completed the 40-yard play. Munyan kicked for the final extra point.

Purdue Outlasts Irish, 29 To 22

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Purdue scored three times within seven minutes in the third quarter Saturday then held off a late Notre Dame aerial surge to take a 29-22 football victory.

Jarring Bob Jarus, 200-pound junior fullback, scored three Purdue touchdowns as the Boilermakers defeated the Irish for the third time in the last five years and boosted their season mark to 4-1.

But Notre Dame kept the rain-drenched crowd of 59,563 on its feet with a typical Fighting Irish comeback, scoring 15 points in the final quarter of the regionally televised game.

During the wild finale, in which Skip Ohl booted a 21-yard Purdue field goal, George Izo hooked up in an aerial spectacular with Monte Stickles, hitting the 6-4 junior Irish end on touchdown plays of 27 and 44 yards.

Notre Dame also added a safety after driving 30 yards behind the surprise passing of fullback Nick Pietrosante to the Purdue 1. But Izo fumbled and Emory Turner recovered for the Boilermakers. Then Jack Laraway was tackled in the end zone by Pietrosante.

In handing the Irish their second loss of the campaign, Purdue broke open a 7-7 game in the third period. Jim Crotty's fumble of the second half kickoff was captured by Purdue's Dick Brooks on the Irish 21. Six plays later, Jarus jammed the final yard. The conversion failed.

Two minutes later, Purdue scored again. Wilson stole Bob Williams' pass on the Notre Dame 30 and raced to the 4—Jarus banging across on the next play. A pass attempt for the extra 2 points failed.

Before another five minutes had elapsed, Purdue counted again on Laraway's 28-yard breakaway run. Ross Fichtner booted the pointer and the score was 26-7.

The Irish took a 7-0 lead in the first quarter when Fichtner fumbled a punt after being jarred by Bob Scholtz' tackle. Stickles recovered on the Purdue 30 and Williams scored on an 11-yard keep-it play. Stickles kicked the point.

Later Pietrosante's punt from the end zone went only 27 yards. Five plays later, Jarus rammed over from the 1. Fichtner's placement was good.

Soph Paces Villanova To 13-6 Triumph

VILLANOVA, Pa. (AP)—Sophomore fullback Billy Paczkoskie ignored rain and a muddy, slippery field Saturday to score Villanova's two touchdowns and lead the Wildcats to a 13-6 triumph over oft-beaten Richmond.

Paczkoskie, a 213-pounder from the hard coal fields of Shamokin, Pa., tore the Spider line apart in every quarter as Villanova rolled to its fourth straight win and its fifth in six games. Richmond has a 1-5 record.

The burley soph, shifted to the fullback slot from half because of teammates' injuries, played his best game. His second period 30-yard touchdown run climaxed a 65-yard, five-play Wildcat drive. And his 38-yard down-the-middle dash with enemy tacklers clinging to his back early in the final quarter was the key play for the second TD.

He scored it from a foot out. The touchdown wound up a 58-yard march.

The pass was no weapon at all. Neither team completed an aerial. But one of Jim Grazione's passes —he tried only four—was intercepted by Richmond's alert Buddy Davis, who raced along the sidelines for 45 yards and the Spider score.

Thomas Morley drew a 90 day jail term for unauthorized use of a movable.

In other cases, J. B. Davis was fined $25 or 10 days for driving without brakes. He received an identical sentence for reckless driving causing an accident.

Among persons in jail charged with felonies, Sterling Barrilleaux denied theft of $25 and trial is set for Nov. 20.

Trial is also slated on that day for Emma E. Shankers, alias Emma Barrilleaux, charged with theft of $25. She will also be tried on charges of theft of $10, a misdemeanor.

Calvin Coolidge Diggins denied two counts of simple burglary, and trial is set for Feb. 4, 1959.

Minton E. Whittington pled guilty to driving while intoxicated and was fined $300 or 60 days.

William D. Kennedy maintained his innocence on two charges of theft of $400 and of $250. Trial is scheduled for Nov. 4.

Robert F. Bayles, on bond and charged with aggravated battery denied guilt and trial is set for Feb. 3, 1959.

SCHEDULED

Twenty - four persons were scheduled for arraignment yesterday.

Each of the following who pled guilty was fined $25 or 10 days in jail:

Billy R. Causey, and Dan Pettit admitted speeding.

Walter Ray Conner and Theodore May Jr. pled guilty to driving without a chauffeur's license. May denied charges of failure to post bond.

On reckless driving charges, Nerious O. Fussell, G. O. Kirkpatrick, Joseph N. Smith, J. B. Davis, Helene L. Thompson and James Watson each pled guilty. Watson also drew a 15-day compulsory jail sentence, and Davis was fined for driving without brakes.

Harwood C. Lee, Sam Sewell and Dortie Moore were fined for driving with improper mufflers.

Disturbing the peace resulted in a fine for Luther Martin.

Charles Ray Stout and Jeff Washington each were fined for driving without a driver's license. Stout was also fined $5 or 5 days for driving with an improper license plate.

Nathaniel Bolden appeared in court and admitted reckless driving. Bond forfeiture against him when he did not appear in court last week was set aside, and he was fined $50 or 15 days.

Trial dates were set for the following, who denied charges:

Robert Cameron and Willie E. Dear, trial on Dec. 5 on charges of reckless driving.

Eugene Johnson Jr., trial Dec. 12 on charges of driving with switched license plates.

Raymond Turner, charged with second offense, driving while intoxicated, trial Dec. 12.

Loyce Howard failed to appear on charges of driving without a chauffeur's license and failure to post bond.

Charges of driving with defective brakes against Sylvester Mason Jr. were passed over.

Clarence E. Chisholm, charged with speeding, was listed as scheduled to appear in court Monday.

Willie E. Kinman, listed on the docket as charged with driving while intoxicated, did not appear and was not arraigned.

The following charges were dropped: Charges of failure to post bond, against Herbert E. Tedeton forgery against Theodore Harris, and criminal neglect of the family, against L. D. Frost in juvenile court.

In juvenile court, one person was remanded on bond on charges of criminal neglect of the family, and another man was ordered to pay $15 weekly support.

Try At 'Free' Soft Drink Can Result In Death

West Monroe Police Chief Jeff Caldwell yesterday warned that children who try to pilfer cold drinks from machines could be flirting with death.

Caldwell said a 13-year-old boy was caught twice yesterday trying to get a "free" soft drink. The boy's hand was caught in a vending machine at Crosley School as he tried to reach inside and trip a lever. Firemen and policemen had to tear into the machine to free the boy.

"If a person gets his hand cut when he gets caught, it's possible for him to bleed to death before he can be released. Then, too, a child could lose a finger or a hand in one of the machines," the chief said.

In other action, police caught a small Negro boy shoplifting in a downtown West Monroe store, Caldwell said. Both boys were turned over to their parents to await juvenile court action.

Tech, Northwestern Top Rated GSC Cage Powers

LAKE CHARLES, La. — Gulf Sates conference basketball teams swing into full dress basketball drills this week, preparing for a long and arduous campaign that gets underway late in November.

Most of the smiles, when the 1958-59 season is contemplated, are to be found at Natchitoches and Ruston, where Northwestern and Louisiana Tech are preparing two of the most impressive squads in conference history.

Prospects at Northeast State and SLI are expected to be considerably brighter this year than last, while Southeastern and McNeese will be rebuilding.

Louisiana Tech has 10 lettermen returning from the 1957-58 season, including heralded Jackie Moreland, a 6-8 pivot who was the conference's scoring leader last year, netting 602 points in 25 games.

Big news at Tech, though, is the return of Ray Germany, a regular center of the 1956-57 team. Germany sat out the campaign last year, because of an eye injury. Germany will be switched to forward this winter by Coach Cecil Crowley.

Crowley has on hand all of his starters from last year, plus Jim Orton, a star freshman who started several games late in the season.

Besides Moreland, Tech's returning regulars are Charley Frye, Gary Richardson, Ron Woodward and Jim Tullos. J. W. Mercer, a 6-4 junior who started several games for the Bulldogs, also is on hand.

Northwestern and McNeese tied for the GSC title last year, each compiling a 9-1 record in conference play.

Northwestern, too, has an impressive squad. Coach Huey Cranford has four returning regulars, having lost only Mickey Crnkovic from the 1957-58 team that won 20 of 27 games over the full season.

Jim Leach, an all-GSC choice at guard, along with Bobby Wicker, Phillip Haley and Jimmy Adkins are Northwestern's returning regulars. Five other lettermen are on hand, plus half a dozen outstanding newcomers. Leach was his team's top scorer last year, with 454 points in 27 games.

Most impressive of the freshmen is Truitt Weldon, 6-5 center from Mt. Carmel of Florien.

At Northeast Coach Lenny Fant has three returning regulars, but is depending upon a prize crew of transfers and newcomers to bolster the Indian squad.

Billy May, 6-6 center; John Freeman, 5-11 guard; and Huey Cottrell, another 6-6 performer, are the returning Indian regulars.

Top transfers are Ronald Doyle, a 6-3 forward, and Fred Bradley, a 6-1 guard. Northeast won only one of 10 conference games last year.

Coach Luther Marlar is rebuilding at Southeastern, having only three lettermen returning. They are Ron Klosterman (6-6), Brad McPherson (6-6) and Paul Pietri (6-2).

Southeastern's hopes for improvement are centered around Jesse Shanks, a 6-6 transfer, Tom Howes, a 6-5 freshman, and Bryan Pietri, a six-foot freshman. The Lions won two of 10 contests in GSC play last fall.

Coach Beryl Shipley, in his second season as boss at SLI, will field almost a new team. Only returning regulars are Tim Thompson, a 6-2 forward who was one of the conference's best freshmen players last year; and Randy Price, senior center.

Another letterman on hand is Howard Humphreys, 6-3 forward. Newcomers on the SLI squad are Larry Simon, Lafayette's scoring leader last year; Richard Britton and Valdo Savich, who led West Frankfort, Ill., to a 27-4 record last year; and Milburn Ellis, a 6-1 forward who was Tennessee's leading prep scorer last winter at Hampton, Tenn.

At McNeese State, Coach Ralph Ward has six lettermen returning from the 1957-58 squad that had a 9-1 record and tied for the GSC crown.

Prize performer in the Cowboy corral is forward Stan Kernan, a 5-11 junior forward who was selected as the circuit's outstanding player last fall by the Louisiana Sports Writers Association.

Kernan scored 423 points last year in 23 games in pacing the Cowboy offense.

Forward Jerry Clark and Guard Huey Olliff are other McNeese regulars returning. Other lettermen are Bill Breen, Don Troutman and Ted Cabra.

Among the most impressive newcomers are Al Nesmith, a 6-5 center from Lake Charles; John O'Neill, a 6-4 center from Kansas City; and Charles Pixley, 6-1 forward from Jonesboro-Hodge.

Ward's varsity roster will include 10 freshmen.

First game of the season will take place on November 25. Opening conference game will not be played until after the Christmas holidays.

TUESDAY NIGHT

Wildlife Unit To Hear Blanchard

John Blanchard, president of the Louisiana Outdoor Writers Association, will be the principal speaker at the Ouachita Wildlife Unit's regular monthly meeting Tuesday night.

Blanchard, who is public relations director of International Paper Co. at Bastrop, will speak on Louisiana wildlife. The meeting is set for 7:30 p.m. at the Virginia Hotel.

Unit president Bob Downing said the club's upcoming duck contest will be outlined, in addition to the showing of a film.

Also scheduled to appear on the program is Pete Waller, president of the Franklin Wildlife Unit, of Winnsboro. Waller will demonstrate several calls.

Downing urged all members and persons interested in wildlife to attend the meeting and pointed out that one of the major items to be discussed was membership.

Unit Secretary Lloyd Voorhees has reported the club's membership to be slightly over 1,000 and Downing said it is hoped a 'ast-minute surge will be made before the drive ends November 1.

He explained that the purpose of the duck contest, which will offer a Browning automatic shotgun to the hunter killing the biggest mallard of the season, was to increase membership.

The contest will be open only to members of the wildlife unit. Sportsmen interested in joining the club can do so by contacting any unit member.

TAG TEAM MATCH

Return Bout At Kallio's Monday

The stars of last week's tag team feature at Kallio's Arena return Monday night for another set-to, this one to be supervised by two referees.

Gypsy Joe, Viva Zapata and El Toro, losers by a disputed decision last week, will again meet Bill Barney, Jack Curtis and George Curtis. The bout is billed for 90 minutes with two falls to win. Two brief preliminaries will open the card.

Joe,Viva and Toro wera declared the winners of last week's donny brook when the ring official missed a bit of skuldruggery. Informed of the rules infraction, the ref reversed himself and gave the nod to Barney and the Curtis boys. The villains disagreed hotly but with the usual result.

Gypsy Joe and company are vowing it'll be a different story tonight and the heroes will take the beating of their lives. Barney and the Curtises contend, with good reason, that, with two referees to watch for rough stuff, the villains won't have a chance.

Gypsy, Zapata and Toro, all slightly offbeat characters, are a colorful cast. None are loathe to use a bit of rough stuff now and then, usually now, and the presence of two referees will cramp their style a bit. However, being sly rascals, they can usually get away with murder at high noon on main street and are planning to try to do it Monday night.

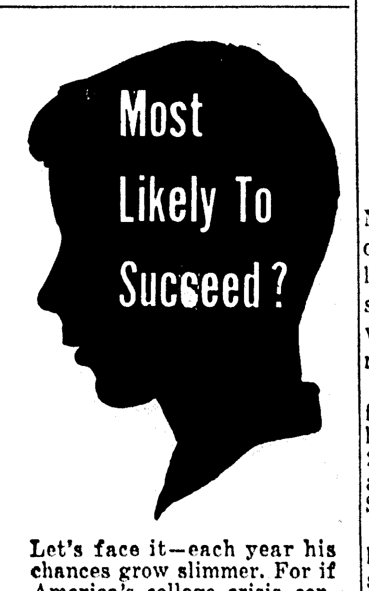
VMI Tramples Davidson, 42-7

DAVIDSON, N. C. (AP)— Unbeaten Virginia Military, borrowing much of its talent from the track, turned Davidson's homecoming Southern Conference football game into a track meet Saturday, tramping the Wildcats 42-7.

The Virginians extended their unbeaten streak to 16 games They have won five and tied one this year. Last year they won nine and tied one.

The speedy Keydet backs ran for 272 yards and added 112 more through the air. Five men scored the six touchdowns, with quarterback Bill Nebraska tallying twice on runs of five and three yards in the first and second quarters.

The longest run was made by Verne Keefer, middle distance man on the track team, who intercepted a pass and ran 86 yards for a score.



Let's face it—each year his chances grow slimmer. For if America's college crisis continues, he may be denied the training that is so vital to success in these highly competitive times.

Today many college classrooms are overcrowded. By 1967, applications are expected to double. At the same time, faculty salaries are so inadequate that increasing numbers of qualified teachers are seeking jobs in other fields.

Not a very rosy picture, is it? Yet there's still time to do something about it. Won't you help overcome the college crisis by contributing to the college of your choice? Do it now. The returns will be greater than you think.

If you want to know more about what the college crisis means to you, write for a free booklet to: HIGHER EDUCATION, Box 36, Times Square Station, New York 36, New York.

Florida State In Upset Over Vols

By ESCAR THOMPSON

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Florida State, operating behind a ferocious line, stunned favored Tennessee 10-0 Saturday on the running of Fred Pickard and the passing of Vic Prinzi.

The score doesn't begin to indicate how badly the Floridians outclassed the Vols, who entered the game as 10 point favorites.

The Seminole line, anchored by guard Al Ulmer and end Pete Fleming, kept Tennessee's single wing attack sputtering ineffectively most of the one-sided contest.

The Floridians broke open the game at the start of the third period when Pickard, a fleet 160-pounder from Columbia, Tenn., knifed through the middle and raced 51 yards to Tennessee's 33. Sammy Burklow made a touchdown saving tackle from the rear.

Running plays took the ball to the Tennessee 10 and Coach Tom Nugent sent in Johnny Shepherd to try a field goal. He split the uprights for his second three-pointer of the season.

A moment later Ulmer, a giant on defense for the Seminoles, intercepted George Wright's pass on the Tennessee 37 and returned to the 28.

Prinzi, who completed five passes for 66 yards, hit end Tony Romeo with a 27-yard loss to the 1. Bobby Renn went over for the touchdown and Shepherd converted.

Wolverines Beat Golden Gophers, 20-19

By DAVE DILES

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Michigan stopped Minnesota's go-for-broke Gophers Saturday on a two-point conversion try in the final period and won the 49th Little Brown Jug battle 20-19.

The victory-starved Minnesota team elected to go for the two-point try after touchdown when a placement would have produced a 20-20 deadlock. Quarterback Bob Reese gambled on a pass but all his receivers were covered and the ball fell to the ground.

This was the eighth straight defeat for the Gophers and their 10th setback in the last 12 games. They put up a gallant effort before succumbing to an in-and-out Michigan team that won the contest on a strong early passing game, a quick-strike opening the second half and the Minnesota backfire.

Minnesota trailed 20-7 after Michigan's Darrell Harper opened the second half with a 58-yard touchdown run. The Gophers came bouncing back for two touchdowns and threatened to pull out a last-minute victory when the Wolverine defense tightened.

Senior halfback Bob Soltis sparked the Gopher comeback but was injured in the third period and removed from the field on a stretcher. He suffered a shoulder or neck injury and was taken to University Medical Center.

The Gophers, who have not won a game this season, missed a final scoring chance in the last 15 seconds when Reese's long pass to Dick Johnson trickled off the big end's fingertips at the Michigan 25. Reese tried one more pass before the gun sounded.

When Harper exploded on his 58 yard jaunt in the first 20 seconds of the second half, it appeared this might be another Michigan runaway, so familiar in this storied Jug rivalry. But the Gophers marched 77 yards in nine running plays, Soltis spurting up the middle for the final 16 yards for a touchdown that narrowed the score to 20-13.

Reese scored the third Gopher touchdown on a two-yard plunge, then elected to go for victory instead of settling for a tie.

Rebs' Franklin Suffers Injury

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Mississippi quarterback Bobby Franklin received several broken ribs and possible internal injuries in the Mississippi-Arkansas game Saturday.

He wa taken to a hospital for emergency treatment and X-rays.

It was not known immediately whether he would be able to return to Mississippi with the team.

Subs Lead Navy Over Penn, 50-8

By WILL GRIMSLEY

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Joe Matalavage, a hard-running sophomore from Mahanoy City, Pa., led a corps of second and third string Navy Midshipmen to a 50-8 victory over Penn Saturday on rain-soaked Franklin Field.

Quarterback Joe Tranchini, suffering a lame left shoulder, and his first string mates played only 20 minutes of the one-sided game, a warmup for Navy's game next Saturday with Notre Dame.

The regulars were not missed, however, as the eager substitutes scored in every period, putting across three touchdowns in the second period and two in the last.

The Navy team rolled up 545 yards, 320 of them on the ground. Penn was held to 44 yards rushing but covered 116 yards in the air.

Matalavage, a 6-foot 195-pounder scored two of the Navy touchdowns and halted a mild Penn scoring threat in the fourth period when he intercepted a pass deep in his own territory.

Other Navy scores, all except one on short plunges, were made by Dick Dagampat, Ray Wellborn, Roland Brandquist, Jim Maxfield and Peter Van Nort. Van Nort's TD came on an 11-yard pass.

With Tranchini seeing only spot service, Maxfiel and the third string John Livengood carried Navy's passing duties, completing 11 of 18 passes.

Penn's score came in the final 15 seconds of the first half when Larry Purdy connected on a 42-yard pass to Jack Hanlon.

Navy	6	22	8	14	—50
Penn	0	8	0	0	— 8

Navy—Dagampat 10 run (pass failed)
Navy—Wellborn 2 run (Bellino run)
Navy—Brandquist 1 run (run failed)
Navy—Matalavage 2 run (Van Nort pass from Livengood)
Penn—Hanlon 42 pass from Purdy (Coffin pass from Hanlon)
Navy—Maxfield 3 run (Tenbrook run)
Navy—Matalavage 6 run (run failed)
Navy—Van Nort 11 pass from Livengood (Correll pass from Livengood)

West Monroe Boxers Slate Nov. 8 Fights

Amateur boxing returns to West Monroe after a absence of several months Nov. 8 when Joe Knighten's West Monroe Athletic Club meets a Tyler, Texas outfit trained by Artie Dorrell, former professional who fought four world champions.

Knighten is promising no less than six bouts for the card, to be presented in the West Monroe High School gymnasium Saturday night, Nov. 8.

Grid Tilt Reset For Thursday

NEWELLTON, La., (Special)—The football game between Davidson of St. Joseph and Newellton, originally scheduled for Friday night, Oct. 31, has been rescheduled for Thursday night, Oct. 30, at the Newellton field, 8:00 P.M. by mutual agreement. Mr. Wallace Prather, Principal of the Newellton High School states that this change was made at the request of various school and community organizations who wanted to hold their traditional Halloween Carnivals and parties on Friday night.

LOWLY KANSAS

Jayhawks Tumble Tulane Green Wave In 14-9 Upset

LAWRENCE, Kan. (UPI)—Bill Crank scored once, stopped three touchdown drives with intercepted passes and got the split-T option play rolling for the first time this season Saturday as lowly Kansas startled Tulane with a 14-9 upset.

A hard-charging Kansas line kept the Green Wave off balance and Tulane quarterback Richie Petitbon, who led Tulane to an upset over Navy last week, was ineffective.

The Kansans, getting their second win of the season against four losses, intercepted a total of four passes, all in the last half, to nullify Tulane's desperate passing attack.

Kansas drove 44 yards on 10 plays to score late in the first period with halfback Bob Marshall carrying across from the two-yard line on the option play, the bread and butter of Jack Mitchell's offense which had failed to work so far this year. The big play in the drive was a 27-yard pass to Marshall from Larry McKown.

Tulane came storming back in the second period to drive to the one-foot line where Kansas held. But a short punt put the squeeze on the Jayhawks again and halfback Percy Colon broke through right tackle from the 28-yard line to score.

But the run for the extra points failed and Tulane, trailing 7-6, tried a field goal when another drive stalled on the Kansas 15. Howard Kisner made it good from the 20 and the Green Wave led 9-7.

The Jayhawks took the following kickoff 69 yards in 11 plays for the winning margin, scoring with only 40 seconds left in the first half. It was a Crank to Marshall combination all the way on the option play. Crank kept for gains of 24 and 27 yards and Marshall made two four-yard carries to the two-yard line, where Crank carried it over. Duane Morris booted his second extra point.

Tulane tried one last passing bid with two minutes left to play and made it from their 20 to the Kansas 44 on a play from Phil Nugent to end Pete Abidie, but Morris intercepted Nugent's following pass on his own 33 and raced down the sideline 54 yards to the Tulane 13 where the Kansans ran out the clock.

Kansas	7	7	0	0	—14
Tulane	0	9	0	0	— 9

Scoring: Kansas — Marshall 2 run (Morris kick); Crank 2 run (Morris kick). Tulane — Colon 28 run (run failed); FG 20 Kisner.

ON FIELD GOAL

Alabama Downs Miss. State, 9-7

STATE COLLEGE, Miss. (AP) —A 22-yard field goal by Fred Sington and a 21-yard pass from Bobby Jackson to Norbie Ronsonet gave Alabama's resurging Crimson Tide a 9-7 Southeastern Conference football victory over Mississippi State today.

It was Alabama's first SEC victory since Paul "Bear" Bryant took over as head coach this fall.

Fired up Alabama, which had lost earlier this season to Louisiana State and tied Vanderbilt, battled the Maroons off their feet from start to finish.

State's only touchdown came with only three minutes remaining on a six-yard run by quarterback Billy Stacy to cap a 49-yard march.

Alabama, taking advantage of every opportunity, moved into scoring position early in the first period when Bobby Jackson intercepted a Maroon pitchout from Stacy to Jack Batte on the State 28.

The Tide used six plays to drive to the State 12. On fourth down, Sington, son of an all-time great Alabama tackle, split the uprights with a 22-yard field goal.

Both teams battled between the 40s in the third period. Alabama's Gary O'Steen kept the Maroons bottled up and deep in their own territory with booming quick kicks.

The Tide scored its touchdown in the third period on a beautiful pass from Jackson to Ronsonet, a fourth-string end. Sington's kick was wide.

With three minutes left, Stacy went over from the 6 to score the Maroons' touchdown. Bobby Tribble kicked the extra point.

FROM CANADA TO LOUISIANA

Ducks, Geese Late In Seasonal Flight South

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The flight of wild geese and ducks for many years mystified man. But with the development of conservation came the astute study of the migrations. Now in this day, biologists know the way of the wild goose. With the season opening here next Saturday, the Morning World offers its Sunday morning sportsmen a first-hand report of the duck-geese situation as gathered by telephone from Saskatchewan, Canada to Louisiana. The Morning World also takes this opportunity to salute the Father of Conservation, Teddy Roosevelt, who was born 100 years ago tomorrow.)

By SAM HANNA
Staff Writer

There will come a day—and a great many men at the moment are hoping it will come real soon—when millions of ducks and geese will rise up out of the nesting grounds in Canada and boil down the Mississippi Flyway from Minnesota to the Gulf of Mexico.

Not by any means will all of these feathery targets take the southeastward passage to their winter retreat, but enough will follow the Mississippi and Missouri rivers south that thousands of Rebel guns will turn skyward.

They will feed in freshly harvested fields in Illinois, Scoop up acorns in Arkansas and eventually tease Louisiana redecks and cajuns in brakes and pirouges.

They will come in all shapes, sizes colors and forms - - from widgets to mallards to pintails to the big Canadian honker - - to the shot at and missed, hit and killed - - and finally to be storied about.

Then it'll be all too soon when thes. annually welcomed visitors turn homeward . . . back up the flyway, disappearing into Canada for another year to come.

But the day when the great migrations begin is yet to dawn. It's not quite time to tune in on the whistle that only mallard wings can sing.

Snow has fallen only once this season in Canada and states along the Mississippi Flyway have enjoyed shirtsleeve weather. Informed sportsmen know that the migrations move out of Canada ahead of cold fronts.

So with just a touch of snow on the ground, the northern nesting grounds of Canada are still home for most of the many millions of waterfowl.

At Wadena, Saskatchewan, Canada, (a dominion that joins the northern boundary of the United States), biologists Ron Mackay said:

"The big flights are north of us, but they're beginning to come in now."

Ron, who is employed by the Canada Department of Natural Resources, said the duck population was considerably smaller this year because of dry weather earlier in the season.

But he said the geese in Saskatchewan were greater in numbers than they've been since World War II.

With the hunting season underway there, hunters are having poor luck, according to Mackay. The Canadian pointed out, "There are quite a few American chaps up here."

The snowfall was light and only a touch of snow was on the ground, Ron said.

When asked when he thought the big flights would start moving out of north Saskatchewan and down the Mississippi Flyway, Mackay's answer was, "after another snowfall."

When would that be? In another two or three weeks.

The Louisiana season opens in six days.

Mackay's report coincided with views offered by E. R. McDonald, Sr., chairman of the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries Commission, who recently spent several days in Canada hunting grouse.

McDonald said the potholes and lakes that usually offered nesting grounds for the waterfowl were dried up.

"When I was there," McDonald said, "the big flights hadn't moved."

When the big flights do move (usually there are two or three big ones a year), they'll come in varied numbers — from a half million to four million ducks and geese.

Of course their routes south are varied. A state in the heart of their path, one which is far advanced in studying the migrations, is Illinois.

At Havana, Ill., game specialist Frank C. Bellrose said there were only 127,000 ducks in the whole state.

"Usually, we have twice that many this time of the year," Frank explained. He is with the Illinois Natural History Survey.

On October 17 and 21 of this year, Frank received reports that two flights were moving out Canada. "But by the time they got here," he said, "there were only 40 or 50,000 ducks in each flight."

The first big flight last year in Illinois came on October 23, which clearly points out that the ducks and geese are behind schedule.

Illinois is similar to the Monroe area in one respect, that being —the mallard is king. "The mallard is just as big here as it is in Louisiana," Bellrose said.

"But," he warned, "We're short on mallards so far this season." The season, which is underway, will continue until December 26.

The hunting in Illinois was poor and the feed for waterfowl was worse. Water in the lakes was high and the weather was fit for fishing. It was 70 degrees.

Frank said three big flights a year are recorded over Illinois.

He pointed out, "That doesn't mean we'll get these ducks before you do in Louisiana. Sometimes they'll split up along the flyway and some will take a shortcut, hitting Louisiana at the same time as the others hit Illinois."

In keeping tabs on the flights, Frank said he works closely with Mort Smith and Dick Yancy of the Louisiana commission.

"We watched a flight together last year," Bellorse explained. "It hit Louisiana minutes before we got 'em here."

As if the science of studying migrations is not already up to date, Illinois is getting ready to use radar to trace the flights, according to Bellrose.

But Ron Mackay at Saskatchewan, Canada and Frank Bellrose at Havana, Ill. weren't alone in their wait for the big flights.

At Little Rock, Ark., Tom Mull, information officer of the Arkansas Fish and Game Commission, said his state has received only two small flights.

"They had about 40 or 50,000 ducks each," Mull said. They were mostly pintails.

The Arkansas weather was clear and the state has lots of water. "We're in shape to keep 'em," Mull pointed out.

But Arkansas is patient. Their season doesn't open until November 7, a week later than in Louisiana.

As for the Pelican State, the latest aerial check showed 354,000 ducks here. That sounds impressive, but consider these facts:

There were only 2,000 mallards and 195,000 blue wing teal, with 160,000 of them in Southwest Louisiana. There was not much of any thing in North Louisiana.

Since that survey, which was made several days ago, the blue wing teal have continued to pass over, Joe Herring, Monroe district supervisor, explained.

"We don't have any ducks here now,' Joe said.

So with that, the path was clearly marked from Saskatchewan, Canada to Louisiana.

The weather in Canada is too mild to move the big flights. Along the Mississippi Flyway, the story is the same they're waiting too for the real flights to take wing.

In addition to being late, the flights on a whole won't be as large. The duck population is down from past years because of the dry season in the nesting grounds.

That doesn't necessarily mean that hunting on Wham Brake or in Lafourche Swamp or Catahoula Lake in this area won't be any good.

As the biologists pointed out the flights split and the distribution of waterfowl can spell good or bad hunting for the area getting large or small flights.

The general outlook, however, is gloomy, especially with the season opening here in six days.

But the thing of greater significance is the fact that waterfowl can be traced, pointing up one phase in the great development of conservation studies.

Conservation in America is only about 50 years old. It was founded by Teddy Roosevelt, who was born 100 years ago tomorrow.

So it seems almost unbelievable that the flights rising out of the nesting grounds in Canada will be traced south by radar.

But the motive is the same. You can bet that on the great migration day, the boys on Wham will scramble to their blinds.

First Landing Wins Garden State Stakes

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP) — First Landing and Eddie Arcaro smashed home in a driving rainstorm Saturday to defeat the West's Tomy Lee by a head in the world's richest horse race — the $297,250 Garden State Stakes.

While a crowd of 34,127 went wild with excitement, the handsome bay colt not only became the biggest money winning 2-year old in history, but definitely wrapped up the 1958 juvenile crown and established himself as the colt to beat in the Kentucky Derby and other 3-year-old classics next season.

First Landing is a husky son of Turn-To, who won the first running of the Garden State in 1953 for the Cain Hoy Stable. His dam was Hildene, the mother of Hill Prince, the 1949 2-year-old champion owned by Chenery, of Doswell, Va., and New Hork.

Tomy Lee is a British-bred colt who won six in a row in California before being defeated by First Landing in the $151,300 Champagne Stakes at Belmont Park two weeks ago. His owner is Fred Turner Jr. of Midland, Tex.

Tomy Lee, with Willie Shoemaker up, finished 2 lengths ahead of the Brookmeade Stables Sword Dancer. It was another 3 lengths back to the fourth horse, the Briardale Farm's Rico Tesio

Tars Bounce Wake Forest In ACC, 26-7

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (AP) — Quarterback Jack Cummings threw two long touchdown passes and shifty halfback Wade Smith ran 62 yards for another score as North Carolina defeated Wake Forest 26-7 Saturday in an explosive Atlantic Coast Conference football game.

The defeat pushed Wake Forest out of first place in the conference standings. It was the fourth straight victory for Coach Jim Tatum's Tar Heels.

The efforts of the Tar Heel backs offset a fine performance by sophomore quarterback Norm Snead of the Deacons whose effective passing kept his team in the contest until the Tar Heels turned on the heat in the fourth period.

Third string halfback Moyer Smith scored North Carolina's final touchdown, capping a 67-yard drive with a 2-yard line plunge in the final three minutes.

The crowd of 33,000 came to life about midway of the second period when Cummings fired a long pass from his own 45 to end John Schroeder who caught it on the Deacon 11 and scampered over for the game's first score.

The Tar Heels scored what proved to be the winning touchdown in the first three minutes of the second half. Beginning their drive on the 29 after receiving the third period kickoff on the 6, the winners advanced to their 38 where it was third down and one yard to go.

Wade Smith then crashed the left side of the line, outran the secondary and went all the way for 62-yards and a touchdown.

Wake Forest ripped back on the strength of Snead's passing. The Deacons moved from their own 44 to a touchdown in four plays. Snead completed two passes good for 33 yards and soph fullback Joe Bonecutter raced 20 yards, giving the Deacons possession on the 3. Halfback Jim Dalrymple carried over on the next play.

The Tar Heels came back on the next kickoff. Cummings and Wade Smith paced a drive which began on their own 11 and ended in a touchdown on a 25-yard aerial to end Al Goldstein.

West Virginia Edges Past VPI, 21-20

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — West Virginia took the starch out of Virginia Tech's jazzy offense with a magnificent third period goal line stand here Saturday and steamed from behind to nudge the scrappy Techmen 21-20 for its 26th consecutive Southern Conference football victory.

An old-fashioned one-point conversion from placement by tackle Bob Guesman gave the Mountaineers their final margin in the thrill-a-minute offensive struggle before a turn-out of 22,000 in Richmond's Tobacco Festival feature.

Once trailing by two touchdowns as quarterback Billy Holsclaw led Tech on an early scoring jag, the Mountaineers rode Dick Longfellow's passes for a score that narrowed their deficit to six points by halftime.

Then they turned to a brutal ground attack to barrel 60 yards for the winning touchdown in the fading seconds of the third quarter.

Halfback Mel Reight collected the payoff touchdown for the mounties on a seven-yard scramper over left tackle. Guesman then booted the point that decided the contest.

The touchdown by Reight was his second of the afternoon. He had tallied the second six-pointer for West Virginia on a 10-yard pitch from Longfellow.

Moments before they launched their winning drive the Mountaineers had stopped Tech cold on their four-yard stripe after the Techmen had moved 47 yards in an effort to punch across the touchdown that, as it turned out, would have turned the final decision the other way.

FROM 14-0 DEFICIT

Pitt Battles Top-Ranked Army To 14-14 Deadlock

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Army football team, rated No. 1 in the national rankings and No. 1 on offense, turned into a stubborn defensive squad Saturday and barely escaped with a 14-14 tie against fired-up Pittsburgh rated second only to the Cadets in the East.

The deadlock kept intact Pitt's record of never losing to Army in big Pittsburgh Stadium. For a while Saturday in the rain-drenched second half it looked as if the Panthers would run the Cadets right out of the big bowl.

Pitt, trailing 14-0 after nine minutes and 36 seconds of the second quarter, came back to get one touchdown just before the half ended and another with an all-important two-point conversion just after the third quarter started. From there on, it was a battle in which neither team could get the breaks it needed.

Pitt got close enough for two field goal attempts in the third period, but missed them both. Army's one good drive bogged down in the mud on the Pitt 4.

The deciding play, which gave Pitt its tie, was a simple shovel pass from Ivan Toncic to Dick Haley for the two-point conversion. Pitt's vaunted passing attack brought both the touchdowns and the important extra points. But it also led to four interceptions just when the Panthers looked as if they were going places.

The big, confident Pitt team, whose only defeat was at the hands of Michigan State outplayed Army through the greater part of Saturday's game. But when it came to a showdown, the Army defense was just good enough to hold out.

What it amounted to was Army winning the first half by a narrow margin and Pitt the second half by a big one in everything except the score. A crowd of 50,287 sat in the rain until the end as Pitt mounted a final drive which came close to a score after stopping Army with a great goal line stand.

The statistics showed a big edge for the Panthers with 145 yards by rushing and 187 by passing to Army's 104 and 61.

Army, after taking charge with a superb defensive show in the first quarter, grabbed the lead at the start of the second period.

Steve Waldrop, replacement for lame-legged Pete Dawkins, swept around left end for 4 yards and the first touchdown at the end of a drive which carried 73 yards. Fullback Harry Walters, virtually out of action with a sprained ankle, came in just long enough to kick the extra points. After this touchdown and after the second score, which came on a 7-yard pass from Bob Anderson to Don Usry.

Quarterback Joe Caldwell and Anderson cut loose with three long-gaining pass plays amid the showers to set up the two scores. Caldwell also maneuvered the second Army touchdown with a pitchout to Anderson, who then threw the forward to Usry. From there on Pittsburgh had things pretty much its own way.

In the closing minutes of the second quarter, Pitt's Bill Kaliden fired a 33-yard forward pass to Mike Ditka and heaved another to John Flara, who outraced Dawkins, made the catch on the 5-yard line and ran across for a 43-yard touchdown play.

That left Pitt trailing 14-6 at halftime but it took the Panthers less than 3½ minutes to draw even. A drive which started on the Pitt 48 wound up with Toncic hurling a seven-yard touchdown pass to Jim Zanos. Then he tossed a shove pass to Haley for the extra points. That squared the count.

Before the third quarter ended Pitt got close enough for Norrton Seaman to try to place kick from the 24-yard line and for Kaliden to try one from the 27. Both were wide.

Army started to move again in the fourth quarter after an exchange of pass interceptions but when the Cadets got down to the 4 Toncic and John Guzik slammed Waldrop to the ground on the fourth down and took the ball away.

Army	0	14	0	0—14
Pitt	0	6	8	0—14

Army—Waldrop 4 run (Walters kick)
Army—Usry 7 pass from Anderson (Walters kick)
Pitt—Flara 43 pass from Kaliden (pass failed)
Pitt—Zanos 7 pass from Toncic (Haley pass from Toncic)

Bulldogs Plaster Kentucky, 28-0

By MERCER BAILEY

ATHENS, Ga. (AP)— Pat Dye and Francis Tarkenton, two sophomores who quit the team for one day last week, sparked Georgia to a 28-0 Southeastern Conference football victory over ailing Kentucky Saturday.

Dye, a jet-fast guard, scored one touchdown and set up another in a brief span of the fourth quarter. He intercepted a pass and Georgia swiftly marched 40 yards for its third score. Then 11 seconds later Dye grabbed a Wildcat fumble out of the air and scooted 28 yards into the end zone.

Tarkenton started things rolling for Georgia in the second quarter, passing six yards to fullback Theron Sapp for the Bulldogs first score. That was the only pass Sapp has caught all season.

Kentucky was handicapped by an outbreak of flu which weakened several of the Wildcat linemen and by worrisome injuries to quarterback Lowell Hughes and Bobby Cravens.

Halfback Fred Brown, another Bulldog soph, showed the kind of breakaway running ability Georgia has long needed. The speedster, a nephew of Johnny Mack Brown, former Alabama grid great and movie cowboy, got Georgia's second touchdown early in the fourth period. He weaved his way 10 yards into the end zone on a fine individual effort.

Kentucky threatened only twice, never getting inside Georgia's 20. One sortie died at the 28, the other at the 24 when the Georgia defense held.

Kentucky	0	0	0	0— 0
Georgia	0	7	0	21—28

Ga—Sapp 6 pass from Tarkenton (Manning kick)
Ga—Brown 10 run (Herron pass from Britt)
Ga—Whitton 11 run (Manning kick)
Ga—P. Dye 28 return in-air fumble (kick failed)

Why plug through life on just one income?

Many a person like yourself has an income from a source in addition to his job. One of them may even be your brother-in-law. Do you put up with only one income?

Take dividends from stock. More than 8½ million Americans own stock. This means they're part-owners of a company—perhaps of several companies. As owners they can share in any profits that are paid as dividends, share in any growth through increase in the value of the stock. Some are acquiring shares in famous companies for as little as $40 every three months up to $1000 a month—through the Monthly Investment Plan.

Buying stock is really very easy. You just place your order with a nearby Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange. Naturally you will want to get their advice and to choose your stock carefully.

When you invest, use only extra money left over after the bills are paid and emergencies provided for. Then never — absolutely never — depend on mere tips or rumors. Always get the facts. Remember that stock prices go up and down, a company may not pay a dividend, may not grow or prosper.

A very good way to start is to send the coupon below for our free booklet, "DIVIDENDS OVER THE YEARS." This immensely useful booklet, recently brought up to date, lists more than 300 stocks on the New York Stock Exchange that have paid dividends every year from 25 to 110 years. It tells which ones have paid 5 to 6 percent at recent prices, which have been preferred by financial institutions . . . and much more. It also describes that convenient Monthly Investment Plan. The coupon brings it to you free.

And now get acquainted right away with a nearby broker. Make certain he's with a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange. You'll find him delighted to be helpful. He'll aid you in getting facts, help you buy or sell. Be sure to ask him about bonds and preferred stock. And occasionally ask him to review your securities with you—an important thing to do.

Ask yourself now: Do I want to plug through life on just one income? Of course you don't. So start out for extra income now by sending the coupon.

La. Couple To Serve As Missionaries

Rev. and Mrs. Sidney R. Flewellen, both natives of Louisiana, were appointed missionaries to Ghana, Africa, by the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board at its annual fall meeting in Richmond, Va. Flewellen, a medical technologist, will work at the new Baptist hospital in Nalerigu, Ghana.

Mrs. Flewellen is the former Della Guillory, a native of Pine Prairie. After her mother died when she was 12, she was brought up in the Baptist Children's Home, here. She received the bachelor of arts degree from Louisiana College, Pineville, and attended Sacramento, Calif., State College.

She said that while attending a Baptist Student Union convention in California she came to the realization that sh[illegible]ing to safety, security, and comfort in the United States while millions around the world were without Christ." During a missionary message at that convention she began to consider mission service overseas.

Rev. Flewellen is now a technologist at Woodland (Calif.) Clinic and pastor of First Baptist Church Davis, Calif., and Homewood Baptist Church, Alexandria, La.

A native of Alexandria, he received the bachelor of arts degree from Louisiana College and attended New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary and Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary, Berkeley, Calif. He received his training in medical technology at Baptist Hospital, Alexandria.

The Flewellens have two children: Warren Ray, two; and Mary Gwen, nine months.

The October appointments bring the total number of active southern Baptist foreign missionaries to 1,267.

History Of Papal Election Is Described

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer

Chances are the solemn Vatican conclave that opened yesterday will wind up in a day or two with the selection of an Italian cardinal as the new Pope.

It doesn't have to be that way.

Canon law places remarkably few restrictions on the election of a spiritual head for the Roman Catholic Church. He need only be a male Catholic who has reached the age of reason unsullied by heresy or schism.

The informal rules, however, are strict.

There has not been a non-Italian pope in more than four centuries, not since the Dutch-born Adrian VI ascended the papal throne in 1552 for a reign that lasted little more than a year.

The last noncardinal to be chosen was the unfortunate Urban VI, whose election in 1378 was declared invalid three months later by the cardinals who elected him. They claimed they voted under duress.

The revocation opened what is known as the Western Schism when, for 39 years, Western Christendom was confused by the presence of two—and at one point three—rival claimants to the papacy.

There even have been laymen popes, the last of whom apparently was St. Celestine V, an ascetic lay monk elected in 1294. He resigned after five months when he found himself ill-equipped to handle the office.

It is generally agreed among Catholics that the Pope to be elected in the next few days will be the 262nd successor to St. Peter, founder of the Roman Church. But no one can make the statement with absolute certainty.

It depends on how you count Stephen II, who was elected on March 23, 752, and died two days later before his ordination. In those days the pope's reign was dated from ordination. Now it starts with election.

It also depends on how you count Benedict IX, who was elected in 1033 at the age of 12, deposed in 1044, reinstated the following year, removed again after a 20-day reign, and installed a third time in 1047.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: I am a new Christian and I honestly want to know and do God's will but how can I know what His will for me really is? J. M.

ANSWER: There are many ways by which God leads us but it is only when we have minds and hearts surrendered to Him that we sometimes hear His voice. God speaks to us through the Holy Spirit, sometimes while we are praying. I know a man who was faced with a very difficult problem. He was an earnest Christian and he prayed about this particular problem and while he was praying he had a clear sense of the answer, so much so that he got up from his knees and wrote it down. Later in the day, during a conference in which the problem was under discussion, he read this statement. Immediately the entire group, although they had differed sharply one with the other, felt this was the answer and unanimously agreed. As a result, an issue which had divided Christians for months was resolved in absolute harmony. God sometimes leads men through the words or acts of other people. He often gives direct leading as we pray about it and read our Bibles. There are times when a group of individuals may come to a conclusion which indicates how one of them should act. The important thing is to be willing to do God's will. When that is true, God will surely make it known. Many Christians have experienced the fulfillment of the words of the Prophet Isaiah: "And thine ears shall hear a word behind thee, saying, This is the way, walk ye in it, when ye turn to the right hand, and when ye turn to the left." (30:21) Another promise is found in Proverbs 3: 5-6: "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths."

New Minister Welcomed At Dubach Church

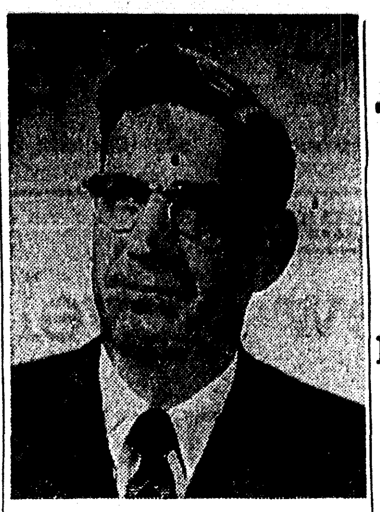
DUBACH (Special) — The Fellowship Baptist Church here received the Rev. James A. Nichols as its new pastor recently.

The Rev. Nichols served formerly at the Douglas Ave. Baptist Church in Baton Rouge where he was associate pastor. He is a graduate of Louisiana College and is at present a student of the New Orleans Baptist Seminary. He is married to the former Sarah Frizzell and they are the parents of a son.

Catholic Society Schedules Supper

The Ladies' Sanctuary Society of Jesus the Good Shepherd Catholic Church met Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. V. C. Bruscato, 1810 Milton in Monroe.

Plans were discussed for a parish wide potluck supper to be held at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Tuesday, beginning at 5:30 p.m.



REVIVAL IN PROGRESS —The Rev. Glen Shields is guest speaker at a revival now in progress at the Free Methodist Church, Lincoln and McGuire Streets in West Monroe. Rev. Shields held revival at the church last year and accepted return invitation, according to Rev. H. Austin Smith, church pastor.

Sterlington To Welcome New Pastor

The Rev. Ray Raddin has accepted the pastorate of the First Baptist Church of Sterlington, it was announced today.

Since June, 1955, Rev. Raddin has served as pastor of the Second Baptist Church of Monticello, Ark. His resignationn from that post will become effective this week and he will begin his work in Sterlington immediately.

He has served as president of the Ministerial Alliance and Pastor Advisor of the Executive Council of the Baptist Student Union at Arkansas A&M College.

For the past two years, he has served as moderator of the Bartholomew Baptist Association composed of 25 Southern Baptist Churches in Drew and Bradley counties.

A native of Hattiesburg, Miss., Raddin received his formal education in the schools of that city. He holds college degrees from Mississippi College, Clinton, and Southwestern Baptist Seminary, Fort Worth, Texas.

Mrs. Raddin also holds a degree in religious education from Southwestern Baptist Seminary and is a registered nurse. The Raddins have two sons, aged three years and five months respectively.

NEW YORK — (UPI) — On the last day of the 1951 baseball season only a thin wall separated the happiest and the unhappiest men in the world.

Bobby Thomson of the New York Giants was elated. He had just won the pennant for his team by hitting a home run. Ralph Branca's sorrow was so great it could almost be felt in the Giants' dressing room beyond the wall that separated them from the Brooklyn Dodgers. He had thrown the home run pitch to Thomson.

The dressing room scenes were recorded on tape for posterity. They are now brought back to life in "The Thrill of Sports" (Columbia ML-5294).

The record brings back other notable events in sports, such as the two Louis-Schmeling fights, a remarkable commentary by Jesse Owens on his triumph over Hitlerism in the 1936 Olympics and the last breathless moments of Don Larsen's perfect game.

The stilled voices of Babe Ruth, Jack Johnson, Bill Tilden, Benny Leonard and Knute Rockne are heard again in comments on the sports of their time. This belongs in every sportsman's collection.

Steve Allen is the subject of two off - beat LP's. Dorothy Collins sings Allen songs on "Picnic" (Coral - 57150). Steve himself is at the piano on "Steve Allen Plays Neal Hefti" (Coral-57211.) Both are relaxing records.

Package of the Week — "Broadway Cavalcade" (Capitol WBO-1079, two LP's). Fred Waring and the Pennsylvanians present 30 songs from Broadway musicals of the three decades. Good for dinner background.

Encores — "San Antonio Rose" is a pop classic that will be around for a long time. Latest version is one of the best, a honky-tonk piano binge by Johnny Maddox (Dot 15841) . . . Lou Stein was a couple of real evergreens, "I'll Be with You in Apple Blossom Time" and "I'm Looking Over a Four Leaf Clover" (Mercury 71368).

Single of the Week — "Ghost Trains" by Vaughn Monroe (RCA-Victor 47 - 7345). This song is remarkably similar to "Ghost Riders in the Sky," which Monroe recorded eight years ago. There is no reason why Monroe shouldn't score again.

For Jazz Fans — "On Campus With the Dukes of Dixieland" (Audio Fidelity AFLP-1891). One of the best Dixie bands in the country rouse the college spirit with their easy handling of top campus songs.

NEW YORK —(UPI)— New recordings of Mozart's minor opera "Idomeneo," and his very major one, "Don Giovanni" come to the phonograph at the same time and the excellence of performance that is the distinction of both makes the contrast between them dramatically sharp.

"Idomeneo" was written only some seven years earlier than "Giovanni," yet the differences between them in their musically expressed understanding of people are enormous. In "Idomeneo," the understanding is hardly present; in "Giovanni," it has an awesome depth.

In performances less detailed and less realized than these, you'd be hardly aware of many of the seemingly endless subtleties of musical characterization present in "Giovanni," or of the essential emptiness (a pretty emptiness, it should be said) of "Idomeneo."

The "Giovanni" has Cesare Siepi as its Don, and the following gifted singers in the other roles: Lisa Della Cesa, Suzanne Danco, Hilde Gueden, Anton Dermota, Fernando Corena, Walter Berry, and Kurt Boehme. No wonder conductor Josef Krips, using the Vienna Philharmonic and the Vienna State Opera Chorus, was able to project a "Giovanni" of shimmering clarity (London-4406).

The "Idomeneo" is from a performance produced for the Glyndebourne Festival Opera of England for which, obviously no effort nor expense was spared to achieve perfection. The principal singers are Richard Lewis, Leopold Simoneau and Sena Jurinac; the conductor is John Pritchard.

The reviewer doesn't dismiss "Idomeneo." But it belongs to its age which was almost two centuries ago. It is filled with beauties, but embalmed beauties. It is a period piece (Angel-3574).

As regards details of performance, you can give honor also to a new recording of "Andrea Chenier" in which the principals are Mario del Monaco, Renata Tebaldi, Ettore Bastianini and Fernando Corena, and the conductor was Gianandrea Gavazzeni using the chorus and orchestra of the Saint Cecilia Academy of Rome (London-1303).

But what a dated, threadbare opera! A period piece, too, but without the genius which illuminates anything Mozartean. You have to be a real fan of bel canto to be able to listen attentively to "Andrea" from first note to last, the distance between them being considerable. But if you are such a fan, all the singing is quite wonderful.

Disaster At Sea Is One Of The Best

DISASTER AT SEA By Otto Mielke (Fleet, $3.95). This is an excellent account of the world's great maritime tragedies from the Titanic to the Andrea Doria.

It is during such hours of crisis as a ship sinking that the individual must rely upon himself as nowhere else, for modern science and invention offer pitifully small aid to man in his continuing and unequal struggle with a force that is as wild and untamed as in the beginning of time.

In this book, you'll find true stories of ships that disappeared under circumstances that no novelist would dare ask his readers to accept; of choking fog and nerve - paralysing terror on sea, as high as houses; of frightening nights on doomed lightships, and of fire, that deadliest of all marine dangers.

This book is much more than just another gruesome catalogue of death and destruction. It is an anthology of human courage in adversity and vividly phrased.

GUIDE TO GOOD READING

Cites New Novel By M. Savage

By FRANCES FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Library

"Parrish" is the title of the new novel by Mildred Savage. It plunges the reader into a colorful and dramatic world in conflict — a world which knows both the clamoring pressures of modern industry and the lingering traditions of plantation life, the world of the great tobacco plantations. The locale is the Connecticut valley and the industry involved is the tobacco industry. It is a stirring and powerful book and one which should be very popular. Many of our readers are extremely fond of stories with a western setting, but unfortunately there are not many good writers in this field. Noel M. Loomis is an exception and a new story from his pen is always worth reading. His latest book is called "Short Cut to Red River." This book is concerned with the development of the trail from northern Mexico to Arkansas. It is the story of a brave and resolute character beset, not only by Comanche Indians, but by intrigue and treachery.

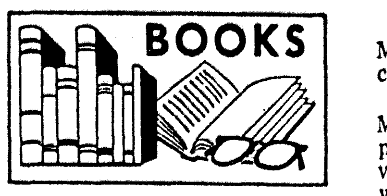
Those who prefer their westerns with a more factual background will want to read "New Mexico's Royal Road," by Max L. Moorhead. This is an account of trade and travel on the Chihuahua trail. It is a story of excitement and adventure and gives a fascinating picture of a colorful period in the early history of our country.

Drama lovers will be happy to know that among this week's new books there are two separate plays and one collection of plays. The book-length plays are "The Square Root of Wonderful" by Carson McCullers and "The Music Man" by Meredith Wilson. The collection is called "Cavalcade of Comedy." The editor is Louis Kronenberger and it contains the complete text of 21 plays ranging in time from Ben Johnson's "The Alchemist" to Jan Van Druten's "The Voice of the Turtle." Those who really like to read plays will find this a rich treasure trove.

Those who are concerned about present day trends in education should read "Bending the Twig" by Augustin G. Rudd. This is a startling expose of the revolution in education and its effect on our children. "A Case History of Hope" by Flora Lewis is a story of Poland's peaceful revolution in the days after World War II. It is a thrilling story and one of inspiration for all freedom loving people.

Some perfectly beautiful new books for home makers have recently been added to the collection of the Ouachita Parish Public Library. "Decorating Begins With You" by Mary Jean Alexander is a very splendid book. "The House of Your Dreams; How to Plan and Get It" by W. A. Kirkpatrick contains a great deal of valuable advice to anyone planning a home. "The Complete Hors D'ocuvres Cookbook" by Alice Schryver contains a wealth of interesting recipes. "Creative Gardens" by James C. Rose will be eagerly welcomed by the many fine gardeners in this area.

An interesting new biography is "The Death of Manolete" by Barnaby Conrad, while a quiet travel book is "The Changing Face of New England" by Betty Thompson. The books mentioned are only a few of the new titles at the Ouachita Parish Public Library. If you have not used our resources, we invite you to do so at your earliest opportunity.

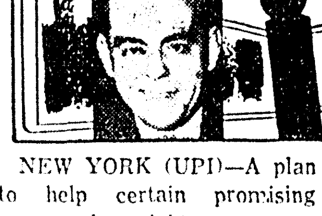


An Anatomy of Me, by Fannie Hurst (Doubleday): An engrossing autobiography with notable lack of light-hearted incidents. Miss Hurst was reared in St. Louis by parents who loved and protected her and provided her with every material need but apparently showed little affection. She started writing stories almost from the time she learned to use a pencil and became a phenomenal literary success, selling stort stories for $3,000 to $5,000 apiece. She makes constant reference to the "masses" with whom she liked to mingle while gathering material for her novels, the most famous of which is one of her earliest — "Back Street." There is a singular lack of dates in the book, even the date of her birth.

The Murder and the Trial (Scribner): Edgar Lustgarten, one of the foremost analysts of famous criminal cases, presents essays on 17 notable trials, most of them for murder, in this unusually good factual whodunit. Lustgarten emphasizes the trials rather than the murders themselves, to dramatize the parts played by lawyers, defendants, witnesses and judges. The author holds with some force that in some of these trials, though the defendants might have been guilty, there is doubt that their guilt was proved.

Later Than You Think," by Mollie Hamilton (Coward-McCann): When Alice DeBrett was found hacked to death in the garden of a Kenya estate, it was assumed that she was the victim of a Mau Mau straggler. But when the murderer struck again, the tight little white community began to look for him among themselves. The interest of the story is heightened by its description of life in Kenya a land of swamp, mountain and jungle where stout fences are needed to keep out the hippos.

East to West, by Arnold Toynbee (Oxford): A travelogue summing up the findings of the historian's round-the-world trip of 1956-57. In discussing the Middle East, Toynbee minimizes political developments. He says the Arab agricultural renaissance Arab agricultural renaissance is the "real revolutionary event in the Arab world today." In the Far East he saw Hokkaido as Japan's "island of zation of Japan resulted in a tremendous rise in population which overflowed into Hokkaido. This move, though not far in distance, was vast in psychological terms . . . "one was struck both by the breach with Japanese tradition and by the effort which this breach had cost."



NEW YORK (UPI)—A plan to help certain promising young playwrights overcome production barriers so they can see their works in action has been developed with the aid of a grant by the Ford Foundation.

The organization earmarked $635,000 for its 1959 "program for the humanities," and approximately one - third of this was for the playwrights' program, covering two years.

As many as 10 dramatists may benefit next year by seeing their plays staged in selected professional, community or educational theaters outside the New York area. Some of the money will be used to help finance the productions.

Perhaps more important is the fact that chosen writers will be compensated for any loss of salary while on leave from a job to participate in the production of their plays. They will get travel and living expenses so they may be on hand throughout the process of production.

The playwrights chosen for this program will be announced next spring. The closing date for nominations — by literary agents, editors, professional theater people, the New Dramatists Committee, etc.—was Oct. 15. Each nominee had to be represented by one original play not yet produced professionally, and only those writers who had completed two full - length plays could be entered.

Dramatists who may already have been produced—including Broadway productions — were not barred. Only U. S. citizens were accepted.

The New Dramatists Committee will screen the submitted manuscripts. Selection of playwrights will then proceed, first by an anonymous committee of judges representing educational, community and professional theater groups. A board of consultants to the Ford Foundation will make the final review.

Production is planned for the fall of 1959, and it is hoped that there will be 10 playwrights (and scripts) worthy of consideration.

Theaters chosen to cooperate with the plan in 1959 production are: Actor's Workshop, San Francisco; Alley Theater, Houston, Tex.; Arena Stage, Washington, D. C.; Boston U. Division of Theater Arts; drama department of Carnegie Institute of Technology; Margot Jones Theater, Dallas; Omaha Community Playhouse, Erie, Pa.; drama and speech department of Stanford University; Tulsa Little Theater.

The American Academy of Dramatic Arts, the first dramatic school in the United States, celebrated its 75th birthday, Oct. 3. It was originally known as the New York School of Acting. Its alumni include many of the stage's great, from Cecil B. de Mille to Princess Grace of Monaco.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Comedy has fared none too well in these early weeks of the Broadway season.

Comedy is a tougher field than drama, and it is not news that the theater has been relatively poor in this commodity for quite a span.

First, there was Phoebe Ephron's "Howie," which, to some extent, tried to create fun at the expense of television. This well may be impossible, just as in the past most attempts to frolic with the movies and radio failed. Some subjects simply have their own built - in humorous comment that defies gilding.

"Drink to Me Only," by Abram S. Ginnes and Ira Wallach and put together by the dean of comedy - farce experts, George Abbott, has more to offer, but it is not exactly a rousing contribution.

The chief trouble with this tenant of the 54th Street (formerly Adelphi) Theater is that the one joke is drunkenness. No matter how skilfully this may be handled, and I doubt if anyone could get more out of the material and actors than Abbott, it is bound to pale after a time.

Tom Poston, an amiable and able comedian whom the whole country must know by now as one of the "second bananas" on Steve Allen's TV program, plays a junior lawyer in a big firm whose job it is to prove that a client could still have been conscious after consuming two quarts of liquor in 12 hours.

Poston, John McGiver, Paul Hartman, Cameron Prud'homme and all of the others do their darnedest to make this seem better than its basic material, and there are times when they almost succeed.

Fine Biography Of Composer

BIZET AND HIS WORLD. By Mina Curtiss. Knopf. $7.50.

On March 3, 1875, Bizet's "Carmen" had its premiere at the Opera - Comique in Paris; three months later, to the day, he was dead; on Oct. 25, he would have been 37 years old — these are the key dramatic dates in the life of the composer born 130 years ago this month.

There were musical relatives; Mrs. Curtiss provides a detailed roster of the influences brought to bear on him, musical and personal, in particular by his mother, before the tempery, dandyish young man had grown of age and was committed to a career of whose his fullest rewards his early death cheated him.

Gounod and Fromental Halevy were his principal models — Gounod, whose "Faust" is a fixture of our operatic repertoire, and Halevy, whose "La Juive" is not; Gounod, whose sentimental and infirm character prevented him from being an ideal master for his self - righteous admirer, and Halevy, whose daughter Genevieve was Bizet's wife. His first symphony, in C major, would owe a lot to Gounod's First Symphony in D.

Bizet won the Prix de Rome on his second try, proved a successful and popular member of artistic circles in Italy, then returned to the work-a-day realities of Paris. There he had to play the piano at rehearsals, or do accompaniments or transcriptions to eke out a living while he gave his heart to the composition of songs, orchestral works, and the operas by which he won his place in the world of Meyerbeer, Offenbach, Rossini, Verdi Wagner, Gounod and Berlioz.

Bizet, particularly scornful of Gounod's lapse from virtue, had a puritanical, un - French attitude toward women. But he had the not unusual indoctrination in plain, unrelieved sex, and appears to have had a son by his mother's maid. His strict standards were somewhat relaxed by his association with a neighbor, the famous La Mogador, before he married for love. It was a Bohemian world of bad manners and social excesses; of these two women, La Mogador, led from a brothel for an outing with Alfred de Musset, was soaked to the skin by soda-water siphoned at her by the outrageously playful poet, and the other, Genevieve, thought it fun to snap bread pellets at a luncheon guest at her table.

Bizet's "Les Pecheurs de Perles" gets routine performances, at best, in Paris today. We remember by name "La Jolie Fille de Perthe" and "L'Arlesienne." But we see year after year the everlasting "Carmen." We see it too much, some opera - goers think, but beyond question it was in its day an advanced work and a bold venture, and Mrs. Curtiss is fortunate in having for the climax of her erudite work a popular opera that was the climax of her composer's life.

She is fortunate in another respect. In working on her edition of the "Letters of Marcel Proust," she was intrigued most of all by his letters to Mme. Emile Strauss, who was his friend, and the inspiration for some aspects of his character, the Duchesse de Guermantes, and who was also the widow of Bizet. Emile Strauss's niece, Mme. Sibilat, proved to have in her possession a whole cupboardful of letters to and from Bizet, "never before seen by anyone but the correspondents themselves or their heirs." And we are fortunate that this phenomenal find was made by Mrs. Curtiss, who has known wonderfully how to reconstruct Bizet's life, with more accuracy, detail and scope than was possible before.

Mark Van Doren Looks Upon Life

THE AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF MARK VAN DOREN. Harcourt, Brace. $5.75.

The name Van Doren — for Mark, Pulitzer prize winning poet who here tells his enviable story; for Dorothy, his wife, the writer and editor; for Carl, his brother, Pulitzer prize winning historian, biographer and novelist; for Irita, the editor, who was Carl's wife; and indeed also for Charles, son of Mark and Dorothy and most widely known of them for his phenomenal success on TV's "Twenty-One" quiz program — the name Van Doren, then, solidly and eminently established in American letters, must be familiar to every reader. Who is not in debt to their books, or to the magazines and papers they edited, or has not studied in their classes, or met some one else who did?

Chief of the tribe today is this autobiographer, doctor's son, born in Hope, Ill., in 1894, brought up in nearby Urbana, graduate of the University of Illinois, Columbia Ph. D., and author of more than two dozen volumes of poetry, novels, stories biographies and other literary works.

"We were a reading family," he says; "my parents believed in books, and had many in the house." Though it also means his first teacher had to pick him up bodily and carry him, screaming and kicking, into his first class, he was committed early and irrevocably to reading and writing. He followed his brother Carl in and out of college, editors' chairs and publishers' offices and, by one year, onto the Pulitzer honors list, and said of their first separation:

"I merely missed him as a wall would be missed if it fell out of a house."

He traveled abroad in the 1920s and again in the 1950's. In between he had two sons, taught and wrote. Some of his finest pages here trace various poems to the moment of grief, happiness or triumph which inspired them. One pupil was Whittaker Chambers, whose persistent "Cloak - and-dagger air" made it too difficult for Van Doren to believe his stories about danger from Communist murderers or about the Hiss affair, either.

But this book ignores the hurly - burly and melodrama, though it has its heat and passion and intensity. This is tranquility itself. Only Mark Van Doren would ever have known an Army captain who tiptoed into the barracks to spread blankets over his chilly recruits while they slept. "The world, I am certain, is a terrible place, but I am just as certain that I love it," he writes. The world is pretty happy to have him aboard, too. No one else in his literary generation has written such engaging reminiscences.

Monroe Street Scene

BATTERED PAVEMENT —Condition of pavement in the 1400 block of DeSiard Street is typical of that found in many of Monroe's thoroughfares. Foundation failure, surface cracking and potholes are common inconvenience and expense to the taxpayer who will vote Tuesday on a capital improvement program to eliminate such conditions of five major arteries. (Staff photo by John Fogleman.)

ROUGH RIDING — Motorists on extremely heavily traveled Forsythe Avenue find riding not so smooth, what with coarse pavement and uneven surfaces. In widening the street, the city had to resort to the more crude type of work because of lack of funds. At the extreme right can be noted a shoulder drop of about two inches in one line and a drop of about the same depth in the outer portion of the patchwork. (Staff photo by John Fogleman.)

RAIL UNDERPASSES ALSO PROPOSED

Street Improvements Needed

(This is the fourth in a series of articles aimed at giving the taxpayers of Monroe an insight into factors involved in the Tuesday, October 28 bond issue election.)

By DANNY BINGHAM
Staff Writer

Termed one of Monroe's greatest needs in its march to progress is a street improvement program which can be accomplished with funds derived from a bond issue to be voted upon by property owners Tuesday.

The Citizens Committee sponsoring the forthcoming bond election, has approved certain projects for immediate attention as a means of relieving major traffic problems facing the community.

The proposed program involves improvements to five of the city's major arterial thoroughfares, along with the construction of two railroad underpasses to eliminate extremely heavily traveled rail crossings.

Cost to the city of the five street improvement projects is estimated at $816,600, while cost of the two rail underpasses is set at $1,013,400.

The streets to be improved under the program have been designated, and while present plans call for underpasses to be built under the Illinois Central Railroad track at North Fourth Street and the Missouri Pacific tracks at South Second Street, should final studies of engineers and the State Highway Department indicate more feasible crossings under the two tracks at other locations, they will be located accordingly.

It was pointed out that there are certain factors which could result in a change of these locations for the underpasses to better serve the traffic need of the community.

FINANCING

The proposition of financing improvements to the five arterial thoroughfares has been given the utmost of consideration by proponents of the Tuesday bond issue election, and the Citizens Committee, headed by Lee R. Vanderpool, Jr., has arrived at a conclusion which it considers equitable in all respects.

According to the Citizens Committee, the program is so designed that there is no discrimination in cost against any property owner, whether he lives on one of the five arterial thoroughfares to be improved or on a deadend street.

Under existing city laws, local repaving and street improvements are paid by persons owning property abutting the streets to be improved, but only if those property owners initiate the action by petition. This method does not provide funds for paving heavy enough to support arterial thoroughfare traffic.

The street improvement program as designed to be carried out under the proposed program sets out definitely that property owners facing a major traffic artery will be assessed the cost of improving a normal residential street, and in addition, will pay the millage assessed through passage of the bond issue.

That cost not borne by the property owner will be paid by funds derived from the bond issue.

DESIGNATED

Specified for immediate improvement to handle heavy traffic are Riverside Drive, DeSiard Street, Forsythe Avenue, South Grand Street and South Second Street.

Total cost for the Riverside Drive project is set at $81,500, with the property owners paying $17,800, leaving a total of $63,700 to be paid through the bond issue.

The DeSiard Street improvements are estimated to cost $466,900, with property owners paying $69,800 leaving a cost of $397,100 to be paid from the bond funds.

Forsythe Avenue's improvements are estimated to cost $170,200. Property owners will pay $16,200 and the balance to be borne by the city is $154,000.

Improvements to South Grand Street will cost in round figures, $58,100, of which $12,800 will be borne by the property owners, leaving a total of $45,300 to be taken from the bonds.

The South Second Street improvement project will cost $191,100 with property owners bearing $34,600 of the total, and the city, $156,500.

TRAFFIC COUNT

Interesting figures have been found in a traffic study of various Monroe streets when taken on a comparative basis.

Using the 1300 block of North Eighth Street during the period of 7 a.m. and 7 p.m., on a midweek day, checkers counted 613 vehicles.

Along the most heavily traveled sector of Forsythe Avenue, a toal of 5,101 vehicles was counted during a similar period of time in midweek.

The DeSiard Street count registered a total of 6,022 vehicles in its 900 block between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. on a midweek day.

Where North Fourth Street makes its surface crossing of the Illinois Central Railroad, checkers counted a total of 8,105 vehicles during a 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. of an average day, far exceeding that on any other thoroughfare in the city's street system involving rail crossings.

The traffic count at the South Second Street crossing of the Missouri Pacific for a daytime 12-hour period was 5,462 a figure triple that of any other rail crossing in the southern section of Monroe.

Total cost of construction of the two underpasses to eliminate grade crossings is set at $2,026,800. Of this amount, the state highway department and the railroads will bear half, or $1,013,400, leaving a similar amount to be borne by the taxpayers of Monroe.

According to the survey made by Ford, Bacon and Davis, Inc. engineers, and approved by the Citizens Committee, the present street system of Monroe consists primarily of two-lane streets. Only Louisville Avenue and a short section of Jackson Street provide for more than two moving lanes. While two traffic lanes are adequate for residential and local business traffic, thoroughfares or major streets require at least four lanes of moving traffic. By this standard, many of the city's principal streets are inadequate to handle present traffic loads.

POOR CONDITION

In addition, the physical condition of many streets requires major improvements. In many streets, the pavement surface is cracked. Potholes are found in numerous locations and in some cases there is evidence of failure of the base. Funds which have been allocated to street maintenance have been used primarily to patch and make minor repairs.

At the present time, all railroad crossings within the city are at grade level, and both the Illinois Central and Missouri Pacific conduct switching operations within the city. During these operations, streets may be blocked for a considerable period of time.

CROSSING PROBLEMS

In addition to the question of convenience, this also poses a safety problem and a fire hazard. Significant delays in getting trucks to the scene of a fire have been reported by the fire department, and ambulances, police and other emergency vehicles are also sometimes delayed on the way to their destination.

The proposal for immediate action is for resurfacing of existing pavement on Riverside Drive widening, repaving and resurfac- from Pine Street to Park Avenue; widening, repoving and resurfacing of DeSiard Street from South Grand to Sterlington Road by section; resurfacing existing pavement on Forsythe Avenue from Riverside Drive to North Sixth Street, and widening and repaving of Forsythe from North Sixth to North Eighteenth Street.

Widening and resurfacing of South Grand Street from DeSiard Street to the proposed new federal Highway I-20; widening and resurfacing South Second Street from the proposed route of I-20 to Winnsboro Road.

As pointed out, property owners abutting on streets to be improved will share in the cost of the improvements. They will be assessed an amount equal to the cost of resurfacing a strip 10 feet wide which is considered equivalent to the cost of repaving local streets.

Voting on these three bond issue propositions will be conducted throughout the city on Tuesday, October 28 from 7 a.m. until 6 p.m.

Editorial Hits Position On Rights Group

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The Citizens Council newspaper charged Friday that any Mississippian accepting appointment to the civil rights commission advisory group was a scalawag and traitor.

In a page-one editorial described by editor W. J. Simmons as a policy statement, the monthly paper said:

". . . Any scalawag Southerner who would so betray his own people by fronting for the avowed enemies of the principles of states rights and racial integrity, which are dearer to us than life, will face the well-deserved distaste and contempt that any proud people would feel for a traitor. a

No decent or responsible citizen in the south will be so stupid as to allow himself to be used for the betrayal of his own people, or so callous as to be insensible to the ostracism that will inevitably follow."

The editorial described the advisory groups as designed "to front for the satraps of reconstruction II (and) may be used to infiltrate and attack from within our existing segregated school system and neighboring residential patterns.

"Any so-called 'advisory group' that is eventually scraped from the bottom of The Deep South barrel, we may be sure, will be fit companions of the inter-racial rabble with whom they will associate themselves."

No More On Bartok, Says London Paper

LONDON (UPI)—The Daily Express Friday promised readers it would print no more stories on the madcap doings of four-times divorced actress Eva Bartok this year unless she married.

"The Daily Express says: Farewell, Eva," read a headline in big black capital letters in a three-column box on Page One.

In the past year, Miss Bartok has mothered a baby whose father she refused to identify, has been reported waiting to marry the Marquis of Milford Haven, and has claimed to be engaged to an Indian prince who denied it.

Hunt 2 Army Privates In Mississippi

BAY ST. LOUIS, Miss. (AP)—Search was being made Friday for two Army privates who overpowered the Hancock County jailer here Thursday night and escaped.

The injured man, 61-year-old Tony Bourgeois, was found unconscious on the jail cell floor by a city policeman who went to investigate after the jailer failed to return to his home.

Bourgeois was taken to Hotel Dieu in New Orleans where hospital attendants said he had become semi-conscious and was in fair condition from head wounds and other injuries.

The men hunted were Pvt. Robert Heath, 18 and Pvt. Jerry Richter, 17, arrested here Oct. 3 in connection with breaking and entering an ice cream shop.

Heath and Richter were described by Sheriff Sylvan Ladner as being absent without leave from Ft. Carson, Colo.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Bruno Haas, making his first start on the mound for the Philadelphia Phillies on June 23, 1915, allowed 16 bases on balls in his major league debut.

WEEKLY T-V

Few Specials, New Shows On

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK (UPI) — A couple of specials, the return of "Omnibus" and a replacement for the controversial "Twenty-One" show are the chief ripples on the surface of network programming next week. The autumnal flurry of getting a new season started is finally over.

The specials are the fairy tale, "Rapunzel," Monday night and a live version of "The Count of Monte Cristo" on Tuesday.

NBC and the sponsor dropped "Twenty-One" after the Oct. 16 performance as a result of drooping ratings this fall due in part to the official probe of quiz shows in general.

Highlights of the Oct. 26-Nov. 1 schedule are:

SUNDAY

The "U.N. in Action" series on CBS has a feature devoted to a concert marking the 13th anniversary of the founding of the international body. Pablo Casals and Mieczyslaw Horszowski will play a Bach piece for cello and piano.

The celebrated "Omnibus" program begins its new season on NBC. As usual, it will be on every other Sunday, but this year for the first time, it will be an hour instead of a 90-minute program. The first show will involve an examination of capital punishment, past and present, with Joseph N. Welch, noted Boston attorney, guiding the procedure.

Ed Murrow's "Small World" discussion on CBS will involve three literary lights, Romain Gary, Martha Gellhorn and Malcolm Muggeridge, dealing generally with what men live and die for.

Ed Sullivan's guests on CBS will be Johnny Mathis, Esther Williams, Lisa Kirk and Janet Blair.

Peter Ustinov, Dorothy Collins, the Dave Brubeck quartet and Warren Covington will help out Steve Allen on NBC.

The Dinah Shore roster on NBC will include Joan Davis, Julius La Rosa, Elsa Lanchester and Maurice Chavelier.

MONDAY

"Shirley Temple's Storybook" on NBC presents "Rapunzel" on film. Carol Lynley has the title role. "Restless Gun" and "Wells Fargo" are off.

ABC's "Bold Journey" reports on a trip to Indian tribes in Ecuador and Peru.

The filmed drama on "Westinghouse Desilu Playhouse" for CBS will be "Debut," starring Susan Strasberg in the role of a ballet dancer torn between career and love.

"The Arthur Murray Party" guests on NBC will be Helen Hayes, Judy Holliday and Connie Frances.

TUESDAY

The 90-minute version of "The Count of Monte Cristo" is on CBS. It replaces for this one evening the regulars, "Keep Talking" and "To Tell the Truth." Hurd Hatfield has the title role in the Dumas rouser, which is one of the Du Pont "Show of the Month" series.

NBC's Eddie Fisher variety hour has Betty Hutton and George Gobel as guests of the singer.

Garry Moore's guests on his CBS hour will include Hedda Hopper, Buster Keaton, Rocky Graziano, Marion Lorne and Jose Greco and his Spanish dancing troupe.

WEDNESDAY

The CBS "Pursuit" series comes up with "Free Ride" by Donald S. Sanford. Leading roles in this yarn about a long train ride involving a detective and his prisoner will be Keenan Wynn, Ralph Meeker, Sidney Blackmer, Jackie Coogan and Linda Darnell.

Milton Berle's guest on NBC will be Sammy Davis Jr.

The "Armstrong Circle Theater" script on CBS is "The House of Flying Objects," dealing factually with the Seaford, Long Island, phenomenon of early this year.

THURSDAY

Singer Andy Williams and Jackie Cooper will be guests on Pat Boone's ABC half hour. It was Williams who so ably headed the summer replacement show in this spot.

"Playhouse 90" will display German star Maria Schell in her TV debut. She will play in Mayo Simon's "Word from a Sealed - Off Box," based on a New Yorker magazine piece by Henriette Rosenberg dealing with life in Nazi-occupied Holland in World War II. Jean Pierre Aumont, Vivian Nathan and Betsy Von Furtsenberg are the other top players.

FRIDAY

The Ellery Queen case on ABC is "Cat of Many Tails," dealing with a killer known as "The Cat."

The first of a series of one-hour filmed Westerns dealing with a true-life lawman will be seen on "Walt Disney Presents" on ABC. Tom Tyron stars in the title role of "Texas Tom Slaughter."

"77 Sunset Strip" on ABC has a story called "Casualty" in which a "dead" man comes back to life.

The "Person to Person" subjects on CBS will be singer Jeanette MacDonald and her actor-husband, Gene Raymond, and illustrator Russell Patterson and his wife.

SATURDAY

The afternoon NBC college football game will involve two Big Ten teams to be announced later.

Tech Theatre Actors Slate Play 'Liliom'

The Louisiana Tech Theater Players' presentation of "Liliom" is one of the most unusual experiments in the history of the organization. The seven scene drama will afford spectators a sneak preview of the Tech Opera Workshop November production, "Carousel." Although the famous operetta's plot was taken from the script of "Liliom," there is a marked contrast in the treatment of the story.

Although "Liliom" is set in Budapest and "Carousel" takes place on the Maine seacoast, the plots have remained essentially similar. Even though many of the lines in the two productions are identical, however, the audience interpretations of these lines differ because of the differences in the moods set. The play places emphasis upon the colorful characterizations and beauty of the lines, but the appeal of "Carousel" is to be found in its famous musical score.

"Liliom" will be presented nightly from Tuesday, October 28, to Saturday, November 1. Curtain time is 8:00 p.m. in the Tech Little Theatre. Admission prices are 25 cents for students and $1.00 for adults.

SURGICAL SCOREKEEPER — In the background on tall framework is the cardioscope, ever watchful over the heart of a patient undergoing surgery. The operating room set-up was arranged at St. Francis Hospital to demonstrate the use of modern equipment used in surgery. Note the anesthesiologist in the foreground with eyes on cardioscope screen. He can detect the simplest change in heart functions that escape the manual pulse check. (Staff photo by John I. Fogleman)

Equipment, Time Vital In Surgery

By AUSTIN ABRAMS
Staff Writer

"Heart arrest!"

These words turn what may have started calmly as a frequently performed operation into a frenzied battle against death.

Roughly speaking the chances of winning are two in ten.

Speed surpasses the question of knowing what to do.

A surgical team has three minutes at most to do anything. Beyond that limit the odds against success skyrocket.

For these words mean a patient's heart has stopped.

The best method to get an arrested heart beating is hand massage, meaning a chest incision, oxygen, and three - score other things which must still be packed into that three minutes.

If the deadline can be beaten chances are good for recovery without ill effects. If heartbeat restoration comes after three minues the patient may sustain permanent brain injury.

RARE

Heart stoppages are rare things, and are not something for the surgical patient to expect.

But for that one moment modern hospitals spend thousands on equipment that might lend a bit of aid if needed.

For instance, St. Francis Hospital here has kept one machine in readiness five years and it's never been used.

Yet it could save someone's life.

It's function is to stop heart "squirm," a condition best explained by imagining the heart acting as a ball of worms. No beat, but alive.

Before the heartbeat can be restored, the "squirm" must be stopped. This electrical device can do just that by injecting an exact amount of current.

Another machine in widespread use since commercialization has cut the once high cost of production, is the cardioscope.

This machine detects heartbeat, flashes a picture on a screen not unlike television, and produces a beep for each heartbeat.

A priceless scorekeeper for the surgeon.

It does not replace manual blood pressure counts, pulse beat recording, and respiratory observances. It's still a machine and an instant's malfunction could be costly.

SUMMED UP

Dr. Stanley R. Mintz, anesthesiologist at St. Francis Hospital summed up the importance of the cardioscope as "A machine that has increased the number of major operations that can be performed with greater safety.

"Through the use of this machine operations are performed on people who as late as World War II might not have been considered safe surgical cases."

He explained this by saying that until the perfection and introduction of the cardioscope some elderly people might be considered potential surgery cases.

"With the cardioscope the surgical team can maintain close enough contact with the patient's heart to do things once not attempted," Dr. Mintz explained.

The physician placed emphasis on the cardioscope's value in any type operation.

He said it was not necessary to monitor all cases with the cardioscope.

The heart monitor, a smaller machine, can perform the job in cases where the patient is strong and other factors are in favor of the surgeons.

But the heart monitor cannot detect heart "squirm." This is reflected by the cardioscope.

EQUIPMENT

Operating rooms in the St. Francis, like many modern hospitals are jammed with equipment. Some of it waits silently and is seldom used.

Yet today's doctors have the assurance that there is something that might be a lifesaver if the occasion arises.

The information gained through modern tests and machines give the surgeon more to work with than in medical history.

The surgeon, as Dr. Mintz explained, is no longer the one man. His work has become the duty of a team. Each member a specialist, experienced.

He pointed out that heart surgery, much of which is done now by employing an artificial heart, is one of the most specialized tasks in the business.

The too few teams in the country practice regularly. When they are not busy with cases, they practice on dogs several times a week.

Primarily these teams work at medical centers at the university medical schools.

Some emergency heart work is done in municipal hospitals if there isn't time to move the patient to a heart center.

But for the municipal hospitals, where it is possible for any emergency to arise, techniques and equipment must be kept abreast of the times — a life may be saved.

Catahoula Grand Jury Reports No True Bills

JONESVILLE (Special) — The Catahoula Parish Grand Jury found no true bills in their first session Monday, Oct. 20, the foreman, J. N. Sandifer, told the court in their report.

We find that there has been very little crime of a serious nature committed within the Parish of Catahoula during the past six months for which we wish to commend our citizens and the public in general, the report read.

"We have diligently enquired and examined into each and every complaint, charge and affidavit and found no true bills of indictment."

We have made an inspection of the court house properties and find the same to be sanitary, clean and well kept.

Those empanelled on the jury were: J. N. Sandifer, S. E. Stutson, E. H. Warnock, L. L. McGuffee, P. H. Aplin, Seville Poole, C. C. Clawson, Wayne Crawford, J. D. Weaks, John Randall, R. D. McGuffee and Daniel Alexander.

ETERNAL VIGILANCE

DUNN, N.C. (UPI) —Howard M. Lee, official of the local volunteer fire department for nearly 20 years, prides himself on the fact that he never misses a fire in the city.

In fact, when a local radio station persuaded him to appear on a program to promote fire prevention, Lee excused himself in the middle of the broadcast when the fire alarm sounded.

"Excuse me," Lee told his listenening audience. "I have to go."

LEASE - BREAKER

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — Maurice McGovern, 22, an inmate at the Hartford County Jail, wanted a transfer to more permanent quarters at Wethersfield State Prison, where he figured he "could settle down, learn a trade and get straightened out."

So McGovern joined in an attempted break from the jail, was recaptured and got his wish.

Farm Bureau Favors GOP Solons' Record

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The nation's biggest farm organization gives incumbent Republican Senators a heavy edge over their Democratic colleagues in a "good or bad" study of Senate voting records issued as a pre-election guide for farmer voting.

The study, by officials of the American Farm Bureau Federation, did not wind up with a flat statement that any individual senator had a good or bad voting record and should be reelected or defeated. Instead, it listed the votes of all incumbent senators on 13 measures chosen as key issues.

"We hope that state and county farm bureaus will draw their own conclusions," a farm bureau official here said. He said the study was distributed to all farm bureau members in 48 states and has been "used effectively" in local and congressional district meetings.

A tabulation of votes on the issues listed by the farm bureau shows:

—Of 14 incumbent Republican senators running for re-election, 12 had favorable voting records from the organization's viewpoint and only two had unfavorable records.

—Of 13 incumbent Democrats running for re-election six had favorable records while seven voted against farm bureau advice more often than they followed the organization's policy.

The issues on which the farm group, which usually backs administration agricultural policy, rated senators were not restricted to votes on farm bills. They included Senate votes on reciprocal trade, labor law changes, states rights, and federal aid to education.

To win a "perfect" rating from the farm bureau, a senator in the 85th Congress would have voted:

Against bills freezing farm price supports, for labor bills granting states more authority over unions and banning secondary boycotts, against federal aid to education and additional school construction funds, against restrictions on reciprocal trade, and against several Democratic-backed measures aimed at boosting farm price supports or restricting support cuts.

Of the 27 incumbent Republican and Democratic senators running for reelection, only Sen. Roman L. Hruska (R-Neb.) had a perfect 13-0 record on the farm bureau chart.

At the other end of the scale were Sens. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.), William Proxmire (D-Wis.), William Langer (R-N.D.), Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.), and Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), with 1-12 records.

Langer and Sen. Edward J. Thye (Minn.) were the only Republicans listed as voting against farm bureau policy on a majority of the 13 issues.

The campaigning GOP senators who got good marks from the farm group were Sens. Barry Goldwater (Ariz.), William A. Purtell (Conn.), John J. Williams (Del.), J. Glenn Beall (Md.), Charles E. Potter (Mich.), Hruska, George W. Malone (Nev.), John W. Bricker (Ohio), Arthur V. Watkins (Utah), Chapman Revercomb (W. Va.), John D. Hoblitzell Jr. (W. Va.), and Frank A. Barrett (Wyo.).

The seven Democrats listed as opposing farm bureau policy most of the time included Jackson, Proxmire, Mansfield, Symington, John F. Kennedy (Mass.), Dennis Chavez (N.M.), and Ralph Yarborough (Tex.).

The six Democrats who cast a majority of pro-farm bureau votes were Sens. Spessard L. Holland (Fla.), John C. Stennis (Miss.), B. Everett Jordan (N.C.), John O. Pastore (R.I.), Albert Gore (Tenn.), and Harry F. Byrd (Va.) Jordan and Gore joined this group by narrow 6-5 margins.

Lunar Robots May Fill In As Satellites

By DARRELL GARWOOD
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The prospects appear excellent for turning America's future lunar probe robots into valuable earth satellites if they fail to reach the vicinity of the moon.

According to Dr. William W. Kellogg, acting chairman of the International Geophysical Year satellite panel, the chances should be about a million to one that a powered robot falling short of lunar velocity can be put into orbit around the earth.

The progress already made toward the moon thus reverses one situation that prevails near the earth. From being difficult to push a satellite into orbit, it becomes difficult to avoid this.

Dr. Kellogg made his statement in an interview despite the failure of desperate Air Force attempts to accomplish the orbital feat during the nearly twenty hours that the last lunar robot was falling toward the earth.

He pointed out that the collapse of the Air Force efforts was due to a simple failure of the Pioneer robot to respond to a ground command signal, that should have fired its retro-rocket.

Normally, he added, sending a signal to the robot should be no more difficult than receiving one back.

And if the retro had fired, the scientist said, an orbit would certainly have been achieved unless by some fluke, out of a million possible directions, the rocket was pointed directly at the earth.

Since the robot left the earth at 23,475 miles an hour, and since the retro-rocket would have given it an additional 2,046-mile-an-hour push, Dr. Kellogg was asked why the vehicle would not have exceeded escape velocity — 25,250 miles an hour.

The answer was that at any angle to the earth a part of the additional velocity would have been lost to gravity. The final velocity would be a "vector," determined by a diagonal between the two directions.

Calculations indicate that if the retro-rocket had fired when the robot was at its 79,212-mile peak altitude, the orbit's low point would have been 4,000 miles and its high point about 80,000 miles.

If a later attempt to fire had been successful, the orbit would have varied from 20,000 to 110,000 miles in altitude.

Either orbit would have been permanent, and would have made possible a complete investigation of the earth's high-altitude band of radiation. As it is, the one-pass results from the Pioneer do not agree with those from the explorer satellites.

MRS. VINCENT CHARLES ROMANO

Double Ring Ceremony Unites Miss Williams And Vincent Romano

Claiming wide interest was the marriage of Miss Frankie Belle Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pat H. Williams and Vincent Charles Romano, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Orso Romano.

The wedding vows were pledged at four o'clock in the afternoon at St. Matthew's Catholic Church with Father Dave Dabra officiating before the church altar which was adorned with bouquets of white gladioli and greenery. White satin bows and gladioli marked the pews reserved for the families.

Victor Zagone, Jr., cousin of the groom, and Buddy Embanato lighted the candles and assisted during the ceremony.

As the guests gathered in the church, Mrs. Della Williams presented a program of nuptial music and accompanied the soloist Mrs. Waymon Etier who sang "Ave Maria" and "Panis Angelicus" and at the close of the ceremony "Mother Beloved."

BRIDE'S GOWN

Given in marriage by her brother, David Williams, the bride was radiant in a gown of Chantilly lace over white satin. The fitted bodice featured a sabrina neckline and was studded with seed pearls, rhinestones and sequins and long sleeves tapered to a point at the wrist. The front was fashioned with a magnificent panel of appliqued lace extending to the hemline. Polonnaise side draping continued to the back falling into a chapel train. Her veil of imported French illusion fell from a Juliet headdress of Chantilly lace, rhinestones and seed pearls. She carried a cascade arrangement of lilies - of - the - valley and white carnations centered with a removable orchid. White streamers tied with tuberoses fell from the bouquet.

ATTENDANTS

The bride had as her maid of honor, Miss Diana Cusimano, cousin of the groom, from Birmingham, Alabama. The bride's aunt, Mrs. Reba Chapman, was matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Dolores Calderone, cousin of the groom and Miss Dolores Fontana. They were identically attired in Copen blue antique satin Trapeze models. The front of the dresses were fashioned along princess lines with scooped neckline. The floating panel in back fell from the scooped shoulder tapering and ending with a bow just above the hemline. Their headpiece was a half - hat of matching tucked Copen blue satin with illusion nose veil studded in rhinestones. They wore matching satin pumps and short white gloves. Pearl earrings and necklace completed their ensembles. They carried cascade arrangements of pink Venus carnations with matching satin bow.

Little Miss Mary Margaret Marsala, godchild of the groom, was flower girl and was gowned in a Copen blue satin simplified version of the bridesmaids and carried a pink basket of pink feathered carnations. She also wore matching slippers and white gloves and pearl necklace and bracelet.

Little Spedo Kokinos, cousin of the bride, was ringbearer and carried a white satin pillow.

Salvadore Fontana served the groom as best man. The groomsmen were Johnny Accardo and Joseph Marsala. Ushers were Leo J. Purvis and Julius Fontana.

Mrs. Williams chose for her daughter's wedding a pink lace model with matching accessories and an orchid corsage. Mrs. Romano, the groom's mother, chose to wear a model of Azure blue lace over satin with matching accessories and an orchid corsage.

RECEPTION

The bride's table was overlaid with a beautiful white imported Italian cut - work linen with two triple silver candelabra at each end burning white cathedral tapers. Centering the table was a beautiful three tiered wedding cake, each tier separated by white columns and swans. At the top of the cake was a bride and groom standing in front of a large heart made of white nylon net interspersed with orange blossoms and topped with a single wedding bell. The beauty of the table was accented by loops of greenery and nosegays of white gladioli along all four sides of the table.

The refreshment table was covered with a white linen cloth. A large angel supporting a container holding mass arrangements of white gladioli centered the table. A handsome crystal punch bowl was at one end of the table and at the opposite end silver trays held individual cakes and compotes of mints. Mrs. Julius Fontana and Mrs. J. A. Marsala alternated at the punch bowl.

Mrs. Bernard Co. Cusimano and Mrs. Charles S. Schilleci aunts of the groom, served the wedding cake.

A handsome silver container filled with white carnations decorated the small table where Mrs. Leo J. Purvis, sister of the groom registered the guests. At this table were individual book matches containing the first names of the bride and groom and their wedding date which were taken by the guests as a memento of the event.

For traveling the bride wore a two piece grey suit with winter white feathered hat studded with rhinestones. She wore white gloves. Black accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet completed the ensemble.

Following the wedding trip to the coast the young couple will make their home on Stubbs Ave.

The bride attended Ouachita Parish High School. Mr. Romano graduated from St. Matthew's Catholic High School and Bish Mathis Institute and also attended Northeast State College.

OUT-OF-TOWN GUESTS

Mrs. Bernard C. Cusimano, Miss Diana Cusimano, Mrs. Charles S. Schilleci, Mrs. Frank Diergo, Misses Marie Ann and Tenada Diergo, Mr. and Mrs. George Sauro, Mr. Joseph Sauro, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mollica and Joe Mollica, Jr., and Mrs. Tom Marino all of Birmingham, Ala. Mr. Burl F. Purvis of Puckett, Mississippi.

BRIDAL DINNER

Prior to the wedding ceremony Mr. and Mrs. George Romano were hosts at a dinner party in the private dining room of the Italian Village for the wedding party and members of the families, Father Dave Dabra and other guests in attendance.

REHEARSAL SUPPER

Mr. and Mrs. George Romano entertained with a supper party on Monday evening at their home on Speed Drive following the rehearsal of the Williams-Romano wedding at St. Matthew's Catholic Church with members of the bridal party and other guests in attendance.

The bride and groom chose this occasion to present gifts to their attendants.

DUCHESS DAVENPORT

Mary Jo Davenport Duchess Of Louisiana In Tyler Rose Festival

Mary Jo Davenport, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Davenport of Loop Road, has returned to Stephens College after spending a week at the Texas Rose Festival in Tyler, where she was featured in the Court of the Rose Queen as the Duchess of Louisiana. The festival has grown in the last quarter century to one of the outstanding and most spectacular fiestas of the nation. The concluding parade on Saturday morning contained thirty - five hundred in the line of march with thirty - four bands featuring the United States Marine Corps Band of the Atlantic Fleet, and some twenty - eight lavishly decorated floats with tens of thousands of rose buds in yellow, red, orange, pink and scored of varied colors. The three mile long parade wound its way leisurely through the streets of Tyler before crowds estimated at more than one hundred thousand, and entered the packed Rose Stadium to the cheers of other thousands. Mary Jo rode on a float of pink roses representing "Fairy Tale Days," and all of the ladies of the Queen's Court were featured in the costumes which they had worn in the Coronation ceremonies.

The 1958 Coronation was held on Thursday evening and repeated on Friday evening. The theme was "Festivals of the World," designed by Peter Wolfe. The foyer was a setting of beauty, the tinkling sound of falling water attracted the guests to a stately fountain where thousands of roses floated on the rippling water, with a blooming rose hedge flanked by tall Italian cypress trees. The Coronation of Queen Patricia Lewis was in the regal setting of soft lights and music, with Lady of the Court wearing a lovely gown representing a folklore festival of another land, and there was an aura of splendor over the entire scene.

LOVELY COSTUMES

Mary Jo, as the Duchess of Louisiana, wore a lovely costume designed by Roberta Reuter to portray the festival of Fairy Tale Days held each year on the Isle of Fyn to celebrate the birth of Hans Christian Anderson, author beloved by every age. Her gown was fashioned with a pastel pink velvet princess bodice tapering to long points touching the hem and outlined in rhinestones with a standup off the shoulder collar also jewel studded to a low "V" in front. The very bouffant pleated ruffle - tiered pink skirt of re-embroidered nylon lace swept to a slight train in the back to carry out the theme of the fairy princess.

RECEPTION

After the first Coronation there was a reception and dance at the Blackstone Hotel, and after the second Coronation the Ladies of the Court and their escorts were formally presented at the Ball of the Order of the Rose. Other luncheons and teas were held at the Willowbrook Country Club and in many private homes, culminating on Saturday with Fiesta Night with music for dancing by Night with music for dancing.

Mary Jo and her parents and brother, Tom Davenport, Jr., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey W. Wallender, Jr., of Tyler and were entertained extensively during the Rose Festival activities.

Caskey Home Is Scene Of Barbecue Party

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Caskey entertained the members of the Sodalitan Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church of Jonesville with a barbecue supper at their camp on Black River Lake in connection with their regular monthly meeting.

Mrs. G. W. Mayes opened the meeting with prayer and a scripture, 1st Psalms, was read by Mrs. Eunice Wilkinson.

An election of officers for the new term was held and elected as follows: President, Mrs. Elaine Emerson; vice - president, Mrs. Matilda Adams; secretary, Mrs. Lillian Maxwell and Mrs. Loren Wilson; group leaders, Mrs. Mae Sandifer and Mrs. May Caskey.

Wrap wieners in pancakes for a lunch time snack. Serve with mustard, catsup and relishes.

MISS GLENDA BENNETT

Glenda Bennett To Reign As Queen At Northeast Homecoming Festivities

Miss Glenda Bennett, a senior in health and physical education at Northeast Louisiana State College, will reign as queen over Northeast Louisiana State College homecoming festivities Saturday, November 1, climaxed by the game between Northeast and Northwestern State College.

She will be crowned by President George T. Walker in pre-game ceremonies at Brown Stadium. Game time is 8 p.m.

Miss Bennett is the d[illegible]ter of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Bowlin of Winnsboro.

The queen and maids of honor were chosen by popular v[illegible]te of the student body from maids selected by the football team.

Miss Betsy Benton of Monroe, also a senior, and Mary Ann Knox, wife of Jim Knox, one of the team captains [illegible] Monroe, tied for maid of honor titles. Miss Benton is a home economics major and Mrs. Knox is a junior in busine[illegible]

One of the most popular coeds at Northeast, Miss Bennett is president of the W[illegible]'s Recreation Association, having recently been re-elected to that posi[illegible] for the second year. She also is a Student Cou[illegible]il representative, a member of [illegible]ha Omicron Pi Sorority, and her photograph appeared as "Miss Chacahoula" in the 1958 edition of the college yearbook.

Queen Glenda will rule with her two maids of ho[illegible] and nine maids. The three were chosen from the up[illegible]sssmen nominated by the football pla[illegible]rs.

Other members of the royal court will include:

Mrs. Carolyn Driskill, senior elementary education student of Monroe and [illegible] wife of Jo[illegible] Driskill, a football captain.

Juniors comprise: Misses Johnette Bradley of Oak Grove, elementary education, and Miss Joella McCleary, Monroe elementary education major.

Freshmen who [illegible] be maids are: Miss Patsy Price, social studies ed[illegible]on major from Ferriday; Miss Bobbye Fletcher, Winnsboro medical tech[illegible]ology student and Miss Sandra Webb, St. Joseph social science student.

Junior Clubs Plan Activities For New Season

The Moment Musicale, the Chansonnettes and the A Sharp Coterie met Saturday morning in the Little Theater of Northeast State College to elect officers and plan activities for the 1958-59 season. Under the sponsorship of The Musical Coterie, the three junior clubs are members of the Louisiana and the National Federations of Music Clubs.

Upon arrival, the young music students were served iced drinks and miniature doughnuts by the clubs' counsellors, who were hostesses for Saturday's meeting. Before the three groups separated, each to conduct its own business meeting, the following program of piano music was enjoyed: Mazurka — Jannie Rorex, Narcissus (Nevin) - Lynn Masur and Katherine Martin, and Sonata (Haydn) - Diane McGee.

Newly elected officers of the Chansonnettes are Kay Thompson, president; Judy Cobb, vice - president; Shawn McBride, secretary; Sally Pierce, treasurer; Connie Yancey, historian; and Lynn Masur, reporter. Heading the Moment Musicale will be Katherine Martin, president; Janna Rorex, vice - president; Sherry Dickenhorst, secretary; Janet Vanderpool, treasurer; Alice Haynes, reporter; and Jeanie Brice, historian. The A Sharp Coterie will have as its officers Diane McGee, president; Katie Young, vice - president; Marie King Nelsen, secretary; Dianne Garrett, treasurer; Billie Sue Dixon, historian; and Ginger Donald, reporter.

Members of the three clubs include Billie Sue Dixon, Ginger Donald, Dianne Garrett, Billie Jo Hanchey, Diane McGee, Marie King Nelsen, Ellen Walker, Joan Williams, Mary Jo Strausser, Katie Young, all of the A Sharp Coterie; Carolyn Anspach, Pam Baker, Sally Breard, Jeanie Brice, Sherry Dickenhorst, Nancy Gilliland, Barbara Groves, Alice Haynes, Betty Heard, Donna Jean King, Katherine Martin, Paula Meek, Mary Myatt, Kay Odom, Wanda Phillips, Janice Powell, Jannie Rorex, Merrie Jo Simonton, Alyce Smith, Janet Vanderpool and Janie Wilbert, of the Moment Musicale; and Beverly Brown, Mary Ann Caldwell, Judy Cobb, Linda Crow, Jan Gramling, Laura Griffith, Edwina Hopkins, Peggy Lanier, Cynthia Leigh, Shawn McBride, Lynn Masur, Sally Pierce, Nancy Talbot, Kay Thompson and Connie Yancey, Chansonnettes.

Lots of activity in town this week . . . A number of out of town guests. And you-know-us, Al—there's no better reason for a flurry of parties than a visitor.

Guests of PAT and TOM MARTIN were the R. M. MARTINS (Tom's parents from Baltimore, Maryland). Pat honored Mary with a coffee last Friday morning at the Highland Park country club. The honoree was wearing a navy tie silk with a yellow orchid corsage.

Friends gathered in the private parlor, where a dining table was set up at one end. Yellow gladiolas and daisy mums were used in an interesting arrangement centered with a scarecrow figure. VERA TROY and CHRISTINE GRAY alternated at the coffee service.

A side table held an oversize jack - o - lantern on a bed of pyracantha. "Jack" held bottled Cokes on ice . . . Spied GAY ULRICH opening a drink for CAROLYN SIMPSON, who was wearing a blue and green plaid overblouse outfit . . . PEGGY TRUMAN looked lovely in a jumper in shades of blue and lavender, worn with a deep blue hat . . . CAROL WELLS chose one of the new printed wools . . . Assisting were BETTY SUE GLUD, JOEL JOHNSTON, and BARRIE SPENCER. About fifty guests called between ten and twelve.

After the coffee, Vera Troy took Mary and two other friends to lunch at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club. That afternoon the Martins drove to Houston, Texas, for a visit with Pat's parents, the J. T. BROWNS, over the week end.

On Monday evening, the C. T. BAIRDS had the Martins and an in'' ate group in for dessert and coffee . . . Tuesday night the CHRIS ULRICHS were hosts for dinner. 'Twas a family party, affording an opportunity for the Martins to visit with the Ulrich's houseguest, Gay's father, GAY SPENCE from Dubuque, Iowa. He has been here for several weeks, and left for home yesterday . . . The Martins left on Wednesday. They plan to return home through North Carolina, with a stopover in Asheville and then the drive up the Blue Ridge Parkway.

On Thursday and Friday of this week, the W. J. RILEYS, JR., had as their guests JACKIE and BILL MILSTEAD of Austin, Texas. Their stay was for a short thirty - six hours, but several parties were planned in their honor.

There were ladies only at the affairs planned for during the day Friday. Seven friends gathered at EVELYN MOORE's home for a glass of sherry before lunch . . . Later the group proceeded to the Bayou DeSiard Country Club, where PAT SPENCER was hostess at luncheon. The green - covered table was centered with a pumpkin arranged with pyracantha branches. The meal consisted of crab meat au gratin served with a congealed vegetable salad, asparagus, and crabapples . . . Later Friday afternoon CINDY WAKEFIELD invited a small group for cake and coffee and a visit with Jackie.

That evening Pat and Bill had a few couples over to meet the Milsteads at a buffet supper. Chrysanthemums and zinnias in fall shades were used on the table. Center of interest on the menu were the devilled oysters a d the lobster Newburg in patty shells.

The Rileys and the Milsteads drove to Baton Rouge yesterday morning and attended the LSU Homecoming game against Florida. Today they are to drive on to New Orleans, where the men have a business meeting which will last through Wednesday.

Most fabulous bridge party of the season was hosted on two successive afternoons last week end by CAMILLE WOOD and JUNE M'HENRY. One group played Thursday, and one Friday, in the teen age room of the Bayou DeSiard country club. On entering, each guest was given a large cut out of an autumn leaf as a tally. VIRGINIA ALLEN and TOMMY SUE SARTOR were high and won clutch purses. Winning earrings were MARY ALICE HUSTED and NANCY FLUKE, who were second; CAROL MOUK and NANCY DAVID, low; and MARGARET LAND and JEANNIE DOWNING, slam prizes.

NANCY NOLAND celebrated her sixteenth birthday with a conversational hour last Sunday afternoon. She was wearing her new navy blouson suit and proudly showing off her new mouton coat. Fall zinnias were used on the table, where birthday cake with dip and potato chips, candy and nuts were served. Twelve girl friends attended the party.

Monday morning saw a gay group gather for coffee at the home of MARIE COOKSTON. Cohostess was VIRGINIA WARNER. Deep orange and rust colored zinnias were used in a copper-washed pewter pitcher in the living room. All copper serving pieces were used on the dining table, which was centered with an arrangement of Empress candles and pepper plant in a copper bowl. Alternating at the copper coffee urn were KITTY TALBOT and NANCY OLIPHINT. . . . In another room, an extra serving table held roses in pinks and reds in a white ironstone bowl. BILLIE SMITH was pouring coffee for BESS COURTMAN, striking looking in a black dress worn with a black and rust cardigan and a rust satin hat. . . . VIRGINIA WHITAKER was passing a plate of tiny doughnuts and sweet rolls to HONEY BETTS, who was wearing a green hat with a long pheasant feather . . . and to ANN TERZIA, in a most becoming rust velour. . . . Others who assisted were CONNIE JONES, MARTHA ALBRIGHT, and LIL MARX.

The FRED KINGS, who have been in their new house on Pargoud boulevard about six weeks, have been warming it with a succession of intimate dinners. Latest was held last Saturday night, and was attended by sixteen friends. The house itself is the decoration and topic of conversation for this kind of party. Joan has used muted browns and beiges throughout the house, with flashes of brilliant orange. In the living room, pale beige is used on the wall, in the carpet, and in the sheer draperies which draw across the window wall. The king-size sofa is a shade darker, and the large round pouf drawn up before the fireplace is orange. The fireplace is built in a corner of the room, and the high hearth, suitable for sitting, extends the length of one wall. The same colors are repeated in the dining room and in both rooms are dried arrangements which echo the tones.

A most interesting wall treatment is seen in the master bedroom, where grass cloth is used to "paper" the wall above a wainscotting of walnut panelling. The wall serves in lieu of a head board for the twin beds, which are flanked by exquisite marble topped tables. Bubble lights descend from the ceiling above each table.

After "taking the tour" of the house, guests betook themselves to the dining room for a meal that tasted as good as it looked. The turkey and ham were set out in twin platters, one centered with orange slices, and the other with pineapple. The lobster mousse was molded to resemble a lovely pink fish on a bed of parsley. Onion dip and hot cheese were also served, with cake and coffee for dessert.

The DICK TOUCHSTONES are enjoying a weekend trip to New Orleans and Baton Rouge. They flew to the Crescent City Thursday morning and spent two days before returning to Baton Rouge yesterday for the LSU Homecoming game . . . Among the dozens of our people who went down for the game are the TIM ALLENS and the SONNY DIXONS.

New Orleans has also claimed a group of Monroyans this weekend. The JACK MADDENS are there, and the D. V. LOFLINS and the JIM FRAZIERS, who flew down yesterday and will be back tonight . . . Also in the city are the BOBBY OLIVERS and the BOB CLAYS and the JOHN CLAYS.

HERNDON SMITH left Tuesday for Memphis, where she will visit her son and his family, the ZELL SMITHS, JR. . . . MRS. JULIUS JRVING, MRS. O. E. SMITH, and MRS. DAISY WETZEL of this city were joined by DELORES IRVING of Houston, Texas, when they made an extensive motor trip to New England, visiting Boston, Mass., Cape Cod and Niagara Falls, N. Y.

DORIS SOLOMON entertained members of the junior high set at a wienie roast Friday night. The Hallowe'en motif was carried out in the decorations on the play porch, with black and orange crepe paper used with jack-o-lanterns. The youngsters ducked for apples, participated in a sack race, and played other games. Each guest cooked his hot dog over the open fire, and roasted marshmallows for dessert. About forty - five attended.

Skating parties continue to gain in popularity. DOTTIE LOU KIPER was hostess at this type of party last Saturday on her ninth birthday. Doughnuts and soft drinks were served to the thirty-five children attending.

Also nine years old was ROBERT M'CUE, who took the crowd skating on Tuesday. Fancy hats were awarded to the best skaters: a derby to JAMES MOORE as the best boy; a witch's hat to the best girl, SHERRY HIENE. A false face was given to JACKIE MEHL for winning the numbers game. Artificial wax lips and teeth were given as favors to the forty - five children.

A surprise party was planned last night for PAT PORTER on her thirteenth birthday. Twenty-four friends gathered at the Porter home at six o'clock for a barbecue supper, followed by a scavenger hunt. The table was decorated in keeping with Hallowe'en and held a lavish array of charcoal hamburgers and all the fixings. Birthday cake was dessert.

This poem, "The Wind's Sermon," won fourth place in a contest for high school students sponsored by the Louisiana Poetry Society. Out of 320 entries, this was the only winner from North Louisiana. The author is OLIVER WILLIAMS, who is the son of the JOE WILLIAMS' of Mangham, and is a senior at Mangham High.

The leaves are brown, the wind blows free,
"Release your hold and follow me;
Your shades of gold reveal my path;
For you, my friends, I hold no wrath."
The leaves respond — Arise and lift,
Then back to earth, they softly drift.
They've tried to follow the wind in vain.
"Go back, my friends, from where you came;
You're much too heavy and far too slow,
To stay with me in times of snow.
For I'm a drifter, I travel light;
All day I'm moving, into the night."
"Below on earth, you have a duty,
To create life, to bring forth beauty.
Go back to dust, fulfill the need;
Answer the prayer of some small seed.
Complete your task, produce the drive;
Preserve their strength; life must survive."

Betrothal Announced

Miss Yevonne Boddie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Boddie of this city, and Harvey Gene Hale, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Hale of Marion, are engaged to be married.

The marriage will be an event of late December in the Faith Baptist Church, at seven o'clock in the evening.

Miss Nell Hale will serve the bride as maid of honor and the bridesmaids will be Peggy Boddie and Mary Boddie.

The betrothed couple are graduates of Louisiana Polytechnic Institute and the groom-elect is now stationed with the Army in Ft. Chaffee, Ark.

NUTRITION TIP

WASHINGTON — The Agriculture Department suggests cooking with dry milk "as is" for added nutrition. Use the milk in mashed potatoes, hot breads, white sauces, gravies, cream soups, cooked cereals, meat loaves, scrambled eggs, pancakes and waffles. For beverages and custards, reconstitute the dry milk by adding to water and blending.

A GROUP OF RUSHEES snapped during the week with Miss Betty Shirley, left, are Miss Mary Blackwell, Miss Margie Griffin and Miss Jackie Wells.

Alpha Omicron Pi Entertain Rushees At Party

Climaxing ten days of rush activities, alumnae and members of Lambda Tau Chapter of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority entertained rushees with a progressive party Friday night.

One group of guests went first to the home of Mrs. Fletcher Ashcraft on Island Drive while another went to that of Mrs. Briscoe Trousdale on Fairview Avenue. After having enjoyed iced fruit refreshments, the guests exchanged homes where they were served finger sandwiches and punch. Serving the sorority as co - hostess with Mrs. Ashcraft was Miss Nita Fant. Assisting were Mrs. Neil Buie, Mrs. Floyd Martin, and Mrs. Charles Womack.

Mrs. Trousdale's co - hostess was Mrs. Sue Philip. They were assisted by Mrs. Milling Bernstein, Mrs. Warren Taylor and Mrs. Stanley Wyatt.

To conclude the evening's festivities, guests and members progressed to the home of Mrs. Henry Bernstein, Jr., on Riverside Drive, for the tradional pie party.

Miss Glenda Bennett acted as co - hostess with Mrs. Bernstein. Mrs. John Cale, Mrs. Charles Garretson, Mrs. Lealis Hale, Mrs. T F. Wilson and Mrs. Dorothy Hornbeak assised in serving pie and coffee to approximately seventy - five guests, members, and alumnae.

After a short talk on sorority ideals by alumnae president, Mrs. Hale, Miss Armande McHenry, president, and Miss Fran Guthrie, rush chairman of Lambda Tau Chapter, explained to the rushees the Panhellenic rules governing the silence period, the signing of the preferential cards, and the receiving of bids.

A trio composed of Miss Billie Sue Swanson, Miss Betty Bandy and Miss Betty Thompson then entertained with several vocal numbers, and later led the group in singing some of the sorority's favorite songs.

THE WEDDING of Miss Dorothy O'Neal of Delhi and A. J. Reynolds Jr. of New Orleans was solemnized by the Rev. J. Clyde Mohler on Thursday morning, October 16 at the Delhi Presbyterian Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. O'Neal of Delhi. The bridegroom's parents are Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Reynolds of Winnsboro. After a trip to the coast they will return to their home in New Orleans.

MISS BETTY JEAN BENNETT

Hogan-Bennett Betrothal Is Announced

The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Betty Jean Bennett to Marvin Robert Hogan of Shreveport, is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Bennett of Choudrant. His parents are Mrs. Agnes Hogan also of Choudrant, and the late Mr. Hogan.

The wedding date is set for December 20, at seven - thirty in the evening, at the First Baptist Church of Choudrant. The Rev. Frank Smith of the Brownsville Baptist Church of West Monroe, will perform the ceremony.

Mrs. Jack Williamson will serve the bride as matron of honor and Mrs. Dwight will serve as bridesmaid. Flower girl will be Miss Lisa Kay Williamson and Billy Baginet will serve as ring bearer.

Serving the groom as best man will be Clint Frazier and the ushers will be Billy Bennett and Leo Bennett.

The couple will live in Shreveport after the ceremony.

An Evening Ceremony Unites Couple

United in marriage in an evening ceremony were Miss Shirley Jean Taylor, daughter of Mrs. B. F. Broomfield of Dodson, and C. C. Taylor of Winnfield, and Kermit A. Gaar Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Kermit A. Garr of Shreveport.

Officiating over the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Dr. W. L. Holcomb. Gladioli, fern and palm with burning white tapers formed an improvised altar where the couple stood.

Nuptial music was rendered by Mrs. Gloria Jane Donohue.

BRIDE

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was white brocade silk with a fitted bodice and waltz length skirt. The veil of illusion fell from a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of orchids tied with net and satin ribbons.

Mrs. James D. McGraw served her sister as matron of honor. S e wore a gown of pale green and a corsage of white carnations.

The candlelighters were Miss Sybil Ann Taylor and Miss Cherry Broomfield, sisters of the bride. Their gowns were identical to that of the matron of honor.

J. Frazer served his brother as best man. The ushers were Alvis Loden and William Davis of Shreveport.

RECEPTION

The brides' table was centered with an arrangement of dahlias and the tiered wedding cake was at one end of the table.

Receiving the guests were Mrs. C C. Taylor, Mrs. O. E. Starks, and Miss Pat Davidson. Registering the guests were Mrs. Emmerson Walters and Miss Linda Broomfield.

Following a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Shreveport.

The out - of - town guests included: Mr. and Mrs. K. A. Gaar, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Walters, Al is Loden, William Davis, of Shreveport; Mr. and Mrs. J. Frazer G. ar, Monroe; Mrs. Gladys Gaar, Dallas; Mrs. Lawrence Mays and Bronda of Baton Rouge; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McCraw, Laurel, Miss.; Miss Linda Lawrence Ruston; Mr and Mrs. Eddie Stahl, St. Louis, Mo.

NEW YORK — Company for Sunday breakfast? Try pancakes filled with cottage cheese.

Prepare thin pancake batter. Ladle by tablespoonfuls onto a hot griddle. Bake on one side, turn, brown on the second side, and spread with cottage cheese. Roll while hot. Fasten with toothpicks (wooden). Serve with syrup.

To serve as a dessert, substitute sour cream and jelly for the syrup.

A new foam weatherstripping is on the market. The tape, made of polyurethane, has self-adhesive backing and is ⅛ or ¼ inch deep, ⅜ inches wide and 162 inches long. It also can be used on refrigerator and freezer doors, to reduce vibration of mixers, fans and car doors, as backing for chairs or picture frames, and for taping garden tools.

The Truth About Hormones To Make Skin Look Young

As I write this article, I can look through the doorway and see a woman of 45 waiting in the outer office. Th. light is good and I see her clearly.

She looks 10 years younger today than she did a month ago. What brought about this amazing change? Estrogenic hormones. Reams have been written about hormones. Will they make women of 75 look 16 again? Absolutely not. Will they make women of 60 feel like they were 20 again? Only in a way I shall explain later.

To know the truth about hormones you need to learn just two simple facts: 1. The beauty of a woman's skin starts breaking down as signs of menopause begin, because the female organs fail to supply enough estrogenic hormones to feed the skin—less and less as you grow older. 2. Estrogenic hormones can be supplied to the skin by rubbing on a penetrating formula containing the hormones.

Here is a test reported in a scientific journal, one of many that showed similarly sensational results: Twenty-five women applied hormones to one side of the face and neck, and to one hand. On the other side and the other hand, a similar preparation containing no hormones was applied the same way.

These are the reports in simple words:

Skin lines (or wrinkles) quickly dimmed or disappeared from sight as creases and hollows filled out.

Blotches and "old-age freckles" faded on hands, face and neck.

Skin was softer, clearer, seemed to lose its chronic dryness, and take on a revived freshness and vitality.

All these amazing things happened on the side where the hormones were used. Meanwhile no changes occurred on the other side. The same withered, lifeless complexion.

Still another scientist reports in effect, improvement in the skin of women past menopause was striking. These women looked like the years had been turned back toward their youthful "pre-change" appearance.

I've seen this myself. I have seen the improvement so rapid that in just two days women looked younger. And, what a lift to the spirits! I cannot truthfully say that women of 60 felt like they were 20 again. But I have seen the light come back into their eyes—their chins raised with proud confidence—the zest for living return—because — I presume — to look younger is to feel younger.

Now to select a good estrogenic hormone preparation, here is what you need to know: the strength of the hormone preparations must appear on the label! The recommended daily allotment for the skin is 330 International Units.

The base should be as rich as possible in lanolin and vegetable oils to permit fast penetration and help absorption and, when "rubbed in" your skin should not feel greasy or sticky. On first application, your skin should feel a radiant glow of revitalized youthfulness and refreshment.

An extra good buy in hormone products today is a preparation called HORMONEX Beauty Serum. It is made by a 36-year-old laboratory that has produced over 80 million packages of pure, fine cosmetics.

What is more, it is guaranteed to bring you joyous, noticeable results or your money back. HORMONEX Beauty Serum is really a bargain, too. Costs less than 4 cents a day. So, if you want to see if your dreams of a younger-looking skin with wrinkles dimmed, color and texture improved, can come true, I suggest you get HORMONEX Beauty Serum today—then look for amazing results.

The bidding:

South, 1 heart; West, Pass; North, 4 hearts; East, Pass.

South, Pass; West, Pass.

Opening lead: Diamond king.

The holdup play has various purposes.

At no trump it is designed to run one of the defenders out of a suit so that if he subsequently obtains the lead he will be unable to return it to his partner.

At suit play the very same principles may be applied. Here, however, the holdup play is calculated to prevent a ruff.

There is another end to be attained by the holdup play and that is the gaining of time.

Today's hand provides an example of such tactics. The final contract is perfectly logical, though there may be some question as to North's response. The jump raise to four of a major suit is generally confined to those hands which contain a wealth of trumps and a singleton but not much in the way of high cards However, it is not our purpose to take issue with North on this point.

The opening lead was the king of diamonds and when the singleton appeared in the dummy, West promptly shifted to the club 8. The 10 was played from dummy and East put up the jack. The K-9 thus became marked in East's hand.

If declarer should win this trick, he would be left at the mercy of the spade finesse, for if it failed, another club lead would provide the defense with the two tricks needed [illegible] the contract.

Declarer, however, made [illegible] proper play of refusing to win the trick. East, of course, could not continue with the club attack and this gave declarer some precious time to establish a spade trick in dummy.

East actually returned a trump and that suit was cleared up in two leads. The spade finesse was then tried and when it failed West continued with a club. This trick was taken by declarer, who cashed the ace of spades, entered dummy by ruffing a diamond, and discarded a club on the now established queen of spades.

Married Before Cupid Took Up Electronics

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Women who hailed the dawn of the push-button age might well stop and take a second look at what the modern Magi has wrought.

It's fine to push a button and get the dishes washed, the clothes laundered, the roast cooked. It's all right to have an electric shoe shiner, even an electric comb which dries your hair.

And if you want an electric eye to open the garage door and a television set to watch the baby, that's okay by me.

But not to push a button to get a husband. I prefer the old-fashioned way.

I confess I am definitely shaken by accounts of the Hollywood wedding of a beaming young couple who found each other through UNIVAC.

News pictures of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kardell, nee Shirley Saunders, look like any other fond and happy bride and groom. He's handsome, she's radiant, and they gaze at each other with the proper expression of bliss.

But Shirley and Robert were selected for each other by an electronic computer analyzer on a television show. The fiendishly clever machine decided that these two people were made for each other, and the blushing young couple agreed.

They weren't introduced by a mutual friend. The man didn't single out the girl at a dance or a church social. They didn't even discover each other on a blind date. No, a machine that is smarter than people digested thousands of cards and came up with the introduction.

Maybe I'm a reactionary old fuddy-duddy, but if that is what romance is coming to, I'm glad I got married before Cupid took up electronics.

The Mangham Literary Club Holds Meeting

Mrs. H. F. Jones gave the devotional and Mrs. O. E. DeVille told the story of Helen Hayes, when the Mangham Literary Club met in the home of Mrs. W. L. Marlowe on Tuesday.

A Halloween theme was carried out in the decorations used throughout the Marlowe home.

In giving the devotional, Mrs. Jones urged members to use Proverbs 31 as a model to copy in order to learn the fine art of filling a woman's place in our world today.

She pointed out that with many women serving as assistant breadwinner, it seems that a million things are required of one if she fulfills her responsibilities as wife, mother, neighbor and friend. Beginning with Verse 10, Mrs. Jones gave the following five requirements:

1. A virtuous woman's price is far above rubies.

2. A good wife is industrious 'she worketh willingly with her hands'.

3. A good woman is prudent . . a waster is denounced throughout the book of Proverbs.

4. Kindness and helpfulness is an obligation to help those less fortunate than oneself.

5. She has forethought and prepares for her family well in advance of their needs . . . she knows humility . . . keeps her home and self attractive . . and feareth the Lord.

In conclusion, Mrs. Jones said. 'A woman's place is doing the best things, in the best way, at the best time, wherever that may be . . 'Whatever thy hand findeth to do, do it with all they might.

BIOGRAPHY

In giving the biography of Helen Hayes, Mrs. DeVille, told of her early life — when she began her professional career at the age of 5, playing boys' parts in summer stock. Conspicuous in her plainness, her love for the theatre carried her through the days of the curley haired child actresses, because she had a flair; an infallible sense of timing, and even at an early age, a sure feeling of the reality of the theatre.

Following the business session, Mrs. Marlowe served tea to Mrs. H. T. Jones; Mrs. Emmitt Landrum; Mrs. Manning Boughton; Mrs. Edmund Williamson; Mrs. R. L. Bell, Jr.; Mrs. O. E. Deville; Mrs. C. M. Noble Jr.; Mrs Theo Jones; Mrs. Dan Chapman; Mrs. M. L. Lyles; Mrs. Herman Welch; Miss Ola Cooper; and a new member, Mrs. Jimmy Logan.

MR. AND MRS. P. J. TORNATORE

Miss Martin And P. J. Tornatore Exchange Vows

St. Joseph's Catholic Church was the scene, October 14, of the marriage of Miss Mary Kaye Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Arthur Ray of this city, and P. J. Tornatore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tornatore also of Monroe.

Father Michael Hannon performed the double ring ceremony at five o'clock in the afternoon before standards of white mums and greenery.

The soloist was Sam Danna.

The bride was escorted and given in marriage by her father. She was gowned in white lace over net and taffeta. She carried a bouquet of white roses centered by a white orchid.

MAID OF HONOR

Miss Toni Faye Ketchell was the maid of honor. She wore a gown of dusty rose taffeta and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The matron of honor was Mrs. H. J. DeMers and the bridesmaids were Miss Peggy Roy, and Mrs. Joe Guirlando. They wore gowns similar to that of the maid of honor. The flower girl was Cathy LaPitra.

Sam Tornatore served his brother as best man and the ring bearer was Rocco Guirlando. The groomsmen and ushers were Joe Guirlando, H. J. DeMurs, Peter Cernigliaro Jr., Virgil Bivens and P. B. Battaglia.

The bride's mother chose to wear for the wedding, a pink lace model accented by a blue carnation corsage. The groom's mother wore a dress of peacock blue and a corsage of white carnations.

A reception was held immediately following the wedding. The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth and held white carnations, flanked by white tapers as the central decor. To one end was the tiered wedding cake.

The couple will be at home on Lee Avenue.

MR. AND MRS. W. Z. BRADLEY

Golden Wedding Anniversary Is Celebrated

Mr. and Mrs. W. Z. Bradley of Jackson, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Sunday. The couple was honored on the occasion in the home of a son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Davis of Wisner.

For the noteworthy event, Mrs. Bradley wore a lovely navy blue lace model with black accessories and an orchid corsage. Mr. Bradley wore a navy blue suit with a white carnation in the lapel.

The couple received guests in the living room. Mrs. Maud Cupit and Mrs. Mamie McDuffie presided at the guest book while Mrs. Thelma Lingle and Mrs. Odell Bradley attended the gifts.

As the guests entered the dining room they were greeted by a granddaughter, Janie Faye Manchester, and a great granddaughter, Betty Ann Crawford, who gave them napkins with the golden wedding design and bearing the first names of the honorees.

TABLE

The dining table was beautifully decorated in the golden theme. A white lace cloth with a gold cloth beneath overlaid the table. A lovely arrangement of yellow gladioli and chrysanthemums and green fern was the centerpiece.

A tiered anniversary cake, decorated with yellow roses and topped with the traditional bride and groom and the number "50" in gold, was placed on one end of the table. A crystal punch service and individual decorated cup cakes, topped with a gold "50," on the other end.

Granddaughters, Annie Dee Fain and Carolyn Davis, dressed in floor - length evening gowns, served at the reception table.

GUESTS

Approximately 350 guests called between the appointed hours of 3 until 5 p.m., bringing gifts and congratulating Mr. and Mrs. Bradley.

Five generations of the Bradley family were present for the event. They were Mrs. Lula Birmingham of Montrose, Mrs. W. Z Bradley of Jackson, Mrs. Louis Davis of Wisner, Mrs. J. J. Crawford and her little daughter, Betty Ann, of Natchez, Miss.

Mr. Bradley is 72; and Mrs. Bradley is 69.

MISS BARBARA JEAN GREGORY

Okaloosa HDC Meets In Home Of Mrs. Crowell

The October meeting of the Okaloosa Home Demonstration Club was held in the home of Mrs. Jack Crowell.

The business session was opened by Mrs. Newsom Coon, president, reading "Faith Vital Ingredient for True Friendship." Roll call was answered with "My way of serving a meal."

Mrs. Jack Crowell reported a blue ribbon on the agriculture booth at the fair.

Mrs. Newsom Coon gave a report on the council meeting and the presidents training meeting, she attended at the Agriculture Building.

Mrs. Audrey Dawson gave a demonstration on "Entertaining and serving in the home." She stressed the point, "That the best place to teach a child poise and grace was in the home around the dining table."

Mrs. Jack Crowell acted vice-president in the absence of Mrs. Gordie Powell.

After the meeting closed ten members and one visitor, Mrs Audry Dawson, home demonstration agent, enjoyed a recreation period and social hour.

The November meeting of the club will be in the home of Mrs. Dorothy Fuller.

The Okaloosa P.-T. A. held its regular meeting with the president, Mrs. Gretchen Lewis, presiding.

The opening prayer was given by Mrs. Tom Landrum. Mrs. Juanita Hubbard gave an interesting program on "Understanding," giving it in panel discussion with Mrs. White, teacher, Mrs. Mickey Ferlicca, parent, Otis Davis, pupil, and Mr. Speir, principal, serving on the panel.

Room count was won by Mrs. Spirn's eighth grade. A social hour followed with Mrs. D. Holloway as hostess.

It was announced that the Halloween Carnival will be held at the school October 31, at 7:00 p.m.

Frances Flanders Speaker At Lakeshore PTA

Miss Frances Flanders discussed The Place of the Public Library in the Community, Thursday evening, when she was guest speaker at the Lakeshore P. T. A. meeting. Miss Flanders spoke to two points — The role of the public library and the Function of our own Ouachita Parish Library. In speaking of the public library in general she pointed out that one obligation resting upon every public institution in a democracy is that of standing ready at all times to render an account of itself to the people and to show cause why they should continue to support it.

Miss Flanders briefly outlined the history of our own public library and pointed out its growth, not only in number of books, personnel, and expansion of space but in its ability to simultaneously enlarge the life of the individual.

T. J. Mulhearn, Jr., 1st vice president presided during the business hour. The regular business of the association was dispensed with and Mrs. H. E. Howard, general chairman of the coming carnival gave a detailed report on planned activities for the evening of November 7, the annual carnival date for 1958. Mrs. Louise Thacker's first grade won the room award. Mrs. Kathleen Shackelford, accompanied by Mrs. Thacker, directed community singing. Refreshments were served by the sixth grade parents during the social hour.

Mrs. Elizabeth Lawrence Speaks To Garden Club

Mrs. Elizabeth Lawrence, well known writer and speaker, lectured to the Monroe Garden Club on "ground covers and vines in the south" at the monthly meeting held at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

After a brief business meeting, Mrs. Dewitt Milam, president, turned the meeting over to Mrs. Louis Hall who introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Lawrence spoke charmingly of gardens in Charlotte, South Carolina and the desirability of having good ground covers and vines. She said the coral vine and sky flower are beautiful grown together and are not used as often as they should be because a severe winter will kill them however they grow so quickly that if planted early each spring they will bloom from late summer through the fall. She had brought many beautiful vines and ground covers with her and gave a list to the garden club members of the botanical names and where they could be purchased.

"The cruel vine," explained Mrs. Lawrence, "got it's name in Brazil where it was first grown, because a little moth that tries to get pollen from the flowers is always imprisoned and dies."

One beautiful ground cover she displayed grows like a fern but looks much like arbor vitae. She also showed many beautiful specimens of ivy; the canary ivy, which is varigated and has leaves from green with white stripe to solid white, the little heart ivy and the tiny needlepoint ivy which makes a beautiful dense cover for a wire fence. She also showed the large tree ivy which grows well in Monroe.

Mrs. Louis Hall and Mrs. S. E. Huey were hostesses for this meeting.

The Cerebral Palsy PTA Holds Meeting

The Cerebral Palsy Parent Teacher Association held its first night meeting of the year with Dr. S. I. Courtman as guest speaker. Dr. Courtman reported on the meeting of the American Academy of Cerebral Palsy held in Providence, Rhode Island. A general discussion followed his talk.

The business session was opened with a prayer by J. Dodd Brooks. Mrs. Constance Meredith reported that the teachers lounge had been redecorated and thanked the P.-T. A. and staff for making this possible.

It was announced that Mrs. Walter Dunn, Mrs. R. L. Coates and Mrs. Dick Young will attend the fall district meeting at Lida Benton School.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Brooks and Mrs. S. P. Cantrell.

November 7, The World Community Day

As the sun rises some morning soon over 3,000 romantic isles in the South Seas a woman of many skills will land by plane or ship to carry out a unique assignment.

She will be the Woman's Interest Officer sent by some 10 million American church women to share her skills and experience with the awakening women of the New Hebrides, the Carolines, the Fijis, the Tuamotos and other island groups.

A specialist in adult education, she will have had experience in community organization and women's activities and also be familiar with that great sprawling stretch of the South Pacific where some three million persons live at every stage of culture from the stone age Melanesians in New Guinea to the more advanced Polynesian Islanders.

COMMUNITY DAY

Her aid in the advancement of emerging women is the unusual pilot project to be launched in connection with the celebration of World Community Day, November 7.

Offerings made for that annual observance which is sponsored across America by United Church Women — a general department of the National Council of Churches — will make the project possible.

These offerings will also help the Technical Services Association in Lahore, Pakistan, where women learn new skills so that they can play their part in village life. They face a particular problem as part of the small Chritian minority which finds it difficult to compete in a predominantly Moslem society where unemployment is high.

TRAINING

So a new venture in technical training for women is just being established. Centers have been set up where village women teach each other needle arts and handicrafts. Materials are supplied and the products sold through the sales organization, making it possible for the women to take their first steps toward becoming a part of economic life of their own communities.

Both of these projects are direct reflections of the World Community Day theme for 1958—Exchange: Goods, Ideas, People.

CHURCHWOMEN

As American churchwomen carry out their three - fold program of prayer, study and action, they will be helping other women across the globe to help themselves and they will be pioneering in the South Seas, developing patterns of work that we hope can be used in many other parts of the world."

Mrs. Hanna Hosts The Lakeshore Garden Club

Mrs. Clint Hanna and Mrs. F. R. Stickley were hostesses to the October meeting of the Lakeshore Garden Club. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Stickley, president and Mrs. C. T. Welker opened with prayer, a brief business meeting was held and a vote of thanks was given our program committee for a job well done on the program planning and yearbooks for the new year. The minutes were read and approved.

Mrs. Cannon introduced Mrs. John P. Lewis, guest speaker who gave a most informative discussion and demonstration on flower arranging.

The meeting was then adjourned and a social hour followed during which refreshments were served to the following members and guest. Mesdames C. T. Welker, R. L. Taylor, B. J. Carlton, N. M. Collins, Jody Rodden, Richard Watson, J. B. Evans, Jr., M. D. Cannon, Dan McDuff, Tracy Higdon, Leonard Taylor, Clint Hanna, F. R. Stickley, J. B. Evans, Sr., V. A. Stokes, J. H. Alford, H. B. Dad's Night Is Held At WM High School

Mr. P. G. Mangham, principal of the West Monroe High School, stated Monday evening that "it is well for a student to enter high school with the proper attitude toward learning." Mr. Mangham addressed the many mothers and fathers who attended "Dad's Night" in the Woodlawn Elementary School gymnasium.

The Woodlawn P.-T. A. unit adopted a plan for raising funds which will consist of selling advertising in a school yearbook, the book which in turn will be sold to the school students. The group, according to Mrs. T. C. Christy, Jr., president, will purchase reference books for the school this year.

Mrs. Pierce's third grade won the room count, and Mrs. Mittie Parish was in charge of refreshments which afforded a period of fellowship among the members.

Charter Granted To Alpha Sigma

Alumnae of Alpha Sigma Alpha Sorority met at the home of Mrs. Arnold Kilpatrick on Filhiol Avenue, to complete plans for organizing a local chapter. The group met again on last week in the home of Mrs. Charles A. Petrus, on Spencer Avenue, when Mrs. Arnold Kilpatrick, president, announced that the National Charter had been received. Plans for the year were discussed and committees were selected to carry out the program. Members present were Mrs. Ben Carroll, Mrs. James G. Caldwell, Mrs. Charles A. Petrus, Mrs. Eugene C. Koontz, Mrs. Arnold Kilpatrick, Mrs. George T. Walker, Mrs. H. E. Munholland, and Mrs. W. D. Ballard, Jr.

Alpha Sigma Alpha alumnae in this area should contact Mrs. Charles A. Petrus, FA 2-2964 for information about the local chapter.

Business & Professional Women Hold Meeting

At the recent business meeting of the Monroe Business & Professional Women's Club, held at the Frances Hotel Tuesday evening, Miss Saundra Knowles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Knowles, the delegate sponsored by the BPW Club to Pelican Girl's State, gave an informative and entertaining account of her experience while attending the sessions of Girl's State at L. S. U. Of the 525 girls attending Miss Knowles was one of the 33 girls invited back next year to serve as a junior counselor. Accompanying Saundra to the meeting was Mrs. Jack M. Knowles who was also welcomed as a guest of the club.

PRESIDING

The meeting was presided over by the club president, Mrs. B. L. Meek. Following the reading of the minutes, correspondence and financial reports, Mrs. Meek called for reports from committee chairmen. Mrs. J. Howard Carroll reported on the financial stability of the American people today. More people have more money invested in stocks and bonds, banks, savings and loans, and other financial institutions today than at any other period. She also stated that of the 67 million workers in the United States today 22 million are women. Of the 22 million working women eight million have become employed within the last five years.

Mrs. Sara Kennon, second vice-president, made a contribution in the name of the Monroe Club to the International Federation Refugee Project. The purpose of this project is to help women refugees of any nationality who have been forced to leave their country. The need is tremendous. The extent of help depends upon the generosity of individual members, clubs and federations. Because primary interest is in business and professional women help will be directed to assisting such women and in preparing young women to be self-sustaining.

Mrs. Meek announced the fall meeting of District Three of the Louisiana Federation of BPW Clubs will be in Monroe, at the Virginia Hotel. The Monroe Club will be hostess to this meeting, which will begin with a coffee hour at 9:00 a.m., followed by the business session from 10:00 a.m. until 12:00 noon.

LUNCHEON

A luncheon will be served at 12:30 p.m. Special guest for the occasion and principal speaker at the luncheon will be the Louisiana Federation president, Mrs. J. B. Beckworth, of Minden. "How to Organize a New Club" will be the theme of the meeting.

In a solemn and impressive initiation ceremony membership chairman, Mrs. Eunice Scroggs, and club president, Mrs. B. L. Meek, initiated Mrs. Marguerite Williamson, a new member, into the club.

In closing the meeting, Mrs. Meek expressed her appreciation to the members for their cooperation and help in making the recent "National Business Women's Week" a success. She also expressed her gratitude to the other clubs and organizations who joined with the BPW Club in celebration of this week.

ATTENDANCE

Those attending were: Mrs. Helen Blanchard, Mrs. Lela Breard, Mrs. Elizabeth Burdeaux, Mrs. Salome DeLarot, Mrs. Zera Edwards, Mrs. Billie Harrell, Mrs. Camille Harrison, Mrs. Sara Kennon, Mrs. Nethel McDermott, Mrs. Marguerite Meek, Mrs. Mae Modes, Miss Mamie Ober, Miss Mary O'Kelly, Miss Betty Oxford, Mrs. Evelyn Pankey, Mrs. Myrtle Porter, Mrs. Eunice Scroggs, Mrs. Bessie Skinner, Mrs. Minnie Thibeaux, Mrs. Edna Vaughan, Mrs. Marguerite Williamson, Mrs. Jack M. Knowles, Miss Saundra Knowles, Mrs. Lillie Mae Carroll, Miss Alice Baur, Mrs. Agnes Krogmire, Miss Maibel Hood, Mrs. Zylpha Wainwright, Mrs. Faye Heard, Mrs. Lucille Mathis, Mrs. Inas Gwin, Mrs. Helen Trichel.

BPW Club Hosts District Meeting Today

Approximately 75 members are expected to attend the fall meeting of District 3 of the Louisiana Federation of Business and Professional Women's Club being held at the Virginia Hotel today. Delegates representing their clubs will be from Springhill, Shreveport, Minden, Bastrop, Ruston and Monroe.

Prior to the business session the Monroe Club will host a coffee hour from 9:00 a.m. until 10:00 a.m. in the Cameo Room of the Virgniia Hotel.

BUSINESS

Miss Ione Brown of Shreveport, District Director and President of the Shreveport Club, will preside over the business session, which will begin at 10:00 a.m. The group will be welcomed by Mrs. B. L. Meek, Monroe Club president. The theme of the meeting is "How to Organize a New Club" and members of the Monroe club participating are Mrs. Irene Reid and Mrs. J. M. Harrell. Representatives from the other five clubs in the district will also participate.

LUNCHEON

Following the business session a luncheon will be served on the hotel roof, at which Monroe Club President Mrs. B. L. Meek will preside. Chairman of the luncheon is Mrs. Sara Kennon, vice-president of the Monroe club. Principal speaker will be Mrs. J. B. Beckworth of Minden, Louisiana Federation president.

Other state officers in attendance will be Miss Violet Poindexter, 1st vice president of New Orleans and Mrs. Inas Gwin of Monroe, state auditor.

The National Secretaries Hold Meeting

The Ouachita Chapter of the National Secretaries Association (International) installed two new members in a very impressive ceremony recently. The two members were: Mrs. Mattie Lou Priou, secretary to Mr. Wallace Foster, Union Mill, Inc. in West Monroe, and Mrs. Toby Smith, secretary to the Tuberculosis consultant at the Ouachita Parish Health Unit in Monroe. Performing the ceremony were Ruby Coffee, and Louise Kausler from the Shreveport Chapter of the association.

The speaker for the installation was Mrs. Edna Roop, the Shreveport Chapters Provisional Board Representative for the Louisiana Division of the association. Her topic was "Women of National Secretaries Association — Thine is the Earth." It was a most inspiring talk concerning the possibilities for the secretaries of today if they will take advantage of the many opportunities open to the secretaries of today and tomorrow. Mrs. Roop has toured eleven countries abroad and entertained the group with color slides from these countries.

GUESTS

Members and guests present for the ceremony were: Naomi Campbell, Hazel Jones, Erma Boyd, Beverly Dodson, Ginger Avant, Helen Bird, Jessica Lawn, Lera Morgan, Irma Beach, Toby Smith, Mattie Lou Priou, and guests from the Pelican chapter in Shreveport, Edna Roop, Lauise Kausler, Ruby Coffee, Sara Leonard, and Inez Stevenson.

Beta Epsilon also initiated the following girls: Autherine Armour, Many, and Joni Watkins, Hammond.

Chief Tusquahoma Chap. DAR Holds Oct. Meeting

The Highland Park Country Club provided the setting for the October meeting of Chief Tusquahoma Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Mrs. F. J. Ortis, program chairman introduced Dr. Jack Harrington of Northeast La. State College who chose as his topic "Education For a Better Tomorrow", in keeping with the theme "The Fruits of Freedom." Dr. Harrington presented views of noted educators on the subject. Some expressed were, it becomes clear that educators who believe in the theory of perennialism feel that the world of tomorrow would be a better one if education would provide for the rebirth and development of spiritual virtues like independence, volition, restraint, discipline, thrift, honesty, perseverance, justice, piety, will, and prudence; provide training for citizenship, social improvement, social consciousness, and a social mind; would recognize temporal life as the time for preparing for citizenship in eternity; that the ends of education are absolute and universal, the same for all men, in all places, in all times. Dr. Harrington's talk was very interesting and most informative to the daughter's present.

Mrs. Ruth Hundley, a new member was introduced to the chapter by Mrs. Lela Cullom, regent presiding, after which a short business session followed.

It was announced that Chief Tusquahoma Chapter would be host to a coffee hour during the Golden Anniversary of the Louisiana Society of the American Revolution which will be held in Monroe in March.

The hostesses, Mrs. Jeff Caldwell, Mrs. Lester Corley and Mrs. Clark Butler served a dessert course to the following members and guests, Mrs. DeWitt Smith, Mrs. J. L. Harper, Mrs. J. A. Rainbolt, Mrs. J. O. Miller, Mrs. Lela Cullom, Mrs. David Russell, Mrs. Roy E. Lee, Mrs. H. C. Ervin, Mrs. James H. Branch, Jr., Mrs. Gordie L. Roy, Mrs. James L. McGuire, Mrs. W. G. Wall, Jr., Miss Mary Louise Ellis and the guests, Mrs. Carter Cozine and Dr. Harrington.

Mrs. Thompson Is Hostess To The Pilot Club

The Pilot Club met on Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Ellen Thompson for a regular meeting. Mrs. Zola Smith presided and received reports from outstanding committees. At the beginning of the meeting, Jerry Hodge, field consultant of La. TB Association, was present and voiced his thanks to the club for the completion of their project of preparing TB seals for mailing early in November. Approximately 13,000 letters containing the seals were prepared during the last two months. He also invited the club to be hostess with the Ouachita TB Association on November 7th when its fall institute will be held in Monroe and to invite all interested persons especially the other women's clubs to be present. At that time Dr. Bolyard, state executive director, will speak on the importance of the Christmas seals in the fight against tuberculosis and will introduce Dr. H. A. Buechner, instructor at Tulane University, who will discuss new drugs in TB control. Plans were completed for the official visit of district governor, Mrs. Ena Wrenn, of New Orleans, in November, at which time a banquet will be held at Highland Park Country Club in her honor.

SURPRISE

At the conclusion of the meeting, a social hour was enjoyed and during which time Mrs. Hazel Garlington was surprised with a pink and blue shower. Those present were: Mrs. Zola Chatham, Mrs. Lucille Barrett, Mrs. Lois Mockabee, Miss Hermione Driskell, Miss Katie McGee, Miss Eleona Brinsmade, Mrs. Ruby Hatten, Mrs. Mary Harker, Mrs. Zola Smith, Mrs. Ellen Thompson, Mrs. Fleta Latham, Mrs. Alyne Newsom, Miss Helen Benoit, Mrs. Cecile Parker, Mrs. Zera Edwards and Mrs. Julia Moore.

Sherrouse PTA Holds Regular Monthly Meeting

Following group singing led by Mr. Ballenger, The Sherrouse P.-T. A. was called to order by the president, Mrs. W. W. Hathorn, Thursday evening at 7:15 in the school auditorium.

The business session was opened with the P.-T. A. Prayer read by Mrs. A. T. Robertson, Jr., followed by the reading of the minutes by the secretary, Mrs. H. S. Allen. Mrs. Katherine Walters gave a detailed treasurer's report.

BANNER

Mrs. Hathorn announced that the executive board had voted to present the Sherrouse banner as the attendance award for the room having the most present at each P.-T. A. meeting, which would be figured on a percentage basis. At the end of the year, the room receiving the banner the most number of times will have a book presented to them. The board also voted to include the grade chairmen in the board meeting each second Thursday in the month. Mrs. E. H. Allen, room representatives chairman, then introduced the grade chairmen: First grade, Mrs. Max Dillingham; second grade, Mrs. Ballenger; third grade, Mrs. Reagan Wilson; fourth grade, Mrs. Irvin Miller and fifth grade, Mrs. J. M. McIllwain.

HALLOWEEN PLANS

The projects chairmen, Mrs. Bill Allen and Bud Slaughter were introduced to the group. Plans for a Halloween fun night with games and activities from five to seven p.m. October 31 were revealed.

THE HOME SHIFT

'Easy To Do' Arrangements

By MILDRED SWIFT

Dorothy Biddle, lecturer on flower arrangements, was an inspiration to her audience at a recent visit with Welcome Garden Club.

Miss Biddle always brings the message of using home garden flowers. She says she is not a perfectionist — just a lover of plant material and their decorative use.

QUICKIES

The lecturer calls her arrangement "quickies" because she spends only about ten minutes on each one. She says she uses the approach of the busy housewife, who has just about that much time to give to arranging flowers.

NO PERFECTIONIST

"Some people work for hours or even days on a design. I have no patience for that sort of thing.

"I am a person who is not too hard to please. I may have a particular thing in mind, but, if just exactly what I want isn't at hand for the purpose, I simply look around and find the most suitable substitute available."

Those remarks explain how Miss Biddle operates in her programs she has given all over the country. Swiftly and deftly she handles her materials. She never stops talking, giving out wise information to her audiences.

Miss Dorothy resorts to various devices, some of which some people say can't or must not be done. In her independent way, she does them anyway. She refuses to be inhibited by taboos. She does explain that certain things are not acceptable in flower show work.

GROUND COVERS

That was the subject of Mrs. Elizabeth Lawrence's lecture at the Monroe Garden Club, Monday. She said vines give a third dimension to your garden.

Mrs. Lawrence had a sky flower vine in bloom. (Thumbergia grandiflora). It has a lovely blue flower and is a nice fall bloomer. The lecturer says the queen of all vines is the Clematis Armandi. It grows well here and is evergreen in all weather. The leaf is long and narrow. It blooms in March. The blossoms are white and resemble orange blossoms. There's a distinct odor that some like — others don't.

Give this clematis a strong support as it gets very heavy. The lecturer advised this method of pruning: Cut one stalk all the way to the ground, each year.

OTHER VINES

Mrs. Lawrence says there are two kinds of Confederate Jasmine. One is hardier than the other.

She recommended strawberries for ground cover. Also, the Wandering Jew (green, variegated and purple) and ajuga. All grow well in this area.

Our old monkey grass and lily turf she recommended as ground covers.

MY FAVORITE

The loveliest vine to me was the climbing hyacinth bean. The flowers are lavender, leaves purple and the stems take on a purple color. Lucy Sartor from Alto brought us a number of stems last Wednesday.

Marguerite Guerriero also has this hyacinth vine. It produces lots of seed. The plant is an annual.

Other ground covers recommended by Mrs. Lawrence were: prostrate abelia, juniper (Sargenti and Conferta); hedera, pachysandra, vinca minor.

A NEW ONE

The most gorgeous fern vine was in Mrs. Lawrence's collection. Botanical name, Selaginella Uncinata. It was so dense as to look like arborvitae. It is evergreen. I have the address so you can order this if you're interested.

You're familiar with the fern vine. Mrs. Johnnie Smith Elbert has grown this for years. It's lacy and dainty.

The balloon vine created lots of interest. It too is a lacy vine and has light green round pods that were as showy as the early blossoms. The specimen displayed came from Miss Emmy Lou Biedenharn's garden.

Mrs. Lawrence recommended our many forms of ivy. The needle point has a very small leaf, grows very dense with lots of small leaves. Gladys Dickerson grows this variety.

ODD NOTES

If you're old enough to remember the fashions of the twenties — the last time short skirts were really in fashion, you'll remember that clocked stockings also were the big popular fad.

Well — there's a revival of these now, and — clocked stockings look new and interesting again with the current short skirts.

The white dress is making a big comeback for fall and winter wear. They're flattering, too. Most of the winter whites are in wool — usually soft off - whites as ivory or eggshell.

Dresses, skirts, sleeves and collars take to fringe this fall. Both wool and silk get this new and interesting treatment.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Planting Bulbs Permanently

By MARY M. JARDINE

Jo' Evan's television program for the Garden Center on bulbs for permanent beauty in southern gardens was of such widespread interest that I am passing along a few notes to those of you who perhaps missed the broadcast. For permanent beauty that will come back year after year, select the short cup and cluster varieties. Do not plant in your flower beds for narcissus must have a drying off and rest period during the summer. In planting, mix a little bone meal with your soil and plant so that there is two inches of soil covering the top of the bulb. We want to emphasize this, the two inches should be measured from the top of the bulb to the surface of the ground.

All the bulb planting charts listed in national garden magazines were prepared for nothern planting, where the bulbs must be below the frost line. In Louisiana we plant them deep enough so that they do not heave out of the ground during a frosty spell, and also just deep enough so the hot summer sun does not scorch the bulbs and it surely will if they are too close to the surface.

The large trumpet daffodils will do well but they will not last for generations as the short cup and cluster types will do. They need not be disturbed for years. If your soil is very sandy, plant just a little deeper. In the triandrus group, Silver Chimes is a must. It blooms rather late in the season, and there are seven to nine creamy white flowers to the stalk. It comes back year after year. In the jonquilla class Treviihian is a good yellow that will naturalize well.

OLD FASHIONED

The exhibition type hyacinths are very colorful and lovely but after a few years they too "run out." The old fashioned hyacinths are recommended for permanent beauty. For some years these were not available in the trade. Now they are back on the market, and come in colors of white, pine, light and dark blue. Again plant where they will not have a lot of watering in the summer. Plant in fertile soil where they can be allowed to clump up, as they are much more effective that way.

Now is the time to plant the anemones and ranunculus. These should be planted claw side down. They are very strange looking bulbs.

CANDYSTICK TULIP

Among the tulips the only one that will stay with us and naturalize in Louisiana is the Clusiana, also called the Lady Tulip and Candystick tulip. This is a species tulip which comes from the northern Mediterranean country where the climate is similar to ours. The outer petals are cherry red, inner petals white with a violet base. These are very graceful and lovely for flower arranging. Again plant where they can have a summer rest. Good drainage is necessary for all members of the bulb family. We will take orders for these Clusianas at the Garden Center.

LILIES

Among the true lilies that do well in Louisiana gardens are the Creole Easter lilies, the Speciosums (there are named varieties in white and carmine and several forms of the S. rubrum) also the Formosa lilies. The latter can be planted from seed now and will bloom next year. The Regal lilies with their fragrant blooms will stay with us quite a while unless we have very wet summers. These will bloom in seventeen months from seed. Since the true lilies are both stem rooting and base rooting they need deep planting, about 9 inches.

Another worthwhile addition to the garden is the Amarcrinum Howardii, a lovely light pink "amaryllis" — that blooms in August and September. It takes the same culture that the crinums do. This is a hybrid of the amaryllis and crinum. The clusters of flowers are very fragrant. Very elegant for arranging. Have you thought about the hardy cyclamen? There are three varieties, C. Europeum, neapolitanum and c. repandum. They need shade. Available from catalogs.

Be sure to send in your reservation for the Fifth District meeting on November 6 in Winnsboro.

EXTENSION NEWS AND VIEWS

Time Now For Bulb Planting

By AUDREY DAWSON

If you have made plans to use bulbs in your landscape, now is the time to put them out. Bulbs should be planted in October if possible. Here are some hints to follow in planting. Do not plant when the soil is muddy. Loamy soils are best, but they can be grown in a wide range of soil types. It would be well to mix some sand into heavy clay soil. Do not plant large bulbs closer than six inches apart if they are to be left in place for more than one year. Bulbs should be covered with from two to five inches of soil above the top of the bulb, depending on the size of the bulb. The larger bulb should be planted deeper.

FERTILIZER

A little more caution is needed in use of fertilizer for daffodils than for many other flowering plants. Most gardeners use fertilizer rather freely because they want to encourage good plant growth. Nitrogen in fertilizer intensifies the damage from basal rot which is one of the most serious diseases of the daffodils. It is very likely that many bulbs have been lost from this disease simply because an excessive amount of fertilizer was used. If there is any place for use of bone meal in a garden, it should be used when fertilizing daffodils. If a commercial fertilizer is used, be sure that it is low in nitrogen content. Caution should be used in the application of fertilizer. It should be mixed well with the soil. If you have bulbs in your landscape and have left them in place for two or more years and want to fertilize them, apply it to the surface of the soil.

REPAIR IDEAS

If doors drag, try tightening the screws that hold the hinges in place. If they won't tighten, fill the screw holes with plastic wood and try again when dry.

Floor squeaks can sometimes be silenced by dusting talcum powder or dripping glue into the cracks.

If a tile sink becomes chipped, touch it up with a wax crayon in matching color, and then coat with a transparent mending cement. This will stand up under many washings and can be renewed easily.

HINTS FOR HOMEMAKERS

To clean stubborn bits of wax from all types of candlestick holders, try using a soft cloth moistened with rubbing alcohol.

A cloth dampened with ammonia and placed in the closed warm oven a few hours will loosen scorched food that is sticking to the interior surfaces.

Iron frying pans will not stick if never allowed to stand in water. Use a mild pure soap — not a strong syndet in cleaning your iron pots.

Cream of tartar boiled in a discolored aluminum pan will brighten it considerably: wash thoroughly with soap and water after the treatment

BODY AND STIFFNESS

If you want to give body and stiffness to curtains or petticoats or dresses, soak two envelopes of gelatin in 1 cup of cold water for a few minutes. Then dissolve over hot water. Pour into a container and add enough water to cover the garment. After the garment is washed and rinsed, dip it in the gelatin solution and squeeze it gently. Then roll garment in a thick bath towel until it is dry enough to iron. This is especially good for rayons but remember ironing rayon requires low heat.

AROUND THE YARD

Many gardeners are raking leaves around the yard now that old man fall has arrived on the calendar. Instead of burning these leaves, place them in a compost pile along with grass clippings, fruit and vegetable peels, and other organic waste. This will furnish useful organic matter for gardens, flower beds and shrubs. Every garden needs a compost pile.

STATE FAIR WINNER

Mrs. Cleburne White, of the Cadeville Home Demonstration Club, really did herself proud at the state fair with her exhibit of clothing. Dell entered six garments and received four blue ribbons and one red and a cash award of twenty eight dollars and fifty cents. Congratulations from all of us at the Agricultural Extension Office.

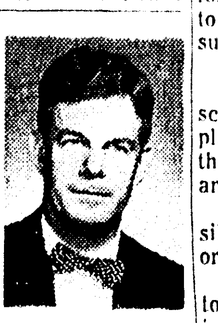
THE SOUTHERN GARDENER

Hard To Find Pomegranates



By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

What has happened to the pomegranates that our grandmothers grew? Yoy can buy pomegranates from fruit stands at this time of the year but the bushes are hard to find. Only in old gardens will you find either the large bushes of the double kind or the smaller bushes of the single and the little double kinds.

BLOOMS

When the first hot days come in late spring or early summer, the scarlet flowers open. Some varieties have purple calyxes, and these are about the only red and purple flowers we have except fuchsias. The large and the small pomegranate fruits are favorite items in fruit and flower arrangements when they ripen in the fall. There must be enough people who like to eat pomegranates or to drink their juice to cause them to be sold on fruit stands — even in the chain stores.

The other day, your columnist, who must confess that he had not eaten a pomegranate in years, bought one. The juice was mildly delicious. With the addition of a few drops of lemon juice, it would be more so. In olden times, people esteemed this juice very highly, especially when they could not get oranges. To pep up pomegranate juice, Lord Bacon recommended adding three or four cloves and a piece of "green citron - peel."

The pomegranate is actually one of the very oldest of the cultivated fruits. While they were still in the wilderness, the Jews ornamented the robe of the Ephod with the pomegranate. The pillars of Solomon's temple were decorated with it, and Solomon refers to "spiced wine of the juice of my pomegranates." The Prophet Joel said "The vine is dried up, and the fig-tree languisheth; the pomegranate tree, the palm-tree also, and the apple-tree are withered." All through history, this useful and beautiful shrub has been planted. Greek and Roman literature are full of references to it.

NATIONAL FLOWER

Just as each state wishes to take the dogwood for its state flower, many of the old countries and cities tried to appropriate the pomegranate as solely theirs. The Carthaginians claimed it, and later on, the city of Granada in Spain claimed it and put it on its coat-of-arms. If the Romans had not completely destroyed everything Carthaginian in their fury at their North Africans, we might have had some beautiful examples of the pomegranate in Carthaginian art.

In olden time, the tannic acid in the rind of the pomegranate was used both for medicines and for tanning leather. From the flowers, the juice was extracted to produce the color, Puniceus (pink or light red). The Roman writer Pliny gives us full information about the medicines prepared from pomegranates.

Some of our Southern nurseries offer pomegranates. You will find them listed under their scientific name, Punica. If you do not have room for the large kind that grows to be a big shrub, you may wish to plant the dwarf form, nana. Its flowers are dainty and plentifully produced. Surely, after the pomegranate has done so much for our civilization, we ought not to let it disappear. Both its flowers and its fruits are beautiful.

Business Meeting Is Held By The Dental Assistants

The Monroe Dental Assistants Society held its regular business meeting for the month of October at the Red Cross Building.

Mrs. Lottie Fisher, president, called the meeting to order and had the minutes read by Mrs. Lelia Fuller, secretary. Members planning to attend the National Convention in Dallas, were asked to contract Mrs. Fuller.

Mrs. Pat Coggins, education chairman, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Bryan Bayne, instructor at Ouachita Parish Vocational School on practical nurs ng. Mrs. Bayne stressed the importance of the preventions of accidents by being safety conscious. It was announced that first aid classes will be conducted and anyone wishing to attend should contract Mrs. Fisher.

Thirteen members atended the meeting.

Mrs. Hackworth Presides At Lenwil PTA

The Lenwil P.-T. A. met with the president, Mrs. J. W. Hackworth, presiding. Bro. Paul Owens gave the invocation, followed by group singing led by Mrs. Lomax and accompanied by Mrs. Archibald.

Mrs. G. W. McCarty introduced the guest speaker, Rev. John O. Stewart, who gave a very interesting talk on "The Continuity of Life as Pertaining to a Relay Race."

Minutes from the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Boyd. Treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Moore. Reports were also given of meetings attended by members; workshop at Highland by Mrs. Smith, council meeting at Lakeshore by Mrs. Boyd and district meeting by Mrs. Chilton.

Announcement was also made of the coffee hour and our school carnival for the purpose of raising funds for the year's projects.

Room count was won by Mrs. Archibald's third grade and Mrs. Moore's fifth grade. Having no further business the meeting adjourned and refreshments were served by the sixth grade.

Mrs. R. Gore Is Guest At Opti-Mrs. Club

The October meeting of the Opti - Mrs. Club was held Monday night, at the Saddle and Spur Restaurant.

After a delightful meal and conversation were enjoyed, the business meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Billye Adams. Plans were discussed to sell fruit cakes for the holiday season and to have a rummage sale to be held on November 7.

PROGRAM

Mrs. Joe Bubnich, program chairman stated that Mrs. Clint Hanna would present a program at the November meeting on "Making and Using Candles for Christmas."

Mrs. Ryder Gore was introduced as a guest. Members attending the meeting were: Mrs. James Eppinette, Mrs. R. B. Martin, Mrs. Joe Bubnich, Mrs. Tom Agnew, Mrs. J. C. Thrower, Mrs. Charles Swain, Mrs. John Lacy, Mrs. June Wood, Mrs. Pat Marnell , Mrs. Phil Duncan, Mrs. Billye Adams, Mrs. Ed Morrison, Mrs. Betty DeLarzelere, and Mrs. Earl Tarver.

Tertulia Book Club Meets With Mrs. J. Daniels

October meeting of La Tertulia Book Club was held in the home of Mrs. E. S. Blackmon with Mrs. James Daniels as co-hostess. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Carl Jackson opening with the Club Collect led by Mrs. Earl Hamm.

After a short business and discussion period, the lucky number for the White Elephant Gift was given by Mrs. Bruce Roth. Miss Maude Brownlee reviewed Eleanor Early's book, "New Orleans Hol'iay." Very good and thoroughly enjoyed by all.

The meeting adjourned with refreshments served to: Miss Maude Brownlee, Mrs. Fred Brownlee, Mrs. R. H. Clark, Mrs. Victor Davis, Mrs. Earl Hamm, Mrs. Carl Jackson, Miss Clara Johnston, Mrs. Jennette Mahaffey, Mrs. Bruce Roth, Mrs. Howard Williams, Mrs. James Daniels and Mrs. E. S. Blackmon.

Eloise Cann Speaks To Plum Street PTA

Homework has its place along with a child's other activities, related Miss Eloise Cann to the Plum Street School P.-T. A. mothers in a discussion group meeting. Mrs. Agnes Craven, group chairman, called the meeting to order under the direction of the principal.

Of interest to many mothers who struggle with their Mary's and John's on homework we find a new outlook on this subject. Homework should be postponed at least the first hour on a child's return home from theclass room. The alloted time for a child to spend on home assignment rarely ever exceeds thirty minutes, however often times parents will find this time is stretched considerably by distractions. Parents who find their children burdened with over-assignments should conference with the teacher to seek a solution. Homework is defined in several categories, review study, preparing for study and training of a child to discipline himself for higher level of more homework necessary as he progresses through grammar school to junior high. The correction of homework by parents interferes with the proper value the teacher can place on the child's accomplishment.

In answer to what can be done with the child who daydreams after health investigation, Miss Cann replied, Who are you and I to say if daydreaming is escape or creative thinking.

Pierian Club Holds Meeting In Oak Ridge

Deep red roses on the officers' table and the same shade of zinnias and princess feathers on other tables were used by Mrs. C. E. Shepard and Mrs. E. A. Barham when they were hostesses at the Community Center in Oak Ridge for the October meeting of the Pierian Club.

Mrs. Joseph W. Barham opened the meeting with the reading of the club collect and pledge of allegiance. It was explained by the program chairman that the club was fortunate enough to have Hon. Otto Passman to come on the following day for their regular program.

PRESIDENT

Highlights of the president's message were given by Mrs. A. B. Conger and the president, Mrs. Sam Smith reported that the Caddoan Club will assume responsibility of cleaning the center.

The self-help program of CARE was read by Mrs. J. W. Barham and after some discussion it was voted to table the matter for the present time. The club voted to hold a club institute in November and January.

Hostesses served cake and coffee to Mrs. J. W. Barham, Mrs. Norman McDuffie, Mrs. Roy Windsor, Mrs. John Barr, Mrs. Elmer McLeondon, Mrs. B. E. Barham, Mrs. A. B. Conger, Mrs. T E. Barham, Mrs. R. E. Barham, Mrs. E. M. Barham, Mrs. Johnnie Kovac, Mrs. Ernest Smith, Mrs. Sam Smith and Mrs. M. T. Limerick.

Mrs. M. Brown Speaks To The Woodlawn HDC

Woodlawn Home Demonstration Club heard a demonstration entitled "You and Your Room" by Mrs. Maxine Brown, assisted by Mrs. Truman Wright, as the club met with 15 members present at the home of Mrs. A. C. Hollingsworth Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Brown encouraged charm in the home which is gained through careful observation of furniture placement, proper grouping of large and small pieces of furniture and making the most of the good features of each room.

Mrs. Erby Tisdale, clothing leader, suggested the purchase of cotton or cotton blend materials so that money may be saved on dry cleaning bills. Mrs. G. E. Rutledge, nutrition chairman, suggested that thought should be given to the right kind of foods to be eaten to provide energy. Family life leader, Mrs. Truman Wright, encouraged the proper attention to be given a child's cold and caution taken to prevent the cold being spread to other school children.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to Mesdames: G. E. Rutledge, Maxine Brown, Kenneth Bonnette, Harvey Larche, Truman Wright, Gerald Morehead, John Bush, J. E. Murphy, Erby Tisdale, Leon Sims, Harvie Eady, O. E. Smith, J. E. Rutledge, Keith Cobb, and one guest, Mrs. Alma Bardin.

FOR SWEET TOOTH

NEW YORK — Satisfy the family's sweet tooth with cut up, chilled oranges, sprinkled with a mixture of cinnamon and sugar.

Navy Mothers Make Plans For Supper

The Navy Mothers' Club held a meeting with 14 members attending. The welfare committee was instructed to visit a certain family and determine how best to aid them.

The V. F. W. Hall at 906 Natchitoches, West Monroe, was chosen as the location for the annual chicken spaghetti supper to be held on November 1. It was decided to have the Rebelettes of West Monroe High sell the tickets for it. A special meeting was called to plan the details.

District PTA Holds Its Fall Conference

The featured speaker at the fall district conference of P.-T. A. held at Lida Benton School, was Mrs. Geo. B. Walther, Jr., president of the Louisiana P.-T. A. In pointing up the five main objectives of the P.-T. A. Mrs. Walther said that the parent-teacher movement unites the parents, teachers, and other citizens in the community in an organization that has for its sole purpose the welfare of society's greatest asset — its children. American education is in swift change, and to meet the demands made upon it will challenge the best efforts of all citizens.

She stressed the fact that the home is the child's first school. Here is laid the foundation for a child's physical, mental, moral and spiritual education. The quality of the home depends upon the quality of the parents who create it, and the schools would do well to join hands with parent-teacher associations in their efforts to maintain happy healthful homes —homes that will survive social, and economic tensions. A school administrator may resign or accept a transfer, but a parent may not; his is a lifetime job.

Section meetings on various phases of P.T.A. promotion were led by Dr. Clint Hanna, Mrs. W. S. Vincent, Miss Eloise Cann, Mrs. B. G. Wilson.

The following were elected as a nominating committee: Mrs. W. S. Vincent, Mrs. Julius Cathey, Mrs. M. L. DeFreese, Mrs. Laura Tolbird, Mrs. Jack McDuffie. Rev. Chas. Littleton led the invocation. Mrs. M. L. DeFreese conducted the community singing, Mrs. A. R. Nix was the pianist. Welcoming the members were Mrs. Laverne Riddle, principal, and Mrs. Lee Baxter, P.-T. A. president.

Mrs. Courtland McCoy, fifth district director, presided over a short business session, and announced that 21 local units were represented at this meeting.

Mrs. H. Hyman Presides At Atheneum Club

A very interesting meeting of the Atheneum Club was held in the home of Mrs. W. B. Hedgepeth with Mrs. Jessie Hutchins serving as co-hostess. Roses, hibiscus and lilies adorned the reception rooms and provided the central decor for the dining table from which dainty refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting.

MEETING

Mrs. Hugh Hyman, club president, called the meeting to order and after a brief business period, Mrs. H. H. Walters, program chairman, introduced the guest speaker for the afternoon. Mr. George Brian, assistant professor of speech at Northeast College gave James Weldon Johnson's version of "Creation" in poem form and Sherman Vincent Benet's "Mountain Whippoorwill." The speaker held the attention of members from beginning to end with his vivid presentation.

At the conclusion party refreshments were served to the following: Mesdames: Lee Buatt, Jack Edwards, T. Gallien, Fred Grant, W. B. Hedgepeth, Hugh Hyman, Jessie Hutchins, Margaret Smith, W. H. Steen, Jr., and H. H. Walters.

Oct. Meeting Is Held By The Musical Coterie

The regularly scheduled October meeting of the Musical Coterie was held in the home of Mrs. F. V. Allison.

After a short social hour, Mrs. Eloise Stanhope, president, opened the meeting by leading the club collect.

During the business session, Mrs. Briscoe Trousdale, Jr. and Mrs. H. G. McDonald gave interesting reports on the recent fall board meeting of the Louisiana Federation of Music Clubs which they attended in Alexandria They brought especially interesting news of the federated music club at Central Louisiana Hospital in Pineville under the direction of Miss Carol Marsh. This is the only club of its kind in the United States.

The members present were: Mrs. B. D. Allbritton, Mrs. F. V. Allison, Miss Emy Lou Biedenharn, Mrs. John Birdsong, Jr., Mrs. James G. Caldwell, Mrs. Grayson Guthrie, Mrs. W. M. Harper, Mrs. James Harris, Mrs. H H. Land, Mrs. Elmer Marshall, Mrs. H. G. McDonald, Mrs. P. L. Mrs. C. Barnum Presides At Garden Club

The Jonesboro - Hodge Garden Club met Thursday afternoon at the Jonesboro Methodist Recreation Room with eighteen members and three guests present. The door prize was won by Mrs. W. O. Corley.

The president, Mrs. Charles Barnum, presided over a brief business session. Civic chairman, Mrs. Fred Black, and Mrs. Ply Evans reminded all to have a list of any of the following plants that they might care to donate for the beautification of the City Park: Yaupon, pyracantha, oleander, crepe myrtle, pampas grass, day lillies, nandina, and Lousiana Iris.

JAYCEES

The Jaycees are sponsoring this project and will do the planting. Towns people are urged to be generous in their contributions. The Club would like to have a list on hand of all available plants and the actual planting will be done in November.

The next Garden Club meeting was moved to the second Thursday of November as the Fifth District Garden Club meeting will be held in Winnsboro on the regular meeting day. All members who can are urged to attend the Fifth District meeting.

Mrs. Wilbur McDonald, program chairman, then presented the guest demonstrator Mrs. Leon Mitchell of Natchitoches. Mrs. Mitchell, former Jonesboro resident, is state chairman of club programs and a nationally accredited flower show judge. She did six outstanding arrangements using fall flowers.

Mrs. Harper Is Hostess To Jr. Auxiliary

The junior members of the American Legion Auxiliary of Jonesville held their regular monthly meeting in the home of Mrs. Dorothy Harper.

A short business session was held and a social hour was then held.

Those attending were Carolyn Armstrong, Patsy and Sharon Book, Linda Coley, Candy Harper, Deanne Kniceely, Linda Little, Ginger McClure, Dianne Scott, Judy Taylor, Joanne Trisler, June White, Vickie Weaver and Janice White.

Elsie Sullivan Presides At Start FHA

The Start Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America held a meeting in the school auditorium.

The meeting was called to order by Elsie Sullivan. The reading of the minutes followed roll call. Sallie Pohl gave the treasurer's report and the proposed budget for 1958-59 was accepted.

After recognition of Mrs. Dean Bartleson, a club mother, Sallie Pohl was elected Girl - of - the-Month. A piano solo was rendered by Linda Hardwick. Mrs. Jean Chambers gave an interesting program on the care of the hair and skin.

MISS JUNE MARIE RUSSELL'S engagement to Floyd Kelly Jr. is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rease Russell of West Monroe. Mr. Kelly's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Kelly of Bonita. The wedding will be an event of November 7, at six o'clock in the evening, at the Assembly of God Church, with the Rev. E. L. Tanner officiating.

Shady Grove Holds October PTA Meeting

"Education — A Community Investment" was the theme of Shady Grove's October P.-T. A. meeting. Mrs. J. W. Gallaspy, president called the meeting to order. Mrs. Dan Ryals led the group in prayer.

The guest speaker, Mr. Charles Tillman of Northeast State College, was introduced by Miss Jeanette Womack. He spoke concerning the relationship of the parent to the elementary school. Interesting examples of the parent's relationship to each type of school which has existed since the founding of America were given. The thought was brought out by Mr. Tillman that better schools result when parents are interested and concerned with the school and community.

A short business meeting followed Mr. Tillman's speech. Reports were given by the committee chairman. Room count was won by Miss Jeanette Womack's sixth grade. The meeting adjourned for a social hour during which the sixth grade mothers served refreshments.

Plans Made For Successful Art Week

Plans were made for the coming month dedicated to art. Mrs. Guy Bordelon, regional chairman of the American Artist Professional League, Inc. met with Father Richard Fale and chairmen to discuss plans for the luncheon held each year for art enthusiasts of this area.

Committee chairmen working together for the success of Art Week in Monroe are Mr. J. V. Spatafora assisting the regional chairman, exhibition chairmen are Mrs. W. C. Oliver and Mrs. H. S. Trammell, radio and T. V. chairman will be Prof. Edward Shultz. Chairman of posters, Mr. John Hogan and publicity chairman, Mrs. Ted Brode.

FACTS ABOUT THE AIR POLLUTION PROBLEM

You owe it to your family's health to see this magic Filter Cone

This week has been set as National "Clean Air" Week, the government is spending billions of dollars each year for the air pollution problem. Everyone can have a big part in this campaign. Let us give you a few facts about dirty air and how to correct it.

It has been proven that dirt found in your own home is dangerous. House dirt has been proven responsible for skin troubles, common colds, headaches, respiratory ailments, asthma, hay fever, influenza, and bronchitis. Dr. Horwood of M.I.T. proved that a thimble full of household dirt contains as many as 5,000,000 germs. Only FILTER QUEEN with the patented FILTER CONE protects your family from such dangers. The filter cone separates the disease laden dust from the air, returning nothing but pure filtered air back into the room. Instead of scattering dirt the FILTER CONE literally filters it out of the air, thanks to a hospital white sanitary FILTER CONE so efficient that the tiniest particle—even smoke—cannot penetrate its walls. The filter cone is made of layers of chemically treated cellulose filters that block passage of dust, air-borne germ matter, irritating pollens and other impurities, "only filtered air can pass through". The FILTER QUEEN Sanitary Filter System removes 99.99 of atmosphere pollen. This was proven by Dr. Peter Gray of the Biological Science Dept. of the University of Pittsburg. The air and dust stream is deflected by the patented Inlet Guide, creating a centrifugal force that throws the dirt to the sides of the container, thus the air does not have to push its way through accumulated dirt and filth as in the "vacuum sweeper" but is drawn to the center of a "cyclone" where it filters through the cone and returns to the room washed and filtered. You must see this wonderful filter cone in operation. Call us today. The Filter Queen is sold only through Home-Appointment system. Housewives are invited to write P. O. Box 425, Monroe, or call FA 3-8341.

Research Center Dedication Is Scheduled Here

Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. Sets Open House

FEATURES

By LYNN GARRETT
Staff Writer

It's a big step from forests to boxes, paper and various other wood products, but one which is adequately planned and delicately coordinated by Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation.

Unique aspects of the Frostkraft Research Center will be explained to the general public when the facilities are dedicated at an open house Wednesday.

From 9:30 until 11 a.m. and 2 until 4 p.m., the center will be open for inspection tours and colorful displays will be set up for informational purposes.

Dr. Dave Lea heads the center as research and development manager, and four supervisors direct actiyities of the research staff. In the pulp and paper division, Dr. Paul Gilmont is in charge, with Larry Shipman heading packaging.

Russel Jagoditsh supervises coating operations, and Craig Campbell guides research in the lumber division.

The utilization of local hardwoods as raw material is one of the points of the 1959 program, Lea explained.

"Our goal in this work is both improving our product — always the ultimate which we seek — and finding further means of using these woods," Lea added.

PAPER MACHINE

An experimental paper machine termed by Lea as "one of the finest in the country," provides opportu y for testing on a model scale. The machine, infinitely smaller than the regular type, is 70 feet long and produces paper up to 24 inches wide. Having a speed of 330 feet per minute, the equipment has all facilities of the much larger machines.

The replica is capable of producing 3 tons of paper in 24 hours, whereas the regular machines make 200 tons of paper in the same amount of time.

FUTURE PLANS

"We plan to develop an even better sack paper than we now have, and test many other varieties of material," Lea said. "The convenience and aptitude of this experimental equipment makes it highly valuable to research work."

The paper machine was designed by the local research staff with the help of mill employees and was built in Kalamazoo, Mich.

Although possibly the most impressive and eye - catching machine in the center, the replica is only one o: four pieces of equipment designed on a small scale and used in the half a million dollar research plant.

An experimental :oater enables the staff to try various methods of coating paper. This equipment will take web paper 30 inches wide in any weight or grade and handles 500 feet of paper a minute. It is invaluable to the experiments involving coating processes, Lea said.

COATING

Omnikote, trade name for a coated board, was introduced by Olin Mathieson this year and was developed by the forest products division. It was the first time such a product was marketed, Lea pointed out.

"This material is ideal for use where a smooth, sparkling white surface is desired so that printed designs show up well," he said. He added that an involved process of coating the board with white clay produces the desired effects at an economical price.

In the packaging section, equipment is available for most types of package testing and evaluation. An adhesive for Omnikote was recently developed and will be among displays for the open house.

Actual field use conditions are simulated by the inclined impact tester and the vibration tester. The inclined impact machine slams boxes against a wall after rolling them down an incline. This shows researchers how the boxes will react when subjected to the movement of boxcars, for example.

FIELD CONDITIONS

The vibrator simulates conditions packages must withstand in a truck bed, and can be adjusted to provide a clear picture of how durable the material would be at various speeds of travel.

The controlled humidity and temperature rooms provide evaluation of the material under varying weather conditions. One room is kept at what Lea called "standard conditions," with temperature of 73 degrees and humidity at 50 per cent.

The other room can be controlled for study of the material at a variety of weather conditions.

Among current projects being considered is the stabilization of lumber. Analysis of the wood is made so that variations of wood may be studied and correlated.

LIBRARY

An ultra - modern library and conference room contains technical and trade publications and other material comprehensive in the field of interest. Here the staff can further their knowledge and compare techniques and studies used elsewhere.

The center contains 12,000 square feet, with 7,000 devoted to laboratories and offices. The remaining 5,000 square feet are in the pilot plant area.

In explaining the pilot plant, Lea noted it is the step between test tube studies and actual production. "In this step, we carry out processes on a small scale, but one which is nevertheless large enough to give accurate results and pave the way for a change of design or any other modifications we might deem necessary," Lea said. "It's a working model."

Also in the pilot plant area, mill scale equipment is moved in for trial, with researchers using their own equipment.

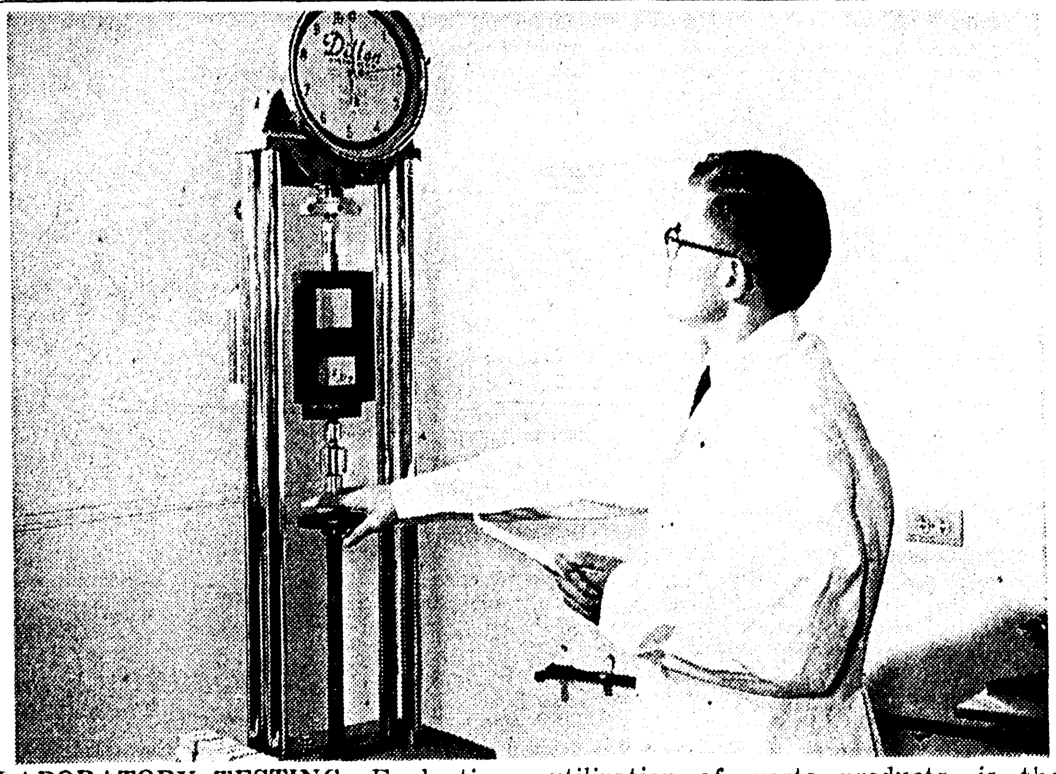
'TOTAL EFFORT'

Noting the "total effort" approach to any and all problems, Lea stressed the fact that the entire outlook of the center is focused on the relations among all contributing facets of the division's operation.

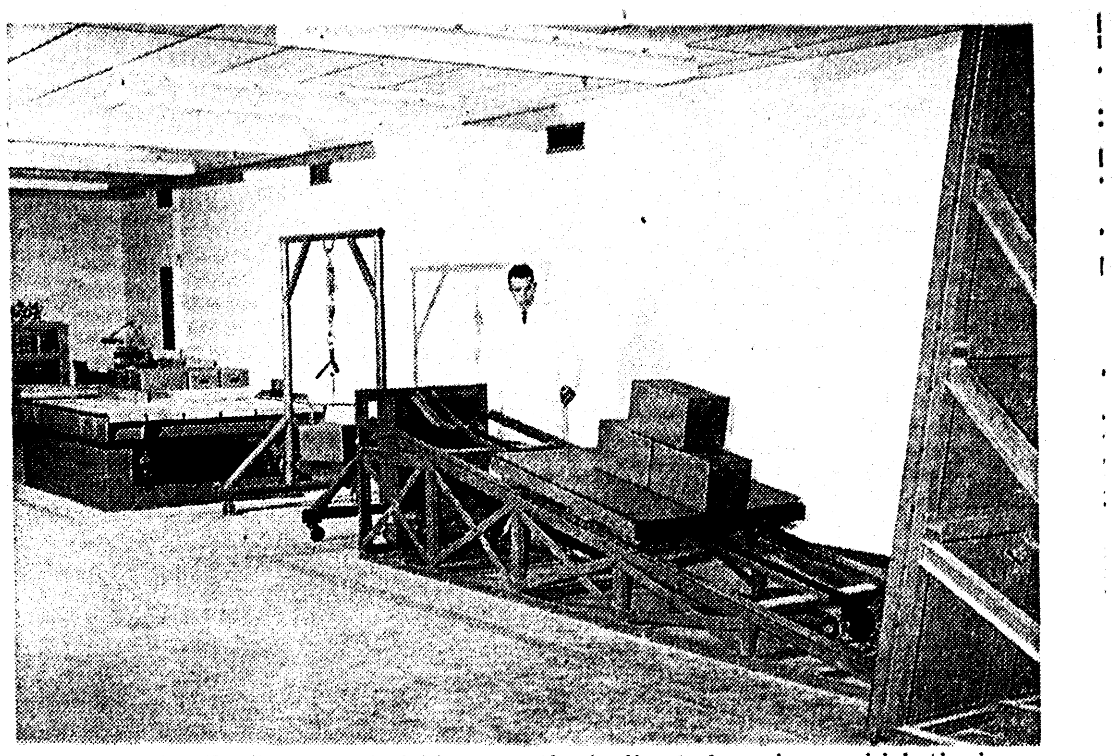
Although the concept of such an exhaustive research center dates back to the purchase of Brown Paper Mill by Olin, actual planning of such facilities began in March of 1956, when Lea came to the West Monroe industry from Potlatch Forests Inc., Lewiston, Idaho.

Early last year Neild, Somdal, Smitherman, Associates, Shreveport architects, were hired for the work, and the contract was let to Charles Slade in August of last year. The structure was completed this past August, and the staff is composed of 20 research employees.

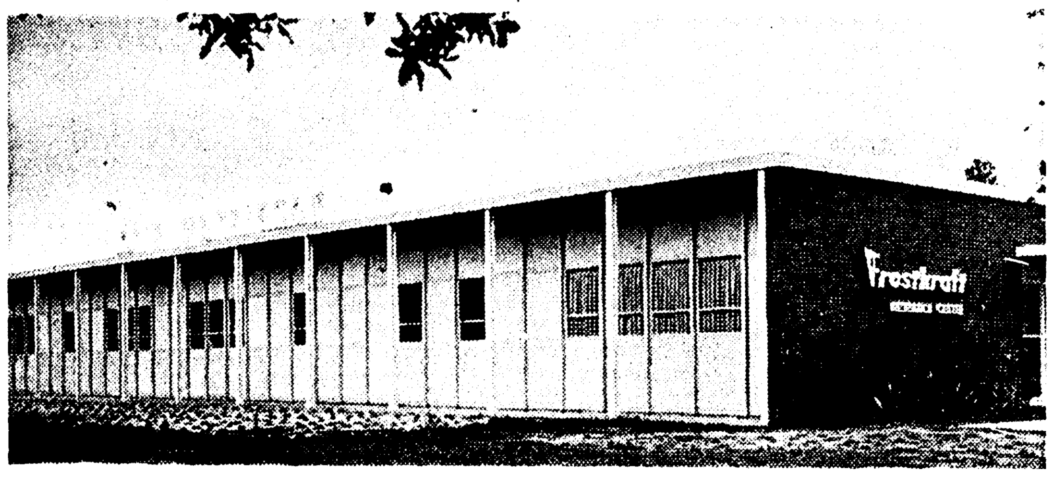
"In our modern age, research is imperative to quality production and marketing," he said. "Our research staff strives to make it possible for top quality efforts in every phase of work at Olin Mathieson."



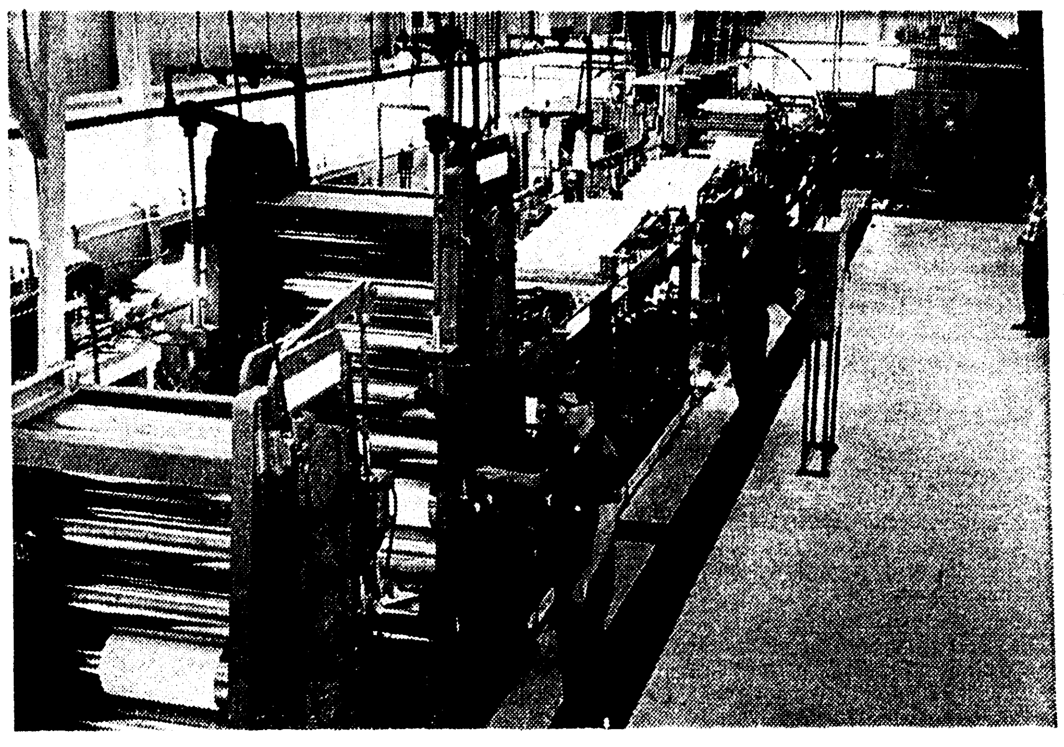
LABORATORY TESTING—Evaluation of lumber products, as well as research on adhesives, lumber additives and utilization of waste products, is the keynote of laboratories at the Olin Mathieson Frostkraft Research Center.



PACKAGE TESTING—Actual field use conditions are simulated in this laboratory. At left is the vibrator, which gives packages a rough ride, and at right is the inclined plane down which the boxes slide into a wall, to test their endurance for shipping conditions.



RESEARCH CENTER—A combination of scientific personnel and precision equipment is dedicated to developing better packages for industry. The ultra-modern laboratories and other divisions of the center employ 20 researchers.



PAPER MACHINE—This experimental paper machine performs all papermaking operations, although on a smaller scale. It is used to develop and test new products and processes.

World's 'Little Man' As He Sees Us In The U. S.

Many Dislike And Distrust Us; We Are Not Admired

EDITOR'S NOTE: In recent months Americans have learned an unpleasant fact: in many parts of the world our motives are suspect, we are disliked, even hated? Why The Associated Press conducted hundreds of interviews around the globe to find the answer. AP reporters collected 50,000 words of quotes from the elusive "common man" to capture his idea of the United States. These thousands of words have been distolled in the following story, an intimate, living picture of the world's Image of America.

By SAUL PETT
Associated Press Newsfeatures Writer

IN UGANDA, in East Africa, the village elders sat around a huge cauldron of thin corn beer steaming over a slow fire.

Each man sucked thoughtfully on a long reed that trailed from his lips to the cauldron. From time to time, a woman added water from a gourd.

"In America, they drink beer from tins," an Associated Press reporter said.

"What thing is America?" asked a grizzled old man.

With a silent nod, the question was passed down the elders in order of seniority. No one seemed to know, until it came to a middle-aged man distinguished by the fact that he wore shoes and a grease - spotted felt hat with a green feather.

He took the reed from his mouth and spat on the packed earth compound.

"America," said the worldly one with the hat and shoes, "is a big tribe of England."

What thing is America?

In Warsaw, Poland, behind the Iron Curtain, this joke was circulated: A Communist party secretary chided a lathe operator in an auto plant, "Hear you've got a brother out of work in Detroit. Why don't you write min and tell him to come home?"

"Sure," said the lathe operator, "but who'd send us the food parcels?"

What thing is America?

In Morocco, a mechanic named Mohammed el Fassy keeps three photographs pinned to the wall of his tiny room. On the left, Nasser. On the right, King Mohamed V of Morocco. In the middle, Gary Cooper.

In Budapest, a man said:

"The Americans sent the Marines when it was a question of Middle East oil. But in Hungary, they wouldn't do a thing when it was only a matter of human freedom."

In Paris, a 60 - year - old night watchman, an impartial cynic, shrugged, spread his arms, sighed:

"Money and power run the world and the Americans have money and power."

In Hong Kong, a Chinese insurance man said:

"Americans are lousy. They are not sincere. Their government is stupid."

What thing is America? This republic called the United States, this people, this way of living and thinking, this position and posture — all the things called American — what do they suggest to the rest of the world? How do others see us midway in the world's image of America? Of Americans? Of American intentions, American life, American leadership, American behavior, national and individual?

In 30 countries of the world, on all the earth's inhabited continents, Associated Press reporters sought a picture of America. They asked their questions of the elusive average man, the man in the street, the man pulling the rickshaw, the man in the factory, in the field, on the fishing boat.

Here's what they found:

Many people abroad dislike and distrust us. More seem to envy than admire us. Many accept our leadership as a fact of life, often disagreeable. Many regard us as rich and strong but also erratic, contradictory and unsure of ourselves.

Many agree that America wants peace but they see no idealism in this. They do not regard it as seeking peace for peace's sake. They argue: True, America wants peace wouldn't you, if you were rich and had everything you wanted, everything to gain by peace and everything to lose by war? And many think our protestation of peaceful intent is but a thin disguise to control world markets.

As individuals, many people abroad find us friendly, casual, unworried, uncultured, superficial, loud, insenitive and occasionally obnoxious. They are convinced we're all rich. To that extent, they exaggerate. But in the examples they cite, they do not exaggerate, and they reveal more of their own hunger than our wealth.

Many people around the world visualize American life, not in terms of gold - paved streets or Cadillacs or 40 - room mansions, but in terms of a refrigerator and a roof and inside plumbing.

Freedom? Democracy? Equality of opportunity? Many abroad admire these things in America but what about the Negroes in the South? What about Little Rock? Over and over and over again, they ask, what about Little Rock?

Curiously, despite the billions spent by the United States to win friends and influence people around the world, there are several things you don't hear mentioned often abroad in an appraisal of America.

Few seem to remember that we fought two world wars and a bloody police action in Korea without seeking territory for ourselves. Few seem aware that the Negro's situation in America has improved. Few mention that we have sent much treasure abroad purely for humanitarian reasons. Few display a burning desire to migrate and live in America, whose high standard of living they frankly envy.

This is the image of America found around the world. Like all ideas held in the minds of men, it is an image that reflects parts of reality and illusion. It reflects what men see, what they want to see and what they think they see. It is an image seen through many mirrors.

CULTURAL TREATY PLANNED

TOKYO (UPI) — The Japanese government has agreed to open negotiations with Russia on a cultural treaty, informed sources said Friday. The decision was reached Thursday at a meeting of cabinet ministers and executives of the ruling Liberal - Democratic Party. The Soviet Embassy proposed the talks last June 1.

U.S. Policy Is Unpopular In Africa, Middle East

There is the mirror of self-interest, national and personal.

In Paris, Pierre Lengelle, highway inspector, complains:

Americans call us 'colonialists.' This reminds me of an Algerian proverb: 'Beat your wife every morning. If you don't know the reason why, she does.'

"We know why the Communists are against us but the Americans, they should never have been against us in Algeria. Now maybe they will realize this after what happened in the Middle East."

In Algiers, a young waiter whose brother was killed fighting with a mountain group of Algerian rebels discussed America. He withheld his name.

"Americans as people are friendly, pleasant and generous. But their government is a different thing. One day they support our cause (the rebellion) and the next day they support our enemies.

"We are like a man who is drowning. From time to time, the United States throws us a rope and we grab it. And then the United States cuts the rope."

In Caracas, where left-wing students attacked the vice president of the United States with stones and spit, Venezuelans complain about U. S. restrictions on oil imports from their country. They complain, also, that the United States sends billions in aid to Europe and Asia but little to its neighbors in Latin America.

In Peru, where Nixon also was attacked, they complain about U. S. tariffs affecting Peruvian metals, about the U. S. surplus cotton taking the market away from Peruvian cotton in South America. In Japan, they complain about American tariffs on flatware, umbrella frames and other Japanese goods.

In Cairo, Mahmoud Mohamed Ahmed earns $30 a month as a cook. He, his wife and four children live in a tiny, two-room house sparsely furnished. He is a man with little hate. He thinks kindly of Americans as people. He thinks ill of American policy and, of course, the landing in Lebanon.

"Everyone here says American policy is imperialistic. I agree. If America wants to fight communism, she should not try to impose her will on small nations in that fight. We, too, are against communism because our Moslem religion is against it."

In India, from the intellectuals in the cities to the unsophisticated farmers in the villages, most Indians ask only two questions about U. S. foreign policy: Does America side with Pakistan or India in the Kashmir dispute, with Portugal or India on the question of Goa?

Ram Piyari is a cowherd whose water buffalo and cattle graze on the wild lawns of the marble Moghul Palace in New Delhi. He has a very original views of U. S. foreign policy.

"America wants more and more land. Even to park all their cars, they want one big country. And to bury their dead — 6 feet by 3 feet — they want new space in other countries."

From that premise Ram proceeds to this conclusion: America one day plans to conquer Indian through Pakistan.

In Pakistan, they like us. They find us frank and straightforward and not nearly as class conscious or imperialistic as the British.

In Jakarta, Indonesia, a man named Achmad Soeroto drives a betjak, a three-wheeled bicycle rickshaw. He is 22, a leathery, muscular figure in ragged shorts, tattered straw hat, bare feet. He earns about 30 cents a day and pays a third of it for rent of the bike. If his fate is the same as that of most betjak boys, infection, disease or fatigue will probably kill him by the time he is 35. He votes Communist.

Achmad can't read and admits he doesn't know much about America except what he has been told and what he has seen in the movies. In the movies, he sees "every American with a big car and a house with a bathtub and toilet and other nice things."

And what has he been told?

"At home, Americans beat Negroes. . . . I am dark, too. . . . The American government is no good. They want to rule the world and Indonesia, too."

There is the mirror of pride, national and personal.

"Americans living here stay off to themselves; they don't even bother to learn our language," said a man in France.

In Lima, Peru, a bank clerk says:

"Americans don't really know or bother to find out much about the world outside their borders. For example, many Peruvians know that the Mississippi is the largest river in the states. How many Americans know that the Amazon is the largest in the world and starts in Peru?"

In Mexico City, a doctor recalls that at a recent medical convention he met an American doctor who praised his surgical technique. The American went on to say he never realized Mexico had such medical talent.

"Why the condescension?" asks the Mexican doctor. "Could he not have just said that as a colleague he considered the operation well done?"

Thus is formed the image of America, drawn from many mirrors. Fact and fiction, pride and prejudice, ignorance and propaganda, poverty and envy and all the incalculable measures by which one fallible human being.

Friends? We have many. In England, in France, in Italy, in Austria, Australia, the Philippines, Pakistan, Formosa. In any contest, most of them appear ready to take their image of America over their image of Russia.

But even among our friends, there seem to be more who need us than like us, more who see us for our misdeeds than good deeds, more who accept our aid and quietly resent needing and getting it.

Among the Frenchmen interviewed at random for this survey, all of them criticized America. None happened to recall that it was just 40 years ago that Pershing returned Lafayette's compliment and just 14 years ago that the American 1st Army liberated Paris.

And in this image of America, an American might wonder, along with the rich man talking to a needy nephew:

"Why are you mad at me? I haven't done anything for you lately?"

Image Is Built On Lies, Hate

There is the mirror of propaganda.

The average Russian, if he believes his papers, magazines and radio, sees America as a land of endless calamity, crime, strikes, unemployment. He sees Uncle Sam in cartoons, grim, frightening, with a bomb in either hand, intent on destroying nationalism everywhere.

He sees, not the tall buildings or parks or theaters, but the slums of New York. He doesn't see the American farmer who owns his own place and car, but only the share cropper. He sees the American Negro living a subhuman existence.

But there are signs that even the Russians can't swallow all their government's propaganda. Frequently, they will ask visiting Americans:

"Things aren't really bad in America, are they?"

"You don't have that much unemployment, do you?"

In Poland, too, Communists run a propaganda mill but the Poles occasionally show some humor about it, even at their own expense.

A magazine cartoon showed two Polish women marketing for scarce food items..

First woman: "I heard they threw lemons at Nixon in South America."

Second woman: "You don't sa, ! Whatever did he do to deserve them?"

Red China, like Russia, floods its people with anti-American propaganda. How much of it takes hold?

Refugees and travelers reaching Hong Kong report that the average Chinese still likes Americans as individuals and envies our freedom and wealth. But he also is convinced that America seeks to dominate smaller nations, that it gives foreign aid only with strings attached, that it looks down its nose at all non-whites, that it is guilty of the worst hypocrisy by encouraging anti-communism but refusing to make room in America for Oriental refugees from communism.

There is the mirror of personal experience, limited but enduring.

Keith Thompson, a London cop, generally approves of U. S. foreign policy. He, like most of his countrymen, feel Britain and America are wedded by common language and purpose.

"But why," asks Thompson, "do visiting Americans seem so bossy when they ask how to get to the Tower of London? . . . Americans like to overplay a part. They talk a lot and seem much larger than life."

James Dlamini is 28, a Zulu. He cleans offices in Johannesburg, South Africa.

"I think," he says, "that the United States must be much better than this place. There is too much color bar here. I understand the American Negro is no different from the white man in his home country. At least, he doesn't have to carry a pass, the way I do."

In Hong Kong, there is an angry young man, a Chinese student who once studied in New York. He refused to give his name.

"I hate America," he said. "Once an American woman spat on me in Atlantic City because I took out an American girl.

"There may not be much freedom in China but I am going back. I am going back to help the Communists build up the country and make it strong. And then let them try to insult us."

It was a warm Sunday evening in Florence, Italy. Frizzino Frizzi, 41, a copy "boy" on a Florence newspaper, who earns $100 a month, took his wife and two children to a small restaurant. Frizzi remembers the evening vividly.

The restaurant was crowded as Bette, the old vendor, came around selling his balloons. He came to a table of American tourists drinking too much Chianti. One American rose vaguely to his feet and, in lacerated Italian, shouted: "I want to help you Italians. I'll buy all your balloons!"

"All the working class fellows like myself felt quite embarrassed, Frizzi says. "Beppe, himself, who rarely sells all his balloons, told the loudmouth he needed no charity. But the boaster produced a handful of banknotes and Beppe explained to the rest of us that he still had to pay his rent. So, a little ashamed, he sold his balloons to the American and the American went around giving the balloons to the children.

"I'm rather proud to report that the fathers took the balloons off the hands of their crying children and, without saying a word, returned them to the American.

"This boastful behavior is similar to that of the U. S. leaders who seemed to think they could keep the Middle East on their side just by pouring dollars in . ."

In Sydney, Australia, Jim O'Regan, construction worker, says:

"The Americans are fair dinkum — they're the same as us. I know. I fought alongside them during the war. It was their help that saved Australia. No one had better say a bad word against the Yanks to me — I'd hit him smartly."

NEW EDITION

Yearbook Shows Life At Northeast

College life, with its mixture of seriousness and frolic, is reflected in the 1958 Chacahoula, Northeast State yearbook, which was the cause of unusual excitement on the campus yesterday.

The publication is based on the fall delivery plan to enable full coverage of an entire year's events, from fall registration through summer school graduation.

Patsy Bearden and Jo Ann Brooks Berden, both of Monroe, edited the yearbook, which is characterized by originality and artistry in layout. The editors and their staff included several surprise elements and designs which were new to a Northeast annual.

The green cover bears "1958 Chacahoula" in gold above a gold band which continues across the back of the book. Gold also is used in the embossed state and college seal which completes the design. Green, which blends with the cover tone, is reflected in some of the introductory pictures and in part of the sports section. The richness of this color also is noted in the background of a four-color process scene of students in the gardens of the college president's home.

PHOTOGRAPH

Attracting attention is a two-page photograph of Brown Hall seen at night with all lights burning in the three-story structure. Against the jet black at the upper part of the pages is contrasting white lettering, Northeast Louisiana State College.

Full-page pictures mark divisions of the book with vertical photographs emphasizing opposite pages and extreme verticals calling attention in various parts of the publication.

Leading into the beauty section is a full-page photograph of Miss Glenda Bennett of Winnsboro who was chosen by student vote to wear the "Miss Chacahoula" title. Other beauties are given entire page photography. A page also is devoted to each student who won a place in the section devoted to personalities. "Who's Who" individuals representing outstanding achievement in various departments are photographed to portray the field of study in which they are majoring.

The large sports section gives greater coverage to athletics and health and physical education than has been accomplished in former years. Fall distribution of the yearbook provides opportunity for action pictures of all sports events, including late spring baseball and track activities, the editors explained. The plan also applies to spring social and other entertainment features as well as academic phases of the calendar at Northeast.

The Chacahoula staff includes besides the editors: Jack Boggan, business manager; Sidney "Buck" Anderson, photographer, and Bobby Kidd, assistant; Ray Merritt, sports editor; Brenda Gambrell and Jackie Tharpe, feature editors; Barbara Kelly, class editor; John Hogan and Alice Guyton, art editors; Frances Hill, George Lofton, and Obed Kirkpatrick, assistants on the staff. Mrs. Annie Lee West Stahl, associate professor of journalism, is Chacahoula adviser.

$96,396 Paid For Animals At La. Fair

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Buyers paid $96,396.60 for 456 animals during the junior livestock auction Saturday at the Louisiana State Fair.

The figure compared to the record $109,000 paid in 1956, and was second highest in the fair's 15-year history.

Youngsters paraded 301 calves, 22 hogs and 135 lambs before prospective buyers. The exhibitors were members of the 4-H Club, Future Farmers of America and Future Homemakers of America.

W. N. Deramus, president of Kansas City Southern Railways, paid $6,305 for the grand champion steer, owned by John Thomas Brown of East Baton Rouge Parish. The steer brought $6.50 a pound.

Deramus paid $3,440, or $4 a pound, for the reserve champion owned by Lynn McCrame of East Baton Rouge Parish.

John Leonard of Bossier Parish sold his grand champion lamb to William H. Bronson, president of a Shreveport radio station, for $1,375, a yield of $25 a pound.

Lou Johnson of Shreveport got $13.50 a pound or $1,093 for her reserve champion lamb, bought by Southwestern Electric Power Co.

Miss Johnson also had the grand champion swine, which bought $13.50, a pound, a total of $2,632.50, from Pak-a-Sak grocery chain president G. A. Penniman.

Leon Williams of Caddo Parish sold his reserve champion swine to the First National Bank for $7 a pound, a total of $1,295.

A record 97,661 attended the fair during Children's Day Saturday. Seventy-nine high school and college bands and marching units paraded through Shreveport.

1st Free Flight By Plane 'Easy' Says Test Pilot

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP)—Britain's pioneering SC1 research plane rose vertically off a metal runway Saturday and hung motionless in the air under the power of four down-blasting jet engines.

It was the first free flight by the Delta wing plane.

Unlike other experimental vertical takeoff planes, the SC1 lifts like an elevator off the runway by means of its down-pointing jets and then flies forward using a separate engine at the rear.

The roaring jets lifted the SC1 high into the air and held it stationary. Then it moved forward for some distance before easing down to land vertically under perfect control.

"Easy," said test pilot Tom Brooke-Smith.

Suppression In Russia Is Hit By Group

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The American Jewish Committee (AJC) reported Saturday the Soviet government maintains a deliberate policy of cruel suppression against all minority groups.

This policy, the report said, is altered only to suit the Soviets' purposes of "political expediency."

The AJC was described as a pioneer organization combating bigotry, protecting the civil and religious rights of Jews and advancing the cause of human rights everywhere.

Th AJC said the Russian government is cynically exploiting the Greek Orthodox, Moslem and Jewish religions at home to advance its imperialist ambitions in the Middle East and Eastern Europe.

Jews in Russia, the committee said, are now the only national minority to whom religious and cultural rights and facilities are almost completely denied.

Not only is there no federation of Jewish communities in Russia, said the report, even the least contact and communication between the local communities is strictly prohibited.

Jews in the Soviet Union are expected to become completely assimilated and lose their identify as Jews, the AJC added.

IN SOVIET UNION

Memory Of Fear In Night Lingers

By ROY ESSOYAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

The clammy fear of the midnight knock on the door is gone from the Soviet Union, but the memory lingers.

A few years ago the average Russian wouldn't dare talk to an American on the street. Today an American can't step out of Moscow's Metropol Hotel without being besieged by Russians asking for everything from chewing gum to Glenn Miller records.

A block or two farther away the more serious ones fall into step. They'll ask you for American mag- ines or shirts.

In the last several months some have even started offering to buy American dollars. Even under relaxed Soviet laws they are risking Siberia. Or—you never know—they may be just testing you out.

Many of the people who approach you just want to talk to a real, live American. They might even join you for lunch. Few will go beyond that.

Despite the Kremlin's protestations of peaceful coexistence and freedom for all, the people still have some of the feeling of the days when association with a foreigner was a crime.

"I think it's perfectly all right for us to meet now," one Russian told me, "but you never know. Things may change again."

"You never know," seems to be the present state of mind in Russia.

A few Russians visited our Moscow apartment. Some wanted to so badly they didn't care about the militiaman (Soviet policeman) who guarded our door and checked out visitors 24 hours a day. You never knew if they were bold, or had reason not to worry.

All of them wanted to read magazines, listen to records and talk—about life in the United States, art, music and similar topics.

Earlier this year Komsomolskaya Pravda, guardian of youthful Soviet morals, denounced some young Russians for such associations. I saw one of them a few months later. Her head had been shaved, she had been kicked out of the Komsomols, the party youth organization, and was having trouble finding a job.

The charge: aping Americans, immoral behavior and giving out information.

Association with Americans, which the Kremlin has officially favored since Stalin's death, sometimes produces reverse results.

John Baker, a young American Embassy official, was declared persona non grata and expelled from the Soviet Union a few months after he started attending classes at Moscow University, and making friends.

That was called behavior unbecoming a diplomat. There was no other charge.

Some of the ordinary people talk with amazing frankness. They love their anecdotes, that amazing Russian safety valve that lets off steam with every turn of the party line.

One of the anecdotes describes the Communist type catechism Soviet children go through on entering the Pioneers, the kiddies' party organization.

"Who is your mother?" the boys are asked.

"The Communist party, for it takes care of all our needs," they answer ritually.

"And who is your father?"

"Nikita Sergeievich Khrushchev."

"And what do you want to be when you grow up?"

One aspires to be a factory manager, another a scientist, the third a football star.

Comes the turn of little Ivan. He too says the party is his mother and Khrushchev his father.

And what does he want to be?

"An orphan," he replies.

The Kremlin is launched on a tightrope. When Khrushchev denounced Stalin 2½ years ago, he said, in effect: Let a little freedom grow.

A little freedom has a way of burgeoning.

In the last two years the little freedoms that the Russians won have been burgeoning only to be batted down again. So far they haven't been batted down to the level of Stalin's day.

But the Communist party is still in complete and unchallenged control, and it's not likely to anything that would jeopardize this control.

Tomorrow: Khrushchev the agile

Cigarette May Have Filter Made Of Cheese

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Your cigarette some day may have a filter made of cheese. But don't worry—there won't be the slightest taste of Swiss, cheddar or Roquqefort.

A statement issued by Gov. Vernon Thomson's office Saturday night said there's a possibility of a practical new use for cheese as a filter for cigarettes. The cheese will be deodorized so its presence can't be detected.

The statement claimed that tests of a filter containing powdered cheese showed that the filter removes up to 85 per cent of the coal tar in cigarette smoke.

The filter was developed by Stuart Stebbings of De Pere, Wis., as a result of a request by Thomson and Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis) that he seek new uses and markets for Wisconsin cheese.

Stebbings now markets candy in which cheese is used.

Tests showed, the statement said, that the cheese filter removed up to 30 per cent more coal tar than other commercial filters and also reduced the effects of nicotine "appreciably."

Expect U.S. To Intensify Red Pressure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States is expected to intensify its pressure on Red China to renounce use of force in the Formosa crisis now that Chiang Kai-shek has openly pledged not to employ military means in an effort to regain the mainland.

Officials said Saturday that such pressure will be renewed in the Warsaw peace negotiations with Red China and also may come in United Nations debate and administration declarations here.

HOPEFUL

President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles are said to be hopeful of winning somewhat more free world support for Chiang now that the Nationalist leader has agreed not to risk all-out war in Asia by attempting a military attack.

The American strategy is to try to get Chiang admitted to the group of anti-Communist governments of divided countries which have the confidence of free world allie because they have declared they will try to achieve reunification only by peaceful means and not by force. Present members of this group include West Germany, South Korea and South Vietnam.

Diplomatic authorities said Dulles obviously is attempting to get a reciprocal renunciation of force from the Chinese Reds in order to "freeze" the situation in the Formosa Strait into an indefinite de facto cease fire.

He then would count on the moral—and possibly economic—pressure of world opinion to keep the Reds from resuming the attack.

Officials acknowledged that pressure on Red China to renounce the use of force and the effort to get more backing for Chiang may not succeed. But they hope to maneuver the Communists into a defensive position in world opinion.

Meanwhile, most officials here expect that the uneasy cease fire in the Formosa Strait will be broken from time to time by sporadic bombardments by the Reds of the offshore islands.

The Red Chinese announced Saturday that they would bombard the island's "on alternate days." They also told the Nationalists there that "if there is lack of anything, just say it and we will give it to you."

American officials had no immediate comment.

The Chinese Communists, according to information available here and in Taipei, apparently still believe they have a chance of lowering the morale of the Formosans and the offshore islanders to the point where they will want a deal with Peiping.

Last Of U.S. Military Force Out Of Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — The last of a 14,400-man U.S. military force pulled out of Lebanon in peace and quiet Saturday to end America's historic intervention in the Lebanese civil war.

Only 10 claims officers, unarmed and in civilian clothes, remained behind to clean up outstanding bills left after the 3½-month stay by American Marines and soldiers.

There was no fanfare and little ceremony. A six-ship squadron was loaded with Army equipment and a battalion of Marines which had covered the previous withdrawal of Army troops. The ships steamed out with three toots of their whistles, watched only by small groups of Lebanese dock workers. The supply ship U.S.S. Pocono led the convoy in single file.

The complete depature was symbolized at noon when Maj. Gen. Paul Adams, the American armed forces commander, boarded an Air Force transport for a flight to West Germany.

H inspected an honor guard of two platoons of Lebanese infantry dressed in black berets and combat boots.

Two hours after Adams left, three Air Force C130 turbo-prop transports left with the last of the Air Force equipment in Lebanon.

As the sun set, streets which 36 hours before had been cluttered with American soldiers and military vehicles were deserted.

"It was as if they folded up their tents in the middle of the night and stole away," a Lebanese said as he watched Adams' plane disappear from sight.

AMBASSADORS WIFE ILL

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI) — A specially-equipped U. S. Air Force plane is expected to fly the ailing wife of U.S. Ambassador Edward B. Lawson back to the United States on Sunday, it was reported Friday. The nature of Mrs. Lawson's illness was not disclosed.

Stab Wound Is Fatal To Ore. Woman

ONTARIO, Ore. (AP) — Two neighbor women battled here Friday. One died of a stab wound and the other was charged with first-degree murder Saturday.

Mrs. Bertha Baldwin, 43, is scheduled to appear Monday afternoon for a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace A. F. Peters.

Police Chief Walter Walker says Mrs. Baldwin has signed a statement about the stabbing of Mrs. Dorothy Hylland, 42. She died a few moments after being knifed above the heart in a scuffle in her front yard.

Mrs. Baldwin told police in this small eastern Oregon community that she acted in self-defense after being hit on the arm by an ax. The chief says Mrs. Baldwin was not hurt.

Walker said Mrs. Baldwin had been drinking and went to Mrs. Hylland's home to get the Baldwin children, who were watching television.

Walker says there was abusive language and Mrs. Baldwin was ordered out of the house, but promised to come back.

The chief said Mrs. Hylland saw Mrs. Baldwin returning with a knife. Walker says Mrs Hylland apparently grabbed an ax in the back of her house and went to meet Mrs. Baldwin.

Walker said the heavy women wrestled for a few moments on the lawn and Mrs. Hylland was stabbed. She died as she was being helped into a car and the knife was still in her chest.

The chief said he doesn't know if the children watched the fight in what Walker called "a pretty good neighborhood." The women are the wives of laborers.

VATICAN SLATES BROADCASTS

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — The Vatican radio announced Friday that it would make two special broadcasts to the world daily during the conclave of the Sacred College of Cardinals to elect a new pope. The radio's powerful short wave and medium wave transmissions will go on the air daily at 11 a.m. (6 a.m. e.d.t.) and 5 p.m. (noon e.d.t.).

AN OPEN LETTER OF THANKS

To The Thousands Of People Who Have Visited Our Showroom To View The 1959 Chevrolet.

We could hardly wait for you to see this New Chevrolet. We wanted to see if your opinion was the same as ours, "the most distinctive Chevrolet ever built." From the comments you made to us, we now know, you think so, too!

We especially appreciate what the ladies are saying about our new car. We know you want beauty—but you also want VALUE! We knew you'd instantly recognize how much MORE of everything you get in Chevrolet. Greater visibility, 21 per cent easier steering, bigger, safer stopping brakes. The new Magic-Mirror finish that stays new, needs no waxing or polishing up to 3 years.

Since more people drive Chevrolets than any other automobile, it's only natural that what America wants, America gets in a Chevy! This year—you get even more!

We are sorry that due to strikes we have been unable to fill the demand for the '59 Chevrolet. We are glad to say this situation will be corrected soon. We do have the all new '59 Chevrolet in our showroom at the present time. If you haven't seen the car the whole town's talking about, come in today. When you see it—you'll agree, the new Chevy is worth waiting for.

Sincerely,

Thad J. Ryan, Jr.

YOU'LL WANT THE KEY when only $250 and closing turns it! This 2 bedroom home is set on a very large (111 x391) lot and has: kitchen and dining area, bath with shower over tub, attic fan, Venetian blinds, washer plumbing . . . and no city taxes! A good value to investigate immediately!

BREVILLE
WE DON'T GAZE IN CRYSTAL BALLS . . . But we're pretty sure we can tell the future of this home . . . we predict some happy family will snap it up soon! For it boasts the following: living room with fireplace and logs, drapes, air conditioner; both bedrooms have double door closets (one with mirror on each door); bath with shower over tub, storage above, and dressing nook with mirror . . plus attic fan, hardwood floors, Venetian blinds, attached garage . . . all on a St. Augustined lot (70x165) with 2 large mimosa trees, pine trees, and shrubbery. And what's more — it's just 3 blocks to college and near Sherrouse and Our Lady of Fatima grammar schools. You'll be wantin' to see this one — and we're certainly wantin' to show you thru!

NICHOLS ST.
EVERYTHING IN THE PINK of condition — for its just been redecorated INSIDE AND OUT! It's great value at the asking price of $8500 ($300 down and closing) and has the following: 2 nice sized bedrooms (12x13, 13x15), separate dining room, oak floors, attic fan, Venetian blinds, washer plumbing, attic insulation . . . and the lot has 2 pecan, 2 pear, 2 fig, plum, and pine trees! We suggest your immediate inspection!

SOUTH COLLEGE
WHAT DOES A DOLLAR BUY these days? Don't say "not much" 'til you see this 2 bedroom and den home with its 1451 sq. ft. of floor space! The entry is pine paneled; living room has fireplace and built - in bookcase; separate dining room with China cabinet; kitchen with built-in breakfast set, Formica topped cabinets, pantry, and stainless steel around stove area. The den's pine paneled with bookshelves, bath with shower over tub, hall has wall of storage, utility porch with built - in ironing board and out-of-season closet. Plus . . . Venetian blinds, oak floors, 2 floor furnaces, attic fan, garage, storage, and huge shade, pear, pecan, and black walnut trees. Pay owner's equity and assume 4½ per cent loan, and it's yours! Like to see? A call and we're on our way to show!

ALABAMA ST.
ADD, SUBTRACT, MULTIPLY, DIVIDE- anyway you figure it, this is a good dollar value for only $7800. Just look what $250 and closing buys: 2 bedrooms, 14x20 living room and dining area with entry closet, 10x18 screened porch with concrete floor . . . plus 5x5 storage, attic fan, Venetian blinds, wall furnace, washer plumbing, attic insulation, and it's only 5 years old! A phone call and we'll be on our way to show ya'.

$200 CASH
YOU HAVEN'T A GHOST of a chance to beat this, if you're looking for a good home for a low down payment! Only 200 "bucks" moves you in (no closing costs) with monthly notes of only $49.50 (including taxes and insurance)! And this Northside home is on Adcock near Lexington School, and consists of: living room, 2 bedrooms, kitchen and dining area, Venetian blinds, washer plumbing, and a large willow tree shading the back yard. Need I say you better hurry?

FRANCIS PLACE
NEW LISTING! YEP, and it's one we're kinda proud of — for it's a most appealing 4-year-old "youngster" with more than its share of good features. First of all, the "traffic-free" living room is on the back—and has a decorative shelf on one wall, drapes, and for entertaining ease, a pass-thru to the . . . step-saving kitchen with more than "enuff" cabinets all with Formica tops, exhaust fan, pantry, and dining area. And here's something that will please the entire family —the master bedroom has TWO double sliding door closets, EACH with built-in chest of drawers; the other bedroom also has a double sliding door closet with built-in chest of drawers. The bath has glistening white ceramic tile around the tub (with shower and storage above). And there's more "plus" features: 42 in. attic fan, central heating, drapes, insulated (both walls and attic), double carport with utility room and washer connections, plus storage room 6x10 with shelves. 75x150 lawn with cenipede grass, pleasant shrubbery, and pine trees. And Mom, don't worry about school—it's only a block away! Tarry not a minute in calling on this — 'cause it's attractively priced, too, for only $14,500, and can be bought on assumption, or $600 down on a new FHA loan!

SOUTH 7TH
HUBBY AND WIFE'S GONE—HOUSE'S VACANT! But it won't be long, when you see what $300 down plus closing will buy! This 2 bedroom home is only 4½ years "young" and has good wall paper throughout, wall furnace, Venetian blinds, asphalt tile floors, washer plumbing, 220 wiring, carport and storage. The yard is carpeted with St. Augustine and has good shrubbery and trees (Chinaberry, plum, fig, and mimosa). Just 2 blocks to school and 2 blocks to bus. We'll be happy to show at the "drop of a hat!"

GUY ST
SET IT AND FORGET IT—year 'round comfort is yours in this centrally air conditioned and heated brick home. It's a youngster (just 1½ years old) and has many a good feature in its 1144 sq. ft. There's a picture window and wall-to-wall carpeting in the living room (15x15) — dining area (10x11); double sliding door closets in all 3 bedrooms; bath has pleasing blue ceramic tile around the tub (with shower). The kitchen will certainly please Mom with its pine paneling, built-in oven and range, stainless steel double sink, Formica counter tops, ventahood, and in-built mixer, blender, and knife sharpener. You'll also find: Venetian blinds, carport, double storage, and lot 100x150. Phone anytime! We'll be happy to show!

PEYTON DRIVE
A $600 DOORKNOB leads you into this newly decorated home near Sherrouse School. The extras are many in this 2 bedroom (both 14x14) and den home with its 1368 sq. ft. of living area . . . such as: very good closet and storage space including walk-in closet in one bedroom, linen closet, h-u-g-e pantry, and 9x12 storage (in garage) . pine-paneled, step-down den has glass jalousies and 6 electrical outlets . . . plastic tile bath, hardwood floors, Venetian blinds, floor furnace, awnings, aluminum screens and windows, ventahood, and large (75x240) lot with pine trees and shrubs. It's vacant — we have the key and will show anytime.

SOUTH 8TH
HERE IT IS, FOLKS! Read slow! Act fast! Here's a "youngster" (only 3 years old) that can be bought for only $300 down and closing (full price only $8500). And just take a look at what you get in this gray asbestos siding home: 2 bedrooms (12x14 and 10x12), kitchen with natural finish cabinets and dining area, bath has shower over tub. And closets: Well, there's no disappointment here—for there's 8 (yes, 8!) plus a 4x5 storage, asphalt tile floors, 42 in. attic fan, Venetian blinds, wall furnace, and storm-fenced back yard. And it's just 4 blocks to school. Finished reading? Then act fast and call to see this now!

LEXINGTON AVE.
CAN'T TAKE IT WITH YOU . . . truer words were never spoken! And the owner of this 4-year-old home can't take it with him when he transfers! The 1383 sq. ft. of this 3 bedroom home contains a lotta' good living! There's wall-to-wall carpeting in the living room-dining area, and hall; centrally heated and air conditioned (plus extra ¾ ton air conditioner in den) . . . kitchen has dishwasher, Formica topped cabinets, ventahood, and built-in drop leaf breakfast table; blue ceramic tile bath with shower over tub; 14x22 pine paneled den with built-in bar; drapes throughout included; carport and double storage. The yard is most pleasant, indeed, with its palm trees, bordered beds, and barbecue pit. $1600 down and closing is all it takes to become the owner . . . and a telephone call is all it takes to get a "look-thru."

FLORIDA ST.
NAGGING WIFE? Has the "little lady" been after you lately to make that all-important move into a home of your own? If so, and you've lacked the necessary down payment, how's this? 250 "bucks" and closing is all it takes for this Southside home (and what's more, the full price is only $7500!) And here's what you'll own: both bedrooms are nice size (12x14, 12x12), kitchen with dining area, snack bar, and ventahood . . . plus oak floors, Venetian blinds, washer plumbing, termite contract, and fenced back yard. Almost immediate occupancy can be yours if you call now!

MILTON
WE WANT A TOUGH BUYER! That's right . . . we're looking for a buyer who's really particular, for this home will stand the closest inspection. As you drive up, you'll be delighted with the professionally landscaped lawn (75x150). And the 6-month-old brick home is faultless! Its 1410 sq. ft. boast the following: luxurious wall-to-wall carpeting in living room and dining area, bedrooms, and hall; with temperature at your fingertips with its central air conditioning and heating. The living room (14x17)-dining area (12x12) with drapes will afford much gracious entertaining; and for relaxin' and day-to-day livin', there's a pine paneled den (with double sliding door closet). The kitchen is the home-maker's dream with all the natural finish cabinets you can want, ventahood, Formica counter tops, pantry, and utility room. Both bedrooms have double sliding door closets — and the master bedroom has its own full ceramic tile bath with built-in dressing table, storage, and shower over tub. The other ceramic tile bath also has built-in dressing table, shower over tub, and storage. Also carport and storage . . . plus separate storage room and ½ bath for the help. So, if you're particular, we invite you to see this home this p.m.

SOUTH 1ST
JUST LIKE MAGIC — You'll be cnanged from a weary, discouraged home-hunter into a contented, relaxed and happy home-owner. For only $350 down and closing buys all this: 2 bedrooms (13x12, 14x12), bath has shower over tub, oak floors, Venetian blinds, washer plumbing, aluminum screens, 10x4 front porch, and 4x6 back porch with storage. Nice lawn with trees, shrubbery, and fenced back yard. Just 1 block to bus and 5 blocks to school. We'll be happy to show anytime!

SHERIDAN
MEMBER OF THE '58 "HEIR-BORNE" DIVISION? . . . Then lucky "lady-in-waiting," see this family-planned home! Outside it's white asbestos siding with brick . . and inside, just look: There's 3 bedrooms (two are 12x12, one's 12x14), all with large closets; brown and beige ceramic tile bath with shower over tub and linen closet, 2 hall closets; kitchen wth cabinets a-plenty, ventahood, built-in radio. And for that extra touch, there's colored custom made Venetian blinds, attic fan, central heating, carport, and 7x11 storage. It's 3 years "young" and just 2 blocks to bus, ½ block to school, and 4 blocks to college. $400 and closing makes the move—so let's see it today.

WEST MONROE
WILLIS ST.
STATELY OAK TREES SURROUND and enhance the effect of this pleasing green concrete block home with its touch of brown trim. Inside this spacious (1660 sq. ft.) home is the living room (18x19—dining area (10x13) combination; well-planned kitchen with Formica topped cabinets, pantry, and breakfast area; 3 bedrooms (12x12, 10x16 with built-in chest of drawers, and 14x15 with 2 closets); bath with built-in dressing table with storage, linen closet with built-in drawers; large utility room with sink and washer connections. Plus these live-better features: 10x10 concrete porch, casement windows, attic fan, central heating, Venetian blinds, and lot 110x200. It won't last long at the price of $15,000, so call now! and day lilies. $1300 down plus closing will move you in. Why wait—let's go see it now!

SWISS ST.
A VIEW-TI-FUL HOME set far back on a large (150x280) lot with age-old trees all around. That's just the beginning! Enter the wall-to-wall carpeted living room and feature yourself enjoying the chilly days ahead in front of the real wood-burning fireplace (papa designed this so the ashes could be emptied from outside the house, too!). Wall-to-wall carpeting is also to be found in the separate dining room, hall, and master bedroom. And many hours will be spent in the 11x20 step-down den. The well-arranged kitchen has Tappan range (chrome oven), very good cabinet space, Frigidaire dishwasher, dining area; and the adjoining utility room (7x12) includes 17 ft. Frigidaire deep freeze. There's 3 bedrooms (and master bedroom has walk-in closet). Other "extras" are: (3) ¾ ton air conditioners, window fan, 42 in. attic fan, soundproof and insulated ceilings in hall and bedrooms, drapes, Venetian blinds, floor furnace, oak floors, shower over tub, carport, 17x19 storage, and even the child's play house will be included. It's hard to beat it for only $21,250! Call and we'll go as fast as the law allows to show you through!

SOUTH 5TH
DO YOU HAVE "DOWNCAST EYES?" Are you tired and weary from house-huntin'? Cheer up! Here's a new listing that will truly brighten your outlook on life! It's spacious throughout (1300 sq. ft.) and has separate dining room (could be used as 3rd bedroom), kitchen with ventahood, excellent cabinet space, and a built - in ironing board. The master bedroom is 14x29! — with a closet for the "Mr." and one for the "Mrs.", and the other bedroom is 12x14. And that's not all: all heaters, drapes, curtains, and Venetian blinds are included, shower over tub (shower curtains included), fireplace with gas logs, 48 in. attic fan, oak floors, attic insulation, screened front porch, back utility porch with built - in wall of storage, washer and dryer connections, new metal awnings, garage, and 5x12 storage. Shady 64x150 lot with fig, plum, and pecan tree, St. Augstine and a partially fenced back yard. Just 1 block to school! All this for only $12,500 — $600 down and closing. We'll be most happy to show anytime!

SWISS ST.
IF YOU COME TO LOOK, You'll stay to live! Seldom do you find such good value in a home in this price range—only $8500 ($300 and closing) and it's all yours! The closet space will keep tempers even by having a place for everything: there's double sliding door closets (with double sliding door storage above) in the living room, kitchen, 1 bedroom . plus 2 large closets in other bedroom, hall closet, linen closet, and 7x12 storage room adjoining the carport. That's enough to sell this home, but there's more, too: there's well-arranged cabinet space with linoleum counter tops, ventahood, breakfast bar, Venetian blinds, oak strip floors, attic fan, floor furnace, washer and dryer connections . . . oh, yes, it's newly decorated throughout. All this on a large (90x90x106x91) lot with cyclone fenced back yard—and it's just 2 blocks to Highland School. Better come a runnin', cause value like this doesn't last long!

WALL-WILLIAMS ROAD
HIDE FROM HYPERTENSION — get away from the noisy bustle of the city. It'll be hard to leave this once you see the young (1½ years) brick home set in its wooded 1⅛ acres! And its 1305 sq. ft. hold a lot of pleasant surprises for you: the pine-paneled kitchen would make your mouth water—there's a built-in Frigidaire electric oven and range, pine paneled cabinets with Formica tops all around, and breakfast bar. All 3 bedrooms have large double sliding door closets . . . and there's 2 full ceramic tile baths (one pink and black with built-in dressing table—the other, off master bedroom, is green with a shower) And to complete the picture, there's central heating, attic fan, Roman brick planter in the living room, drapes, 8x9 utility room, double carport and 9x12 storage. Don't be the one to say "I almost bought this place," let's go see it now!

HODGE ST.
AN OLDER HOME THAT HAS KEPT PACE WITH THE TIMES! And spacious? Well, there's 1457 sq. ft. of living area combined into: 12x20 living room, 3 bedrooms (one pine paneled), kitchen with Formica cabinet tops, separate dining room, 13x21 pine paneled den with fireplace, 10x16 porch . . . plus the following: oak and asphalt tile floors, 42 in. attic fan, ¾ ton air conditioner, Venetian blinds, double garage, and shade trees. And to help pay those monthly notes: there's a completely furnished garage apartment that rents for $40 per month. A look is in order, don't you think?

RIVERBEND
A PLAID CAT is no more unusual than a 4 bedroom home selling for only $10,000! But, we've "got the goods" in this home that's only about 8 years old. Besides the 4 bedrooms, there's a 12x25x8 kitchen and dining area with washer plumbing, 1¾ ton air conditioner, 42 in. attic fan, Venetian blinds, drapes, partially floored attic for storage, and shady lot including fruit trees! The down payment is only $300 and closing. This won't last long, best you see it today!

CLOVER DRIVE
A MIGHTY BIG HEAP OF LIVIN' WRAPPED UP in a $7750 package—and only $250 down and closing moves you in. Both bedrooms are large (12x14, 13x14), and the kitchen's 12x20 with dining area, breakfast bar, ventahood, and good cabinet space . . . there's oak floors, Venetian blinds, washer plumbing, screened front porch 6x14, detached garage, and storage. And the lot has much to please: the front yard has the largest pecan tree you'll see in many a day, and there's also silver maple, 2 small grafted pecans, camellias, and fenced back yard. The condition is good —the price is right! Let's go see it now!

RADIATORS RUINED EACH YEAR!

MAJOR CAUSE: RUST!

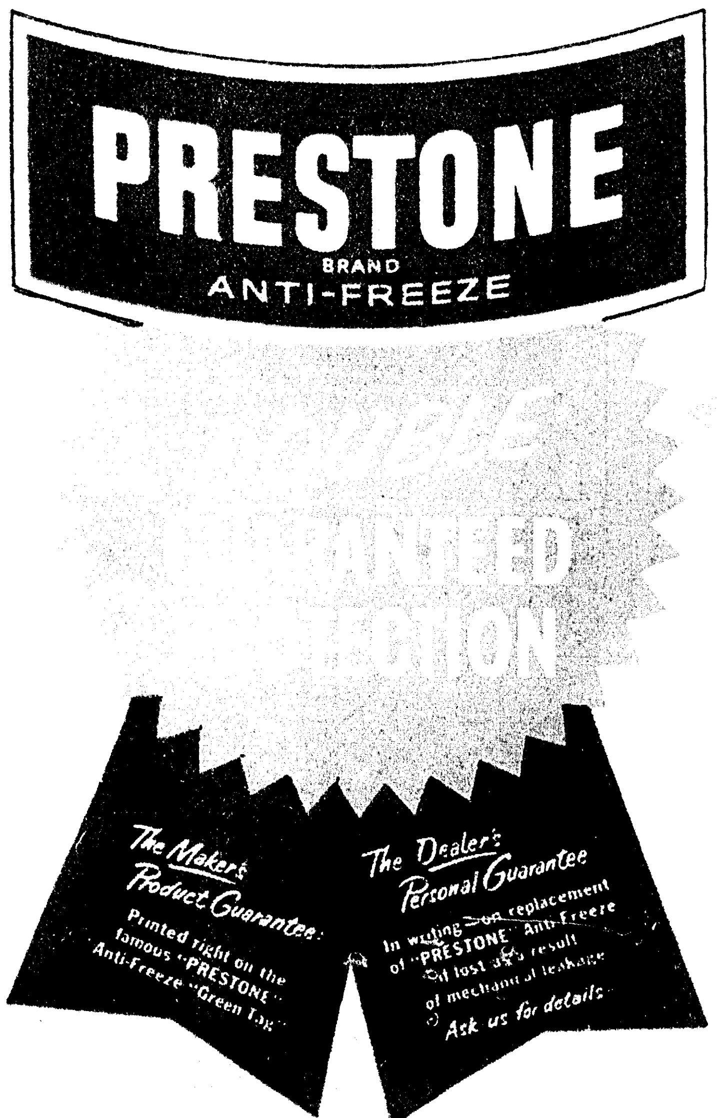
The average cost of radiator repair last year: $75.00. You can beat the rust and corrosion danger by making sure you get "Prestone" brand, the anti-freeze with Magnetic Film. Magnetic Film prevents rust and corrosion.

*OFFICIAL AAA FIGURES

PROTECT WITH

ANTI-FREEZE WITH

FILM!



PREVENTS RUST—PREVENTS FREEZE-UPS

"Prestone" anti-freeze protects against freeze-ups through the bitterest winter weather. Magnetic Film forms a thin, tough protective coating throughout the entire cooling system to prevent rust and corrosion. So don't settle for partial protection. Get the total protection of "Prestone" brand anti-freeze with amazing Magnetic Film!

LOOK FOR THIS SIGN

New Double Guarantee Plan combines the famous "Prestone" anti-freeze product guarantee with the dealer's personal guarantee in writing.

"Prestone" anti-freeze has always been guaranteed by the maker. The guarantee is printed on the "Green Tag".

The dealer who displays this sign is prepared to add his personal guarantee, in writing, on replacement of "Prestone" anti-freeze lost as a result of mechanical leakage.

The GREEN TAG which your dealer attaches to the radiator is his way of telling you that you have "Prestone" brand anti-freeze and not a substitute.

UNION CARBIDE

"Prestone", "Eveready", "Union Carbide" and the "Green Tag" are trade-marks of Union Carbide Corporation

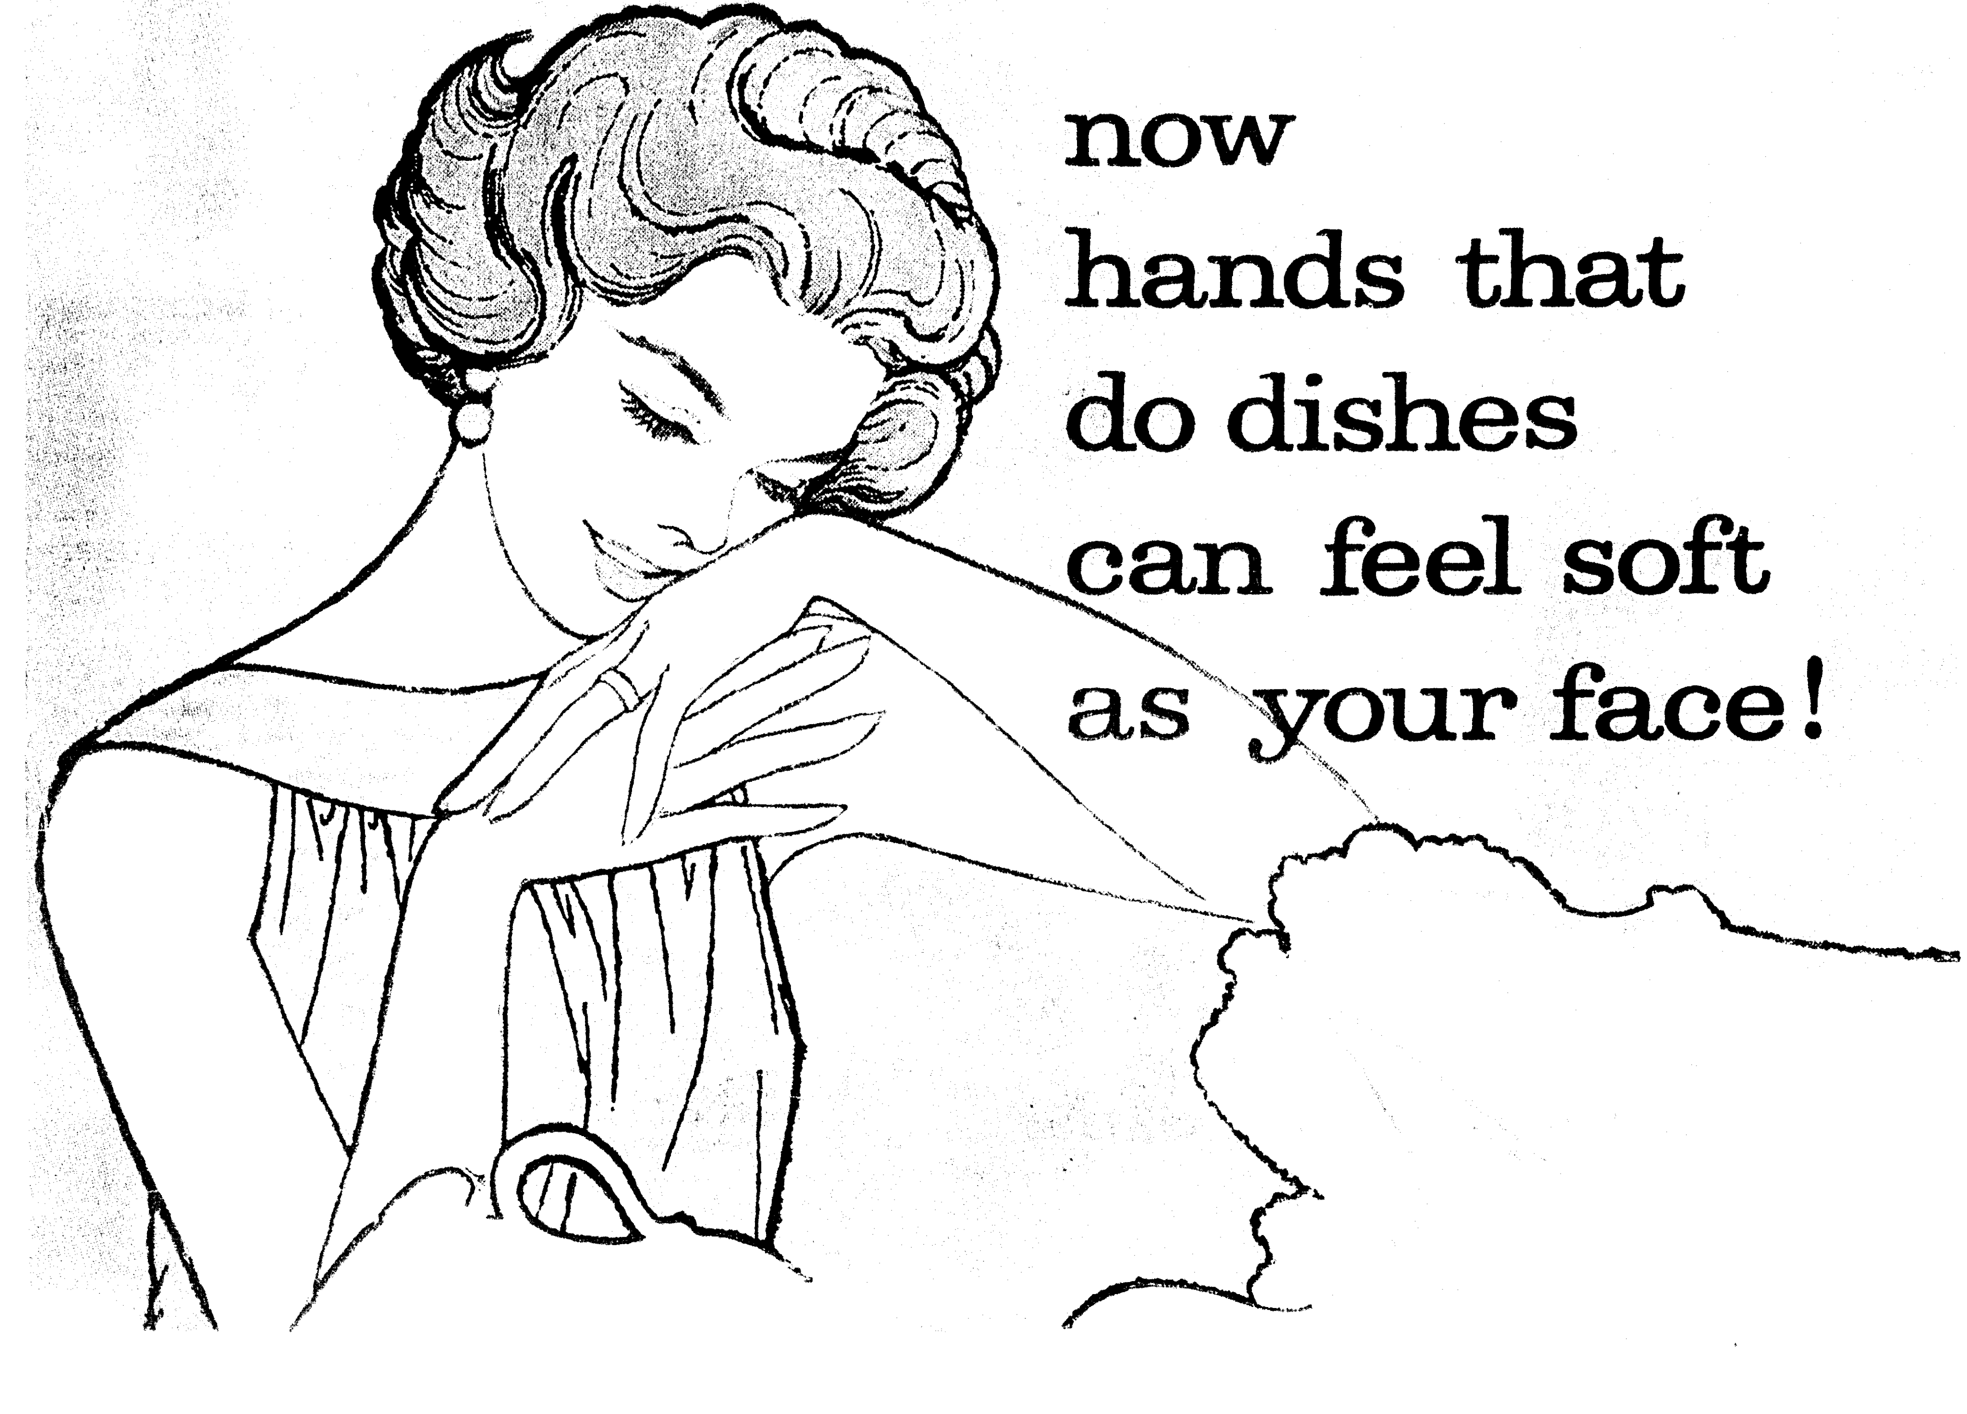
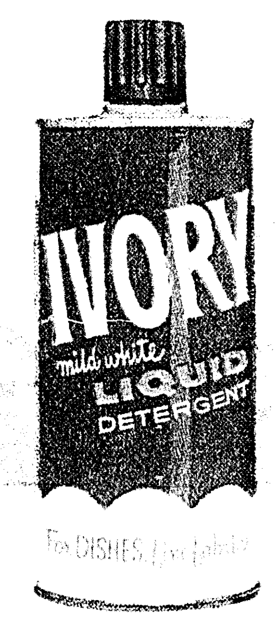
How wonderful !..

now hands that do dishes can feel soft as your face!





It's New! It's White! It's Complexion-mild!

You'll get a wonderful new feeling about doing dishes, once you discover Ivory Liquid! It's completely new, lo… …ew, even feels new . . . there's never been a detergent like it before. Look at all the …nderful things it brings you . . . rich, creamy whiteness . . . billows of long-lasting suds from just one capful . . . such fast, easy cleaning you'll be amazed (grease disappears completely) . . . and best of all, true gentleness to hands. Yes! Ivory Liquid really can leave your hands feeling soft as your face! Try it— the only detergent named Ivory for mildness.

Ivory Liquid DETERGENT

Totally different cleaning formula... grease goes without a trace!

YOU REMEMBER MY OLD NAVY PAL, IZZARD THE WIZARD, LUCILLE. HE'S COME TO VISIT US AGAIN.
DELIGHTED.
WHAT'S A WIZARD, UNCLE ROSCO?
WELL, YOU SEE, ANGEL, IZZY DOES ALL KINDS OF FUNNY TRICKS.
BETCHA LIFE, HONEY! BUT WHATTA YOU DOING WITH ALL THAT CANDY ON TOP OF YOUR HEAD?
I HAVEN'T GOT ANY CANDY ON MY HEAD.
THEN WHAT'S THIS? LOLLIPOPS!...GUMDROPS!
OBOY! YOU KNOW ANY MORE GOOD TRICKS?
SURE! FIRST WE'LL FILL THIS PITCHER WITH WATER.
NOW POUR THE WATER ON MY HEAD.
GO AHEAD... POUR IT.
IT WON'T POUR.
THAT'S FUNNY! SEE IF IT'LL POUR ON ROSCO'S HEAD.
SPLASH!
OH, HA-HA! THAT WAS A GOOD TRICK!
I DON'T THINK IT WAS ONE BIT FUNNY, IZZARD!
SIR, AND WHAT DO YOU THINK?
I THINK OLD SWEENEY'S A KNUCKLE-HEADED SOURPUSS!

TIM TYLER'S LUCK
by Lyman Young and Tom Massey
THE BIRD THAT ATTACKED NIMBO MUST OCCUPY A SMALL CAVE HIGH UP ON THIS SIDE OF THE CLIFF, SPUD—
THERE'S A ROCK LEDGE ABOUT A HUNDRED FEET ABOVE US, TIM!
MAYBE THAT'S WHERE THE MONK HAD THE FIGHT!
CAW-KA CAW
E-EEK!
MINUTES LATER...
HEY, TIM! LOOK WHAT NIMBO HAS!
OHO! THERE'S A CAVE CHAMBER BACK OF THE LEDGE!
THE HINGES HAVE RUSTED AND THE LID BLEW OFF IN A STORM!
EMPTY! THIEVES HID THIS ONCE-FILLED TRUNK OF JEWELRY HERE, AND THE MYSTERY BIRD HAS BEEN FLYING IT PIECE BY PIECE TO HIS TREE-TOP NEST IN THE VALLEY—WE'VE GOT TO FIND THE RIGHTFUL OWNER OF THE JEWELRY— BUT HOW?

NEW PINK MIRACLE BAR

MAKES YOU FEEL YOU'VE REGAINED THE SKIN YOU WERE BORN WITH

(soft, smooth, clear as a baby's!)

PRAISE LEAVES DRY SKIN FEELING SOFT AS A BABY'S. You were born with a beautiful skin. But you've been using soap which dries and flakes it. Now, Lever Brothers has discovered that Dermasil can transform soap into a new skin-care idea. A miracle of cleanliness, as well as mildness, that loves you all over. The name of the miracle is Praise.

PRAISE LEAVES FLAKY SKIN FEELING AS SMOOTH AS A BABY'S. It's packed with rich cold cream. Praise's creamy lather babies your skin—creams your face and your body as you bathe!

PRAISE HELPS MAKE SKIN AS CLEAR AS A BABY'S. It contains a gentle germ remover. Praise washes away blemish-causing bacteria. Also the bacteria that cause body odor. And Praise never leaves any bathtub ring!

Complete satisfaction guaranteed by Lever Brothers —or full purchase price will be refunded.

4 Wounded In 8-Hour 'Small War'

LINCOLNTON, N. C. (UPI)—A berserk tenant farmer who shot to death three women, including his wife, and wounded four others in a bloody eight-hour rampage was killed early Friday night in a hail of police bullets.

Leroy Cook, 28, ex-convict tenant farmer with a "mean" reputation, fell behind a huge oak tree as bullets ripped into his body from all sides — but only after wounding two more men, one of them Lincolnton County Sheriff Frank Heavener.

Deputies cornered Cook near a lumber plant about 11 miles west of here and had him cornered for about an hour and a half before they moved in.

SINGLE SHOT

Cook, who earlier in the day had listed his wife and sister-in-law among his victims, got off a single shot from his deadly shotgun—some of the pellets striking Heavener's head, chest and leg and others striking special deputy J. D. Williams in the hand and shoulder.

Then, according to deputy Grady Fisk, "he died in a blaze of gunfire. It looked like a small war. No, I could never say which shot hit him first—there were a lot of them."

Cook collapsed behind the tree, his shotgun falling beside him. He was rushed to a hospital in Lincolnton but was dead on arrival.

"His body was just riddled with bullets," one official said.

Heavener, Williams and Cleveland County guard Joe Godley, wounded earlier, were not believed to be seriously injured.

Godley tried to end the gun rampage when he cornered Cook earlier in the afternoon. Instead a blast from Cook's shotgun hit him in the side, and the killer continued his flight.

Earlier in the day, police thought they had Cook cornered in his own house. They spent many minutes trying to flush him out only to find he was not there. Then they pressed onward

15 HOMES DAMAGED

Jet Crashes Into Group Of Houses, Explodes; 6 Dead

DETROIT (UPI)—A four-jet British Royal Air Force bomber, carrying six men and a goodwill message from the mayor of Lincoln, England, hurtled into a group of frame homes and exploded near the Detroit River Friday.

There was no report of survivors. Police and Coast Guardsmen recovered bits of what apparently was the body of one victim.

Three homes were leveled and two others gutted with only remnants of walls standing. At least 15 additional homes in a two-block area were damged by fire and debris, but only one occupant of the buildings was injured.

DITCH

"The pilot must have tried to ditch the plane in the river," homicide detective Paul Montgomery said. "He probably went down with the plane becase we found parts of a body scattered as far as 500 feet from where it hit."

"There's a big mess there and we can't be sure about other bodies," Montgomery said.

The Air National Guard reported it learned that military flight service of Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, Ohio, picked up a "may day" emergency distress call about the time the Delta-wing craft crashed (3:55 p.m., e.s.t.).

Officials in London said the plane left Waddington Air Base, Lincolnshire, England, Thursday carrying a goodwill message from the mayor of Lincoln, England to the mayor of Lincoln, Neb. Selfridge AFB, Mount Clemens. Mich., said the plane left Goose Bay, Labrador, Friday en route to Lincoln AFB, Neb.

A Detroit police boat fouled its propeller on a parachute, and a few moments later Coast Guardsmen began extensive dragging operations in the numerous canals and boat wells in the river area.

A spokesman at Selfridge said the plane carried six men when it took off from Labrador, and that was its normal crew. He said it might have landed for refueling, but it was more likely to have been refueled in flight if at all. He said it apparently was a special flight under such conditions planes generally are refueled in flight when necessary.

The plane struck one house and exploded, spewing flames over other houses in a wide area. The home that was struck was owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Kay, who were not at home.

The injured woman, Mrs. Ewald, lived next door. Her home also was totally destroyed.

Her husband, Otto Ewald, 72, was watching televison with her when the crash occurred. "It was just like one big boom," he said.

Weeks Quits, Strauss To Assume Post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks resigned Friday for business and family reasons. President Eisenhower immediately named former Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission to succeed him.

Weeks, 65, stepped down with "great reluctance." His resignation is effective not later than Nov. 10. He said it was imperative that he return to his Boston business interests. The President accepted the resignation with "keen regret" but full understanding.

RETIRED

Strauss, one-time secretary to former President Herbert Hoover, was one of the nation's leading investment bankers prior to World War II service in the Navy and his first appointment to the AEC in 1947. A Republican, he retired only last June 30 after a five-year term as AEC chairman.

Strauss' nomination may draw some fire in Congress. He bowed out of the AEC after prolonged wrangling with such Democrats as Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-N.M.). The Democrats accused him of not pushing development of atomic power fast enough.

Strauss, who has been serving as the President's special assistant on atoms-for-peace matters, will take over the commerce post on an interim appointment until his nomination is considered by the Senate Commerce Committee, now headed by Sen. Warren Magnuson (D-Wash.).

Super Bridge Height Boost Accord Seen

Order Expected Soon On Project Across Ouachita

Highway officials have "informally" reached a "compromise agreement" to increase the height of the proposed federal super highway bridge across the Ouachita River here by 4½-feet, District Engineer Wayne Huckaby said yesterday.

Huckaby said final orders are expected to be handed down by the federal Bureau of Roads to increase the height of the bridge from 35 to 39.5 feet.

He explained that the term "height of the bridge" means the number of feet from the maximum water level to the bridge.

The Ouachita River Valley Association, an organization aimed toward improving the Ouachita for shipping purposes, several months ago requested that the bridge be constructed 50 feet over the maximum water level.

ENDORSED

But the Monroe Chamber of Commerce endorsed the original plans of the highway officials for a 35-foot height, Jim Williams, executive secretary, explained.

Huckaby said the "informal agreement" to raise the level of the bridge was a "compromise" in view of the associations request.

He said the "agreement" was reached between the Louisiana Department of Highways navigation interests and U.S. engineers.

Planned by Pavlo and Associates, the federal highway will be elevated across the Twin Cities. The highway will be stationery — unlike the present bridges that swing open for river traffic.

42 Americans Evacuated In Northeast Cuba

HAVANA (UPI) — The U. S. attack transport Kleinsmith Friday evacuated 42 American women and children from an isolated U. S. nickel plant at Nicaro on Cuba's rebel - infested northeast coast.

The aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt patrolled the coast just outside the Nicaro harbor to insure the safety of the evacuation.

U. S. Ambassador Earl E. T. Smith said he received word from the American naval base at Guantanamo that the evacuation had gotten underway at 5:55 p. m. E.D.T.

The transport was anchored in the Bay of Levisa. The Americans were moved aboard by launches from the transport.

The American women and children were all dependents of American supervisory personnel in the 100-million dollar nickel plant owned and operated by the U. S. government.

The American Embassy here announced that the carrier was ordered to Nicaro from the vicinity of the big U.S. naval base at Guantanamo where it had been engaged in naval maneuvers. The carrier was to "provide helicopter airlift if needed" during the evacuation and prevent any interference by insurgent guerrillas.

Decision to withdraw the American women and children was taken after Cuban government troops were recalled from the area, leaving it open to occupation by the rebels led by Fidel Castro.

Battle To Rescue Men In Disaster

SPRINGHILL, N. S. (UPI) — Rescuers battled mounds of rock and deadly fumes Friday to try to reach 89 miners trapped by an earth shock more than two miles from the entrance of North America's deepest coal mine.

"There is practically no hope, but rescue operations will continue until the last man is accounted for," said mine official Harold Gordon.

Of 174 men who were in the mine when disaster struck, 79 were rescued, 15 of them with injuries.

Officials said six bodies had been found, leaving 89 men missing.

Ironically, the missing included six supervisors who went into the mine Thursday to search for the cause of several smaller shocks—or "bumps"—that jolted the mine earlier this year.

WIDE AREA

The bump shook the Cumberland Coal & Railway Co.'s No. 2 pit at 7:10 p.m. Thursday. The shock was felt over a 14-mile area of this jinxed Nova Scotia coal mining region and caused rockfalls that cut off escape routes for miners toiling at the deepest levels.

The No. 2 pit of the mine, owned by the Dominion Steel & Coal Corp., of which Cumberland is a subsidiary, extends 14,300 feet, or 2.7 miles underground, with a vertical drop of 4,400 feet from the surface. Dominion said this makes it the deepest coal mine in North America.

The trapped men were believed to be at the 13,400 and 13,800 foot levels.

The disaster struck this hard-luck community of 8,000 persons just a few days short of two years after an explosion in the mine killed 39 men and trapped 88 others for periods ranging up to three days. The blasted shaft, next to the one shaken Thursday night, has been closed since the explosion.

A total of 125 men died in an explosion at the mine in 1891.

OUACHITA CHANNEL

Outlook Is Bright For River Work

VICKSBURG, Miss. (Special) — Confidence was expressed yesterday that the proposed nine-foot channel in the Ouachita river will be realized in the not too distant future provided parties interested in the project continue to push for it.

The optimism was heard during an inspection tour of Mississippi River bank protection projects conducted by the United States Engineers of the Vicksburg district.

The delegation on the tour, headed by Congressman Otto Passman, included businessmen, police jury members and flood control authorities, of the Fifth Congressional district.

On the Ouachita river nine-foot channel project, Col. M. Barschdorf, district engineer in charge of the Vicksburg district, disclosed that his office had submitted a new plan for the channel. He said the proposal was now in the office of engineers for the Rivers and Harbors Board.

NEW PLAN

Briefly, the new plan calls for raising of the water level in the river three feet to produce the nine-foot channel. This would be accomplished by adding three more feet to existing walls in the six locks and dams on the 351 miles of the river between Camden, Ark., and the mouth of Black river.

Under the first proposal, the nine - foot channel would have been developed by dredging and the lowering of the bottom portions of the locks and dams. This would have cost an estimated $20-000,000 and would have closed the river to navigation until the over-all project had been completed.

The new proposal calls for an expenditure of $17,000,000 and would allow navigation to con-

Upholds Law To Finance Private Schools In Ark.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—Arkansas Attorney General Bruce Bennett Friday upheld a state law under which Gov. Orval E. Faubus hoped to finance private, segregated Little Rock high schools.

Bennett said that state funds may be withheld from the Little Rock school district and given to public schools or to private schools to educate Little Rock students who have been out of classes for the past eight weeks.

Education department officials announced they would begin immediately to send state aid in the form of tuition to accredited public and private schools that have enrolled the Little Rock students.

Wiley Branton of Pine Bluff, chief attorney in Arkansas for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was not immediately available for comment. Mrs. L. C. Bates of Litle Rock, state president of the Negro organization, said, however, she was sure the NAACP attorneys would "look into" the possibility of blocking the payments.

Education Commissioner Arch Ford pointed out state aid would not go to the school set up by

U.S. Missiles Ring Taipei In Far East

TAIPEI, Formosa, Saturday (UPI)—The U.S. Army has ringed Taipei with deadly Nike and Hercules anti - aircraft missile batteries primed for instant retaliation to Communist attack, it was disclosed Saturday.

Maj. Gen. Leader I. Doan said the U.S. 2nd Missile Battalion which arrived in Formosa less than three weeks ago was in position and "personnel of the battalion are on the alert around the clock."

The top U.S. military spokesman here said the ground-to-air missiles were "in a 'hot' status and can be launched in immediate response to an attack."

PROGRAM

The completion of the "crash" defense program for the Nationalist Chinese capital came after the Communists shattered a temporary lull in the Formosa Strait with a day-long shelling of the Nationalist held offshore islands Friday.

The Communist shore artillery, silent for 23 hours after a three-day bombardment during the U.S.-Nationalist Chinese talks, opened up again at 11 a.m. (11 p.m. EDT Thursday) and continued intermittent bombardement till dusk.

The Nationalist Defense Ministry said the Communist guns hit Big and Little Quemoy islands with 901 explosive and fragmentation shells during the initial two hour bombardment, and then directed sporadic fire at all the islands of the Quemoy complex throughout the afternoon. Just before dusk, 30 shells were lobbed at Kaoteng Island in the Matsu group to the north, the ministry said.

Resumption of fire ended Nationalist ceasefire hopes aroused when the Communists stopped shelling at noon Thursday.

Cohen Miffed At Publishing Co., Writer

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) —Mickey Cohen of Los Angeles demanded one million dollar balm from the Curtis Publishing Co. and writer Dean Jennings Friday for articles which allegedly destroyed his "right to establish and maintain a good reputation as a law abiding citizen."

The pudgy, 45-year-old Cohen maintained from the outset of his Common Pleas Court suit that the very title of a series of articles appearing in recent issues of the Saturday Evening Post was liberlous. They were titled, "Mickey Cohen: The Private Life of a Hood."

Cohen charged in the suit filed by former Dist. Atty. Samuel Dash that the articles written by Jennings contained 10 specific statements falsely accusing him of murder, assault, conspiracy, fraud and "all manner of crimes and illegal actions."

The suit sought general damages of $250,000, punitive damages of $500,000 and special damages of $250,000 because of an alleged loss sustained in connection with a publishing firm's plans to publish a book concerning his

Threat Made To Mother Of Ariz. Senator

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater Friday refused to "take seriously" a threat of physical violence phoned to his mother, but his campaign advisors outwardly expressed fear of harm to the Arizona Republican, or his family.

The senator is running for re-election against Gov. Ernest McFarland, former Democratic majority leader, who lost to Goldwater in 1952.

Goldwater's campaign managers said Friday they feared "an out of state labor hoodlum may be out to cause him physical harm. If one of those hoodlums got him, the hoodlum could retire for life on the payoff."

Their statements came in the wake of threatening telephone calls to Goldwater's mother Thursday night. She received the calls shortly after Goldwater, in a statewide television address on Thursday night, gave a verbal scorching to "corrupt union bosses."

Of the threats, Goldwater said in a statement handled by his office:

"I am sure that no responsible labor leader in Arizona would have any part of such activity. I am confident labor people here would condemn it, as I condemn it.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS

District's Farmers Have Stake In Issue

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third in a series of stories on the November 4 election of 30 constitutional amendments. Today's article explains amendments No. 7, No. 8 and No. 9.)

By SAM HANNA
Staff Writer

Northeast Louisiana farmers will have a stake in the November 4 referendum when 30 constitutional amendments come before the public for approval.

The passage of amendment No. 8 could save the farmer some money annually.

Under amendment No. 8, machinery and equipment "consistent with present day mechanized farm operations" and used exclusively for agricultural purposes would be exempt from state and local property taxes.

Farm buildings would not be, however. But the exemption would be permanent, with no time limit as is the case now.

The list of constitutional amendments also includes a proposal presented in the past session of the legislature by Sen. James Sparks of Monroe.

Sparks' bill, which met widespread approval, would give adopted persons equal inheritance rights in their adoptive families as legitimate children born into those same families.

This proposal will be presented to the public for approval in the form of amendment No. 7. As it stands now, adopted persons can not share equal inheritance rights in matters of their adopted parents' relatives.

Another amendment, this one

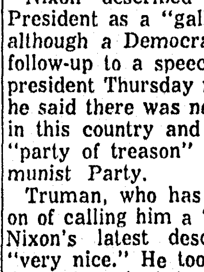
Cloudy And Mild Seen For Today

Clear to partly cloudy skies are in store for today, with mild Indian summer weather in the Twin Cities' area.



In Arkansas, the forecast is clear to partly cloudy, with no important temperature changes. Highest temperature today will range from 65 to 75.

Temperatures rose from of 78 Thursday to the 82 mark yesterday. Low Friday was 51, while Thursday it was 52.

Pollen count yesterday was a low 21 grains per cubic yard of air.

Cypriot Bombs Kill 1; 7 Hurt

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI)—Cypriot extremists shot and killed one Briton Friday and wounded seven others with bombs and a land mine.

The victim of the shooting was Frederick Sharman, 63, a retired Navy officer scheduled to join his wife in England within a few days. He operated import agencies for several British engineering firms.

A gunman shot down Sharman on a busy Nicosia street. British military police fired at the assailant, but he escaped in the crowds of a bustling square.

In the coastal city of Limassol, extremists lobbed a bomb into the crowded lobby of the Metropole Hotel, a center of British social life. Two servicemen, two civilian men and a woman were injured by the blast, none seriously. The extremists fled in a hail of fire from security forces.

Outside Limassol, a British soldier was injured when a bomb exploded in front of his car. Another soldier was hurt when a mine blew up under his car in the northeast part of the island.

Smear Charges Made In Campaign

WASHINGTON (UPI) — New charges of "smear" and "immoral" champaign spending popped up in the congressional election fight Friday despite an uneasy truce between two old battlers — Richard M. Nixon and Harry S. Truman.

Nixon described the former President as a "gallant warrior," although a Democratic. It was a follow-up to a speech by the vice president Thursday night in which he said there was no "war party" in this country and that the only "party of treason" was the Communist Party.

Truman, who has accused Nixon of calling him a "traitor," said Nixon's latest description was "very nice." He took the position that Nixon had "apologized" for past remarks. Lest relations get too good, he added that maybe Nixon was only playing "good politics."

BALANCED

Balanced against this seeming sweetness was a series of charges by Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler and allegations by Vincent J. Celeste, Republican opponent of Democratic Sen. John F. Kennedy in Massachusetts.

Butler charged that Sen. William F. Knowland, GOP gubernatorial candidate in California, had been "sucked into" smears and an anti-Semitic campaign. He said Knowland, in a recent attack on a Democratic committeeman, had singled out five individuals, all Jewish.

The Democratic chairman protested in a letter to chairman Charles P. Taft of the non-parti-

He said Strauss was "a splendid gentleman who is most knowledgeable" in the atomic field, but "I am a little at a loss to understand how he fits into the secretary of commerce position, inasmuch as that job has primarily to do with business conditions and transportation matters."

Sen. A. Willis Robertson (D-Va.), a member of the Senate Banking Committee, said Strauss, a fellow Virginian, was "a fine man and has always been a good friend of mine and I am glad to see him honored."

Weeks, a conservative, only last Saturday called for a national manufacturers sales tax as a means of reducing income taxes and helping meet the government deficit. Congressmen of both parties and Treasury officials promptly came out against the idea.

Weeks' resignation left only three members of the original Eisenhower cabinet which took office with the President in 1953. They are Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson and Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield.

Local Policeman Directing Traffic Suffers Injuries

A Monroe City Policeman was hit by a car while directing traffic at the old traffic bridge yesterday, but apparently escaped serious injury.

River Work View Bright

tinue on the river while the work is in progress.

The original plan was discarded at the time because the expenditures would not justify the benefits, it was said. However, the lower cost of the new plans and the sharp increase in tonnage now moving on the Ouachita would justify the project, it was said.

Engineers disclosed that they expected 360,000 tons to be moved on the Ouachita this year. Th's compares to 260,000 tons last year and 50,000 tons approximately 10 years ago.

DISCLOSED

Colonel Barschdorf also disclosed that it now costs $200,000 a year for dredging of the present six-foot channel in the Ouachita. He said the nine-foot channel as proposed would cut that cost by $100,000 a year.

Some river authorities said they believed the nine-foot channel plan would be approved and that the project would be under way in the "not too distant future."

Persons on the tour viewed four projects of revetment construction, which is the principal means employed to stabilize the banks of the Mississippi.

Engineers pointed out that active revetment in place in the Vicksburg District at present is approximately 117 miles. Expenditures for revetments along both sides of the river in the district under the present project have been approximately $92,000,000.

The current year's program includes the construction of about 13 miles of revetment costing approximately $10,000 000.

It was pointed out that the purpose of the bank stabilization program is to improve and stabilize the channel of the river for both navigation and flood control. This is accomplished by preventing bank erosion by the scouring action of the river; and protecting existing levees and other fixed installations.

The revetment program was a fascinating process to members of the party.

Engineers in a pre-tour briefing also stressed the progress of the Boeuf and Tensas River and Bayou Macon flood control projects.

Colonel Barschdorf said the project consisted of approximately 530 miles of channel clearing, snagging, straightening and enlarging on the Boeuf River, Bayou Lafourche, Big and Colewa Creeks, Bayou Macon and the Tensas river. Of this amount, he said, 288 miles have been completed at a cost of $9,800,000. Work remaining consists of the improvement of Bayou Macon throughout its entire length and improvement of the lower 32 miles of Boeuf river and the lower 60 miles of Tensas river at an estimated cost of $2,100,000.

Engineers said funds were made available in fiscal 1959 for initiation of work on Bayou Macon and for right-of-way acquisition on Boeuf River. It is now anticipated, engineers said, that contract for first item of work on the Bayou Macon extending from the mouth to about 40 miles will be advertised for late in the fiscal year.

The entire project is expected to be completed from three to five years, and will protect the basin from internal floodings from three to five-year cycle storms.

DISCLOSED

It was also disclosed that engineers will make a restudy of the feasibility of completing the seawall along the Ouachita river in Monroe. Some 1800 feet along South Grand was not completed at the time the original levee was constructed because of the high cost of right-of-way, Colonel Barschdorf said. The restudy was asked in a Congressional resolution.

Water from the Ouachita flowed through the gap during the record high flood this spring. It was pointed out that no attempt will be made to finish the gap until right-of-way has been guaranteed. This would have to be obtained by Monroe.

Passman said the inspection tour was very revealing and that he was happy with the progress that was being made on the various projects.

Yesterday's tour covered the stretch of the Mississippi from near Eudora, Ark., to Vicksburg, Miss. It was made aboard the Engineers Patrol Boat "Lipscomb."

Those making the tour and their affiliations were: Dalton Bryson, Penn Hotel; J. B. Filhiol, Jr., Ouachita Parish Farm Bureau; Richard Hale, Edmund Brown and Jack Gates, News-Star—World; Paul Goldman, Edd Routt, Roger Kelly and Ray Boyd, KNOE TV-Radio; all of Monroe.

4 Wounded In 8-Hour 'Small War'

the grim search.

Cook, described by his parents as having had "mental trouble," began his trail of blood just outside the barn at his tenant farm home just off U. S. highway 27. There, he blasted down his 22-year-old wife, Rachel, with two blasts from the .12-guage shotgun. For some reason, he removed his shirt and dropped it beside the body.

Police said Cook turned and headed to the house, where he met his brother's wife, Mrs. Jeanette Cook. The woman was felled by a knife wound.

She got up and ran into the house, only to be cornered in a bedroom, police said. Three more shots from the shotgun, and Cook claimed his second victim in a matter of minutes.

The shirtless, 180-pound farmer then started across a cornfield. He encountered Mr. and Mrs. George Smith and their 16-year-old daughter, Marjorie. Mrs. Smith died instantly when a shotgun blast tore into her body. The daughter was wounded but rushed to a hospital where her condition was listed as serious.

Smith, the stunned husband, watched, but said he was unable to do anything to help. Cook continued his flight into the woods and fields.

Upholds Law To Finance Private Schools In Ark.

the Little Rock Private School Corporation because it is not accredited. Nor would it include the new Baptist high school, which opens classes at three grade levels next Monday for 500 students.

Officials of the Baptist high school said recently they would not seek state aid for the support of their school.

The state Board of Education had requested Bennett's opinion.

The attorney general said a restraining order issued by the Eighth U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals does not apply to the transfer of state aid for education. Instead, he said it was directed at the Little Rock school board's transfer of four high schools to the Little Rock Private School Corporation.

A special session of the Arkansas Legislature authorized the governor to close Little Rock's four high schools rather than open them on an integrated basis. The Legislature also authorized the state to divert money from districts whose schools had been closed to other public or to private schools.

ALUMNI ATTRACTION — Certain to catch the eye of thousands of Louisiana State University alumni who return to the campus this week for LSU's annual Homecoming celebration is the new LSU Library. Two years in building at a cost of 3.5 million dollars, the modern center of learning can seat 2,500 persons at one time. It is being used for the first time this semester. The new building contains the University's 600,000 volumes but was built to accommodate a million volumes.

LSU To Host Large Number Of Alumni

BATON ROUGE (Special) — Saturday is Homecoming Day for some 95,00. Louisiana State University alumni and former students, and probably more alumni will be returning to the Ole War Skule this year than ever before in its history.

The third ranked Tiger football team puts its unblemished record on the line in a crucial contest with the University of Florida n Tiger Stadium at 8 p.m., in an exciting climax to a full day of activity.

Members of the Alumni Federation will elect officers at the recently - acquired Alumni House, center of activities for returning alumni, between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. Candidates for president are Enoch T. Nix of Bissier City, class of '42, and E. T. "Mike" Monso of Shreveport, class of '29.

Starting at 10 a.m. is the traditional military review on the Parade Grounds, featuring the LSU Pershing Rifles and the University of Florida Gator Guards in an exhibition of precision drill movements. At 11 a.m. colleges, schools, and departments will have open house and alumni business meetings.

A pep rally, with cheerleaders, the Tiger band, and the entire student body participating, is planned for 1:45 p.m. on the Parade Grounds in front of the Memorial Tower. Following this the crowd will adjourn to the Gym-Armory for a student variety show, "Tiger Tidbits," presenting 80 of LSU's most talented students, directed by Gene Quaw, director of social recreation.

MEETING

The Alumni Federation business meeting will follow immediately, the major item of business being revision of the federation constitution. Other officers will be elected during the day. Candidates are Thomas J. Jenny of New Orleans and Lloyd F. Love of Ferriday, first vice president; and I. J. Becnel of New Orleans and W. D. Cotton, Rayville, second vice president.

Candidates for councilmen-at-large from Louisiana are Mrs. Frank A. Rickey and Mrs. Frank Middleton, Baton Rouge; A. A. Domingue, Lafayette; and Jesse M. Kees, Alexandria; from the board of supervisors, Ella V. Schwing, Plaquemine and Sterling Gladden, Baton Rouge.

Out - of - state candidates for council-at-large are Andrew Aycock, Laurel, Miss.; James G. Cajoleas, Jackson, Miss.; R. V. Miles, Jr., Tuscaloosa, Ala.; and Charles L. Zapp, Pasadena, Tex. From Mississippi are Thomas H. Bowen, Jr., Jackson, and Edward F. Glusman, Pass Christian; Texas candidates are Fred W. Poerschke, Houston; Preston McGraw, Dallas; and Guy W. Miller, Beaumont. There will be a write-in vote from Arkansas.

At 3:30 p.m. there will be a university-wide open house in the Alumni House, with President and Mrs. Troy H. Middleton, Mr. and Mrs. Theo Cangelosi, Dr. and Mrs. F. P. Bordelon, Dean and Mrs. Daniel Borth, Dean and Mrs Charles E. Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. Edsel Thrash receiving guests. Serving will be wives of the deans of the colleges.

During the day fraternities, dormitories, and student centers will have open house, and the campus will be gaily decorated with exhibits by campus organizations. The gates of the campus will be decorated by the University Veterans Club, and members of Mortar Board and Omicron Delta Kappa will man information centers. The astronomy observatory will be open from 9 a.m. to 12 noon for observation of sun spots.

Northeast Area Businesses Get State Charters

Wade O. Martin, Jr., secretary of state, announced five domestic charters affecting area business have been filed in his office. The charters were filed during the period of October 15 through October 21.

The charters were issued to: Caldwell Wood Co., Inc. 308 Wood Street, West Monroe, lumber business with a capital of $10,000.

Tool House, Inc., 511 Bernhardt Bldg., Monroe, machines and tools, $50,000.

Tullos Well Service, Inc., Jena, recondition and service oil and gas wells, $3,000 capital.

Pamper Corporation, Winnsboro, construction, 20,000 shares of no-par-value stock.

Plan Building For A Mortuary In West Monroe

Construction work on a new building to house Kilpatrick's Funeral Home is expected to begin shortly in West Monroe.

Tex Kilpatrick, president of the funeral home, said that Jesse F. Heard and Sons will construct the building at a cost of $74,000 at North Seventh and Drago Streets in West Monroe.

The cost of the two-acre site, building and equipment is expected to bring the cost up to about $125,000, Kilpatrick said.

Northside Home Is Hit Heavily By Fire Damage

A six-room frame house at 1908 N. 4th St., was heavily damaged by fire that apparentlly caught from a bedroom heater about 8 last night.

No one was injured.

The house was occupied by Mrs. Betty Dye, her three small children, and her mother, a Mrs. Jones.

Firemen said the blaze started near a bedroom heater but said it was not definitely determined if the heater was burning. They planned a closer check.

The Dye family was not at home when the fire began.

Three rooms in the house were extensively damaged and the other rooms were damaged by heat and smoke.

The house is owned by Joe Kern.

Names 'Mixup' Plagues Kin Of Winn Principal

A report that a former Sikes High School principal was injured and his wife killed near Baton Rouge yesterday was an apparent mixup in names.

A two-car collision at Gonzales, 20 miles south of Baton Rouge, claimed the life of Mrs. Norma Lee Bankston. Her husband, John Bankston, 32, is in the Baton Rouge General Hospital under treatment for injuries sustained in the crash.

Residents at Sikes said last night they had understood the man to be the same John Bankston who taught agriculture at Sikes 1952-56 and served as school principal 1956-57.

Mrs. Carl Hayes, relative of the injured man, told the Morning World last night that the John Bankston injured in the wreck was not the former Winn Parish educator.

Meaningless Platforms

Leaders of the Democratic and Republican parties, at their presidential-nominating conventions in 1960, will spare themselves a lot of trouble if they follow a suggestion that they abandon the practice of writing long party platforms.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, the frank and brilliant southern spokesman, made the proposal that the ancient custom of writing lengthy, dull and meaningless platforms for future elections, especially for 1960, be abandoned. The idea seems also to appeal to House Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate Majority Leader Lynden B. Johnson, both of Texas.

In Sen. Russell's criticism of the platform phobia, he said:

"Recent party platforms have been so long drawn out, so specious in their promises and so contradictory in their terms that I doubt very much whether any member of the senate has taken the trouble to read them lately. I know that I never did."

Not a single senator arose to disagree with Sen. Russell or to say that he believed in basing his legislative actions on his party's credo. Sen. Russell demolished even more completely the supposed sanctity and necessity of long-winded campaign exhortations when he said:

What a country we would have if the congress were to pass every proposal embraced within the political party platforms! What a budget we would have, what a tax burden we would have, and what a conglomeration of laws we would have!

For at least as long as most of us can remember, the matter of drawing up a party platform has been a process aimed only at garnering as many votes as posisble. To little regard has been held for the real intents and purposes of the respective parties.

Each party has tried to picture a Utopian situation in which everybody would have the best of all things, in which money and federal gifts would be dealt out lavishly, in which there would be big increases in budgets for all purposes, in which taxes would be reduced, in which people would receive more and give less.

In recent years there have been attempts to show that both labor and minorities will fatten at the expense of the majorities. This, of course, is a patently fallacious claim, since there are no majorities in the United States except those made up of minorities. ties.

In the final analysis, whatever we receive must be paid for and the people themselves are the only ones who can and will pay.

Senator Russell's statement that the proposals in the party platforms are so contradictory and conglomerate that it would be an utter impossiblity to put all of them into effect simultaneously is true. Each proposal, taken by itself, may appear to be feasible but the task of harmonizing all the proposals is so impossible that no such attempt is ever made.

It has been suggested that, instead of drawing up the usual fatuous platforms, each party should dedicate itself to patriotism, the upholding of the American constitution and the safety of this country. It was pointed out that this country is in grave danger from within by the ever-growing menace of socialism and its twin brother communism and from without by the danger of eventual destruction by Soviet Russia or by absorption into a Soviet-controlled world government.

Party platforms, as presently drawn, amount to nothing more than promising everybody he can have more than his share.

That is impossible, just as it is impossible to continue forever to spend more money than we take in.

1.2 Cats Per Family

In connection with the annual celebration of Cat Week, scheduled Nov. 2-8, the American Feline Society has pointed out that there are 21 million cats in the United States and that this breaks down to 1.2 cats per family.

An interesting phase of the statement is that only about half of the cats are owner-fed, housed and cared for. The other 10.5 million are listed as strays or alley cats. The strays generally get their living out of trash cans or through the kindness of people who are not their owners.

Historically, we burned "witches" and their cats at stake a scant 300 years ago. Witches have disappeared from among us and the cats, no longer associated with witches, have risen in rank from 12th place until they have become second only to dogs as pets.

The American Feline Society is unique in many respects. It is the world's largest cat organization and the second-largest animal welfare group. It has no paid staff and does not employ professional fund-raisers. It conducts no drives and receives no financial support from any government agency, municipal, county, state or national. It operates through 160 member societies nationally and internationally. It maintains a field organization of more than 60 completely dedicated individuals, chiefly in various professional capacities, who work without compensation and carry on the society's work in their immediate areas. Having nothing to see and making no charges, the society may be classed as a true charity.

Child psychologists agree that children having small pets rarely become juvenile delinquents because of a sense of responsibility instilled in the young, growing person. Because of their quiet and gentle nature, their cleanliness and ease of maintenance, cats make excellent pets, enjoyed both by the child and the parent.

The unselfish manner in which the friends of cats carry on their work and their assistance in providing children with loved and affectionate pets are worthy of commendation.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

Admiral Rickover Symbol Of Talent Carelessness

I was looking through the sheets of bills passed by Congress and approved by the President and came across Public Law 85-826 which is "To authorize the chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy to confer a medal on Rear Admiral Hyman George Rickover, United States Navy."

Well, this is very nice, indeed. The sum of $2,500 is appropriated for the purpose of having a gold medal struck and presented to Admiral Hyman George Rickover, United States Navy. Also duplicates in bronze of such a medal are to be coined and sold to cover the cost thereof. I do not know where such a medal can be purchased if you care to have a duplicate in bronze.

But the question still arises whether Admiral Rickover, the father of the atomic-powered submarine is to be promoted so that he can remain in the Navy and continue to use his mind and his abilities in the interest of the United States. This country is not so rich in talent that it can afford to lose any. As for Admiral Rickover, there is no doubt whatsoever that he can get a good job with private industry, just as General Douglas MacArthur, General Lucius Clay and other men, whose talents are of value to the country, are selling electric razors, tin cans and other commodities that might just as well be made and sold by lesser minds. If General MacArthur, for instance, had not been pushed aside, our situation in the Far East might not be so perilous today.

To me Admiral Rickover is a symbol of this carelessness about talented men. We have moved into a new kind of warfare, into a world of new ideas, new methods new strategy and new tactics. Just note one picture: John Foster Dulles is in Rome attending the Pope's funeral he holds a conference there with the French and West German foreign ministers. He then takes his plane to London, has dinner with the British foreign minister. He thereupon returns to his plane, flies over the North Pole to Formosa to enter into conferences with Chiang Kai-shek. He left Rome Sunday after lunch; he left London Sunday shortly after 10 p.m. he arrived on Formosa Tuesday at 10:08 a.m.

That is the speed of diplomacy these days. It gives a slight picture of the speed of war. Perhaps by the time that such a peril may be upon us, if we have notice of 18 minutes, we shall be fortunate. In World War II, we took 18 months to warm up.

In such an atmosphere, talent is required to meet every exigency. Talent is difficult to find. It is not everywhere, in everybody. Of course, many human beings believe themselves to be neglected and deserted talents, ignored by those in authority, but the fact remains that when one has done such a job as Admiral Hyman Rickover has done for the United States, he has demonstrated his exceptional value.

It matters little that some naval men believe that the dignity of the Navy requires that only line officers should hold the top brass titles. What the United States has to worry about is not the dignity of the admirals but the ability of the United States to defend itself.

It might also be said that Admiral Rickover is not an indispensable man and that if he had not fathered the Nautilus, someone else would have, which is undoubtedly true. However, he did do that job, just as Edison did his job on the electric light and Marconi on radio. And there are historians and scientists who will contest that they were the great firsts just as there are those who say Shakespeare did not write Shakespeare but that someone else did.

The fact remains that Rickover did this feat, against great opposition among naval men who regard his ideas as ridiculous. The truth is that our atom driven submarines have already acheived wonders and we shall have a fleet of them and it may so happen that many of the line officers will have to doff their "whites," and wear overalls. We are living in a different age.

To repeat: Talent is a rare quality; that routine minds are a dime a dozen; that when men of talent are found, they should be treasured, and their particular talents should be put to work for the benefit of the United States.

HOLMES ALEXANDER

Alexander At National Reactor Test Station

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho — Only a few hours ago in an installation on the National Reactor Testing Station, some 60 miles away an amber light flashed and there was a subdued hum of bells.

"The amber light doesn't mean much," I was told. "It registers a change from the normal permissible radiation. The red light would mean real danger."

Even so, four attendants stopped whatever they were doing and crowded around the "counter" machine which had flashed amber. Less than an hour afterwards, on leaving this particular installation, I stood on a set of pedals and thrust my hands into a set of sleeves for routine testing for radiation. The machine purred and I watched the little window where a light would supposedly flash behind a small sign reading: "Check OK." But, instead, a light went on and illuminated a window that read: "Decontamination Required."

A man in a white coat checked me with another piece of machinery and pronounced me pure enough to return to the outside world. But like a well - raised reporter I made some inquiries. I had arrived at this vast atomic reservation on the Lost River Desert of Idaho for the express purpose of studing plans to build a nuclear - powered aircraft. The Atomic Energy Commission had given me permission to come here, the first syndicated columnist to do so by the way. The U. S. air force had flown me most of the distance. The General Electric Company, which is designing the power plant for the nuclear plane, had patiently tutored me to understand some of the things the AEC has been good enough to show me I was atomic - minded enough by this time to know that all nuclear experimenting is inherently dangerous. Otherwise this "station," which has already produced the Nautilus submarine and several more scientific "firsts" would not be so remotely located in a barren desert. Why the amber lights? Why the sign that did not read okay?

"The radiation which our counters are recording does not come from any activity on this station," it was explained by those with every reason to know and no reason to dissemble. "The radiation is a fall - out. It may come from Nevada or it may come from Russia. Nuclear explosions have happened in both places quite recently."

By the time I returned to my hotel in Idaho Falls, the switchboards were busy with anxious calls. Other persons than myself had seen the amber lights and had failed to pass a cursory purity test. By nightfall the AEC medical staff had delivered statements which were going on the evening radio broadcasts. The statements said in brief that the radiation level in the vicinity, although several times above normal, was still well below the peril point.

These events, not of an importance in themselves, cast some shadows before them. The area from which I write this story is highly sensitive to atomic dangers. The people are not frightened or timid, else they would not stay. But they are alert, as much as other peoples are alert to symptoms of typhoons, volcanic eruptions, forest fires and air raids.

Well, as the atomic age advances, there are going to be many American communities with atomic facilities nearby and with the consequent alertness and comprehension. There is need for a lot of education on the subject. There is a running debate among top scientists as to the effects of fall - out upon human life and reproduction. Some day quite soon the American people will have to use their form of government to write more laws and formulate some policies. The whole matter is much too important to be left to scientists, much less to the political propagandists.

More, the American people very soon must realize that there is a horse race in progress in which they should act as handicappers. A handicapper, as if everybody doesn't know, is an official who assigns the weights which race horses carry in competition. Theoretically, a wise handicapper could so distribute the weights that a field of horses would hit the finish wire nose to nose. Or such a handicapper conceivably could fix the race in advance so as to pick the winner. Well, there is a race right now between the exploders of nuclear bombs and the experimenters at these nuclear stations. The fall - outs occur from the bombs. The knowledge of how to moderate and to control nuclear energy comes from places like this National Test Reactor Station, which has something like 29 facilities for finding non - explosive uses of the atom.

The American people can—and must — handicap these racers. If we want to slow down the warlike shots, it can be done. We would be very foolish to do so while Russia is still shooting. If we want to increase the testing for electrical power, for medical research, for food preservation, for engines to drive vehicles over land, sea and air, we can do that also.

It seems almost beyond debate that the American people, international conditions permitting, want this second horse to run even faster than the first one. They want peaceful uses to open up a safe margin of victory over the bomb bursts.

As the country grows in atomic knowledge, we will learn how to bring about the desired result.

(A series on the atomic aircraft may not run in sequence because of time out for security clearance, if needed.)

Danger Is Seen From Smallpox

Americans who are going abroad on business or vacation should be vaccinated against smallpox before they leave. This will protect them against the disease in foreign countries and facilitate re - entry into the U. S. A. on their return. No one is allowed to pass the American health station at various ports without proof that they have been vaccinated within three years.

Many inveterate travelers never have had a reaction, even though vaccinated several times over a period of years. Then a "take" occurs and they wonder why. These individuals lost their immunity somewhere along the line. After all, a scar on the arm does not protect a person against smallpox for life.

I'm not trying to initiate a scare campaign but there must be millions of adults in these United States who have lost their immunity. In the circumstances, an epidemic could spread with lightning speed.

Don't forget we are less than 24 hours away from areas where smallpox is rife. This danger is avoided by getting vaccinated every five to seven years, except when travel requirements make more frequent vaccinations necessary.

Vaccination does not add to immunity unless there is a reaction. Nonreactors are immune and need not worry but within a few years protection might wane to such an extent that susceptibility to the disease exists. Vaccinations at frequent intervals decrease the hazard, as a positive reaction is bound to occur, producing more protective anti - bodies in the system.

A "take" usually starts about five to six days after the inoculation and boils up to a sizable sore area during the next four to five days. In some, the reaction is severe enough to induce fever and painful knots in the nearby armpit. Finally, a crust forms which falls off within a week or 10 days.

Prospective travelers should get their vaccination a month or more in advance of departure. A good "take" is better tolerated at home. Don't wait until the last minute, as the first week of your vacation might be ruined.

GALS ARE MISTAKEN

Mrs. J. writes: My doctor says my blood pressure is 290 but when I told this to the girls at the bridge club they said I was mistaken as no one could live with such a high pressure. Please advise.

REPLY

The gals are wrong. Several of my patients lived for years with blood pressures this high. The outcome depends on the level of the diastolic pressure and what hypertension is doing to you. In addition, women tolerate hypertension better than men do. I assume your physician has outlined a plan of treatment to bring the reading closer to normal.

ENLARGED GLAND

Mrs. J. writes: I have had a swollen gland under my right arm for several years. Is it necessary to do anything about it?

REPLY

Not if it has existed for years. On the other hand, removal is a simple surgical procedure and is advised if the gland gets bigger or becomes bothersome.

200 Million In Population Near

Last week our nation's population roared past the never-touched 175-million mark — and at the rate babies are being born and death is being postponed now we'll be crossing the historic 200 million total in only eight and one-half years.

We are outrunning even the most liberal projections of our population increases: we weren't scheduled to reach the 175-million milestone until the 1960s.

Our population is climbing at an annual rate of 3 million — the equivalent of adding to our country each year another Los Angeles, our third largest city, or adding every year the combined populations of Rhode Island, Delaware, Idaho, Nevada, Montana. We are growing at a rate of one person every 11 seconds, two seconds faster than our growth rate as recently as five years ago. The increase in our population just since 1940 tops the total of all living in the United States in 1870. In the next four years alone, our population rise will top the total of all people now living in Australia.

Enough Each statistical comparison is more spectacular than the last. We're riding a population boom unparalleled in our history, unforeseen by any expert.

And there is no missing the basic economic significance of this population explosion. More people do need, want and cosume more goods and services. Our expanding population demands an expanding economy.

In an economy such as ours the long - term implications of a population growth of this magnitude can be summarized in two words: long - term boom.

But this is only a superficial comment.

When you dig beneath the totals, break down the population trends, much more practical, provocative implications emerge. For instance . . .

From now to 1965 the age group which will grow the fastest will be the teenagers — the 10-19 age category.

The explanation is simple: The population boom began in 1946 and the babies born immediately after the end of World War II and since are now moving into their teens.

The impact on the teenage market also is obvious: It will be phenome l.

All industries catering to these youngsters — ranging from school supplies to sporting goods, from food to use cars - will be hit by demands beyond anything ever known

Our older citizens also will assure a zooming market for industries catering to their needs. And these millions will surge into such areas as California, Florida, the desert states: help put California ahead of New York by the 1970s.

The 25-44 age group actually will be declining in relation to total population in the immediate future; won't start climbing until the mid-60s.

When this group starts expanding, the big boom — in housing, all allied industries, countless other fields — will get underway. Simultaneously, though, the great rise in this age class well may cause some nagging employment problems — and pressures for and an intensifying trend toward a shorter workweek seem a certainty.

Population is exploding the world over. In underdeveloped lands the upsurge is a curse rather than a blessing, and to many thoughtful observers the speed of the world's population growth presents a massive and terrifying challenge. As the above brief analysis suggests, the rise in our land is not an unadulterated joy, either.

But fundamentally, in our country, where incomes, the ability to produce and living standards are in a powerful uptrend — expanding population has meant boom. It will mean boom again.

DR. CRANE SAYS

Christ's Death Revealed Love

Donald asks the most vital question I have ever answered in this educational column, so be sure you scrapbook this case and discuss it at church tomorrow! Invention applies not just to gadgets like the electric light and TV, but also to ideas, so Christ came to show us human beings an entirely new concept of God. Calvary has never been duplicated in ANY other religion:

Case Z — 354: Donald G., aged 19, is a college sophomore who attended a convocation at Florida Southern College which I addressed earlier this year.

"Dr. Crane," he began after my talk, "I have a question I wish you could answer for me.

"Clergymen say Christ died to give us forgiveness for our sins. But couldn't God have forgiven our sins without demanding that his Son be crucified?

"When Jesus met the man who was sick of the palsy, the Bible quotes Christ as saying: 'Thy sins be forgiven thee'.

"So Jesus didn't demand that somebody die in order to win such forgiveness.

"Surely God would be more charitable than us human beings and we also forgive each other without demanding the death penalty every time."

WHY CHRIST DIED

Donald is a smart young man and raises a widespread question that deserves to be answered.

He is quite right, too, in saying God could have said: "I forgive you erring human children," and we'd have been forgiven, without the need for Christ's crucifixion.

Then why did Jesus go to Calvary?

To introduce an entirely new thought into religion! And it could NOT have been done without Christ's death!

I'll abridge 10,000 years of history by reminding you that all primitive tribes developed their own local gods.

These deities were ALWAYS looked upon as severe judges and absolute dictators who took an almost sadistic delight in striking down us human beings with lightning bolts if we deviated one iota from their ritual.

Thus, Thor and Woden, of the Scandinavians, were ready to incinerate people for any minor flaw.

And the gods of the Persians and Hindu, the Greeks and Romans, the American Indians and the African natives were likewise regarded as demanding constant appeasement.

So people sacrificed rice and wine, or even human beings as offerings to allay the ill will of deity.

Even the ancient Hebrews offered doves and lambs and bullocks as sacrifices to win the favor of Jehovah from day to day.

GOD'S DESPAIR

Apparently, God despaired that we would ever get over this false notion that he was a vindictive, cruel dictator.

He had told us in the first book of the Bible that we were his children, made in his own likeness, and he expected us to look upon Him as a loving father.

But nobody did so! As a final resort, therefore, he reversed the universal habit of having human beings sacrifice to win the favor of dities, for God sacrificed to win the favor of us erring human children!

That was unique in all world history! God sacrificed to man!

No other religion had EVER described its deity as sacrificing to us human followers. So it was a radically new concept in religion!

And until Christ made this supreme sacrifice, nobody had ever thought of the idea nor would have believed it possible.

So Christ's death was primarily to prove a new point regarding the extensiveness of God's love for his human children, and not primarily to grant us forgiveness.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 4 cent stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Daily Devotion

But he that had received one (Talent) went and digged in the earth, and hid his lord's money. — Matt. 25:18.

The story of the talents is one of Christ's best - known illustrations. It certainly makes clear that we are not expected to exceed our capacities in Christian service. At the same time, it makes it equally clear that we must do our best with what we have It is not often that we use our abilities to the fullest possible extent and it is here that we should resort to prayer, in faith, for guidance in our activities. God will help those who seek His aid in worthy undertakings.

God, our Father, help us to utilize fully and completely all the talents Thou hast given us. In Christ's name we ask. Amen.

BONDS

NEW YORK (AP)—Prices shaded off near the close in the government market Friday but most long-range securities showed gains.

Trading was brisk Friday morning for the first time in almost two weeks. The pace slackened to a crawl during the afternoon.

Corporate bonds backed and filled most of the day to close mixed with a tendency toward the upside. Rails declined, investment quality issues and industrials were mixed in a narrow range. Utilities advanced and foreign dollar bonds eked out a slight gain.

Trading amounted to $5,470,000 par value on the big board, the same as Thursday.

TRANSACTIONS

Yesterday the Dow Jones industrials were lower and rails ahead, favoring fractional gains with active N.Y. Central up one and seven-eighths while Northern Pacific, still reflecting its stock dividend, was up a couple at top, up a half at the bell. Kansas City Southern slipped one and an eighth. Chemicals continued sour with Dupont off two and Allied down one. Kodak was up seven-eighths while Air Reduction lost seven-eighths.

DRUGS

Warner Lambert and Schering added three-quarters each in drugs while Pfizer was clipped for two and Parke Davis slipped one and a quarter. Motors continued sloppy with Chrysler off one on its reported loss. The building group favored gains with Manville in demand, up one and a quarter, and National Gypsum ahead seven-eighths.

TOBACCOS

Lorillard, up two and a half, continued to star in the tobaccos. Steels were mixed with Lukens down two and a half, Allegheny Ludlum off one and three-eighths and Youngstown down one and a half while Republic added five-eights and active U.S. was up three-eights. Aircrafts favored fractional losses with United off one. Airlines lost eights and quarters.

COPPERS

Coppers were lower by fractions as were aluminums with Alcoa down two and a quarter. Raytheon, up one and three-quarters, featured fractionally mixed electronics as Zenith added one and a half and Emerson gained one. Oils lost fractions to one and a quarter in Continental and TXL Oil with Amerada dowr one and seven-eighths. Union Oil slipped one while Kern Country Land added two and a half.

PAPERS

Papers showed little change. Pepsi Cola showed a little volume, up three-quarters. Industrials closed off 1.20 at 539.52. Rails were up 74 cents at 147.76 and utilities closed unchanged at 82.28.

COTTON LETTER

The USDA reported world cotton production for the 1957-58 season at 42.3 million bales, only 400,000 bales below the record crop of 1955-56.

New York Cotton Exchange estimated exports for the season to date at 692,336 bales vs. 1,044,497 a year ago. Numerous merchants are becoming more and more pessimistic on the final export figure believing it may be 3½ million bales or lower.

The weather remained favorable throughout most of the area and the next ginnings figure is expected to increase substantially.

BUSINESS HIGHLIGHTS

United Press International

PRICES:

President Eisenhower hailed the levelling off of the cost of living index as proof that recovery from the recession is "possible without index as proof that recovery from the recession is "possible without inflation." He issued his statement a day after the Labor Department reported that for the first time since the winter of 1955-56 the consumer price index has held steady for a two-month period.

NAM

Milton C. Lightner, president of the National Assn. of Manufacturers, said labor reform legislation should be "one of the first matters" to be considered by the next Congress. The NAM executive called for a bi-partisan approach to labor legislation.

SUGAR

Representatives of the world's major sugar producing countries agreed to set sugar export prices between 3.15 and 4 cents a pound in an attempt to stabilize free market prices.

AUTOS

U.S. car production this week will total an estimated 69,559 units, Ward's automotive reports said. This is up from 45,387 units last week but far below the 104,987 turned out in the same week a year ago.

WEEKS RESIGNS

President Eisenhower accepted the resignation of Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks and named former Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission to succeed him.

COTTON

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures closed unchanged to 15 cents a bale lower today.

Prices moved in a narrow range of 25 cents a bale. Hedging and liquidation were absorbed mostly through trade buying and local short covering.

Trading volume on the New York Cotton Exchange yesterday dwindled to 9,400 bales, a record low for a full trading session.

The weather in the cotton belt was mostly favorable.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Cotton futures advanced here early today but reacted downward later under weekend long liquidation and hedge selling.

Closing prices were steady, unchanged to 15 cents a bale lower.

Market Is Lower But Rails Up

NEW YORK (UPI)—Rail shares stood out as the bright spot in a generally lower, active weekend stock session.

For most of the list profit taking was the rule as traders continued to move cautiously, centering their attention on the specialties—issues such as American Motors which was pushed up 3 points to 31⅞ on the day's heaviest volume following the company's reports of sharply higher car sales.

There were numerous higher features such as this but the backbone of the list tended fractionally lower. The Dow-Jones industrial average showing a drop of 1.26 to 539.46.

Rails, helped by improved carloadings and good September earnings reports for New York Central and Pennsylvania, were 0.74 higher on average at 147.76, their best since Aug. 7, 1957. Central ran up nearly 2 points and was among the five most active issues. Bangor & Aroostock, outside the average group, climbed over 4 and Western Pacific 1½ points. Norfolk & Western and Great Northern rose close to a point each.

Utilities held steady, closing 0.02 lower at 82.26 in their average. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index dipped 0.16 to 50.81.

Turnover was at a brisk pace, with tickers falling behind briefly at the opening and again at the close. Volume totaled 3,770,000 shares compared with 3,610,000 Thursday.

Most of the big moves Friday were on the upside—gains of 5¾ points in Parmelee Transportation, 3 points in Checker Motors which controls Parmelee; 2 to 3 points in Lorillard, International Silver, Mergenthaler Linotype.

The televisions were strong with Zenith up 1½, Motorola 1⅛, Raytheon 1¾, Emerson 2⅜. Oils had good spots in Kern County.

WOOL LETTER

Courtesy of Merrill, Lynch Pierce, Fenner & Smith

The market held in a fairly narrow range with trade interests generally inactive. Volume of trading was light with prices closing around highs for the day, up half a cent.

The October contract ceased trading yesterday and prior to its expiration, 13 notices were issued in the top and 11 in the wool, both well taken.

Argentina's government announced sale of 10 million pounds of greasy wool to Russia and this imparted a little strength to futures. However, trade interests pointed out that Argentina still has a very large stockpile of wool remaining unsold.

London futures, after opening a penny lower, rallied modestly but closed unchanged in moderate trading. A large trade interest in London ventured the opinion that futures are probably within a few pence of their lows.

It is expected by Boston traders prices at the Australian auctions will be moderately lower next week.

RECOVERED

LONDON (AP) — A box of valuable classified equipment has been recovered from the wreckage of the British airliner that crashed at Anzio, Italy, the Admiralty disclosed Friday.

A spokesman for the admiralty said the equipment was for the Mediterranean Fleet at Malta. He did not describe the equipment or its function.

"It is not unusual for British pilots to be entrusted with classified equipment," the Admiralty spokesman said.

LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO (AP) — Prices for butcher hogs and sows closed steady to 25 cents lower on the Chicago market Friday. Trading was moderately active.

Buyers paid $18.65 to $19 for No. 1 to 3 grade butchers scaling 190 to 230 pounds. Some No. 1 and 2s from 195 to 220 pounds brought $19 to $19.25, the top Scattered lots of No. 3s scaling 230 pounds down brought $18.50. Mixed grade sows brought $17.25 to $18 for 300 to 400-pound weights and $16.25 to $17.25 for heavier types.

In the cattle market slaughter steers and heifers were insufficient in number to test prices of these classes. Cows sold steady to 25 cents higher and bulls steady to up 50 cents.

Mixed high good and choice yearling steers sold for $26.50. Utility and commercial cows brought $17.75 to $20.50 and utility and commercial bulls $23 to $25

In the sheep market slaughter lambs were weak and ewes steady. A few lots of good and choice wooled slaughter lambs sold from $20 to $22.50. Utility to low good types brought $17 to $20 Slaughter ewes ranged from $5 to $8.

GRAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—Corn and soybean futures extended recent declines on the Board of Trade Friday but wheat closed mixed with only small price changes.

Except for the purchase of 1,800,000 bushels of hard and white wheat by Formosa there was little incentive for the wheat trade. Reports from the southwest winter wheat belt were to the effect that farmers are withholding their wheat from the market and this tended to keep the futures about steady.

At the close wheat was ⅜ higher to ⅛ lower, December $1.92⅞-¾; corn ¼ to 1 cent lower, old style December $1.09¼-⅜; oats ⅛ to ⅜ lower, December .63¾; rye unchanged to ¼ higher, December $1.29¾-, and soybeans ⅛ to ½ lower, November $2.11-10⅞.

Hedge selling along with liquidation attributed to speculators served to push corn futures lower.

Ouachita Bar Owners Score Control Board

The president of the Ouachita Bar Ow[illegible]s Association attacked the Lo[illegible]na Alcoholic Beverage Control [illegible]oard here yesterday challenging the body to enforce "all the law or forget it" completely.

John Bailey blasted the LABCB charging that it functioned as a collection agency for liquor wholesalers while it ignored the law enforcing fair trade practices on price cuts — a section Bailey hailed as beneficial to retailers.

The fair trades law was passed by the 1950 legislature.

Bailey said the board should go all the way in enforcing controls on price cuts.

He said, "The board has ignored every provision of the law except that pertaining to credit advanced to retailers by wholesalers," Bailey charged.

This part of the law allows the wholesaler to give 15-day credit after which sales are made cash on delivery for a specified time.

If payments are not forthcoming according to law, the board may act on the matter.

A credit hearing was staged by the board in Monroe earlier this week. Two members are on the board — a third member having recently died.

Bailey said local bar owners complain that the credit provision handicaps the "little man" since he is unable to finance large purchases making impossible price cuts practiced by chain and other volume dealers.

The Ouachita association supported the 1950 law believing it would be enforced when passed, Bailey said.

"We are now insisting the law be enforced or forgotten," he said.

The board is appointed by the governor, serves at his discretion, and is responsible on[illegible] to him since the state senate [illegible] not ratify board members [illegible]pointments.

Missing School Girl Subject Of Intensive Hunt

WINNSBORO (Special) — Police authorities here are still pressing a search for an 18-year-old blonde high school girl missing from her home for 10 days.

Sheriff's department spokesmen said no word of Miss Nancy Louise Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Smith of Winnsboro, Route 1, has been heard since she left home to go to school.

Sheriff Hiram B. Waller said the teenager may have been harmed. Her parents said the girl had often talked of leaving school to get a job and added that it is their belief she may have done so.

Nancy was described in a missing persons bulletin as 5 feet 8 inches tall, 182 pounds, hazel eyes, dark blonde hair and wearing a green print dress, black loafers and carrying a white purse.

The Franklin Parish Sheriff's Department requests anyone who has seen Nancy to notify them at telephone number 4505 in Winnsboro.

OLD HAND

BREDONS NORTON, England (AP)—Sir Raymond Priestley reported Friday that he's going back to Antarctica—at the age of 72.

The British scientist is the only man alive who went with both Scott and Shackleton on their Antarctic expeditions before the first world war. He was with Scott in 1910-13 and with Shackleton in 1907-1909.

DULLES REPORTS—President Eisenhower and his secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, pose at the White House after Dulles gave the Chief Executive a personal report on his talks with Chiang Kai-Shek of Nationalist China. After his conference with the President, Dulles charged the Chinese Communists are trying to "throw roadblocks" in the way of efforts to pacify the Formosa Strait. (AP Wirephoto)

Meet Slated On Hospital In Ward Five

Plans will be discussed for a West Monroe hospital at an open meeting scheduled for Monday at 7 p.m. in the West Monroe city hall, it was learned yesterday.

The meeting was announced by a board of commissioners of the Ward Five Hospital Service District No. 1 and the hospital committee of the West Monroe Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. G. T. Gallaspy, chairman of the board of commissioners, and Charlie P. Chisholm, chairman of the hospital committee, said decisions may be made at the meeting which could lead to a bond election in ward five to raise up to $1,000,000 to match federal hospital funds to construct the proposed 106-bed hospital.

Representatives from a New Orleans bond attorney firm will be present at the meeting to present important aspects of hospital building in a community. Chisholm said. "We want a large crowd to attend the meeting Monday night and we want everyone to feel free to ask questions."

He also reported, "Plans for the hospital have progressed so satisfactorily that we can now look forward to success."

It was learned from the commission and committee that management of the proposed hospital by the Methodist Church is being considered.

City Courts

WEST MONROE

Traffic violations made up the major portion of the docket yesterday as three persons forfeited bonds. One each for speeding, running a red light and reckless driving.

Artis Tyson, 19, 1025 S. 5th St., was fined $25 or 10 days in jail plus a compulsory jail sentence of five days for aggravated assault with a carving knife.

A total of $85.50 was assessed in fines, forfeited bonds and court costs.

WM Rounding Up All Stray Dogs

More than 200 dogs have been captured by the West Monroe dogcatcher in the current drive to rid the town of mean or ownerless dogs, according to Police Chief Jeff Caldwell.

The drive grew out of numerous complaints of dogs biting people, Caldwell said. The catcher is under orders to pick up vicious or stray dogs regardless of whether or not the animals are tagged, Caldwedd added.

Negotiations On Passenger Liners Broken

TOKYO (UPI)—An American hotel executive and a Japanese shipbuilding company broke off negotiations Friday on the construction of two giant 90,000-ton transatlantic passenger liners.

Japanese officials said talks between H.B. Cantor and the Sasebo Shipbuilding Co., were canceled chiefly because of insurmountable financial problems. A spokesman for the Sasebo firm said Cantor offered 55 million dollars for the two super-liners while the company set a minimum price of 170 million dollars.

Bomb Threat Evacuates Tenn. School

MEMPHIS (AP)—More than 2,100 students were hastily evacuated from East High today after police received a warning that a bomb was planted in the all-white school.

An anonymous tipster called the police department switchboard and said the explosion was set for 11:30 a.m. The hour passed without incident except for the hurried emptying of the building and a fruitless search of its premises.

Fire trucks and police cars, sirens screaming, roared up to the big modern building minutes after the call. Firemen and police poured into the school, poking through lockers and other places where explosives could be hidden.

Registration Shows Decline

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Orleans Parish shows a total registration of 194,421 votes for the Nov. 4 general election, a drop from total registration of 200,007 at the time of the city election of last Feb. 4.

Of these there are 163,132 voters registered as Democrats for the Nov. 15 judgeship primary.

Total Democratic registration now is 190,364 and Republicans 3,019, the latter showing a 19 per cent drop from 1956.

White voters in Orleans total 163,132 and Negro voters 31,289.

1-AAA BATTLE

Stovall Sparks Rebels To 20-0 Rout Over Lions

By JIM CALHOUN

Piledriving halfback Jerry Stovall ran and tackled like a tiger and scored all the games' points to spearhead the West Monroe Rebels to a 20-0 rout over the Ouachita Lions in a District 1-AAA scrap here last night before a near capacity crowd.

Stovall, who raised his season scoring to 70 points, tallied on runs of 16 and 4 yards from scrimmage and snared a Lion pass and galloped 35 yards to paydirt.

The game started off as a tight defensive duel through the first period. Ouachita penetrated inside Rebel territory several times, but without threatening seriously. The Rebels finally crossed the mid-field just as the first period ended.

Then Stovall and the Rebs started rolling. The Rebels downed a Lion punt on the Ouachita 41 and Stovall began the drive with a ten yard dash around end. Halfback John Moses and fullback Dwain Johnston carried in four plays to the 15. Moses lost one through center and then Stovall burst off right tackle, bowling over Lion tacklers like ten pins, and scored standing up. He then split the uprights to make the score 7-0.

The Lions got off their first deep penetration midway in the second quarter. Ouachita quarterback Rex Carter, who partially led the Rebs off throughout the game with his booming punts, quick-kicked fifty nine yards to the West Monroe 17. On the first play the Rebs fumbled and Lion tackle Ronnie Wyatt fell on the ball on the 16. Carter and Woody Mahoney gained 2 in 2 tries and then Reb tackle Jimmy Bell intercepted a deflected Carter pass and lugged the pigskin back 40 yards to halt the threat.

Seconds before the half ended Carter hit end Tommy Crowe with a 40-yard aerial which carried to the West Monroe 15. But time ran out before the Lions could get the ball in play.

The Rebels took the second half kickoff and then drove 74 yards for their second touchdown. Stovall and Tommy Lolley highlighted the drive with runs of 36 and 22 yards and then Stovall plunged over from the 4. Ouachita center R. W. Kimball blocked Stovall's extra point attempt.

Less than a minute later, Stovall picked off a Carter pass on the Ouachita 35 and raced down the left sideline to score. He then booted the point to make the final score 20-0.

West Monroe led in first downs, 11-4, and rolled up 191 yards rushing while the Lions were held to a net minus five. The Rebel forward wall sparked by Bell, Albert Fields, and Larry Lewis crashed through to drop Ouachita passers time and again for long losses.

For the Lions, Wyatt played a tremendous game at tackle and end Fred Becton and tackle

Floyd Borden shone defensively. Little sophomore halfback Herbert Perry entered late in the game and made several fine runs. Ouachita linebacker Ervin Bates intercepted a Rebel pass to halt a drive and Kimball recovered a West Monroe fumble.

The win gave West Monroe a season record of five wins against two losses. The Lions stand at 3-5.

Tallulah Thumps Neville, 28 To 6

TALLULAH (Special) —Dangerous Dan Neumann left Tallulah with something to remember here last night, ground out 152 yards in scoring three touchdowns to lead his Trojan teammates to an upset victory over Neville, 28-6.

Neumann's efforts alone almost matched the total yardage made by the visiting Tigers, who were able to muster only 177 yards on the ground.

The big Tallulah back, a much-wanted college prospect playing his last game on home soil, ran for touchdowns in the first and fourth period.

It was Tallulah's seventh consecutive win since the Trojans

lost in the season's opener to Carr Central of Vicksburg, Miss.

The surprise win came as a big one for Tallulah, since the Tigers, now with a 4-3 record, already have clinched the 2-AA championship.

Tallulah, a class A contender, is favored to knock off Winnsboro next week in the district showdown.

Neville scored against the Trojans in the third period, coming back into the game after trailing at halftime, 21-0.

The Tigers started their drive on their own 37 with backs Gene Howard and Devonne Payne, leading the way. They hammered to the Trojan's 33 where Howard slipped over tackle and went all the way.

Mickey Cox, who turned in a fine performance, missed the extra point.

The Trojans got rolling early in the first period after taking the opening kickoff on their own 24. With sophomore Wayne Noland joining Neumann, the Trojans went to the Neville 17. Neumann went the distance for the score.

Later in the same period, Bill Grant blocked Joe Cage's punt and the Trojans took over on the Tiger's 20. From the three, Neumann went in.

Tallulah took over in the second period on Neville's 46 and drove to the one where Gerald Collins went around end from the one on a keeper.

Neumann scored his final touchdown in the fourth quarter after Tallulah nailed Cox in punt formation after he got a bad pass from center.

A 32-yard drive was climaxed when Neumann got away for 14 yards and the touchdown. Jer[ry] Fairbanks kicked all four ext[ra] points for the Torjans.

Tallulah linemen Jerry McC[...]ald, Billy Foster and Perry Bea[...] were outstanding as well as Ne[v]ille forward wall performers [...] cian Branch, Robert Turner a[nd] Doug Turner.

West Germany Wins Horse Show

By FRED B. WALTERS

HARRISBURG (AP)—West Germany completed its sweep of major honors at the 13th annual Pennsylvania National Horse Show Friday.

"Deutschland Lied," the German national anthem, became the most often played hymn at the horse show as Germany's expert horsemen won both international jumping events.

The afternoon victory gave them the third leg and a complete sweep of the low score competition for the 104th Cavalry Challenge Trophy and also clinched the over-all team trophy.

Previously, Germany had won the Prix Des Nations Cup and Hans Geunther Winkler won the individual championship.

Both events Friday were team events, right down the 1956 Olympic champions' alley.

Alfonse Lutke - Westhues and Fritz Thiedemann gave faultless rides to win the afternoon event for Germany and Winkler and Lutke-Westhues marked the evening win with perfect showings.

MANGHAM BY ONE

WISNER, La. (Special) —Quarterback Tommy Hendrix' two successful conversions gave Mangham a 14-13 triumph over Wisner here last night.

Hendrix made good on both his PAT tries while the Mangham line blocked Joe Blair's attempted conversion in the third period that would have tied the contest between two class B rivals.

Hendrix scored the first Mangham touchdown in the first period and booted the PAT. Wisner swept back to tie it up when Ken Thornhill dashed 85 yards with the kickoff to the Mangham 10. Thornhill scored on the next play and Blair ran for the extra point to tie it up.

Donald Adams scored from the three to put Mangham ahead again in the second and Hendrix booted true again. Underdog Wisner came back in the third with another touchdown with Phillip Dampier scoring from the two. Blair's attempted conversion was blocked.

Mangham led in first downs, 11 to 5.

BERNICE WINS

BERNICE, La. (Special) —Fullback Bo Dick Smith scored two touchdowns to lead Bernice to a 13-7 victory over Junction City, Ark., here last night.

Smith sprinted 48 years to set up a Bernice touchdown in the first quarter and then rammed over from the two for the TD. Buzzy Green ran for the PAT. Smith took an eight - yard passed from Green to score again in the second period.

Smith's 12 points ran his season's total to 94.

Junction City scored in the third when Bruce McKinnon went over from five yards out. Clarence Buckner passed to Bobby Joe Langley for the extra point.

The win left Bernice's record at 7-1 for the season.

DELHI, 19-0

CROWVILLE, La. (Special) — Delhi's powerful Bears downed Crowville, 19-0, here last night as Ken Newton, Charles Simmons and Thomas Hosea starred.

Hosea pulled in a 40-yard pass to score the first touchdown for Delhi in the first quarter. Newton rammed one yard to count the second TD, this one coming in the second period.

Simmons rambled around left end for 30 yards and the final Bear touchdown in the third period. The extra point was kicked to make the final score, 19-0.

Crowville, paced by the passing of Pete Halley, threatened twice, once in the first quarter and went to the four in the fourth. Jackie Richardson and Ronnie Newsom were outstanding in the Crowville line.

JONESBORO-HODGE, 32-18

WINNFIELD, La. (Special) — Jonesboro - Hodge rolled up their sixth win of the season here last night, 32-18, over Winnfield in a battle of "Tigers."

Quarterback John Garrett's 18-yard jaunt and a 54-yard gallop by right half Johnny Brunson, with two extra points by guard John Blake supplied Jonesboro with a 14-0 first quarter lead.

Fullback Thomas Latham got Winnfield's Bengals back in the game in the second stanza with a half-yard plunge, to make it 14-6.

Brunson added another six points for Jonesboro in the third, then the two teams each racked up two touchdowns each in the final quarter—Jonesboro on an 85-yard kickoff return by fullback Bobby Jones, plus a nine-yard plunge by quarterback Garrett.

Winnfield scores came via a one-foot buck by left half Conley Adams and another by Howard Allbritton, also from one-foot out.

WILDCATS TRIUMPH

WINNSBORO (Special) — Winnsboro's Wildcats, led by quarterback Pete Moore, thrilled a partisan homecoming crowd of 1500 here last night with a convincing 38-6 victory over Oak Grove.

The Wildcats rolled to their sixth win of the season by scoring in all four quarters and therefore setting the stage for next week's showdown with the potent Trojans from Tallulah.

Moore climaxed his fine night's work with a 9-yard sprint through the center of the line in the dying minutes of the game.

He scored on a keeper from the one-yard in the first quarter, the touchdown being set up by a 38-yard run by halfback Bennie Wiggins.

In the second period, Wildcat back J. D. Busby went off right tackle on the Oak Grove 32 and went all the way. Then Moore returned to score from the four following a 50-yard drive.

Winnsboro's scatback — senior Frank Peoples, a 132-pounder — was not to be denied in the touchdown parade. He shook loose from his 17 to score and Moore then threw to Wiggins for the extra point.

In the fourth period, quarterback Buddy Rhodes, following a 61-yard drive, went seven yards for the score. Then came Moore's long touchdown run.

The Wildcats dropped back into punt formation from their own three. From a halfback slot, Moore received the center, hit the middle of the line and out raced the defenders. He ran the extra point.

Oak Grove's lone touchdown came in the second period following a 40-yard drive. On a trap play, halfback Tom Swayer slipped around left end from the nine for the touchdown. The try for extra point failed.

It was Winnsboro's second 2-A win of the season. The Wildcats meet Tallulah here next Friday night in a game that will more than likely decide the district championship.

BULLDOGS 7, PANTHERS 6

FERRIDAY (Special) —Ferriday turned in a strong first half here last night and then held on for dear life and a 7-6 squeak-by over Lake Providence.

It was the Bulldogs' fourth win of the season against as many losses. For the Panthers, it was their fourth loss.

The Bulldogs scored early in the first period after Larry Chauvin and Freddy Marks got off some nice runs to set up fullback James Poole for the kill.

The big linebuster broke through from the seven and then carried it around end for the extra point.

With Ferriday in command most of the second period, threatening but not scoring, Lake Providence came back to take the lead in the second half.

The Panthers too threatened but couldn't score and finally in the fourth period began to roll. With backs Purvis Thomas and Bill Burton paving the way, the Panthers climaxed a 35-yard drive when Billy Regnold passed to left end Whatley for the touchdown on a play that covered 12 yards. The extra point attempt failed.

WATERPROOF WINS

The loss was the first of the year for Block in district play and the win left Waterproof with a 5-0 district slate and the favorite's role in the league.

Edgar Chase passed to Louis Testa for 33 yards for a Waterproof touchdown in the first period and Edward Justice ran for the PAT. Waterproof held it's lead at 7-0 until the fourth period when Chase threw again, this time to Bobby Wallace, for a touchdown from 18 yards out.

Block came up with its lone touchdown when Billy Edwards went 2 yards. Fullback Clarence Richard set it up with a 53-yard gallop. Edwards ran for the extra point.

Block tried an outside kick on the kickoff and Waterproof took over on the 37 and Justice scored from the one on the last play of the game. Justice ran the PAT.

Waterproof had the edge in first downs, 13-8, and gained 296 yards rushing and passing to 195 for the losers.

CROSSETT WINS

The Eagles rolled up 323 yards to the Badgers' 38.

Robert Tauton went 56 yards for a first period touchdown and scored again in the second period before the Crossett offense exploded.

Scoring for the winners were Bobby Keene, John Grice, David McCay, Lemuel Corkern and A. C. Moncreif. Jimmy Ross booted five out of seven extra point attempts.

ISTROUMA 42-0

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Top-ranked Istrouma crumbled little Catholic High of Baton Rouge, 42-0 Friday night.

Istrouma scored at will and gained yardage anytime it wanted throughout the contest. Catholic was able only to get eight yards on the ground and 11 by passing.

Winston allouet scored the first touchdown, gathering in a Lynn Amede pass and carrying for a score on a play that covered 74 yards.

Steve Ward, Everett Brooks and Darryl Morris each scored a touchdown and Ronnie Fairchild got two.

All touchdowns came on runs of less than five yards after Istrouma either marched considerable distance or made things easier by intercepting Catholic passes.

Amedee kicked four extra points and Don McCollister booted two.

TERREBONNE, 42-0

HOUMA, La. (AP) - Second string quarterback Russell Pierce threw three touchdown passes and ran 52 yards with a punt for a fourth score as Terrebonne overwhelmed Bogalusa 40-0 Friday night.

Fullback Richie Boudreaux started the scoring with a 65-yard run on the third play of the game. Tommy Thompson added his first of four conversions.

Pierce's first scoring pass was thrown to Larry Hutchinson in the second quarter. The play covered 52 yards. Larry Bonvillain and Thompson were on the receiving end of the other touchdown passes.

Guard Allen Detriveaux got the other touchdown on a 75 yard run with a Bogalusa fumble.

JESUIT, 19-0

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Unbeaten and untied Jesuit, led by 15-year-old sophomore Pat Screen, scored two first quarter touchdowns and went on to a 19-0 victory over Baton Rouge High Friday night.

Baton Rouge's only serious threat came in the second quarter when the sixth ranked team in the Associated Press poll drove to the Jesuit 15 before losing the ball.

Screen scored one touchdown on a 35-yard run in the last quarter and passed 23 yards to Adrian Colon for another.

Jesuit's first score came on a 57-yard march. Mike Rooney went the last yard for the touchdown after Screen's 24-yard run had put the ball in scoring position.

Rooney was hurt on a defensive play in the second quarter and sat out the rest of the game.

BOLTON, 12-7

SULPHUR, La. (AP)—Ronnie Clayton and Ed Edgerton combined for touchdowns that gave Bolton a 12-7 victory over winless Sulphur Friday night.

Clayton got the first touchdown on a 14-yard end run in the first quarter.

Sulphur went ahead in the second quarter when Bill Keever threw a 28-yard scoring pass to A. J. Woods. Edgerton plunged two yards in the third quarter for the touchdown that put eighth-ranked Bolton ahead to stay.

Sulphur had two drives stopped deep in Bolton territory, one on the 3-yard line and the other on the 18.

MANSFIELD WINS

FARMERVILLE (Special) — Mansfield's Wolverines rolled over the Farmerville Farmers, 39-0, in a District 1-A tilt here last night.

Mansfield broke the scoring ice in the second quarter on a drive from their own 45 yard line. Twelve plays carried to the one and on fourth down Jerry Stepp bulled over for the score. With 20 seconds remaining in the first half Gary Moore took a lateral from Carl Hemphill and raced 70 yards around right end to make the score 12-0 at halftime.

Moore passed to Scott Brown after a Farmer fumble in the third quarter from the six for another Wolverine tally. Minutes later another Farmerville fumble gave Mansfield the ball on the 49. Several plays later Stepp went around right end and from five to payoff dirt. Hemphill kicked the point.

Hemphill broke loose in the fourth quarter and scampered 95 yards and booted the point to make it 32-0. In the closing minutes of play Moore intercepted a pass on the Farmer 35 and ran it back for a touchdown. Hemphill converted.

MINDEN, 12-6

MINDEN La. (AP) — Minden scored twice in the first half and then stopped a Byrd threat in the closing minutes for a 12-6 victory Friday night.

Grover Colvin nipped the Byrd drive when he intercepted a pass on the Minden two with two minutes and 35 seconds remaining.

Minden drove 45 yards in the opening minutes for its first score. The drive took six plays and was capped by a 7-yard end run by fullback Bobby Ashley. Ashley also got the second Minden score on a 14-yard run.

Byrd's first touchdown in six games came on a 35-yard pass play, Sonny Parnell to Hayden Hicks.

HORNETS WINNERS

RAYVILLE (Special) — Rayville's Hornets scored twice in all but the third period here last night to roll to an easy 42-13 victory over the Newellton Bears.

Scatback Paul Hunter, writing football history at Rayville, led the Hornets to their third win of the season against four setbacks.

It was Newellton's seventh consecutive loss of the season.

Stewart Dyer got the scoring off to a fast start for Rayville in the first period when he dashed around right end on a keeper from the six.

But before the period had ended, Hunter, on a tricky reverse, scampered 40 yards for the touchdown.

Then in the second quarter he went eight for another touchdown and Dyer returned in the same period to pass to Danny McCarty for the Hornets' fourth score in the first half.

Hunter's third touchdown of the evening, one which climaxed his sparkling performance, came in the third period. And he had to do it twice to make it stick.

He hauled in a Newellton kickoff and went 90 yards to paydirt, only to have it called back. The Bears kicked again . . . in the same spot . . . and Hunter went 90 yards again, this time good for the touchdown.

Rayville's scoring in the final period came when James Mayo went 20 yards into the end zone and Dyer scored on a sneaker from the five.

The Bears scored in the third and fourth quarters, James McVay going 30 around right end and William Bozeman kicking the extra point.

In the finale, fullback Allen Parker plunged over from the two. The try for point was no good.

BEARCATS WIN

RUSTON, La. (Special) —Ruston's Bearcats defeated triple - A Bastrop, 21-14, here last night in their homecoming game.

Bastrop jumped off to the lead in the first quarter when halfback Walter Moore went 55 yards off tackle and Charles Burks kicked the extra point. Ruston tied it up in the second period as Wallace Martin scored from three yards out. Ronnie Graham kicked the tying extra point.

Ruston's all-star prospect, Sammy Simonton, dashed 92 yards in the third to put Ruston ahead. Graham again kicked the extra point. Ruston held a determined Bastrop rally, stopping them at the three in the quarter.

Emmett Irby, Bastrop quarterback, counted the second Ram one and Burks added the PAT. Pat touchdown with a sneak from the Shows won it for Ruston when he sparked a drive to the Bastrop seven and then carried over for the TD. Graham kicked the point to make it 21-14.

Bastrop had the edge in first downs over their double-A foe, 15-12.

LASALLE, 31-20

SICILY ISLAND, La. (Special) —Class A LaSalle defeated class B Sicily Island in a touchdown party, 31-20, here last night.

Harold Watson scored from 15 yards out for Sicily Island and Charles Miller passed to William Patton for the PAT. LaSalle tallied when Gary Russell ran 60 yards.

Underdog Sicily Island came back to score again with Watson sprinting 50 yards for the TD. Miller tossed to Cliff Guice for the extra point. LaSalle scored back with Ben Nichols passed 15 yards to Don Long and Jerry Ingram kicked the extra point.

Nichols threw to Bert Albritton for two yards just before the half to give LaSalle a 19-14 lead at intermission.

Nichols went 10 yards in the third for a LaSalle score and Don Long passed 10 yards to Fred Roberts for another LaSalle talley. Johnny Weston went five yards for the final Sicily Island touchdown in the fourth.

Sicily Island had the edge in first downs, 13-9.

VIDALIA LOSES

NATCHEZ, Miss. (Special) — Cathedral High's Greenies of Natchez, Miss. outlasted the Vikings of Vidalia here last night for a 14-12 homecoming victory.

The Greenies scored in the first and second periods for a 14-6 halftime lead and then held the Vikings at bay for the win.

Baronni threw to Barrett on a long pass play that spelled touchdown for the Greenies in the first period and with only seconds left in the half Baronni threw again, this time to Lambert, for the score.

In the meantime, Jimmy Trindle passed to Jimmy Boles on a 40-yard pass play for Vidalia's first half touchdown. Zizzi ran over both the Greenies' extra points.

In the fourth period, Trindle threw again, this time to Jimmy Stringer to the one. Luther Andrews carried it over for the touchdown.

LUMBERJACKS TRIUMPH

SPRINGHILL (Special)—Springhill's Lumberjacks battered down the Jena Giants in a high scoring second period to score a 34-13 victory in an inter-sectional game here last night.

Halfback Jerry Griffin chalked up three touchdowns to pace the Lumberjack win. Griffin ran for one score and caught two passes from quarterback Bain Slack for two others.

St. Matthews Takes 2 From Weston Cagers

St. Matthews boys took a doubleheader here last night over Weston, the varsity winning its fourth straight without a loss, 80-43, and the "B" team taking a 55-27 decision.

Jimmy Tonore dropped in 18 points to pace the varsity win for Jim Mahoney's Fighting Irish while Gerald Williams scored 14 and Ab Elias got 13. W. Harold led Weston with 13.

Gerald Williams scored 16 to pace the winners in the "B" game while Joe Zarro got 15 and Roy Henderson had 14. L. Watkins was high for the losers with 12.

12 Named To Take Off In Toronto Race

TORONTO (AP)—Twelve have been named to start in Saturday's $50,000-added Canadian Championship at New Woodbine. The prediction is the winner's share of Canada's richest race will go to a U.S.-owned horse.

Owners made the final $500 payment Friday and included in the list were eight Americans. The mile and 5-furlong classic is over a grass course.

The winner will earn $35,000 and co-favorites probably will be Civet, 5-year-old stakes winner who has been in the money in 10 of his 15 starts, and the entry of Ekaba, Jack Ketch and Mahan from the Hasty House Farm of Toledo, Ohio. Civet is owned by E. Austin Byrne of Mt. Kisko, N.Y.

Other American-owned horses nominated:

Andrew Alan, 3-year-old son of Slymie owned and trained by Hirsch Jacobs; Bell Hop, French-bred 3-year-old owned by J. M. Schiff of New York; One-Eyed King, 4-year-old son of Nasrullah from Capt. Harry F. Guggenheim's Cain Hoy Stable, and Spinney, 1957 Canadian Championship winner owned by Louis Rowan of Los Angeles.

La. State Fair Speed Races To End Sunday

SHREVEPORT, La. (Special)—The Louisiana State Fair speed program will end this week end with races set for tonight and tomorrow evening.

Midget race cars, Offenhausers, are slated for a seven event program Saturday evening. This will mark the first midget car action in the history of the Louisiana State Fair. Top drivers from the Texas area are included in the big field. More than twenty drivers from as far away as Wisconsin will shoot for the big cash purse.

The final State Fair speed program, Sunday evening at 7:30 finds the late model stock cars going in a 200-lap race. The national championship hinges on results of the Shreveport race. Don White and Ernie Derr remain in contention for top national honors.

All out speeds are indicated as this is the final race of the 1958 season.

Tribe Faces Southeastern In Search Of Sixth Scalp

The Northeast State College Indians with five scalps hanging to their belts, the longest-winning streak in the school's history, will send a raiding party tonight to the campus of the Southeastern Louisiana College Lions at Hammond.

Kickoff time for the clash of the two remaining unbeaten teams in Gulf States Conference play will be at 8 p.m. at Strawberry Stadium.

The Indians have beaten Southern State 33-12, Stephen F. Austin 14-12, Delta State 23-0, Southwestern 20-8 and McNeese State 29-14. They are rated 16th in the nation in Dick Dunkel's Power Index Rating of small colleges in the United States. Northeast also rated 26th in the United Press International small college ratings, the only GSC school placing.

Assistant Coach George Luffey has high regard for the Lions from his scouting report of last week end when Southeastern beat Florence (Ala.) State 40-7.

"They have the best-balanced club we will have met up to date," said Luffey, adding, "they have speed to go wide, power to go up the middle and a good quarterback who throws well."

In the backfield for the Lions will be C. J. Alexander, Jr., a 23-year-old halfback who played freshman ball at LSU and transferred to Hinds Junior College where he made J. C. All-American and is now considered to be the Lions' most dangerous runner.

Another back to watch this weekend is Fullback James Hanley, a sophomore and also an LSU transfer, who is very capable on power plays. He is their main cog in punching out those first downs through the line.

Robert Goss holds down the other tackle post. A 6'3", 220-pounder, he is a good blocker and is exceptionally fast for his size.

Quarterback Everett Reynolds, star of the McNeese State game last week, for which he was selected "Back of the Week" by the Associated Press, will engineer the Indian attack.

Head Coach Jack C. Rowan praised his entire Indian line for their past contributions to the Northeast wins this season. French, Knox, Brent, Feeney, Cox, Cagle, Driskill, McGraw, Anderson have all done a terrific job defensively in the line, he said.

"Our line outplayed a much-heavier line last week," said Rowan. "A football game is won or lost in the line," he added.

"Galloway teams are always well-coached with a versatile offense and a sound defense, Rowan said. "I think we are going to be up for this game but I don't know how much the loss of Laudadio and McGough will hurt us. Terry Head, Amos, Leach, and Simon will be called upon to carry the load and will do the best job possible."

Coach Jim Coats says McGough and Laudadio will be missed but the other boys are showing up well.

Flankman Joe Driskill who caught six passes for 155 yards and two touchdowns will be at the right end post for the Indians Saturday. At left end will be Jim Knox who has snagged three passes for 49 yards and two touchdowns. Jerry Head will back up Driskill and Dale Hoover will back up Knox.

The Indian lineup with alternates:

RE — Joe Driskill and Jerry Head
LE — Jim Knox and Dale Hoover
RT — Luther French and Ray Borders
RG — Fred Cox and Roy Cagle
LG — Fred Feeney and Millard Abrams
C — Bill McGraw and Buck Anderson
QB — Everett Reynolds and Bob Randel
LH — Terry Head and Bob Leach
RH — Keith Amos and Terry Reeves
FB — Stewart Stover and Lloyd Ray Smith.

COLLEGE

Grid Attendance Shows Increase

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

College football already has shown an attendance increase of 3.33 per cent this season with every indication thatit may go even higher before the various bowl teams are determined.

Only in the Big Ten, Big Eight, Missouri Valley and Southern Conferences has there been a decrease and in the first two loops there were ready explanations.

Michigan, for instance, plays its home Big Ten schedule in a 100,000 seat stadium. But this year the Wolverines travelled for games to Michigan State and Northwestern, whose stadiums total 54,000 seats less.

And in the Big Eight, the schedule twice has had Kansas and Kansas State both at home on the same day. The campuses are only 80 miles apart.

The final half of these schedules are so arranged that the attendances will be greater.

The drop in the Big Ten was 3.60 per cent and in the Big Eight 1.36 per cent. The Missouri Valley crowds are 4.82 per cent smaller while those in the Southern loop are down 0.61, an Associated Press survey shows.

The biggest increase percentage-wise was turned in by the Skyline Conference where the crowds have been 16.24 per cent larger. Border Conference throngs are 13.99 per cent greater, helped in part by a larger stadium at Arizona State of Temple.

The survey was based on the reports from 106 colleges participating in 246 games. Last year's figures involved the same number of colleges but included 259 games.

The average attendance at college games during the first half of the 1957 season was 24,252. This year, again in the first half of the season only, the attendance has climbed to 25,063.

Vejar-Greaves Bout Cancelled

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Chico Vejar - Wilf Greaves proposed Nov. 12 middleweight fight will be cancelled because of a complaint by a Kentucky boxing commissioner, promoter Bill King said Friday.

Commissioner Bernie Bax said the fight had not been cleared, as required by the commission, before King announced the fight Thursday.

King said Vejar had not confirmed the date for the 10 round bout with the Canadian middleweight champion and published reports made the bout appear more definite than it was.

Geo. Washington Tumbles W & M

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Washington, a two-touchdown underdog, turned its one big break into a quick touchdown Friday night and stunned William and Mary with a 7-0 Southern Conference victory.

Fullback Duane Whetstone fammed one yard for the score with 35 seconds to play in the first half, three plays after a William and Mary blunder that cost the Indians the game.

STATISTICS	W&M	GW
First downs	5	7
Rushing yardage	37	129
Passing yardage	93	16
Passes	10-15	2-7
Passes intercepted	0	2
Punts	7-35	8-36
Fumbles lost	1	4
Yards penalized	60	48

With 31 yards to go on fourth down, third-string end Ben Johnson dropped back to kick but let the pass from center trickle off his fingers. Johnson scooped up the ball but was nailed on his own 14 by GW's Ed Rutsch and Don Herman.

Tom Haley gained three, Ted Colna rambled to the 1 and Whetstone crashed across. Bob Barbiere placekicked the point and the Griffith Stadium scoreboard was set for the rest of the night.

William and Mary, heavily favored because of its 13-6 upset of North Carolina State, never penetrated beyond GW's 18. Guard Bob Frulla, voted outstanding player of the game, led a Colonial defense which blunted William and Mary's attack.

Mike Injured, To Miss LSU Homecoming

Mike III, with two broken legs, has been sidelined for the season, right in the midst of LSU's homecoming with some 100,000 alumni and friends expected to jam the campus.

A hasty peek at the Ole War Skule's history fails to show a previous time since the first Mike was purchased in 1935 when the bengal tiger mascot failed to roll onto the home field in his cage just before game time.

Unbeaten LSU, favored over Florida, will play host to what is expected to be the largest homecoming crowd in history.

The football game should draw a capacity 65,000 as LSU seeks its sixth straight win.

During pre-game events, the LSU Alumni Federation will elect new officers. Candidates for president are Enoch T. Nix of Bossier City and E. T. Mansour of Shreveport.

A military review, pep rally, student variety show and other events are on the day-long program.

Approximately 100 alumni will gather at the same time halfway round the world at Tachikawa Air Force Base in Japan. The Japanese celebration was initiated by Air Force Lt. James E. Sanford of Covington, La., a 1953 graduate.

Brittain To Play Brown In North-South

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP)—A 62-year-old food broker and a 55-year-old banker will meet Saturday for the championship of the North and South seniors golf tournament.

The food broker, Jack Brittain Sr. of Woodhaven, N.Y., eliminated James H. McAlvin of Lake Forcest, Ill., 3 and 2 Friday. His opponent will be J. Wolcott Brown of Sea Girt, N.J., who won his semifinal match from Frederick Holmes of Riviera Beach, Fla., 3 and 2. Brown is president and chairman of a bank in Manasquan, N.J.

Brittain, a left-hander, made the turn 1-up. He halved the 10th and 11th holes with McAlvin, then parred No. 12 and birdied No. 13 to go 3-up. McAlvin cut the lead to 2-up as Brittain three-putted No. 14. They halved the next hole before Brittain won the match with a birdie on No. 16.

Brown, the reigning Southern seniors champion, gained his victory, in part, on the trap troubles of Holmes. They played fairly even until the ninth, when Holmes trapped his tee shot, enabling Brown to win the hole and turn 2-up.

Holmes won the 10th as Brown three-putted, but Holmes had trap troubles again on 12 and 13 and Brown won both. They halved the next three holes, giving Brown the

Campbell Fails To Break Mark

The 37-year-old ace gunned his jet boat Bluebird over four double runs of the measured kilometer at Lake Coniston.

His highest speed was 201.5

Soviet Horses To Compete In International

MOSCOW (AP) — Two Soviet horses and a five-man Soviet delegation leave for Berlin Saturday en route to Laurel Park in Maryland for the Washington, D. C., International race.

The five Russians, including the directors of the Moscow Hippodrome and two jockeys, applied for U. S. visas Monday. They still had not received them Friday.

Joseph Cascarella, executive vice president of Laurel Park, has been in Moscow the past week in an effort to expedite transportation of the two 3-year-old colts which will carry the Kremlin's colors in the big race Nov. 11.

Cascarella said the Russians plan to pick up their un-visaed passports from the American Embassy and leave early Saturday for a three-day train trip to Berlin.

The Russian party is scheduled to fly from Berlin Oct. 29, arriving at Laurel Park the next day. Cascarella said he hoped the visas could be picked up in Germany.

The horses are two of the Soviet Union's best thoroughbreds, Garnyr and Zaryad.

Houston Still Hopes To Get Indian Club

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Sports Assn. said Friday night the deadline on its offer to buy the Cleveland Indians baseball club had expired with no reply received from Cleveland officials. But it apparently considered no news, good news.

The Houston group, led by oil heir Craig Cullinan Jr., offered more than 5½ million dollars for the club.

George Kirksey, executive secretary of the group, said the offer expired at noon Friday and added:

"This indicates to us that the Cleveland club's affairs are far from settled. We believe that in this situation we should sit tight and keep quiet pending the forthcoming Cleveland stockholders meeting."

Indian stockholders are expected to meet next week.

Pot Of Greenbacks Awaits Garden State Stakes Victor

By JOHN CHANDLER

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP) — The rains cleared away in southern New Jersey Friday and a pot of greenbacks worth $297,250 waited at the end of the rainbow for 13 colts entered in the Garden State Stakes.

The 2-year - old championship probably will be settled Saturday if a colt like First Landing, Tomy Lee, Intentionally, or Restless Wind can get into a winner's circle literally lined with banknotes.

Those colts have the credentials through earlier stakes victories, while most of the others could hardly stake a solid claim on the juvenile crown if they won this world's richest horse race.

Entries closed officially with the 13 horses who had been expected. Owners had to dig for $1,000 to enter, with another $1,000 apiece to face the starter Saturday at approximately 3:50 p.m., EST. The race will be televised (CBS) 3:30 - 4 p.m. (EST), and will be heard on radio (NBC Monitor).

First Landing, the colt Eddie Arcaro hopes will bring him a sixth Kentucky Derby next May, is the 7-5 favorite in the mile and one sixteenth event being run for the sixth time. Turn-to, First Landing's daddy, won the inaugural running of the race in 1953.

But First Landing isn't any lead pipe cinch, although he's won nine of 10 starts. Tomy Lee, the pride of California, is a colt many think will hit the big jackpot. His odds are 3 to 1.

Two weeks ago, First Landing won the $151,300 Champagne Stakes at Belmont Park. Tomy Lee, who was unbeaten in six starts, was leading in that mile race at the halfway mark when he suddenly bolted and dropped back to fifth. In doing so, he barged into Intentionally. Bill Hartack got him straightened away, and he rallied to finish second only a neck behind First Landing. For fouling Intentionally, Tomy Lee was dropped to third money, and Intentionally was moved into second place.

Those are the sort of question marks that must be answered in the Garden State.

Tomy Lee is owned by Fred Turner, Jr., of Texas, while Christopher T. Chenery of Virginia and New York owns First Landing. Intentionally, from the Brookfield Farms of Harry Isaacs of Maryland, could wrap it up. He is the only horse who has beaten First Landing—in the Belmont Futurity.

Restless Wind, from the Llangollen Farm of Liz Whitney of Virginia, won the two rich Chicago Futurities at Washington and Arlington Park and is the biggest money winning juvenile of the season with $290,040.

The field is completed with the Charfran Stable's Crafty Skipper, Briaradle Farm's Rico Tesio, Brookmeade Stable's Sword Dancer, King Ranch's Black Hills, Ralph Lowe's Sherry Prince, T. Alie Grissom's Namon, Pollock and Bond's Winsome Winner, Cary C. Boshamer's Carolina Joy, and Leo Edwards' Moon Age.

This will be the second richest Garden State. In 1956 they ran for $319,210, and Calumet Farm's Barbizon made off with a net purse of $168,490.50.

If any horse but a supplementary entry wins, this would be the most money ever won by a horse in a race—roughly about $175,000. The four supplementaries, at $10,000 each, are Restless Wind, Manon, Winsome Winner and Sword Dancer.

Either First Landing or Restless Wind could become the top money winning 2-year-old in history by getting home on top. Jewel's Reward earned a record $349,642 last season.

Willie Shoemaker will ride Tomy Lee. Hartack, who won the last two Garden State Stakes aboard Barbizon and Nadir, will handle Black Hills, a 15-1 shot.

Erice Guerin, who won with Summer Tan in 1954, rides Sword Dancer.

Richest of the other Saturday features is the $50,000-added Canadian Championship at New Woodbine. The 1⅝ mile race on the grass has attracted a field of 12, eight of them from the United States. Probable choice is the three-horse entry of Ekaba, Jack Ketch and Mahan from the Hasty House Farm.

Jamaica matches eight veteran performers in the mile and one-sixteenth of the $25,000 added Queens County Handicap. Tick Tock is the probable choice off victories in his last three races but Cohoes carries top weight of 126 pounds. Tick Tock gets in with three less, the same as Eddie Schmidt.

A traffic jam is in prospect at Suffolk Downs where 17 sprinters have been named for the 6 furlong, $20,000 aded John Alden Handicap. The field numbers such fleet performers as Bull Strength (124), Alhambra (120), The Crack (118), and Mark Antony (121).

Bay Meadows winds up its fall meeting with Battle Dance heading a field of 10 in the $25,000 added William P. Kyne Memorial Handicap. It's a mile and one-eighth test with Battle Dance carrying top weight of 124 pounds.

Rounding out the top races on Saturday's program are the $10,000 added Littletown Handicap at Sportsman's Park and a $7,500 Handicap at Keeneland.

UNANIMOUS

Liston Decisions Bert Whitehurst

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Charles "Sonny" Liston scored a unanimous 10-round decision Friday over Bert Whitehurst, knocking Whitehurst out of the ring in the final seconds of the last round. Whitehurst was trying to climb back into the ring when the fight ended.

Liston took control of the fight from the start, working constantly on Whitehurst with his rapier-like left, which he kept jabbing to the face. But it was not until the seventh round that Liston really gave out with a flurry that left little doubt of his superiority.

Liston's weight of 212½ pounds —22½ more than his opponent—began to tell heavily on Whitehurst in the seventh. Whitehurst appeared tired when he came out for the eighth.

It was Liston's 20th victory in 21 fights. It was the 14th straight victory for Liston and his second this year over Whitehurst, the only man who has been able to go the distance against him this year.

Liston, formerly of St. Louis but now fighting out of Philadelphia, caught his Baltimore opponent with a sharp left hook early in the ninth and had Whitehurst in serious trouble.

In the 10th Liston was in again midway in the round with his left. He caught Whitehurst directly on the chin. In a wild flurry of lefts and rights, Liston sent Whitehurst reeling through the ropes. Whitehurst lay on the apron as Referee Harry Kessler began his count. He was trying to get back in the ring when the final gong sounded at the count of eight.

Whitehurst, a journeyman fighter who now has a 24-15-4 record, had difficulty getting through Liston's guard. Occasionally he turned on brief spurts but for the most part he appeared ineffective.

Liston used a left jab repeatedly, keeping Whitehurst off guard, occasionally using a right which seldom landed. Both were cautious through the greater part of the fight. It was not until the fourth round that Liston put on a flurry of action. Then he drove Whitehurst into the ropes but he failed to follow up.

Whitehurst forced Liston to retreat a few times but never actually had his heavier, slow-moving opponent in real trouble. Whitehurst's best showing came midway in the fight.

Sooners Face Kansas State In Big 8 Tilt

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Not since 1934 has Kansas State whipped an Oklahoma football team, and it doesn't look like this is the year either.

The Sooners, ranked 9th nationally, are favored by five touchdowns in the Big Eight clash. Under Coach Bud Wilkinson, Oklahoma has played in 64 league games without a defeat.

While a heavy favorite, Oklahoma is not taking the game lightly as Wilkinson recalls last year's scare. A cleverly - contrived defense by Kansas State's Coach Bus Mertes held Oklahoma's scoring punch down and the Sooners got out with a 13-0 victory.

Oklahoma opened its Big Eight season last week with 43-0 victory over Kansas.

Missouri upset K-State 32-8 last week when the Wildcats played without their captain, Gene Meier, a tackle, and Bill Gallagher, hard-running sophomore fullback. They will be without them again this week.

Conley Gets Okay To Play With Celtics

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Pitcher Gene Conley of the Milwaukee Braves was told Friday night the team's management had no objections to his playing basketball with the Boston Celtics.

Joseph Cairnes, president of the Braves, said he met with General Manager John Quinn and Birdie Tebbetts, the club's new executive vice president, and they decided there was no reason why they should stand in Conley's way.

"Conley has a background in professional basketball," Cairnes said, "a thing uncommon to most baseball players."

Conley signed with the Celtics Thursday for an undisclosed amount. A clause in his contract with the Braves states that " . . . he will not engage in any game or exhibition of football, basketball, hockey or other athletic sport." Conley has a standard one year contract with the Braves.

Conley played with the Celtics during the 1952-53 season. Hampered by a sore arm, his 1958 record with the Braves was 0-6.

LAMBERT TROPHY AT STAKE

Big Things To Happen On College Gridirons Today

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Saturday is a day unlike any other day so far during the 1958 college football season. Here, among other things, is what's going to happen:

1. A Lambert Trophy winner all but formally chosen.

2. A big step taken in picking the Ivy League, Big Ten, Skyline, Southern and Southwest Conference champions.

3. Some highly ranked teams forced to prove just how good they really are.

The Cadets, with a 4-0 record, will have to play without fullback Harry Walters and with a highly curtailed Pete Dawkins, the star halfback with a charley horse. The Panthers, 4-1, are in good physical shape.

Ohio State (No. 2) with a 2-0 Big Ten record, and 4-0 overall, meets powerful Wisconsin, 1-1 in conference play. Then to the West, unbeaten Northwestern (No. 8), 2-0 in the Big Ten plays Iowa (No. 7), also 2-0 Ohio State and Northwestern are paired for the following week.

In the East, the same situation exists. Harvard (1-1) and Dartmouth (2-0) in the Ivy League play each other, while Princeton travels to Cornell where their 2-0 records will be tested. Princeton and Dartmouth, who meet Nov. 22, are expected to decide the title then.

West of the Mississippi, Wyoming (3-0) plays New Mexico (2-0) with the winner the probable Skyline Conference titlist.

Texas (No. 4) plays Rice in the Southwest Conference. Rice is 2-0, Texas 1-0 in conference play, while idle Texas Christian (No. 16) is also 2-0. The winner of the Texas-Rice game could begin looking toward the Cotton Bowl.

Virginia Tech plays West Virginia in the Tobacco Festival Bowl and Virginia Military meets Davidson, in Southern Conference games. All four teams have 1-0 records. The conference title could be postponed until Nov. 27 when Tech and VMI play if things go as expected this weekend.

Now for those big boys who have to produce or leave.

Louisiana State (No. 3) plays Southeast Conference rival Florida, while sixth ranked Mississippi meets non-conference foe Arkansas. LSU and Mississippi could wrap up the title next Saturday

Fifth ranked Auburn, its 17-game winning streak broken with a 7-7 tie by Georgia Tech last week, plays Maryland, which has been shut out in three games this year.

Ninth ranked Oklahoma plays Big Eight rival Kansas State, while Notre Dame (No. 11) meets Purdue in their usual slam-bang affair. Purdue is ranked 15th and will face the Irish on a regional television hookup in the Midwest.

Colorado (No. 12) puts its high powered offense against Nebraska in the Big Eight while the surprising Air Force Academy (No. 14) plays Utah, whose Lee Grosscup keeps the footballs flying.

Georgia Tech (No. 17) travels to Dallas to play Southern Methodist, still wondering if Mustang quarterback Don Meredith will play. Navy (No. 18) after absorbing its first loss from Tulane last week, meets Penn's Quakers, who won their first the same day. Mississippi State (No. 19) plays Alabama in the Southeast Conference and Michigan State (No. 20) plays Illinois in the Big Ten.

Other top games feature:

South: North Carolina State at Duke; Kentucky at Georgia; Wake Forest at North Carolina; Florida State at Tennessee; Virginia at Vanderbilt.

Midwest: Minnesota at Michigan; Miami, Ohio at Indiana; Tulane at Kansas; College of Pacific at Marquette; Iowa State at Missouri; Oklahoma State at Cincinnati.

Southwest: Texas A&M at Baylor; Tulsa at North Texas State; Wichita at Hardin-Simmons.

West: Southern California at Washington State (regional TV); Oregon at California; Stanford at UCLA; Washington at Oregon State.

CADETS UNBEATEN

Panthers Seek To Upset Army

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pitt's chances to upset unbeaten Army Saturday got a boost Friday with the disclosure that Cadet halfback Peter Dawkins will see little if any action.

Dawkins and halfback Bob Anderson have helped the Cadets run up the best collegiate offensive record, win four straight games and grab the No. 1 ranking nationally.

"Dawkins definitely will not start," said Army Coach Earl Blaik after sending his team through a light workout in Pitt Stadium. Dawkins pulled a leg muscle last week against Virginia.

Blaik indicated he might use the fleet halfback if the situation called for it, but would take no unnecessary chances. "We still have four games left after this one," Blaik added.

Fullback Harry Walters is definitely lost to the Cadets. He sustained a severe ankle sprain against Virginia.

Pitt carries a 4-1 record into the game which will be televised in the East (12:30 p.m. EST, NBC). The Panthers, two and three deep in every position, will be without the services of place-kicking guard Norton Seaman and fullbacks Bob Stark and Joe Cunningham.

Essentially a ground team in seasons past, Pitt, under Coach John Michelosen, is expected to throw a lot of passes. Quarterbacks Ivan Toncic, Bill Kaliden and Ed Sharockman have connected with 49 per cent of their aerials and Toncic has completed 20 of 30.

Army will have to overcome a jinx to whip the Panthers, who have never lost to the Cadets in three games in Pittsburgh. Pitt has won five of the seven meetings with Army taking a pair, including last year at West Point

The game shapes up as a battle for the Lambert Trophy, symbolic of Eastern football supremacy. Army currently is running first in the weekly voting for the award with Pitt second.

Cards Defeat Jap All-Stars In Exhibition

TOKYO (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals downed a Japanese All-Star squad 5-2 Friday in the opener of a 16-game exhibition tour of this country.

Solly Hemus, the Cardinals' manager, said he felt the Japanese players were of major league calibre.

"Before coming to Japan I thought Japanese players were of double-A or triple-A classification," Hemus said. "They are much better than I expected."

He said the Cardinals would have to improve or they would face some rough times on the tour.

"Friday's Japanese pitchers were good," he said. "They throw harder than I thought. Instead of curving the ball, they fired some fast ones."

The Cardinals still combed two pitchers for seven hits, three by second baseman Don Blasingame which accounted for two of the Cardinals' runs.

The Cards' star, Stan Musial, was a disappointment to the 25,000 fans who turned out at Korakuen Stadium. He walked once, grounded to second and flied to center in three appearances.

"I will start hitting Saturday," Stan The Man said apologetically. "The pitchers surprised me the way they got the ball over the plate. They have fine control."

St. Louis' starting pitcher, lefthander Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell, was lifted in the sixth inning after suffering a bruise on his right hand while stopping a line drive by Futoshi Nakanishi the Japanese first baseman.

The injure wasn't serious but Hemus said he didn't want to take any chances. Mizell was replaced by Don Blaylock.

Leavitt Gets Axe; Tried To Sign Elliott

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—The rug Friday was pulled out from under the American promoter who offered fabulous professional contracts to Australia's ace miler, Herb Elliott, and the record-smashing Konrads kids.

The promoter, Leo Leavitt, was fired by his boss Fred Spiess, secretary - treasurer of Western Promotions of San Francisco. The dismissal is effective Nov. 26.

"Leavitt magnified his position and greatly overstepped his authority," Spiess told a press conference here. "We would sack Leo at once but we have to abide by our contract."

Leavitt offered Elliott, the world's fastest miler, a quarter of a million dollars to turn professional. He reportedly made a $125,000 offer to Jon and Ilsa Konrads, who hold many of the world's swimming records.

After Elliott turned down Leavitt's offer, the promoter attacked amateur officials as "a bunch of slobs" and threatened to make disclosures which would ruin Elliott's amateur career.

The crowd booed loudly and yelled for Leavitt "to take your check book and go back to America."

Leavitt walked out of the news conference in a huff, saying he would resign in seven days. He insisted he could still lay his hands on two million dollars. He said Elliott and the Konrads "will still come over to me."

San Francisco Center Suffers Knee Injury

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Huge Frank Morze, center for the San Francisco 49ers, may be through for the season with a knee injury suffered last week.

The 265-pound former Boston College star suffered a torn ligament near the left knee in last Sunday's game against the Philadelphia Eagles.

Friday the report was he would be inactive another four or five weeks. Coach Frank Albert said he may place Morze on the injured reserve list, which would keep him out the rest of the season.

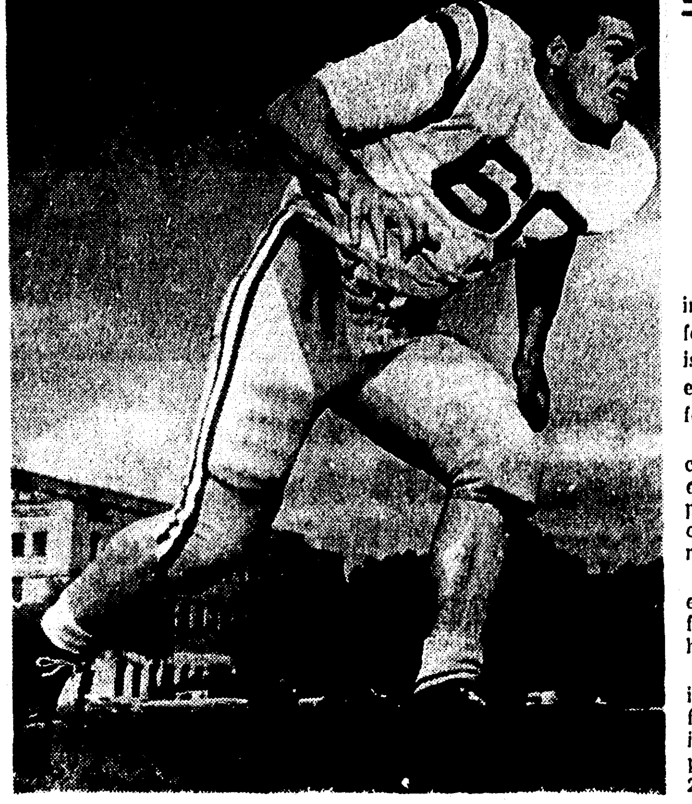
Scotch Event At Highland Course Today

Bob Creighton and Lila Simpson defend their title today in the second Scotch foursome of the fall season at the Highland Park Country Club golf course.

The tourney teams are comprised of one man and one woman, each playing the same ball on alternate shots. Both tee off and choose the best tee shot to play, then alternate shots.

Sixteen teams played the tournament four weeks ago won by Creighton and Simpson and another large field is expected. All players should register before 11 a.m. today by calling Highland pro James Aulds.



CLAYTON TIGER—Al Dampier, sophomore guard at LSU, will see action tonight when the third-ranked Bengals play Florida at Baton Rouge. A 200-pounder, Dampier is a resident of Clayton and played his high school football at Sicily Island.

BIG TEN BATTLE

Wisconsin Plays Buckeyes Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State's second-ranked Bucks were building up to a stage of relaxed confidence for Saturday's Big Ten clash with Wisconsin's Badgers.

Noting that his huge charges fumbled three times against impotent Indiana last week—the first bobbles of the year—Coach Woody Hayes has moved to take the tension from his team.

Thursday's practice schedule was billed on the bulletin board as "Operation Sally Rand." Halfway through the workout the squad doffed its pads and headgears and romped the rest of the way in practically nothing.

Before and after the workout the locker room hi-fi set blared with the university's marching band music, and the entire score of "Music Man." The freshman squad visited the varsity field for a round of "Yea, Varsity" and "Beat Wisconsin" yells for the upper classmen.

After another easy workout Friday, Hayes said:

"We think we're good enough to do it." He meant he thinks his Bucks can whip the Badgers for their fifth of the year, their 14th in a row, and their 27th Western Conference victory in 29 starts.

Hayes figures 13th-rated Wisconsin, after losing 20-9 to Iowa a week ago, will be "higher than a kite," and that the Bucks will have to be two or three touchdowns better than at any time this year to win.

The kickoff is slated for 2 p.m. (EST) and at least 83,000 fans will be on hand.

RACING ROUNDUP

Brilliant Speed Wins Buena Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

George E. Allen's well-named Brilliant Speed carried Jockey Larry Gilligan to victory in the Buena Purse at Garden State Park Friday.

The 3-year-old son of Count Speed finished a length before John S. Kroese's Merry Lark. Calumet Farm's Jeriel the 4-5 choice, was third. Brilliant Speed paid $24.80.

Tartan Stable's Meeting ran away from five rivals in the top event at Jamaica.

The 5-year-old son of Brick-Eos, ridden by Johnny Ruane, sped the mile and a sixteenth in 1:42 3-5, three fifths off Blessbull's track record set in 1956.

Meeting won by 5 lengths over George D. Widener's Rare Treat, who took the place by 2½ lengths over Laudy Lawrence's Beau Diable. Meeting returned $7.40.

Audley Farms' Hit Head came out of a seven-horse Jam in a rip-roaring finish for a neck decision over Peter Fuller's Wailin Sailor in the Suffolk Downs feature.

The seven were less than a length apart with a sixteenth of a mile to go.

Winding Way Farms' Graces Luck was third. Hit Head ran the 6 furlongs in 1:14 1-5 and paid $12.20.

John Leavitt's Lisa Lou was ridden by George Taniguchi in a fast finish to win the feature at Bay Meadows by a neck from Justa Drizzle, a 50 to 1 shot.

Chicote Girl was third, another neck back in the race for 2-year-old fillies.

Lisa Lou, daughter of Lodge Night, ran the 6 furlongs in 1:11 1-5 and paid $18.40.

Hogs Tangle With Rebs At Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Mighty Ole Miss rolls into War Memorial Stadium Saturday to meet Arkansas, but the unbeaten Rebels approach the contest with a measure of respect for the winless Razorbacks.

Four times in the immediate past seasons, the Mississippi Rebels have entered this contest as the favorite. On three occasions they have crawled back to Oxford licking 6-0, 14-0 and 12-6 wounds.

But if ever the cards were stacked in Ole Miss' favor, it is this year. Coach Johnny Vaught's 1958 Sugar Bowl champions have built up a full head of steam since their last defeat — by Arkansas in Memphis a year ago.

Mississippi has a 5-0 record while Arkansas stands 0-5.

The game — high point of the football season for fans in both states — will be a 38,000 sellout despite the discrepancy in caliber of opponents. All except 800 end zone seats were sold by mail long ago.

Excellent weather is forecast for the 2 p.m. EST kickoff.

Gators Test Third-Ranked LSU In Homecoming Tilt

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.

BATON ROUGE (AP)—In boxing, it's slugger against boxer. In football Saturday night, it's Louisiana State against Florida. In either case the story is strong offense against tough defense.

A capacity 65,000 homecoming crowd will watch the upset-minded 'Gators try to spike LSU's explosive offense, led by All-America halfback candidate Billy Cannon.

Kickoff is 8 p.m. for the Southeastern Conference contest. In four seasons, coach Paul Dietzel has never beaten Florida.

The Tigers, for the first time in nearly 20 years, have won their first five games, and rank third in the current Associated Press poll. LSU rolled up 132 points to 22 for combined foes.

Florida won two, lost one and pint-sized Jimmy Dunn had to pitch a touchdown pass as time ran out last week to snatch a 6-6 tie with Vanderbilt.

Florida's rugged line, led by Val Heckman and end Don Fleming, limited four opponents to 260 yards net gain on the ground.

Cannon, the SEC's top rusher, spearheads a tough Tiger ground attack that has rolled for 1,099 yards in five games. The 200-pound halfback gets a lot of help from fullback Tommy Davis and halfbacks Johnny Robinson and Don Purvis.

Dunn, 142-pound senior quarterback, directs Florida's attack, sparkling as a passer and faking deceptively.

The Gators last year snapped a four-game LSU winning streak 22-14 at Gainesville, Fla.

LSU's climb into national prominence is due to reserves as much as the Cannon-led first unit.

Dietzel has his best 11 football players on the first team, but uses a two-platoon reserve system, the "Chinese bandits" on defense and the "go team" on offense.

Center Max Fugler has been a standout starter, but John Langan on the "bandits" is pushing Fugler hard for first team honors.

Davis and Purvis give the "go team" a terrific offensive punch, mixing Davis' power running with the 160-pound "scooter's" nifty broken field dashes.

LSU's wing-T offense is designed to get the most out of a lightweight but highly mobile line Florida should have a weight advantage in the line.

Coach Bob Woodruff's Gators run from a straight T formation relying heavily on the belly series which features a fake or give to the fullback with Dunn either keeping himself or tossing to a halfback.

Both teams are near full strength. Only halfback Do[n] Lucey is doubtful for Florida, wit[h] Davis likely to be slowed by [a] leg injury for LSU.

PRO FOOTBALL

Unbeaten Marks On Line Sunday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The only remaining unbeaten records in the National Football League—those of the Cleveland Browns and Baltimore Colts—should undergo severe strain Sunday.

The Browns, whose 4-0 mark leads the Eastern Conference, send their stout ground-gaining attack against the Chicago Cardinals' tricky "triple wing" offense at Chicago's Comiskey Park. The Cardinals (2-2) are improving steadily and two weeks ago lost to Cleveland by only a touchdown, 35-28.

The Colts, leading the Western Conference with four straight victories, are at home with their formidable neighborhood rivals, the Washington Redskins (2-2). The Redskins beat the Colts in an exhibition game. A verbal prelude to the game involving a Colt player and George Marshall, Redskin owner, has helped sell every available ticket.

In other league action, the Chicago Bears play at San Francisco, the winless Detroit Lions at Los Angeles, Philadelphia at Green Bay and Pittsburgh at New York.

Cleveland is banking on its two ball-rushing stars, Jimmy Brown and rookie Bob Mitchell, to offset any of the wild shenanigans the Cards might try with their new wide open formation which Coach Pop Ivy brought down from the Canadian league.

Brown has gone 635 yards on the ground in four games, a record pace.

The Colts have depended largely on Johnny Unitas' passing and Lenny Moore's running victori[es] over Green Bay, Chicago Bear[s] and Detroit, the latter beat[en] twice. Johnny Olszewski and E[d]die Lebaron are among the Was[h]ington attacking threats the Col[ts] must watch.

The New York Giants (2-2) w[ill] have a little known Texan, D[on] Maynard, in the left halfback sp[ot] of the injured Frank Giffo[rd] against the Pittsburgh Steele[rs] (1-3). The Steelers are attempti[ng] to get an offense clicking behi[nd] Bobby Layne.

The Bears (3-1), pre-season [fa]vorites for the Western cro[wn] will be endeavoring to pick [up] some ground on front-running B[al]timore in their game at S[an] Francisco. The Bears won th[e] first meeting with the 49ers, 28[-?] but the San Francisco team (2[-?]) bounced back last week to b[eat] the Philadelphia Eagles, 30-24.

The Los Angeles Rams (2[-?]) will be favored to repeat th[eir] early season triumph over the [de]fending champion Lions (0-3[)]. The Rams scored two touchdo[wns] in the last two minutes to win [at] Detroit's Briggs Stadium 42-28.

Norm Van Brocklin, who t[rig]gers the Philadelphia offen[se] may give the Eagles (1-3) [an] edge over the unseason Gr[een] Bay Packers, who have lost th[ree] games and tied one in four sta[rts].

Grambling To Meet Prairie View Eleven

GRAMBLING La. (Special) — Coach Eddie Robinson was looking around Friday for incentives to put his scrimmage - scarred Grambling Tigers in the proper frame of mind for tonight's crucial game with the Prairie View Panthers.

The contest will be played in Grambling's new stadium, and, due to a curious state of affairs, might help decide the Southwestern Conference championship.

Both elevens are undefeated and it is hard to imagine a Southwestern loop title picture without familiar Prairie View faces. Opposing coaches professed a willingness Friday to accept an even break as par. However, beating Prairie View is a "must" for coaching happiness in Grambling and Robinson and his staff will shoot the works.

One of the least dismayed practioners in his profession during the past four days. Robinson admits he likes the Cinderella chances of his beardless cubs.

Saturday is "Dad's Day" and the fathers of Grambling football players will sit on their bench.

Altrusa Fourth District Convention To Be Held In Shreveport October 24-26

Top business women from four states met in Shreveport Friday and will continue Saturday for the annual conference of the Fourth District of Altrusa International.

Members of Altrusa, the first classified women's service organization to be founded in the United States, convened for the three day sessions at the Washington - Youree Hotel. Emphasis was added to the conference by the expected arrival of Mrs. Edith W. Nelson of Richmond, Va., international president and Miss Mamie Larsh, of Indianapolis, Indiana, the legal adviser of Altrusa International.

Mrs. Violet Dickens, president of the Shreveport Club and general chairman of the conference advised registration under the supervision of Miss Lula Sasser. The general business session open at 4 p.m. The invocation was given by Dr. D. L. Dykes, Jr. and the official welcome from the city of Shreveport was given by Mayor James C. Garner at the opening of the business session. Mrs. Irene Jones of Huntsville, Alabama, governor of the fourth district will preside at all sessions.

The memorial services, conducted by two past governors from Shreveport, Mrs. Nancy Nettles and Miss Drury Key, was held in the chapel of the Beck Building at 5:30 p.m. Friday evening there was a buffet supper with the presidents of all Louisiana Altrusa Clubs receiving. A program highlight of the buffet was a series of skits on varied themes presented by Mrs. Memory Lee Streun and Jacques Steinau. The business of the conference will be resumed today when the reports of the district officers will be heard, and the workshops will start at 10:30 p.m.

The president's luncheon today in the Crystal Ball Room will have as guest speaker, Mrs. Edith Nelson, president of Altrusa International. Mrs. Irene Jones, governor will preside at the governor's banquet and will introduce the speaker, Miss Mamie Larsh. Miss Larsh's subject will be "Altrusa's Place in the World."

The entertainment for the banquet will be one of Shreveport's singing actresses, Mrs. Jasmine Egan, who will entertain with her Oriental, Parisienne sophisticate and Old South song interpretations. One of the highlights of the conference will be the reception following the banquet, honoring the international representatives Mrs. Edith Nelson and Miss Mamie Larsh, and Mrs. Irene Jones, governor of the district and the visiting governor of ninth district, Mrs. Edith DeBusk, prominent attorney of Dallas, and the secretary of ninth district, Miss Aileen Aiken also of Dallas, Texas.

The conference will conclude with breakfast Sunday morning. Those in attendance from the Monroe Club are: Mrs. Jewel Durham, official delegate and Mrs. Helen Luckett, Miss Mary Benoit, Miss Pauline Kelley and Miss Bernice McCoy.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Can't Treat 24-Year-Old As If She Were 15

By ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: What can we do about a 24 - year - old daughter who says she's in love with a 34-year - old man? He has a 10-year - old child and a divorce in progress.

We don't know his family because he's from another state. He's had six jobs in five months — just goes from one thing to another. Our daughter will have to give up her religion to marry him but she says "it's worth it".

She told us he was a single fellow when she started to go out with him six months ago, although she knew then he was married. Is there any legal action that can be taken against him? Our daughter doesn't care what family, friends, doctor or clergyman say. She claims she's crazy about him and nothing else matters. Can you help? —NORA

If this girl refuses to listen to family, friends, doctor or clergyman, she won't listen to me either — particularly since she didn't ask for my advice.

A girl 24 is an adult and you have no grounds for legal action against the man. He's not kidnapping her.

A part of your daughter's stubborness is probably rooted in her hostility toward you. The more you fight the situation and deprecate the man, the greater will be her determination to marry him and demonstrate that she can and will do as she pleases.

You can't treat a 24 - year - old as if she were 15. Simply withdraw and let her get her lumps the hard way. She's a big girl now.

DEAR ANN: My husband has not been on a payroll since June 6th of this year. We have two small children, a home, a car, and bills. He sells insurance on a flat commission basis, when he feels like it. Unfortunately, he doesn't feel like it very often.

His mother left a small estate and he's been dipping into that money which I hoped would be for the children's education. He's been bringing home a few dollars a week from the estate and pretending it's commission from his sales.

I've worked ever since our baby was 20 months old. I'm tired of it and want my husband to support us. I've been lying to my family and friends because I'm ashamed to tell them the truth. I don't know what in the world he does with his time. When I tell him to get a job or I'll leave him, he says "Goodbye".

My nerves are at the breaking point. What shall I do?—KCA

What is your husband contributing to your marriage besides wisecracks? If he makes no effort to find work you have a right to tell him to get out. It then becomes a matter for the law if a man doesn't support his family. The little boy needs to grow up. Perhaps this will do it.

CONFIDENTIALLY: MRS. HA' HA: You've had two failures—do you want to try for three? Just tell a man that his mother reminds you of a squirrel and you've had it, Toots.

UNLUCKY LU: Married men are poor prospects. Wake up. Perhaps your luck would change if you'd operate in a different orbit.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper and enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.)

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Willi ngness Indicative Of Future Character

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Parents get so accustomed to their young children taking an afternoon nap that it comes as quite a shock when suddenly they cry, shake the bed, demand to be let out and refuse to sleep.

Sometimes this is a temporary situation which can be handled by going in, talking to them soothingly, reading a story, patting them gently until they relax and go to sleep.

But often children literally cannot sleep and then it is wise to give them a "rest" period with no demand that they sleep. Undress them, leave the blinds up, give them toys in bed and tell them in an hour they can come out of their room.

Now, they are resting. If mother takes a rest at the same time, the period can be a very comfortable one for everyone.

LETTER

Mrs. B. D. writes, "Suppose a 2½ - year - old boy is not sleepy but is put to bed anyway and cries for a time and then goes to sleep?

"My sister's and brother's children, both 2½, learned to climb out of bed and it is hard to keep them there. My boy has not wanted to climb out. My sister and brother laugh because theirs did.

"Can I determine by this what my boy's character will be when he grows up? Will he be a go-getter or sit back and let life pass him by? Most boys of this age do climb out of bed and I wondered if this were indicative of what his adult life would be."

ANSWER

I would hardly go that far. Maybe he really is sleepy and after he has given a few token cries he just falls asleep. The other children are not and so resent being penned in and fight to get away from the bed.

Once they have learned to climb out it is safer to put down the crib bars and then put a flexible gate on the door so they cannot run out of the room. They can play in there for the hour of rest.

Your boy may never be as aggressive as these boys but why do they all have to be the same? Just accept him as he is and do not be so sensitive about your brother's and sister's amusement.

They may not feel so secure about what their children are but find you take them seriously and so the temptation to tease or prod you, is overwhelming.

Be glad that he still wants to ta! a nap, though if he cries too long I would go in and tell him he didn't have to sleep, just be quiet and rest.

Football Fans Have Private Railroad Car

This morning at seven o'clock a real pigskin treat is in store for some of our most prominent football fans and business men.

They will leave on a private car on the Missouri Pacific Railroad for Little Rock, Arkansas, to see the Arkansas-Ole Miss football game this afternoon.

They will have breakfast and lunch on the train. A special bus will transport them to the stadium in Little Rock and then after the game back to the private car where they will be served a delicious steak dinner, arriving here at home in Monroe about eleven o'clock tonight.

Those scheduled to make the trip are Shelby Hill, Fred Petty, P. B. Snodgrass, H. G. McDonald, Wayne Wools, Dr. D. L. Anderson, L. M. Ray, Winnie Cole, M. E. Trowbridge, Ed Harper, L. D. Ritter, Amos Smelser, Burt Sperry, H. W. McSherry, Al Huey, Claude Gilliland, A. Petrus, A. L. Smith, Al Gallagher, Stan Bagwell, Jack Rubin and Van Veckhoven.

Miss Leta Deane Frazier Honored With Showers

Miss Leta Deane Frazier, bride-elect of Sonny Steed was entertained with a miscellaneous shower at the Labor Temple on Montgomery Street in West Monroe on Tuesday evening.

The bride-elect was becomingly dressed in a black velveteen sheath with red accessories. Her corsage was of red dahlias.

Arrangements of fall flowers were used at vantage points.

The serving table was covered with a white cloth, in the center of which was placed a bride and groom arrangement. A crystal punch service was placed at one end of the table, and at the other a flower arrangement. Mrs. Roy Simmons poured and assisting in serving were Mrs. Bennett, Mrs. Charlie Guraedy, Mrs. Grace Guillory, Mrs. Gordon Greer and Mrs. James Fletcher.

Guests were Mrs. Herbert Frazier and Miss Joyce Frazier, mother and sister of the bride-elect.

Refreshments were served to fifty - three friends.

The home of Mrs. Dewayne Cummings on Bailey Street in West Monroe was the setting on Thursday evening for a shower honoring Miss Leta Deane Frazier. Miss Frazier was becomingly gowned in a cotton sheath of brown and gold design and her accessories were brown.

A linen cloth covered the table and for a centerpiece an arrangement of fall flowers was used.

Mrs Hollis McGrew served at the punch service. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Greer, Mrs Chloe May, Mrs. Leroy McGrew. Among the twenty - five guests were Mrs. Herbert Frazier, mother of the bride-elect; Mrs. Maggie Thompson, grandmother and Miss Joyce Frazier, sister.

C.A.R. Declare This Week As Education Week

The week of October 19 through 25 has been declared Patriotic Education Week by the National Society of the Children of the American Revolution as well as the Local Society Lt. Joseph Bowmar. Posters have been placed in windows of downtown business concerns. Mayor W. L. Howard made a formal proclamation as did Governor Earl Long for the Patriotic Education Week.

The Patriotic Education Committee is sponsoring a two year program to increase knowledge of American history so that people may better fulfill their duties as citizens. The highlight of the campaign is the Patriotic Education Week. The theme of the program is The Value of American Liberty, and the emphasis this year is on Our Four Freedoms, religion, speech, press and assembly. This is the purpose of trying to spread patriotic education and alert Americans to the danger that could come to the priceless heritage of American liberty.

Miss Patty Prophit is the president of Lt. Joseph Bowmar in Monroe, and Mrs. S. W. McLean is senior president.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

IN MONROE

District Court's Schedule Heavy

Two years in the Louisiana State Penitentiary at Angola was the sentence meted out to Jim Little, alias Robert Harris, when he pled guilty to theft of a wrist watch yesterday.

Judge David I. Garrett sentenced Little in Fourth District Court. In addition to the term for the $89.95 watch, he drew 15 days in the parish jail, for theft of cuff links worth $5.

Bigamy netted James Gibson three years in the Ouachita Parish jail.

Miss Edith Bell, remanded until today for sentencing, received a six month jail sentence for false swearing, a misdemeanor, but was placed on probation.

Robert Powell Jr., alias Bobby Powell, pled guilty to theft of a TV set valued at $75 and theft of $50. He was remanded for presentence investigation.

Eleven cases were slated for trial yesterday. Trial of Gerald M. Rugg, charged with driving without a license and while intoxicated, was continued until Nov. 14.

Tommie J. Womack was fined $25 or 10 days for reckless driving. Charges of failure to post bond were dropped.

Disturbing the peace resulted in a fine of $25 or 10 days each for James Barrett and W. C. Barrett.

CONTINUED

The court continued the trial of Henry Ford until Jan. 9, 1959. He is charged with driving while intoxicated.

A fine of $25 or 10 days was levied against Jerome Duchean for disturbing the peace.

Elbert Luther Hearne was fined $350 or 60 days in the parish jail for driving while intoxicated.

Leron Furr was fined $300 or 60 days for driving while intoxicated, and 30 days for the unauthorized use of a movable. The latter sentence started with the time of his arrest and the balance of it was suspended yesterday.

Thomas Morley drew a 90 day jail term for unauthorized use of a movable.

In other cases, J. B. Davis was fined $25 or 10 days for driving without brakes. He received an identical sentence for reckless driving causing an accident.

Among persons in jail charged with felonies, Sterling Barrilleaux denied theft of $25 and trial is set for Nov. 20.

Trial is also slated on that day for Emma E. Shankers, alias Emma Barrilleaux, charged with theft of $25. She will also be tried on charges of theft of $10, a misdemeanor.

Calvin Coolidge Diggins denied two counts of simple burglary, and trial is set for Feb. 4, 1959.

Minton E. Whittington pled guilty to driving while intoxicated and was fined $300 or 60 days.

William D. Kennedy maintained his innocence on two charges of theft of $400 and of $250. Trial is scheduled for Nov. 4.

Robert F. Bayles, on bond and charged with aggravated battery denied guilt and trial is set for Feb. 3, 1959.

SCHEDULED

Twenty - four persons were scheduled for arraignment yesterday.

Each of the following who pled guilty was fined $25 or 10 days in jail:

Billy R. Causey, and Dan Pettit admitted speeding.

Walter Ray Conner and Theodore May Jr. pled guilty to driving without a chauffeur's license. May denied charges of failure to post bond.

On reckless driving charges, Nerious O. Fussell, G. O. Kirkpatrick, Joseph N. Smith, J. B. Davis, Helene L. Thompson and James Watson each pled guilty. Watson also drew a 15-day compulsory jail sentence, and Davis was fined for driving without brakes.

Harwood C. Lee, Sam Sewell and Dortie Moore were fined for driving with improper mufflers.

Disturbing the peace resulted in a fine for Luther Martin.

Charles Ray Stout and Jeff Washington each were fined for driving without a driver's license. Stout was also fined $5 or 5 days for driving with an improper license plate.

Nathaniel Bolden appeared in court and admitted reckless driving. Bond forfeiture against him when he did not appear in court last week was set aside, and he was fined $50 or 15 days.

Trial dates were set for the following, who denied charges:

Robert Cameron and Willie E. Dear, trial on Dec. 5 on charges of reckless driving.

Eugene Johnson Jr., trial Dec. 12 on charges of driving with switched license plates.

Ira Staten, trial Dec. 5 on charges of simple obstruction of a highway.

Raymond Turner, charged with second offense, driving while intoxicated, trial Dec. 12.

Loyce Howard failed to appear on charges of driving without a chauffeur's license and failure to post bond.

Charges of driving with defective brakes against Sylvester Mason Jr. were passed over.

Clarence E. Chisholm, charged with speeding, was listed as scheduled to appear in court Monday.

Willie E. Kinman, listed on the docket as charged with driving while intoxicated, did not appear and was not arraigned.

The following charges were dropped: Charges of failure to post bond, against Herbert E. Tedeton forgery against Theodore Harris, and criminal neglect of the family, against L. D. Frost in juvenile court.

In juvenile court, one person was remanded on bond on charges of criminal neglect of the family, and another man was ordered to pay $15 weekly support.

Burned Clamp Halts Power In Sector Of WM

A clamp on a feeder line burned out on Roland Road in West Monroe leaving a small area without power shortly after 7 p.m.

A Louisiana Power and Light spokesman said the area was isolated and service was restored in a few minutes.

Try At 'Free' Soft Drink Can Result In Death

West Monroe Police Chief Jeff Caldwell yesterday warned that children who try to pilfer cold drinks from machines could be flirting with death.

Caldwell said a 13-year-old boy was caught twice yesterday trying to get a "free" soft drink. The boy's hand was caught in a vending machine at Crosley School as he tried to reach inside and trip a lever. Firemen and policemen had to tear into the machine to free the boy.

"If a person gets his hand cut when he gets caught, it's possible for him to bleed to death before he can be released. Then, too, a child could lose a finger or a hand in one of the machines," the chief said.

In other action, police caught a small Negro boy shoplifting in a downtown West Monroe store, Caldwell said. Both boys were turned over to their parents to await juvenile court action.

Monroe Street Scene

BATTERED PAVEMENT —Condition of pavement in the 1400 block of DeSiard Street is typical of that found in many of Monroe's thoroughfares. Foundation failure, surface cracking and potholes are common inconvenience and expense to the taxpayer who will vote Tuesday on a capital improvement program to eliminate such conditions of five major arteries. (Staff photo by John Fogleman.)

ROUGH RIDING — Motorists on extremely heavily traveled Forsythe Avenue find riding not so smooth, what with coarse pavement and uneven surfaces. In widening the street, the city had to resort to the more crude type of work because of lack of funds. At the extreme right can be noted a shoulder drop of about two inches in one line and a drop of about the same depth in the outer portion of the patchwork. (Staff photo by John Fogleman.)

RAIL UNDERPASSES ALSO PROPOSED

Street Improvements Needed

(This is the fourth in a series of articles aimed at giving the taxpayers of Monroe an insight into factors involved in the Tuesday, October 28 bond issue election.)

By DANNY BINGHAM
Staff Writer

Termed one of Monroe's greatest needs in its march to progress is a street improvement program which can be accomplished with funds derived from a bond issue to be voted upon by property owners Tuesday.

The Citizens Committee sponsoring the forthcoming bond election, has approved certain projects for immediate attention as a means of relieving major traffic problems facing the community.

The proposed program involves improvements to five of the city's major arterial thoroughfares, along with the construction of two railroad underpasses to eliminate extremely heavily traveled rail crossings.

Cost to the city of the five street improvement projects is estimated at $816,600, while cost of the two rail underpasses is set at $1,013,400.

The streets to be improved under the program have been designated, and while present plans call for underpasses to be built under the Illinois Central Railroad track at North Fourth Street and the Missouri Pacific tracks at South Second Street, should final studies of engineers and the State Highway Department indicate more feasible crossings under the two tracks at other locations, they will be located accordingly.

It was pointed out that there are certain factors which could result in a change of these locations for the underpasses to better serve the traffic need of the community.

FINANCING

The proposition of financing improvements to the five arterial thoroughfares has been given the utmost of consideration by proponents of the Tuesday bond issue election, and the Citizens Committee, headed by Lee R. Vanderpool, Jr., has arrived at a conclusion which it considers equitable in all respects.

According to the Citizens Committee, the program is so designed that there is no discrimination in cost against any property owner, whether he lives on one of the five arterial thoroughfares to be improved or on a deadend street.

Under existing city laws, local repaving and street improvements are paid by persons owning property abutting the streets to be improved, but only if those property owners initiate the action by petition. This method does not provide funds for paving heavy enough to support arterial thoroughfare traffic.

The street improvement program as designed to be carried out under the proposed program sets out definitely that property owners facing a major traffic artery will be assessed the cost of improving a normal residential street, and in addition, will pay the millage assessed through passage of the bond issue.

That cost not borne by the property owner will be paid by funds derived from the bond issue.

DESIGNATED

Specified for immediate improvement to handle heavy traffic are Riverside Drive, DeSiard Street, Forsythe Avenue, South Grand Street and South Second Street.

Total cost for the Riverside Drive project is set at $81,500, with the property owners paying $17,800, leaving a total of $63,700 to be paid through the bond issue.

The DeSiard Street improvements are estimated to cost $466,900, with property owners paying $69,800 leaving a cost of $397,100 to be paid from the bond funds.

Forsythe Avenue's improvements are estimated to cost $170,200. Property owners will pay $16,200 and the balance to be borne by the city is $154,000.

Improvements to South Grand Street will cost in round figures, $58,100, of which $12,800 will be borne by the property owners, leaving a total of $45,300 to be taken from the bonds.

The South Second Street improvement project will cost $191,100 with property owners bearing $34,600 of the total, and the city, $156,500.

TRAFFIC COUNT

Interesting figures have been found in a traffic study of various Monroe streets when taken on a comparative basis.

Using the 1300 block of North Eighth Street during the period of 7 a.m. and 7 p.m., on a midweek day, checkers counted 613 vehicles.

Along the most heavily traveled sector of Forsythe Avenue, a total of 5,101 vehicles was counted during a similar period of time in midweek.

The DeSiard Street count registered a total of 6,022 vehicles in its 900 block between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. on a midweek day.

Where North Fourth Street makes its surface crossing of the Illinois Central Railroad, checkers counted a total of 8,105 vehicles during a 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. of an average day, far exceeding that on any other thoroughfare in the city's street system involving rail crossings.

The traffic count at the South Second Street crossing of the Missouri Pacific for a daytime 12-hour period was 5,462 a figure triple that of any other rail crossing in the southern section of Monroe.

Total cost of construction of the two underpasses to eliminate grade crossings is set at $2,026,800. Of this amount, the state highway department and the railroads will bear half, or $1,013,400, leaving a similar amount to be borne by the taxpayers of Monroe.

According to the survey made by Ford, Bacon and Davis, Inc. engineers, and approved by the Citizens Committee, the present street system of Monroe consists primarily of two - lane streets. Only Louisville Avenue and a short section of Jackson Street provide for more than two moving lanes. While two traffic lanes are adequate for residential and local business traffic, thoroughfares or major streets require at least four lanes of moving traffic. By this standard, many of the city's principal streets are inadequate to handle present traffic loads.

POOR CONDITION

In addition, the physical condition of many streets requires major improvements. In many streets, the pavement surface is cracked. Potholes are found in numerous locations and in some cases there is evidence of failure of the base. Funds which have been allocated to street maintenance have been used primarily to patch and make minor repairs.

At the present time, all railroad crossings within the city are at grade level, and both the Illinois Central and Missouri Pacific conduct switching operations within the city. During these operations, streets may be blocked for a considerable period of time.

CROSSING PROBLEMS

In addition to the question of convenience, this also poses a safety problem and a fire hazard. Significant delays in getting trucks to the scene of a fire have been reported by the fire department, and ambulances, police and other emergency vehicles are also sometimes delayed on the way to their destination.

The proposal for immediate action is for resurfacing of existing pavement on Riverside Drive widening, repaving and resurfac- from Pine Street to Park Avenue; widening, repoving and resurfacing of DeSiard Street from South Grand to Sterlington Road by section; resurfacing existing pavement on Forsythe Avenue from Riverside Drive to North Sixth Street, and widening and repaving of Forsythe from North Sixth to North Eighteenth Street.

Widening and resurfacing of South Grand Street from DeSiard Street to the proposed new federal Highway I-20; widening and resurfacing South Second Street from the proposed route of I-20 to Winnsboro Road.

As pointed out, property owners abutting on streets to be improved will share in the cost of the improvements. They will be assessed an amount equal to the cost of resurfacing a strip 10 feet wide which is considered equivalent to the cost of repaving local streets.

Voting on these three bond issue propositions will be conducted throughout the city on Tuesday, October 28 from 7 a.m. until 6 p.m.

Editorial Hits Position On Rights Group

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The Citizens Council newspaper charged Friday that any Mississippian accepting appointment to the civil rights commission advisory group was a scalawag and traitor.

In a page-one editorial described by editor W. J. Simmons as a policy statement, the monthly paper said:

". . . Any scalawag Southerner who would so betray his own people by fronting for the avowed enemies of the principles of states rights and racial integrity, which are dearer to us than life, will face the well-deserved distaste and contempt that any proud people would feel for a traitor. a

No decent or responsible citizen in the south will be so stupid as to allow himself to be used for the betrayal of his own people, or so callous as to be insensible to the ostracism that will inevitably follow."

The editorial described the advisory groups as designed "to front for the satraps of reconstruction II (and) may be used to infiltrate and attack from within our existing segregated school system and neighboring residential patterns.

"Any so-called 'advisory group' that is eventually scraped from the bottom of The Deep South barrel, we may be sure, will be fit companions of the inter-racial rabble with whom they will associate themselves."

No More On Bartok, Says London Paper

LONDON (UPI)—The Daily Express Friday promised readers it would print no more stories on the madcap doings of four - times divorced actress Eva Bartok this year unless she married.

"The Daily Express says: Farewell, Eva," read a headline in big black capital letters in a three-column box on Page One.

In the past year, Miss Bartok has mothered a baby whose father she refused to identify, has been reported waiting to marry the Marquis of Milford Haven, and has claimed to be engaged to an Indian prince who denied it.

Hunt 2 Army Privates In Mississippi

BAY ST. LOUIS, Miss. (AP)—Search was being made Friday for two Army privates who overpowered the Hancock County jailer here Thursday night and escaped.

The injured man, 61-year-old Tony Bourgeois, was found unconscious on the jail cell floor by a city policeman who went to investigate after the jailer failed to return to his home.

Bourgeois was taken to Hotel Dieu in New Orleans where hospital attendants said he had become semi-conscious and was in fair condition from head wounds and other injuries.

The men hunted were Pvt. Robert Heath, 18 and Pvt. Jerry Richter, 17, arrested here Oct. 3 in connection with breaking and entering an ice cream shop.

Heath and Richter were described by Sheriff Sylvan Ladner as being absent without leave from Ft. Carson, Colo.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Bruno Haas, making his first start on the mound for the Philadelphia Phillies on June 23, 1915, allowed 16 bases on balls in his major league debut.
